'57 ENROLLMENT SHOWS SMALL INCREASE

Enrollment at Stout State College reached 1163, a slight increase over the 1159 enrolled at this time a year ago, according to a report issued by officials of the college. Students are in attendance from 18 states, Hawaii and nine foreign countries in addition to the great majority living in Wisconsin.

According to records of the registrar's office, enrollment is divided by classes as follows: freshmen, 373; sophomores, 258; juniors, 269; seniors, 235; graduate students, 17; and special students 11.

Officials of the college have noted a heavier registration of freshman girls and a slight reduction in the proportion of freshman men, a situation attributed by many educators to the absence of any type of "G I Bill" to help defray the educational costs of young men now being released from service.

The nine foreign countries having student representation at Stout State College are Bolivia, Canada, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Jordan, Nicaragua, Panama, and Thailand.

Additional late registrants and students who will enter at the beginning of the next nine weeks quarter are expected to add further to the total enrollment.

GOV. BOARD DISCUSSES HOMECOMING PLANS

The first governing board meeting of the year convened last Monday night in the Trustees Room of Harvey Hall. The following topics were discussed and ruled upon.

Any campaigning this year and especially for this Homecoming was one of the main discussions. All campaigning is limited to fifteen posters on the campus proper, stuffing the mail boxes, and the entrances to the auditorium or at the dorms.

The bonfire from last year was not cleaned up and the sophomore class of this year must clean this up before we can have this year's Homecoming.

The bonfire for this year has been eliminated. In its place the seniors will design and supervise the building of some sort of design of letters to represent the opponent. The seniors will then submit the plan to the Governing Board for approval. The freshmen will do the manual labor.

There were nine entries for the Homecoming theme and out of these nine, six were chosen to be put before the students.

The record situation is being looked into. It was brought up at the meeting that we have very few records to have a real good dance with. Possibilities of getting a HiFi set is being looked into.

The policy that those cheerleaders with two years experience behind them here at Stout makes them a cheerleader without having to be voted upon was voted in thus they will automatically be a cheerleader the following year.

PRESIDENT - EMERITUS NELSON DONATES TV SET

Shortly after the celebration of his 90th birthday, President-emeritus Burton E. Nelson of Stout State College presented to Stout a gift of his own—his personal television set.

The beautiful TV was accepted for Stout by Dr. Verne C. Fryklund and will be installed in one of the college buildings. Attached to the set will be an appropriate inscription indicating that its donor was Burton E. Nelson, president of Stout State College from 1923 to 1945.

Mr. Nelson has now moved to Manlius, New York, where he will live with his son, Wayne M. Nelson. Inasmuch as there are many Stout alumni and other persons with Stout affiliations living in the Manlius area, which is in the vicinity of Syracuse, New York, it is hoped that they will stop to visit with President-emeritus Nelson whenever possible.

WEDNESDAY'S CONVO RESULTS ARE PUBLISHED

"Toss LaCrosse For A Loss"—That's our cry for Homecoming '57. The theme was submitted by Bob Gussel, a junior. It was one of six entries voted upon during the convocation, Wednesday.

Eight cheerleaders were selected to represent Stout state college at athletic events also during the convo. Two upperclassmen cheerleaders are retiring to the squad automatically through a new rule set up by S.S.A. Included under this are Adeline Bocke and Bette Zander. Returning through student voting are Shirley Aitken and Jean Goehring.

The three freshmen newcomers to the squad are Barbara Barbo, Nancy Fruit and Judy Gordon. Carol Barber, also elected, is a sophomore.

During the short period after the convocation, class meetings were held to elect officers for the year '57-58. These are: SENIORS: Bob Dalke, Pres.; Harry Proctor, V. Pres.; Adeline "Toots" Boche, Sec.; Joan Wonoski, Tres. JUNIORS: Bob Gussel, Pres.; Mike Brennan, V. Pres.; Sylvia Felland Sec.; Gloria Walstad, Treas. SOPHOMORES: Ron Koutz, Pres.; Helmuth "Pookie" Albright, V. Pres.; Diane Mattson, Sec.; Dorothy Grundeman, Treas. FRESHMAN: Bob McNaughton, Pres.; Tony Palermo, V. Pres.; Mary Price, Sec.; Dorothy Amend, Treas.

DRIVER TRAINING IS OFFERED NOW AT STOUT

All students and faculty who desire to learn to drive this next semester should see Mr. Kranzusch, room 23, Bowman Hall, sometime in the next two weeks. Bring your class schedule with you so that practice driving periods may be set up.

This is the ideal way to get your driver's license.

You will receive instruction in a dual controlled car.

DUFFY'S AGAIN OPEN AFTER GRID GAME HERE

Let's everyone hurry over to Duffy's Tavern after the game with Eau Claire, Saturday, September 21. Duffy's Tavern is an annual dance sponsored by the F.O.B. fraternity. The Stout gym will be realistically transformed into that institution which has become the famous Duffy's Tavern. The bartenders will wear their usual black derbys, black bow ties, and white shirts. There will be plenty of music, dancing, and free apple cider; best of all, lots of fun.

LIBRARY NOTICE

This year, when you borrow a magazine, you must read it in one week instead of the former two weeks! This is in order to keep the magazines moving and so that you won't have to wait so long when someone else has the magazine you want!

Better not take out more magazines than you can read in one week! The librarians say, "No renewals on magazines," and this means fines after one week.

AMERICAN QUARTET WILL BE AT NEXT CONVO

A group, known as the American Male Quartet, will appear at a convocation on Wednesday, September 25. This will be the first convocation of the year and will offer the students a combination of pleasure singing with a bit of culture.

The assembly and Lyceum committee is composed of a number of students and faculty who plan the programs for the students for the year. Some programs are obtained which are meant to be for enjoyment, others are intended to increase the knowledge of the students in areas other than those they already know and enjoy. This program will combine the two purposes when it provides music that is easy-to-listen-to in a light opera and modern vein. The quartette will have many special musical arrangements, and they will be accompanied by an outstanding Chicago pianist.

APPOINTMENT OF 13 TO FACULTY STAFF HERE

This is the first of a series of two articles introducing the thirteen newly-appointed members of the Stout faculty. The second portion will appear next week — Editor.

Appointment of thirteen persons to the faculty of Stout state college has been announced by Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of the college. The new appointments raise to seventy-seven the number of full-time faculty members at Stout.

Instructor in metalworking will be Norman A. Benson, who last year was on the campus of the University of Minnesota working toward his doctorate. Benson holds a master's degree from San Francisco State Teacher's college and a bachelor's degree from San Jose State Teacher's college.

He has taught in the schools of Oakland and Concord, California. For over four years in World War II, Benson served with the U.S. Army Ordnance in the Southwest Pacific.

Miss Mary Frances Cutnaw has accepted an appointment as instructor of English and speech. She comes to Stout after teaching in the speech department at the University of Wisconsin. Prior to that, she had taught three years in Pulaski high school, Milwaukee.

Miss Cutnaw has earned both a master's and bachelor's degree at the University of Wisconsin. She has also been active in English and speech organizations and has had acting and staging experience in summer theatre.

Named instructor of industrial education and resident head of the men's dormitory at Stout has been Wesley L. Face. A 1956 master of science graduate from Stout, he had earlier earned a bachelor of science at Northern state teacher's college, Aberdeen, South Dakota, and has done additional graduate work at the University of Illinois.

In addition to nearly three years of teaching experience while serving in the U.S. Air Force, Face has worked in industry, taught at Pana, Illinois, high school and was on the faculty of Manitowoc high school before accepting the Stout appointment.

Miss Frieda Kube, assistant professor of food and nutrition, comes to Stout from Glenville State College, Glenville, West Virginia. She has also had teaching experience in several Wisconsin high schools and has been affiliated with the Stouffer Restaurant Corporation, as well as having been a dietitian at Luther hospital, Eau Claire, and Riverview hospital, Wisconsin Rapids.

Miss Kube earned a master's and a bachelor's degree at Stout, during which time she was active in many college organizations. She was chosen for membership in Phi Upsilon Omicron, national honorary home economics organization.

TOWER CLOCK SOON TO BE IN SERVICE AGAIN

The famous lighted clock-bell tower of Stout State College, symbol of that college throughout the nation should soon be back in the service of college and community.

The huge glass faces of the time-piece have already been repaired and an IBM electronic clock is now in shipment to replace the obsolete air impulse system which operated the old clock since 1897.

Menomonie residents should be able to accept "Tower Time" with confidence because the new IBM mechanism will be correct to the second. It will be tied into the present IBM electronic system on which all Stout clocks now work and will therefore be monitored for correctness every hour by the master installation.

"Neighbor, you may set your wrist watch accordingly," will then be the order of the day.

Negotiations are currently underway for the removal of the cracked 7000 pound tower bell from its 140 foot high perch. In its place the college will install an electronic carrillon, whose music will be heard throughout the community.

No tax funds will be used for the new carrillon. Instead, subscriptions are being received to defray its cost. The new instrument will be played either from mechanical rolls or, on special occasions, from a manual keyboard to be located in the former generator room of Bowman hall. Music will be created through electronically-amplified tubes, in the same manner as is done on the campus of the University of Minnesota.

HOMECOMING TO BE BIGGER IN '57 THAN EVER

Homecoming activities begin this year with the deadline for queen candidates, fraternity pledges, and float ideas being due today not later than 5 p. m. in the SSA office.

Queen campaigning may begin at any time after 8 a. m. on Saturday, September 28. Each candidate is restricted to 15 posters this year. No favors are to be given at the auditorium door or in the dorm during serenading. Another new regulation is that mail boxes may not be stuffed with campaign material. It is hoped that these regulations will help rather than hinder the campaign.

Harvey memorial is to be the scene for the tea for the queen candidates on September 25. The entire student body and faculty is invited to attend between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m.

Queen candidates will be presented at convocation on October 2. The polls will open immediately after convocation and voting will continue until 4:30 p.m. The results will be published in Friday's STOUTONIA only.

Coronation of the queen will take place in the Stout auditorium at 8 on Friday evening, October 4. Betty Havlik, last year's queen, will crown the new queen.

Parade time is 1 p.m. on Saturday, October 5. Frank Burdick and Floyd Belt are the parade marshalls.

The game with the La Crosse Indians begins at 2 p.m. During the half, the queen and court of honor will be presented and winning floats in each of the three divisions will be announced.

Dancing in the high school gymnasium will begin at 8:00 in the evening. The queen and court will again be presented.

The annual business meeting of the Stout Alumni association will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday in the Harvey memorial. All alumni and seniors are invited. A special invitation is extended to graduates of '32 and '47 (who will be holding reunions) and to their school mates.

Following the game, alumni, faculty, and friends are invited to Tainter Hall where free coffee and doughnuts will be served.

MRS. B. NELSON PASSED AWAY ON AUGUST 24

Alumni and other persons who have been affiliated with Stout state college will regret to learn of the death, on Saturday, August 24, of Mrs. B. E. Nelson, wife of president-emeritus Nelson. President and Mrs. Nelson came to live in Menomonie when Mr. Nelson assumed the Stout presidency in 1923 and they remained after his retirement in 1945.

Mrs. Nelson took an active part in her church and in her community. Up until the time of her death she maintained membership in the Women's Fellowship of Menomonie's First Congregational church. Mrs. Nelson frequently assisted her husband in his many offices and duties for Rotary International and she gained much pleasure also from her contacts with members of the Stout faculty and student body.

MRS. B. E. NELSON

Services for Mrs. Nelson were held August 28 in First Congregational church, the Rev. Donald Farley officiating. Burial was in Menomonie's Evergreen cemetery.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Nelson is survived by her daughter, Kathryn Bryan, Seattle; a son, Clarence W. Bryan, Minneapolis; a step-son, Wayne M. Nelson, Syracuse, N. Y.; and two step-grandchildren, Wayne, Jr., and Diana (Mrs. Robert Cowan), New York.

A Message From the President . . .

One of my pleasant responsibilities as president of Stout state college is to greet all new students and to welcome back those who are returning to the campus. And I usually take the opportunity to point out some pertinent facts about our college and how those facts affect our students.

For instance, you can see that Stout is growing. The additions to the women's residence hall have already been started, a $600,000 project which will provide living and recreational facilities for an additional 200 young women. Next month we hope to let the contract for a beautiful new $525,000 student union. These fine facilities are only part of our $4,000,000 building program.

But growth, so far as a college is concerned, is much more than an increase in campus buildings. Even more important is the personal growth which each of our students should make. It is therefore my sincere hope that during the year now beginning you will mature and progress in your educational, social, and personal undertakings.

If you are willing to invest the time and effort necessary to prepare yourself properly for a career, the rewards will be many. You will graduate from Stout as a person who possesses specialized education and ability, the type of "know how" which is in constant demand and of which there has long existed a serious shortage.

There is ample evidence to prove the preceding statements. Each year we have at least twelve job opportunities for every competent graduate. Such a situation, of course, means good salaries, attractive positions, and the chance to work almost anywhere in the United States. But more than that, when you graduate you will be needed, and needed very much, to serve your fellowman in a manner which will bring you personal and professional satisfaction.

Yes, all of us at Stout are happy to bid you welcome. Let us work together to make this an outstanding year of achievement and growth for you and for Stout state college.

Vern C. Fryklund

LETTER TO THE EDITOR . . .

There's something about the atmosphere of fall, suggested by falling leaves, changing colors, and frosty sidewalks, that brings to mind the old "flickers" about the halls of ivy, the pep squads, the first home game, the general college feeling. College feeling is difficult to define, but it includes a little of the varsity, a dash of co-ed, some moonlight suartets, a walk along the bridge path, a malt at the local drug counter, letters from home, and yellow corduroy slacks. It's a feeling that's a little hard to harness during class hours. It's a 'feeling that some of us would like to experience once again.

Perhaps the frosh, unsoiled and fresh from the small town, has visions of this sort of atmosphere, but he is disillusioned when Friday afternoon rolls around and he observes the hasty exodus of all able bodies from the campus.

Perhaps this same frosh would like to do something about this weekend situation which not only reduces the student population to a small percentage of its normal strength, but takes a bit of the college feeling with it.

Well, he can. Disregard the questionable example set by older and wiser (?) digits of the college esuation and try staying here for but one weekend just to see what it's like. Perhaps there is still a little of the college feeling lurking somewhere near.

main topics of discussion. Diane "Dee" Davis was selected as the PA candidate for homecoming queen. The meeting closed with the singing of the serenade, then the group attended the Home Economics club mixer.

Plans for homecoming and other social events to come were discussed by members of the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity at their first meeting of the year, Thursday, September 12.

660,000 RETURN TO SCHOOL IN WISCONSIN

It's back to books for 660,000 Wisconsin youngsters this fall as school opens.

Old-timers will remember the books of 50 years ago.

Boys were reading Custer's "Boots and Saddles" and other daring-do adventures by Roosevelt, Peary, and Dan Beard. "The Great Locomotive Chase" was published in 1907 and the Arctic and the Panama Canal were favorite subjects. Vigorous stories of vigorous men were commonplace. Autobiographies of Daniel Boone, David Farragut, Oliver Cromwell, Edison, Grant, and Geronimo came out that year.

Girls could read books on letter writing — "Including suggestions in the matter of love letters — their limitations and possibilities." There was "Margaret Learned to Keep House" in which junior homemakers were told how to make a kitchen fire, sweep, dust, and make beds. There were new books on how to make baskets, rugs, and money, and even a book on how to attain culture without college.

A 1907 book about soldiers of fortune included a section on that dashing English hero, Winston Churchill.

Finley Peter Dunne as Mr. Dooley was giving advice on such things as bringing up children, the auto, the Irish question, oats as food, and gambling.

Serious books appeared too. Upton Sinclair's "The Jungle" was published and there were new books by Jane Addams, Zona Gale, Hamlin Garland, Edith Wharton, Jack London, William Dean Howells, and O. Henry. But a less-than-literary book by Harold Bell Wright appearing in 1907 may be best remembered—"The Shepherd of the Hills."

Startling scientific books set young men to dreaming. "Mars and Its Canals" and "Navigating the Air" were published. Luther Burbank applied the principles of plant growing to children in "The Training of the Human Plant."

Here in Wisconsin a collection of German folk songs "Deutsches Liederbuch fur amerikanische Studenten" was published by the University of Wisconsin.

It's doubtful whether today's 660,000 youngsters have any better selection!

COLLEGE KID AT LAST

RESIGNATION OF FACULTY HERE ANNOUNCED

The resignation last spring of three members of the faculty of Stout state college provides additional evidence of the unprecedented national demand for teachers at all levels of instruction and accentuates the fact that better opportunities elsewhere are attracting Wisconsin college teachers away from the state.

For instance, Ernest Rawson, head of the auto mechanics department at Stout, resigned to accept a more attractive position at Long Beach college, Long Beach, California. He is one of a number of competent experienced faculty members from the Wisconsin state colleges who have resigned to accept college positions in California.

Dr. Herbert Anderson, former chairman of the woodworking department at Stout, resigned to join a contract team of educators from Stanford university who are located at the Iloilo School of Arts and Trades, Iloilo City, Philippine Islands.

Dr. Norman O. W. Adams, assistant professor in the Stout department of English, also resigned to accept an out-of-state faculty appointment. He is now a member of the teaching staff of Central Michigan college, Mount Pleasant, Michigan.

Another faculty loss was the death of Miss Ellen Nelson, respected and well-liked associate professor of home economics. The work of C. L. Rich, Mrs. Guy Salter and Mrs. Hazel Nelson Joliffe, who were serving the college last year on a part-time basis, has been assumed by persons who have received full-time faculty appointment.

DRIVER EDUCATION IS WELL ATTENDED HERE

Beginning the first Monday in August, 84 residents of the Menomonie and the surrounding area had the opportunity to learn how to drive. They were able to do so in the course offered to them free of charge by Stout state college.

This program began on Monday, August 5, and ended Friday, August 16. The driver education course offered last summer by Stout state college was one of the largest in the United States. To provide a sufficient number of dual control cars for the driving program, vehicles were being brought to Menomonie from throughout the state.

Assisting R. F. Kranzusch with the extensive program were the following representatives of the Wisconsin Division of the American Automobile Association: Ben Precourt, director of safety for the Wisconsin Division of A.A.A.; Dean Frey, Stout graduate who is assistant safety director of the Wisconsin Division of A.A.A.; and Paul Bernd, A.A.A. consultant from Washington, D. C.

Two other courses, plastics and project development, were also offered in Stout's post-session. They were plastics, taught by Dr. Robert Swanson, and project development, taught by Dr. Theodore Wiehe.

While there, Dr. Barnard also attended meetings of the Department of Audio-Visual Instruction of the National Education Association.

Dr. Barnard has also been named to the 1958 convention planning committee of the Department of Audio-Visual Instruction. In that capacity he participated in meetings of the national planning committee to set up a program for the national DAVI meeting to be held in Minneapolis next April.

BLUEDEVILS TO TANGLE WITH EAU CLAIRE

Striving to defeat Eau Claire state for the first time since 1951, Stout will take to Nelson field tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. with high hopes for their first conference victory of the season.

In their home opener, the Bluedevils will probably be without the services of starting fullback Ned McDonald, who was injured last Saturday in a non-conference tilt. The team is otherwise in good condition.

Winona, last week's victim of the gridgers, defeated the Blugolds in a scrimmage held earlier this season, because of this fact, Stout will probably be rated a slight favorite. Eau Claire, however, has had three weeks to improve their weaknesses.

Coach Joe Gerlach's tentative choice for starting lineup consists of: Dick Tepp at center, Ernie Oyama and Jim Nadeau at the guards, and Bob Mitchell and Bruce Elrod at ends. In the backfield, Joe O'Leary will be piloting things with Lanny Anderson at fullback, and Glenn Hake and Elroy Wicklund filling in the halfback positions.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB SPOTLIGHTS ACTIVITIES

A highlight of this year's Home Economics club activities will be a program of recognition for outstanding professional activity within and for the club. The individuals meriting this award "The Lamplighter" will be given recognition through publication. Watch the coming STOUTONIA issues for the "Lamplighter of the week."

In the future, minutes of the council meetings are to be posted on the Home Economics bulletin board outside Dean Kirk's office in Harvey Hall.

The agenda for the first Home Economics club meeting includes the summer job reports of four club members. Since the council has been enlarged from seven to sixteen members, including the officers, chairman of standing committees, and class representatives, each class will elect their representative at the first meeting to be held in the Stout auditorium, Monday evening, September 30, at 7:30 p.m. Nominations will come from the floor.

Halftime Deficit To Win By 20-13 Count In Rain

The Stout state Bluedevils took their first football game of the season by winning over the Winona Peds last Saturday night at Winona. The final count found the Bluedevils on the long end of a 20 to 13 score. The game marked the official opening of the 1957 gridiron for the Stouters.

The first half belonged to Winona, however, during the second half the Bluedevils took advantage of the Ped's fumbles and came back with three touchdowns to make up a 13 to 0 halftime deficit. Due to the Stout defender's alertness, and that of Jim Nadeau, senior guard and linebacker, the Bluedevils recovered five fumbles during this time.

Harke, freshman halfback, tallied the first T.D. for Stout with a 17 yard run in the third quarter. Wicklund, junior back, scored from the three yard line on a plunge for the next marker; the point after being made. This touchdown was set up by Harke, on a punt return of 65 yards. Again, it was Harke who was instrumental in the last touchdown as he romped off 54 yards for the game-winning six pointer; the point after was good.

"For the Bluedevils, it was strictly a team effort," said Coach Joe Gerlach. "The boys had their work cut out for them in that second half and they came through in fine fashion."

Outstanding men on defense were for Stout, Ernie Oyama, senior guard, Bill Doane, sophomore tackle, Jim Nadeau, senior guard, and Bill Kind-schy, junior tackle. The Bluedevils made only four first downs to Winona's eight. However, the Stout gridgers outgained the Peds in yards rushing by 188 to 187. The passing was even at 38 yards. Stout completed two passes to Winona's three.

MRS. ALYCE D. VANEK ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Addressing home economics instructors in attendance at the recent convention of teachers in the Catholic Diocese of La Crosse was Mrs. Alyce D. Vanek, assistant professor of home economics at Stout state college.

Mrs. Vanek's subject was "Home Economics in Today's World." In her address she discussed factors which are influencing and even altering patterns of modern American family living.

In addition to her talk, Mrs. Vanek also demonstrated to her audience a number of the techniques which she employs with her classes at Stout.

While our Constitution guarantees the pursuit of happiness, it is up to us to catch up with it.

"S" CLUB REMINDS ALL OF LETTER STANDARDS

Every year at this time, many high school letter sweaters are seen on the Stout campus. This is in rather bad taste and should be considered as impolite.

The "S" club, composed of Bluedevil major monogram winners, requests that all high school letter sweaters not be worn on campus or in town. The sweaters, however, are permissible provided that all numerals and monograms are taken off.

The "S" club realizes that all of you enjoy wearing your high school colors, but it is felt that high school days are over now, and that college life has started.

So, from now on, let's try to remember to comply with the wishes of the "S" club and the student body by leaving the lettered sweaters at home. Come out and win a college letter!

In addition to her college teaching, she has also taught home economics in high school, has been a home demonstration agent, and has served as a home economist on the staff of Good Housekeeping Institute.

Miss Littlefield holds a master's degree from Iowa state college and a bachelor of science from the University of Maine. She has completed additional studies at Pennsylvania state university, Colorado A & M, New Jersey College for women, and Cornell university.

New head of the auto mechanics department at Stout will be Edward O. Morical, assistant professor of industrial education. Prior to his appointment to the Stout faculty, he was chairman of the auto mechanics department of Pershing high school, Detroit, and also had an active role in the "Wayne University - Industry" program for instruction of auto mechanics.

A staff sergeant overseas in the U.S. Army during World War II, Morical has also taught in the Laboratory School of Bemidji State Teacher's college and in the vocational and high school of Lander, Wyoming. He earned his master's degree at Wayne State

DUFFY'S TAVERN SCENE OF GALA CELEBRATIONS

Five hundred victorious football fans celebrated Saturday evening at Duffy's F.O.B. tavern on Wilson Ave. Duffy's in celebration, opened the bar from 10:00 to 12:00 and the drinks were on the house; fifteen gallons of cider were consumed in short order causing Duffy's to roll out the "kegs" of gingerale.

The atmosphere of Duffy's was created by the dim glow of liquor signs and a long bar, tended by three necktied, derby-topped F.O.B.'s, complete with white shirts, garters, and bright suspenders. The bar was illuminated by candles supported in "little brown jugs."

Music was supplied by the Biggest Little Band and the laughter, dancing, and cheers of dampened, but enthusiastic, Stout students.

ANNUAL BONFIRE HALTED BY THE STUDENT BOARD

The Student Governing Board this year has decided to discontinue the annual homecoming bonfire. This drastic action was taken for many numerous reasons. The main reason being that last year's freshman class never cleaned up after the homecoming bonfire. If the class hadn't cleaned up their mess last Friday, Homecoming festivities would have been lost forever to Stout.

The Dunn County Agriculture division was seriously thinking of not allowing Stout to use the fair grounds this year or any proceeding year because of the condition the grounds were left in. After talking with the department head, Mr. Howard Coon, he said Stout could use the fair grounds under two conditions: that the remains of last year's bonfire be cleaned up and that this year a deposit of $50.00 be made until the debris is cleaned up.

Another reason is that in the past three years, Stout has had to pay over $1000.00 due to breakage of equipment. Last year alone the S.S.A. paid out $500.00 because of a broken crane boom and a truck axle. We feel that if we eliminate the high piling of wood, etc. and the use of such equipment, Stout will not lose its traditional homecoming festivities but in its place the students will be able to have almost an exact effigy of their traditional bonfire in the burning of our opponent's 25 foot letters in the west hill of the fair grounds. We feel that the flaming letters will substantiate and even surpass for a bigger and better homecoming celebration. In the construction of the letters of La Crosse, the freshman class will not have to use any equipment other than trucks for getting fire material.

We hope the students of Stout state college will understand the reasons for the change and make this year's homecoming celebration the largest yet. A word to the wise freshmen — "Clean up the mess and take care of what you use."

HOMECOMING PLANNED FOR ALUMNI PLEASURE

Homecoming activities this year include reunion for classes which graduated ten and twenty-five years ago. Graduates of 1947 and 1932 and their schoolmates are especially invited to take part in the big homecoming festivities.

A tea for the homecoming queen candidates was held Wednesday afternoon. Jeanne Machel, Dora Aramori, Gerry Krueger, and Diane Davis met the students and faculty at this event.

At convocation, October 2, queen candidates will be presented to the student body. Voting will begin immediately afterward in the Harvey hall corridor and will continue to 4:30 in the afternoon. Results of the election will be published in next week's Stoutonia.

Coronation of the queen and announcement of the football princess is scheduled for Friday evening, October 4. Betty Havlik, last year's queen, will crown the lucky candidate and the Bluedevil captain will present the football to the runner-up in the Stout auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Following this ceremony, the torchlight parade will proceed to the Fair grounds where a new and different event is scheduled.

Saturday activities begin at 8:00 a.m. with a Delta Kappa breakfast at Wakanda park and a Delta Zeta breakfast at a Menomonie church. At 8:30 Alpha Sigma Alpha, F.O.B., and Sigma Tau Gamma breakfasts are scheduled. Alpha's will meet at the Methodist church and F.O.B. at Wakanda Park. Registration of alumni will also begin at this time in the booth in the Harvey hall corridor. At 9:00 Sigma Sigma Sigma will have brunch at Our Savior's Lutheran church.

All alumni are invited to the annual business meeting which will be held in Harvey Memorial on Saturday morning, October 5. Alumni and seniors are urged to attend 10:00 meeting. An information sheet will be given to all alumni to check the effectiveness of the alumni program.

Barb Harms and majorettes Carol Waterstreet and Janet Randt will lead the Stout band in the parade at 1:00 Saturday. Sixteen floats are entered as "most beautiful," "most humorous," and "most in keeping with the theme." "Toss LaCrosse for a Loss" will be the familiar slogan. Parade marshalls Frank Burdick and Floyd Belt will be in charge.

Stout Bluedevils and LaCrosse Indians will battle in the game beginning at 2:00. Alumni seats will be reserved in the middle section if tickets have been purchased at the alumni booth in Harvey hall previously. During the half, the queen and court of honor will be presented and winning floats will be announced. The Stout band will also be on hand.

Following the game, alumni and friends will gather at the Bertha Tainter lounge for free coffee and doughnuts.

The reunion dinner is scheduled for Saturday evening. A smorgasbord will be served in the Bertha Tainter hall dining room for the classes of 1932 and 1947.

Dancing, the final activity of the 1957 Homecoming, will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. Rod Aaberg from the University of Minnesota will provide the music. The queen will make her last official appearance of the 1957 homecoming at this event.

(If you don't have Bermuda shorts come anyway in your favorite informal attire.)

QUARTET ENTERTAINS STUDENTS AT CONVO

The American Male Quartet sang to a filled auditorium at last Wednesday's convocation. Students enjoyed their presentation of old English melodies as well as selections from several Broadway hits.

Included in the program were solos sung by each of the members of the quartet.

Another pleasing feature of the program was the pianist's rendition of "Rhapsody in Blue."

Judging from the applause and comments made during the performance, the program was well accepted.

APPOINTMENT OF 13 TO FACULTY STAFF HERE

This is the second in a series of two articles introducing the thirteen newly appointed members of the Stout faculty. The first portion appeared in last week's issue. — Editor

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear musically inclined Stout students,

Did you see the parade and football game last Saturday? How did you like the looks of our tiny band? For the size of Stout we should have a larger band. Many of us have talked to you who enjoy music and know you would like to be a member of the band again. So why not join? After all, school spirit is worth many pounds of happiness for all Stout students while procrastination and excuses aren't worth an ounce.

Now, of all times, we need you because homecoming is near. With our tip-top team and super-duper cheering squad, we really want the band to be ship-shape. So how about coming out for band, and making this homecoming worth remembering.

Practices are such that if you are not able to attend all of them, it isn't any great calamity. Just so you attend at least half the practices to know what to do. Practice schedules are posted in the band corner of the organization bulletin board: Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 11:30 a.m., with extra practices when needed.

C. H. and B. M.

Editor's Note — The above letter certainly points out a weakness in our school spirit, and as well a fact that was readily observed at Saturday night's game. This year's band is one of the smallest organizations to appear at Stout in many years. The reason for this is undoubtedly not a lack of uniforms or instruments, but definitely a matter of poor student participation.

Homecoming is not very far away now, in fact, most orgization are already involved in extensive preparations. The success or failure of this annual event rests primarily and principally, upon the shoulders of each individual doing his or her part. Are you contributing your quota or are you saying, "Let Joe do it?"

CLUB NEWS

We would like to express an invitation to all Hyperian and Delta Zeta alumni to attend the Alumni Homecoming Breakfast. The time has not yet been set. Watch the STOUTONIA for further information.

Plans for fall rushing and Homecoming events are now in progress.

Y.W.C.A. members held their annual "Fall Festival" above the union on Tuesday evening. Members and guests enjoyed a program of singing, playing games, and refreshments.

Stout Christian Fellowship held its fall picnic Wednesday at Riverview Park. A good time with fun and fellowship was enjoyed by all.

Special plans are being made for homecoming in connection with a float and SCF alumni.

SCF meets in the library at 7:00 p.m. on Wednesday nights in room 11. If you desire for Christian fellowship, come out and join us, the group is open to all.

Election of officers for Lynwood Hall was held last week. The meeting was called to order by past-president Jerry Koskinen for the purpose of electing the Lynwood Hall officers for the school year 1957-58.

Jim Sinnete was elected prexy. Pat Fitzgerald was nominated to serve as Vice President. Gordon Grotte was chosen as secretary, and Al Fisher won the treasurer's post. Bob Sheile was elected as the representaive to the governing board.

The L.S.A. meeting began Sunday with everyone joining in to sing their favorite hymns in the Friendship room. This is the beginning of our choir under the direction of Marilyn Utter. Anyone who likes to sing is welcome.

After singing we watched a movie, "Christian Frontiers," which explained the purpose of our L.S.A. organization.

A short worship service was followed by a delicious supper. Before we joined hands in our friendship circle we each introduced the person standing on our left and told one interesting fact about him or her. Some of the introductions were quite hilarious and we all had fun when itw as our turn.

Next week we are having open house in our new office above the First National Bank and the installation of our new counselor, Miss Bernie Owen.

FALL RUSHING SEASON HAS BACKWARD THEME

Costumed to the theme of "Backwards Party," all sophomores and transfer students eligible and interested in becoming members of one of the four sororities on campus, attended the annual Panhellenic fall rush party on Saturday, September 21, at 9:30 a.m. in the Stout gymnasium.

The walls of the gym were decorated with four pig-tailed heads all turned backwards. Each of the heads carried the Greek letters or name of one of the four sororities at Stout. Name tags also followed the backwards theme.

The group enjoyed such games as spelling words backwards and drawing titles on paper with the object of guessing the title. Winners were awarded prizes.

Sorority advisors and members of the faculty present judged the costumes worn by the girls. Prizes were awarded to Kachen Kubitz for her costume "most in keeping with the theme," Dorothy Grundmann and Nancy Fisher — "most original," and Mary Tiekler for her costume of "most beautiful."

Each sorority was introduced by its respective president. Kathy Van Doorn, Panhellenic president, told the rushees of rules concerning rushing.

After the party the girls enjoyed a snack of doughnuts and fruit juice in the student union.

STOUT'S WEATHERMAN REFUSES TO COOPERATE

Old man weather just wasn't with Chi Lambda last Friday when he refused to cooperate, and the situation was a cold one. The dance was held indoors however, and well attended, which goes to show that you can't keep Stoutites from backing their affairs. The refreshments and the music were excellent.

BADGER GREATS HAIL TEACHERS FOR INFLUENCE

Among Wisconsin's living "greats" Edna Ferber, Fredric March, and H. V. Kaltenborn stand high. As school began this fall the three, writer, actor, and newsman, looked at teachers and teaching and had some things to say.

Their remarks were released this week by the Board of Regents of State Colleges.

"I think school teachers are, or should be, the most important professional people in the world," said Miss Ferber. "Their influence on children, on adolescents and on young men and women students in, or could be, more powerful and more enriching than any other single factor in the lives of young people today."

Advice came to Wisconsin's youth from Mr. Kaltenborn who emphasized the necessity of getting all the education possible while young.

"Everything you learn comes to have definite value in later life," said the dean of American newsmen. "The teacher who stimulates you to want to learn is a person to be remembered with affection and gratitude."

Actor March couldn't remember the name of one of his Wisconsin teachers who was "very strict."

"She insisted at one time that each of us must learn Marc Anthony's speech 'Friends, Romans and Countrymen' else we'd not pass her course," he recalled.

"She must have forgotten this admonition as weeks went by because none of us learned it. But I still wake up in a cold sweat some nights thinking, 'I must get at it!'"

Important, stimulating, and unforgettable — these are Wisconsin teachers, at least some and maybe most of them.

STEVENS POINT SITE OF EDUCATION WORKSHOP

Miss Hazel Van Ness and Miss Clara Carrison attended the sixth annual state-wide workshop for education association officers at Stevens Point September 6-7. The two-day session sponsored by the Wisconsin Education Association at the Wisconsin State College, was attended by some 250 educators.

"Active Associations, the Key to Professional Progress," was the workshop theme. Speakers and discussion groups considered methods and techniques involved in strengthening educational associations and educational opportunity throughout Wisconsin.

know your . . . kampus

Welcome to Stout. As new students you have, no doubt, many unanswered questions concerning organizations and activities found here on campus. It is the aim of this column to help you Know Your Kampus.

Chief co-ordinating agency and governing body for all campus activities is the Stout student association, commonly known as the S.S.A.

Homecoming, winter carnival, all school picnic in the spring, all school mixer, and the Christmas dance are social functions sponsored by the S.S.A. In addition it has as its responsibility the planning and sponsoring of activities on weekends when no other organization has scheduled a function. This is usually carried through in the form of dances and extra swimming pool hours.

Showing of high caliber movies in the auditorium for a small cost is a new feature planned by the Stout student association.

The Stout student association is you the student; the officers of the S.S.A. are your mediators for any problems or questions you may have concerning the school or any social function.

President Pete Jackson cordially states, "If you feel that there is something we can help you with, come in and see us or attend a governing board meeting which is held every two weeks. These meetings are open to all students who wish to learn more about the school and governing body." He further adds, "Remember our job is to serve you the student, be it direct or indirect, in the best way we can."

The S.S.A. office is located in Harvey hall across from the registrar's office.

Officers of the Stout student association are Pete Jackson, president; Ralph Stevens, vice president; Peggy Deering, secretary; and Bill McKinnon, treasurer.

FORD MOTOR IA AWARDS JUDGED BY DR. FRYKLUND

During the summer, Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout state college, was a guest of the Ford Motor Company at Detroit, where he served as a judge in the Ford Motor Co. international industrial arts awards program. He also spoke to a meeting of the Rotary club of Janesville, Wisconsin.

This year President Fryklund concluded his term as adviser for the Wisconsin district of the Ford international industrial arts awards competition. As such, he was guest of the Ford organization and was a judge of drawing entries in the competition.

Participants in the awards judging also heard an address by George W. Walker, vice-president in charge of styling for the Ford Motor Company. In the awards competition as a whole, 4600 entries were submitted by industrial arts and vocational students from all parts of the United States and from several foreign countries.

"The Significance of Industrial Education in the American Economy" was the title of Dr. Fryklund's talk before the Janesville Rotarians. He described the history and accomplishments of industrial education in America and also explained in brief the organization and objectives of Stout state college.

Present for President Fryklund's address were a number of Stout graduates now in the Janesville area. Loy Montgomery, a former Menomonie resident, was program chairman.

COMEDY DRAMA TO BE FEATURE OF STAGE WORK

Alpha Psi Omega (M.A.P.) will stage its first performance the nights of November 21, 22, and 23. The scene for this strange story is on board a ship whose destination is unknown. It is a comedy drama, filled with human sympathy and good humor.

Try-outs for this play were held in the auditorium on September 24 and 25. If there are interested students who did not try-out, they should arrange for a special try-out in room 316 HH.

On September 30, there will be a short meeting in the auditorium at 7:00 P.M. for those who are eager to help with the backstage activities.

Students can enjoy the fun, and also earn points for joining M.A.P. at the same time, when they participate in these play activities. Building and painting scenery, stage crew, lighting, make-up, properties, costume, and publicity, are a few of the jobs which are open. Notices are posted on the bulletin board for meetings which are held on evenings and on Saturday. All freshmen and upperclassmen are welcome to join the fun.

Scampering around end, Stout's Glenn Harke picks up another substantial gain against the Blugolds. Running interference for him are Bob Raczeck, 27 and Larry Anderson, 20.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Our vote for lineman of the week in the Wisconsin college conference goes to Dick Tepp, center and captain of the Bluedevils. Dick's outstanding play was instrumental in Stout's upset of defending champion, Eau Claire.

Looking at the rest of the sports scene on campus, we find:

This week found the opening of the intramural touch football campaign on campus. The six teams entered include: Lynwood Hall, Our Side, the Blackhaws, the Phi Sigs, the FOB's, and the DK's.

Last Wednesday the season opened as the FOB's carried off a forfeit victory from the DK's. Last night the Phi Sigs tangled with the Lynwood Hallers with results arriving too late for publication.

Monday night at 5:30 sees Our Side meeting the Blackhawks at Nelson Field. If both teams put in an appearance, the action should be worthy of student attendance.

DEFENSIVE PLAY PROVES VITAL FACTOR IN TILT

With the aid of the heads up defensive play of Dick Tepp, Stout ramblbed to a 20-0 victory over Eau Claire last Saturday in their home opener.

"I liked it," is simply the way coach Joe Gerlach described the performance, "all of the boys did a fine job."

Both teams played on even ground in the first quarter, but the Bluedevils proved superior in the second stanza, scoring two TD's, both of which were set up by blocked punts at the hands of Tepp.

Joe O'Leary and Bruce Eland shared the spotlight in the gridders first tally, on a pass play from the nineteen yard line.

Picking up the second blocked punt, Jack O'Reilly scampered 35 yards to light up the score board with double figures. Glen Harke then made good the point after completing the scoring in the first half at thirteen.

Harke wasn't through for the evening however, as he crossed the double chalk line from the one yard line to complete a Bluedevil fifty yard drive in the third quarter. Bruce Eland then capped the scoring at twenty, by splitting the uprights.

Passing also proved a deciding factor in the game, as Stout completed seven out of eleven, as compared to two out of fifteen for Eau Claire, outgaining them in yardage in this department 82-8.

The Bluedevils were hindered however by penalties, losing 60 yards as compared to 30 for the Blugolds.

Cheerleaders, Jean Goebbing and Nancy Fruit are pictured above as they cheer the mighty Bluedevils on to a smashing victory over Eau Claire.

BLUEDEVILS TO TAKE ON RIVER FALLS; OYAMA, WICKLUND, TEPP PLAGUED WITH MINOR INJURIES

Hindered by injuries, Stout travels to River Falls tomorrow with hopes of their third victory, and second conference win of the season.

Ernie Oyama, Elroy Wicklund, and Dick Tepp will all be nursing injuries suffered over the past week; as a result, Oyama and Wicklund and expected to see only limited action.

"This game might well prove to be the turning point of the season," commented coach Joe Gerlach, "if we can get by this one, it will show the boys have got it; the freshmen are also showing signs of improvement."

River Falls has an 0-2 record thus far this season, losing to Augsburg and La Crosse, but are always tough on their own field.

The Falcons have lost 7 regulars from last season's team, and boast a forward line with close to a 200 pound average.

Coach Gerlach's choices for filling the starting positions find Gannon, Berndt or Eland at ends, Doane and Kindschy at tackles, Oyama and Nadeau at guards, Tepp at center, O'Leary at quarterback, Harke Wicklund or Anderson at the halfbacks and Mitchell at fullback.

Game time will be at eight o'clock. As of publication time, no buses have yet been chartered, however students are strongly urged to support the team in this crucial game of the season.

Joe E. Lewis announces with pardonable pride that he's just signed a picture deal with M.G.M. "Only trouble is," says Joe, "I can't get them to sign."

GERRY KRUEGER REIGNS AS HOMECOMING QUEEN

Junior Miss Wins Queen Title
As 700 of 1100 Students Cast
Ballots In Close Contest

In a closely contested election that found sixty five per cent of the student body going to the polls, pert and vivacious Gerry Krueger was nominated to reign as the 1957 Homecoming queen at Stout state college.

The election was a hotly contested one that left voters with a hard decision to make as to which girl should be crowned queen. The battle featured limited campaigning, thus causing sponsors to become more creative in putting their candidate across to the student body.

Queen Geraldine is a junior from Milwaukee. She came to Stout via Whitefish Bay high school. Gerry devotes many hours of her time to the Home Economics club, the Women's recreation association, and the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority.

Serving as maids of honor in the Queen's court will be Dori Aramori, junior from Hilo, Hawaii, Diane Davis, junior from Reedsburg, and Jeanne Machel, junior from Wausau.

CAMPAIGNING IS CLIMAXED WITH STUDENT CONVO

An enthusiastic throng packed the auditorium for the Homecoming convocation Wednesday.

Cheerleaders at the door passed out sheets of cheers and songs. Julie Muenich played the organ while students were getting seated and into the spirit of homecoming.

The convo was opened with the singing of the school song lead by the cheerleaders. Pete Jackson introduced "Toots" Boche who then took over the program.

Dori Aramori, Hilo, Hawaii, was the first candidate for queen to be introduced. The Phi Sigs and Delta Zetas then sang several songs.

Next Julie played an organ solo, "Tea for Two."

Following this Diane Davis from Reedsburg, Wisconsin was presented to the audience. At this time songs were sung by the Pallas Athenes.

A new cheer, "What Are We Going To Do Tonight", was introduced by cheerleaders Judy Gordon and Nancy Fruit.

During the appearance of Gerry Krueger, queen candidate from Milwaukee, the F.O.B.'s, Delta Kappas, and Alpha Sigma Alphas did their rendition of "Sound-Off".

Following this Jim Jonen amused us with his rendition of "Cry".

Six Tri Sigs put on a skit after the introduction of Jeanne Machel from Wausau, Wisconsin.

Upon dismissal the polls opened to allow us to cast our votes before 4:30.

STOUT INSTRUCTORS IN EDUCATION CONFABS

A number of men of the faculty of Stout state college are taking part in educational conventions and meetings.

Three Stout teachers will address roundtables at sectional gatherings of the forthcoming Northwestern Wisconsin educational association convention in Eau Claire. Paul Axelsen, instructor of graphic arts at the college, will demonstrate "The Silk Screen Process and Techniques" to the industrial arts roundtable of the convention.

Ray Cornwell, also of Stout's department of graphic arts, will be the principal speaker for the convention section devoted to audio-visual aids in education.

"Guidance and the Elementary Principal" will be the title of the address given by Dr. Ralph G. Iverson, director of student personnel services at Stout state college, to the convention section on elementary administration and supervision.

Early in November, Dr. Iverson will also address a gathering of Sawyer county teachers, meeting in Hayward. Prior to the N.W.E.A. convention, Dr. Iverson spoke on guidance to the W.E.A. local unit of St. Croix county.

He has recently addressed a Polk County teachers meeting on the topic of guidance and also participated in a meeting of the directors of the Wisconsin Lutheran Student Foundation.

SIG TAUS SPONSORED SCHOOL ACTIVITY NIGHT

Several students left the first all school evening activity richer last Saturday, September 28. A feature of the dance, sponsored by the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, was a "penny dip" for holders of lucky numbers.

The dance in the small gym to hi-fi music was preceded by two showings of the motion picture "Death of a Salesman."

Though the attendance was cut down by the football game, those present enjoyed the social evening. Refreshments were served throughout the evening.

MUSICIANS REQUESTED FOR STOUT BAND, CHOIR

A plea for more male voices for the choir and additional members for the band, is being sent out by the music department.

Although the attendance at choir rehearsals has gone up from second semester last year, a better balance of male voices is needed. The choir and band membership of last year was 39 choir and 46 band. This year the attendance for band has been 32 and for choir 82.

At present, plans for special work in the department include a pop concert and an operetta. However, to produce a successful operetta, more men are needed to fill the parts.

The type of music program carried on here at Stout was expressed by music director, Edfield Odegard like this, "We try to make music for fun and try to give enjoyment to the students."

If anyone is interested, see Dr. Odegard soon in the music office in the basement of Harvey hall. Everyone is welcome.

STOUT STATE COLLEGE OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

In 1917, the Wisconsin senate officially — and unanimously — passed a bill authorizing what was then Stout Institute to confer the degree of Bachelor of Science on its eligible graduates. Now, 40 years later, Stout state college is observing the anniversary of that momentous occasion.

Stout's first president, the late L. D. Harvey, was largely and almost solely responsible for the bill's promotion. Practically unassisted, he looked after the bill's interest in the legislature. First, he saw it passed in the assembly by a vote of 74 to 1 and then unanimously passed in the senate.

The bill was originally introduced by the Committee on Education and Public Welfare of the senate. At committee hearings, some opposition developed on its reference to the Joint committee on Finance, but the bill passed the senate without a dissenting vote. Any remaining opposition died rapidly as the bill later reached the assembly and the Committee on Education. All but one vote was cast in its favor in the lower house.

The original bill specified: "Students who shall satisfactorily complete required courses, shall receive from Stout Institute, under the seal of the institute, the degree of Bachelor of Science in industrial arts and in home economics and household arts."

Local and state newspapers hailed the passage of the bill. The "Dunn County News," the hometown paper of Stout Institute, predicted:

"The measure will mean much to Stout Institute. It will insure its relatively high standing among institutions devoted to the teaching of the manual arts and the preparation of teachers in manual training and domestic science. It will mean an increased enrollment."

"It will mean a complete answer by Stout to the demand for teachers of longer training in the manual branches which is arising all over the country. Increasing the prestige and importance of the institution, it will result in direct benefit to the community."

These predictions, however long-range, have been fulfilled two-fold. Rated second to none in its fields of educational preparation, Stout state college has had a 1956-57 enrollment of 1,180, with many more job openings available than graduating seniors to fill employment requests.

Today Stout state college offers degrees in home economics, home economics education, vocational education, industrial education, and the newly introduced degree in industrial technology. Women graduating with a major in dietetics meet the requirements of the American Dietetic Association. Nearly 5,000 students have received Bachelor of Science degrees from Stout in these fields since 1917. And since 1935, when Stout state college first offered a Master of Science, nearly 700 alumni or new enrollees received this degree.

Past and present administrators of the college have reason to be proud of the progress which Stout has made.

PLEDGES TO DON FRAT COSTUMES FOR HELL WEEK

During the last few weeks the fraternities selected their pledges who are being kept very busy during "Hell Week" which started yesterday.

CHI LAMBDA

The Chi Lambda fraternity, newest local organization on campus, was started on May 8, 1956. You will not be able to distinguish the Chi Lambda pledges by what they are wearing as they will be dressed in usual school garb. They wear pins to identify themselves. The pledges will work on the advisors' lawns, conduct a drive to get magazines for shut-ins, do a major part of the work on the float, and put on a skit before the formal initiation. Serving as pledge masters are Conrad Mlynarek, Lloyd Hoeffner, and Mike Sucharski.

Although October 10th will mark the official end of "Hell Week," its many activities will not soon be forgotten.

DELTA KAPPA

The Delta Kappa's who originally began as the Sigma's are now the Sigma chapter of the Delta Kappa national fraternity of which there are 19 chapters. They do not believe in hazing; the only duty of the pledges is to sell coffee at the football game. These pledges wear red fezz and scarfs at their middle with the Sigma insignia. Their formal and informal initiations are scheduled for October 10th.

The license plate insignia you may have bought recently was one of the services of the DK's; others are selling coffee and hot chocolate at the football games, sponsoring the approaching annual "Tacky Drag" and giving Christmas boxes to needy families. A few of their social activities are a homecoming breakfast, Thanksgiving and Christmas get-togethers, and a dinner dance.

PHI OMEGA BETA

The FOB's, the oldest fraternity on campus and a local organization, rushed a large group of men this season. The pledges are wearing black derbies, tee shirts, black bow ties, and are carrying shoe shine equipment.

They are not putting on a skit in the union, but they will be kept busy with a variety of activities. Among them they will take part in the homecoming parade and lead cheers at the game. Formal initiation Wednesday night will bring to a close "Hell Week" for this group of pledges.

PHI SIGMA EPSILON

The garb of the Phi Sig pledges is composed of straw hats, canes, white shirts, and red bow ties. They can very readily be identified by the signs they are wearing which say "I am a Phi Sig Pledge." These pledges have been selected by the fraternity members who take into consideration the following things:

1. A social inclination.
 2. An interest in school activities.
 3. Scholastic achievement
 4. Thinking on a national level.
- Ric Steckel and Ron Kritser are the pledge masters responsible for the pledges, who will have a float in the parade and be otherwise active in the parade and game. Their busy week will come to a close Thursday, October 10th with the informal initiation which will be followed by the formal initiation on October 17th.

SIGMA TAU GAMMA

Donning blue and white helmets and shields you will see the Sig Tau pledges. They each are taking their turn standing guard for one hour periods in front of Harvey Memorial at rigid attention.

During this coming week their services will include carrying books from the girls dorm some morning and also filling water glasses at dinner one evening. Their part in homecoming will include leading cheers and selling popcorn and taffy apples at the game. The pledge masters are Don Hoffman and Al Finnell. The Sig Taus believe in keeping their pledges busy during "Hell Week," but not to a point where it will greatly interfere with their studies.

A picture of the garb that pledges will be wearing appears on page five.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Homecoming at Stout! What does it mean? What does it imply? What does it signify? Let's find out.

To begin with, Homecoming means the return of alumni to their alma mater. It means a setting of autumn and the falling leaves with nippy temperatures and happy hearts. It means football, parades, dancing, and the renewing of old friendships in familiar halls. Homecoming, first of all then, means that old grads will return to "their" campus amidst a great deal of nostalgia.

Homecoming implies a friendly welcome back from those of us who are still undergraduates. It implies that we will do our best to provide these returning alumni with a fun packed week end that will enable fond thoughts of our alma mater linger in the minds of all. We shall try to accomplish this with breakfasts, lunches, parades, a queen, a football game, a dance, and many other events. However, its success will still hinge upon the individual efforts that each of us puts forth. Homecoming, second of all then, implies that we, the undergraduates, will provide a week end full of activities and gaieties for our returning alumni.

Homecoming signifies the passing of years, as the reuniting classes of 1932 and 1947 will testify. It signifies an undying interest of the alumni toward "their" alma mater. It also signifies that we, the undergraduates, must make an honest effort to preserve this interest of the alumni. We will all too soon become grads also. Homecoming, thirdly then, signifies that we, the students, must take the measures to insure that the effects of Stout upon the lives of these returning alumni remain rappy ones in the coming years.

CLUB NEWS

The International Relations club (IRC) held its first meeting on September 25. For the evening's program slides on Cuba were shown by Pedro Perez, a student from Cuba. Afterwards an organizational meeting was held. Officers elected were Afif Hajor, president; Jerry Borchardt, vice-president; Louise Grant, secretary; Sharon Athorp, treasurer; and Dr. Dwight Agnew, advisor. The next meeting is being planned for October 9 at 8:00 p.m. in room 14 at the library. All students and faculty are invited to attend.

The weekly meeting of the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity was held at 7:00 p.m., Thursday, September 26, in the Sig Tau house. Main points of the meeting were selection of pledge candidates and discussion on plans for their homecoming float. A work meeting was called for Saturday, September 28 to begin construction of the float.

The second Phi Sig meeting of the 57-58 school year was opened by President Pat Spielman. Guests at the meeting were Dick Dirschel, a returnee from Uncle Sam's armed forces, Jack Luy, a former Phi Sig, and Herb Watanabe, a former K. F. S. member. The paddle of Sergeant at Arms, Bob Krejcie boomed loudly in congratulating Mr. Brooks and Mr. Suk for taking that fatal step in marriage and Ron Anderson, who pinned Ruth Giverson. Rick Steckel and Ron Critser were chosen pledgemasters in hope that enough could be prepared to keep the pledges out of mischief this semester. All members and Phi Sig alumni are invited to attend the annual Homecoming supper to be held this year at the Coach club, 6:30 P.M., October 5th. Supper will be served "Family Style" so fellows, don't fill your date up on hamburgers for there will be plenty for all.

The Delta Zeta-Hyperian alumnae breakfast will be held at the Grace Episcopal Church at 8 a.m. Saturday. In order to get our alumnae files up to date, we are asking the assistance of our alumnae to forward any information to us.

The Delta Zeta Fall rush party, Flame Fantasy, was enjoyed by all those in attendance.

Epsilon Pi Tau held its first regular meeting of the 1957-58 school year on Tuesday, September 24. The main results of this meeting were the decision to go on a fall field trip, the election of a vice president, and the designing of a suitable plaque for the men's organizations bulletin board in Bowman hall.

The group has definitely decided to take a field trip this fall, but the exact destination has not been decided. However, the choice was narrowed down to Wausau and its school systems or to Minneapolis and one or more of that city's fine attractions. The tentative date for the trip is the first week of the second quarter. The final choice as to destination has been left to a committee headed by Vern Draxler.

Ken Dickie has been elected vice president of EPT to serve out the term of Gene Bocek who resigned to accept a position as president of Arts and Crafts. Congratulations to both of these men for achieving those desired goals. More congratulations are in order for Ken. This summer he became a bridegroom when he married a Stout coed, the former Marilyn Andre.

In compliance with the wishes of the SSA, Epsilon Pi Tau had previously appointed a committee to design a suitable plaque. The report of this committee (headed by Maury Guptill) indicates that EPT's plaque will be one of the outstanding ones on the bulletin board.

On Tuesday September 24 Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity held their annual open meeting. All students at Stout who have had previous scouting experience were invited. A large number of students turned out and everyone had a swell time. The program consisted of a scavenger hunt, a program put on by the social committee, and a talk on Alpha Phi Omega. The meeting was used to tell the students present just what APO is, what it does, and how it operates. After the meeting refreshments were served.

We wish to thank the Menomonie Rod and Gun club for the use of their club rooms which made our meeting a great success.

Prior to the open meeting Alpha Phi Omega held an initiation ceremony. Myron H. Harbour, newly elected advisor was sworn into the fraternity.

The Tri Sigma sorority held a ceremonial business meeting at the library Thursday evening.

The main discussion centered around plans for homecoming. The Tri Sigma homecoming brunch will be held at 9:00 A.M. in the Friendship room of Our Saviors Lutheran church. Invitations were extended to 140 alumnae. Final decisions and plans were made for the float which will be entered in the homecoming parade. Reports were given on the progress of the queen campaign for homecoming.

Plans were also made for the annual Sweetheart dance which will be held November 2, co-sponsored with the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity. Plans

KNEES REVEALED FRIDAY AT ALPHA SIGS' PARTY

The "bee's knees" were in style Friday night at the Alpha Sig's third annual Bermuda Blast. Records provided the music for the knee socked set, and intermissions overflowed with popcorn and fruit juice.

To the strains of "In the Middle of an Island" the mind and eye wandered to the various "murals" depicting the Isle of Bermuda in the Caribbean Sea. The dance was an all school affair lasting from 8:30 — 12:00 am, closing down with the appearance of the weary "sweeps."

for parents' day activities were discussed.

Tri Sigma's rush party based on a prison theme was held September 29 in Harvey Memorial.

A welcome pledge party was held in the recreation room of the Pecore house Tuesday evening followed by the pledging ceremony and serenading at the freshman dorms.

The group decided to again exchange pledges for a day with the Phi Sig fraternity on Wednesday, October 9.

Tri Sigma's were hostesses at a tea welcoming the new teachers to Stout recently held at Miss William's apartment.

Everyone interested in joining the YWCA is invited to attend a special meeting of the organization October 8th at 7 P.M. in Room 9 at the library. All are welcome!!

Initiation will be held at a later date.

The pre-homecoming week got off to a flying start for the Alpha Sig's with their Bermuda Blast Friday evening. We were pleased to see so many students — especially the guys — turn out in their Bermuda finery.

The tea room in the dorm was the scene of the Alpha Sigma Alpha rush party Saturday morning. The setting for the party was a Heavenly Garden. Completing the theme of Earth Angel were two arch-angels who escorted our guests to the highest angel, president, Jo Scheevel.

Tuesday evening, the Alpha Sig's accompanied the F.O.B. and DK fraternities to the dorms to serenade for our Homecoming Queen Candidate, Gerry Kreiger.

The remainder of the week was occupied with the preparations for the Homecoming breakfast and our float and the sale of mums in Harvey hall.

Alpha Psi Omega (M.A.P.) had elections the first meeting of the year to fill two vacancies. Clarence Fehlhaber was elected as president and Joan Braunworth as secretary.

M.A.P. bulletin will be in circulation soon for the coming year. The plans for the coming year include two 3-act play productions plus some one-act plays which will be given for public performance.

WRA held its first general meeting September 24th. Mary Lou Schleis was elected to replace Pat Rogers as vice president. Shirley Hintz is the new corresponding secretary. Caroline Greinke reported that the scavenger hunt was a tremendous hit.

The college pet, Wee Lena the kangaroo, and Stout balloons will be on sale for Homecoming. Let's get into the spirit and buy one!

Volleyball is the sport scheduled for the tournaments. A full and exciting year is ahead for WRA.

CLUB NEWS

Wesley Student Fellowship held its first meeting on Sunday, September 15. The meeting was opened with recreation which was followed by supper. After supper everyone enjoyed seeing and discussing the movie "The Broken Mask."

Wesley's second meeting was a picnic supper at Riverside park followed by a hayride. Everyone enjoyed a very inspirational worship service after supper.

The first business meeting of the Stout Rifle club was held last Wednesday evening at Bowman hall. Gracing this masculine world of "sharpshooters" were three girls. (Yes, the club is open to the ladies, too.)

Although the most publicized activity of the Rifle club is competitive shooting, the safe handling of fire arms and general enjoyment of guns are equally important. The club is not restricted to the use of rifles. Some of the members use pistols, and in the spring, the shot gun fans get their chance in the trap shoot. These trap shoots usually take place at picnic meetings and provide lots of fun and enjoyment.

Some of the members join the Eau Claire Rifle club and are thereby entitled to one of the finest high-power ranges in the mid-west. The Eau Claire club also provides rifles of both .22 and .30 calibre for the free use of its members. Last year, the Stout Rifle club joined as a group and found it to be quite a rewarding experience.

At the last meeting of the Metals Guild, club plans were discussed for a float.

A movie was shown on a new system concerning automation in the metal working field. The movie was very interesting and gave the members an idea of what is going on in the metals industry today.

The Pallas Athene members and their advisor met in the library on Thursday night to discuss plans for pledging and homecoming. Pledging of new members took place last night. This Saturday, a float will be entered in the parade and the annual alumnae dinner will be held at the Marion hotel. The meeting adjourned after some group singing and the singing of the serenade.

A buffet supper sponsored by the ladies of St. Joseph's Parish headed the events of the Newman club church night. After the supper, a well-balanced program was presented with Ed Phelan as master of ceremonies. Al Finnell led the group in square dancing. A short musical bit was offered by some of the Newmanites, and the evening was closed by social dancing.

Sunday, September 15th, was the first monthly Newman club breakfast following the 9:30 a.m. mass. At a short meeting the club voted to enter a homecoming float with Dick Tepp as chairman. A picnic for September 22nd was planned with Mary Ann Spangler and Gene Kirscht as co-chairmen.

GRADS ALL FIND SUITABLE JOBS ARE ABUNDANT

The past year has been a very successful one for Stout graduates so far as placement and salary are concerned, reports Frank J. Belisle, placement chairman of the college.

According to Mr. Belisle, members of the 1957 graduating class were placed at much higher salaries than was the case with the class of the previous year. For instance, Stout graduates holding the bachelor of science degree received an average salary increase of approximately $300. Those holding the master of science obtained an average increase of well over $400. This upward trend, says Chairman Belisle, is expected to continue during the coming year.

His office processed over 1,000 job opportunities for current graduates or alumni during that time. In addition to the 10 graduating dietitians who accepted positions, 62 seniors of the School of Home Economics were placed. Of that number, 51 took high school teaching jobs, 40 of them in Wisconsin. An additional eight are now married and are homemakers, two are home agents and one teaches in a vocational school.

The Placement Office reports that 112 industrial education graduates took jobs in Wisconsin, Hawaii and six other states. Of that number, 71 entered high school teaching. Among the remainder, 15 went into military service, 12 into industry, eight to vocational schools, four to graduate school, and two to university teaching positions.

The Placement Office reveals that 42 master's graduates accepted positions, these include 31 high school jobs in Wisconsin, 7 other states and 1 foreign country. Of the remaining master's people, five took college positions, four went to vocational school faculties, and one each chose industry or military service.

Stout state college also makes available the services of its Placement Office to alumni of the college. The office reports such service to 48 industrial education graduates who took positions in Wisconsin and seven other states. High school teaching attracted 39 of these persons. Three others joined college faculties, two teach in vocational schools, two were employed to teach in universities, and one each went to industry or the Boy Scouting program.

Home economics alumnae were assisted in 17 cases. Of that number, 15 accepted high school teaching positions. Vocational school teaching and home agent work attracted the other two.

CONVENTIONS TO HEAR KIRK, MEILLER, PARMER

Three faculty members of the School of home economics at Stout state college will address sectional meetings in home economics at forthcoming conventions.

Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of home economics at Stout, will speak to the home economics sectional gathering of the Western Teachers association, meeting at La Crosse on October 4. Title of Dr. Kirk's address will be "Trends in Home Economics Teaching."

Before the home economics sectional group of the Northern Wisconsin-Lake Superior division, Miss Ella Jane Meiller, associate professor of food and nutrition, will describe "Nutrition for Today's Family." That group is meeting in Superior the week-end of October 3-4.

"What is the American Family" will be the topic of Mrs. Ruth M. H. Parmer, assistant in the nursery school of Stout state college, in her talk to the home economics section of the Northwestern Wisconsin teachers association. Mrs. Parmer will discuss for this group, meeting in Eau Claire, the various value structures embraced by the numerous strata of our society.

ARTICLES PUBLISHES FOR TWO STOUT WOMEN

The craft articles submitted by two Stout state college coeds, Muriel Erickson, Battle Lake, Minnesota, and Sandra John, Montello, received recognition in crafts competition at the Wisconsin state fair festival of arts. The girls submitted their entries at the suggestion of Miss Martha Ruth Amon, chairman of Stout's department of related art.

Miss Erickson won an honorable mention rating for woven linen place mats. Miss John's sculptured ceramic cat was displayed in the fine arts area of the festival.

Evidence of the girls' achievement is provided by the fact that the rest of the exhibitors were semi-professionals in several art areas. In fact, not even all of the entries submitted were even accepted for display at the festival.

RAYMOND CORNWELL IS CHOSEN JUDGE AT FAIR

Chosen to judge individual exhibits in the industrial arts division of the Minnesota state fair was Raymond Cornwell, assistant professor of industrial education at Stout state college. The education department of the fair offered a total of more than $10,000 in premiums for all divisions combined.

The industrial arts division was subdivided into five classes for various grade levels seven through twelve. Each class, in turn, offered competition for projects in wood, metals, graphic arts, crafts, electricity, and drawing.

In all, 120 awards were made, ranging from the five dollar blue ribbon firstplace to a yellow ribbon for fifth prize. A sweepstake prize of $20 and a special ribbon were given to the outstanding entry in all categories.

The deserted T. B. Wilson mansion, once the formal residence of one of Menomonie's prominent pioneer families will soon become the bustling fraternity house of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity at Stout state college here. The house was built in two units, 13 years apart. The right side was the original wing.

WILSON MANSION IS PURCHASED FOR USE AS FRATERNITY HOUSE FOR SIGMA TAU GAMMA

The 19 room mansion of one of Menomonie's pioneer lumber barons will soon be performing a less sedate—but equally useful—role for 30 fraternity men attending Stout state college.

Long known as the "T. B. Wilson house," in deference to members of the Wilson family who occupied it for nearly half a century, the original unit of the rambling frame structure was actually built in 1894 for Dr. Rhead, prominent Menomonie physician of that era. He lived in it until 1906, when the Wilsons purchased the house. It was continuously occupied by the T. B. Wilson family until five years ago, when the late Mrs. Wilson moved to Washington, D. C. After her departure the massive house remained unoccupied.

The three-story mansion, embellished with the verandas and porticos of the 1890's, dominates an entire quarter-block directly across the street from the site of Wilsons' original home. The old home had been built by the elder Wilsons, among the founders of the Knapp, Stout and Co. lumbering firm.

Although the old house was built in two sections, testimony to the craftsmanship of that day is the fact that there is no apparent difference, inside or outside, as to where the original unit ends and the later one begins. The west wing was added because the Wilsons decided on a larger living room for entertaining the Menomonie gentry.

Actually, however, the lumber used in construction is a mute witness to the prosperity and eventually collapse of the Menomonie lumbering enterprise. The older portion of the mansion only is framed from Wisconsin white pine which came through Menomonie in millions of board feet in the 1890's.

Even in the deserted, echoing house one can still sense gracious living in the time of the Stout-Knapp lumber empire. The walls of the formal living room are completely covered in maroon velvet. On the walls of the large entry hall, hand painted street scenes are still visible after half a century.

Former occupants could warm themselves at any of four fireplaces, each especially designed to the motif of a particular room. Five bathrooms are scattered throughout the mansion. In one is a hand painted washbowl imported from France.

A family of only three persons occupied the huge house. However, the five bedrooms on the second floor were in frequent use by an extensive guest list. Bedrooms on the third floor provided living quarters for the Wilson servants.

Soon the mansion will become the fraternity house of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity at Stout state college. Two years ago the organization formed a house corporation to purchase appropriate living quarters.

Renovation will include fireproofing the furnace room ceiling, closing off of several doors, and addition of cabinets in the kitchen. All fraternity members are majoring in industrial arts at the college and will do most of the remodeling work themselves.

If the volunteer remodeling goes according to schedule, the mansion will be ready for occupancy by fall. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hogstad will then live in one section of the first floor and will serve as houseparents in accordance with fraternity regulations. Mrs. Hogstad will cook two meals a day for the boys.

No account of the Wilson mansion would be complete, however, without mention of Oscar Rogstad, caretaker of the house and grounds for 51 years. Oscar was early on the scene, having laid all the brick sidewalks and paths, using only bricks "made in Menomonie."

In the back yard was the Wilson's tulip garden. "There used to be 500 tulips there," he recalls, "a beautiful sight when in bloom." Pointing to a brick wall several feet away he recalls, "That was a joint project of Mrs. Wilson and Senator James H. Stout a long time ago." Stout established what is now Stout state college, known for home economics and industrial arts throughout the world.

"In a way I hate to turn over the house keys to the new owners," Oscar

NEW ALICE IS DAIRYLANDER AT WHITEWATER

Wisconsin's new Alice in Dairyland is as honest as she is charming. Here are some things she attractive 5'5" brunette admits she can't do.

She can't bake a cherry pie or clean a chicken, at least she's never tried. She can't harness a horse or plow corn and she doesn't help with the milking on her dad's dairy farm near Whitewater. She didn't get all A's in her freshman year at the state college at Whitewater. And she doesn't sew well enough to make her own clothes.

Alice is Nancy Kay Trewyn whose father, Harold Trewyn, farms 102 acres in Jefferson county. Her admitted shortcomings need explanation.

"I can't bake anything better than my mother," says Nancy. "But I'm pretty good at banana cream pie and spaghetti and meat balls."

There are no horses on the modern Trewyn farm for Nancy to harness but she does drive the tractor in the summer, although not to plow corn.

"I took care of the chickens when I was younger and helped with the milking," says Wisconsin's Alice, "but someone else always plucked and cleaned the chickens so I never learned how."

Her college grades were mostly B's (no C's, five A's) during her freshman year as a state college student. But in high school she graduated as valedictorian and was granted a legislative scholarship.

Although she doesn't make her own clothes she dresses well enough to be named one of the 10 best dressed coeds at college last year. She estimates that her campus wardrobe costs about $100 a year to maintain.

"I only had two formal dresses at college," she recalls, "but I only went to two formal dances last year."

After this year as Alice in Dairyland Nancy will return to college. She is paying her own way and plans to teach after graduation, at least for two years.

Would she marry a farmer? "Of course," she says, "or a teacher, engineer, or cowboy if I loved him."

admits, "but it will be nice to see the building lighted up again." Rogstad will retire now that the Wilsons' tenure of the mansion is over.

Oscar's pride and joy is still the 50 by 40 foot horse barn which—though now deserted—was at one time a Menomonie landmark. "The stables were once higher than the house," he claims, "and provided quarters for five of the finest thoroughbred horses anywhere around. The horse barn even had a ramp in it so we could take the animals to the upper floor for riding gear or hitching to the buggies without ever going outside." The third floor of the barn contained enough hay and straw to feed the horses for a year.

The fraternity boys plan to use the garage for their cars until they are financially able to remodel it into additional living quarters.

PLANS FOR GIRLS' DORM AND STUDENT UNION COMPLETE, LONG RANGE CONSTRUCTION BEGUN

The more than a million dollars of new buildings under construction at Stout state college this fall represents only part of the comprehensive program of building and renovation being undertaken by the college, reports Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, Stout president.

Two wings to the residence hall for women, to cost $600,000 and house 200 coeds, are now underway. The former Tainter Annex, a reconverted carriage house which served for 50 years as a dormitory, is being razed. Bids on a new $525,000 student union are to be let sometime in October.

Dr. Fryklund, however, points out that two buildings will be entirely paid for by students attending the college and not come from tax funds. It is the present policy of the state of Wisconsin to finance student unions and dormitories on a long term basis and entirely from an allocated portion of student fees. College buildings of an entirely educational nature, such as classrooms or shops, will still be constructed with state-appropriated funds.

Work is in progress on the north unit of the addition to the residence hall, with the south unit to be begun when Tainter Annex has been completely dismantled. Each unit will contain three floors, but the overall height of each will be less than that of the present residence hall.

In addition to room accommodations, a lounge will be provided in each wing. Food service for all units will be handled in the present facilities.

Location of the new Stout student union will be directly behind Stout's present physical education building, between that structure and the college library. Access to the union will be possible from three sides, with a service entrance located on the east.

Because of the 120 x 100 foot dimensions of the new union and the requirement of a service entrance, it will be necessary to raze immediately the wooden farm-shop building of the Dunn County Agricultural School.

The union will also occupy the present playground area of Stout's nursery school, necessitating eventual removal of the college-owned Ingram house next to the physical education building. The playground will then be relocated on a portion of the Ingram lot, the remainder of the land being used as a walkway to the union.

The exterior of the union building will be of brick and masonry panels, enhanced by the use of much glass and aluminum. On the first floor will be a snack area, game room, hobby room, reading and television viewing area, plus space for a checkroom and for equipment maintenance.

Such facilities are in keeping with practices of universities throughout the nation in that a union building is a student's "home away from home." The union therefore offers to him, under campus supervision, many recreational opportunities and also certain conveniences which he would have in his own home.

A large part of the union's second floor will be devoted to a spacious area equipped both as a ballroom and a center for use by large gatherings. Conference rooms, office space and additional lounges are also planned.

An addition to the Stout campus which is all ready for use is a second home management house, made possible by conversion of the former college infirmary. The new home management unit, located adjacent to the original house, provides sparkling new facilities in which Stout coeds will learn homemaking skills during their six weeks residence there.

Low ratio of student usage of the former infirmary — for instance only four students in an entire semester — made discontinuation of a separate in-

The United Student Fellowship is the college youth fellowship in association with the United Church of Christ Congregational Christian and the Evangelical and Reformed churches.

The purpose of the United Student Fellowship is:

1. To unite all college and university students, especially those of the constituent denominations, into effective fellowship.

2. To confront the campus community in its total life with the Christian faith and with the necessity of commitment to the Gospel of Christ, and to inspire students to witness to that Christian faith.

3. To develop active and responsible church members.

4. To further effective participation in the United Student Christian Council and in the World's Student Christian Federation.

5. To foster the sharing of worthwhile interested individuals and groups.

Our local U.S.F. has a supper-meeting every Sunday evening at 5:30 at the First Congregational Church, 5th and Wilson. The evenings program and worship follow dinner.

Do you like to see the footlights come up on a play opening night? This experience is possible twice a year when Manual Arts Players present play productions.

Manual arts players, better known as M.A.P., is a chapter of Alpha Psi Omega national honorary dramatic fraternity on Stout's campus.

In order to be eligible for membership into M.A.P. you must work to earn 100 points either back stage or playing roles on stage, or both.

Working back stage you can join a committee for make-up, properties, costumes, or stage crew.

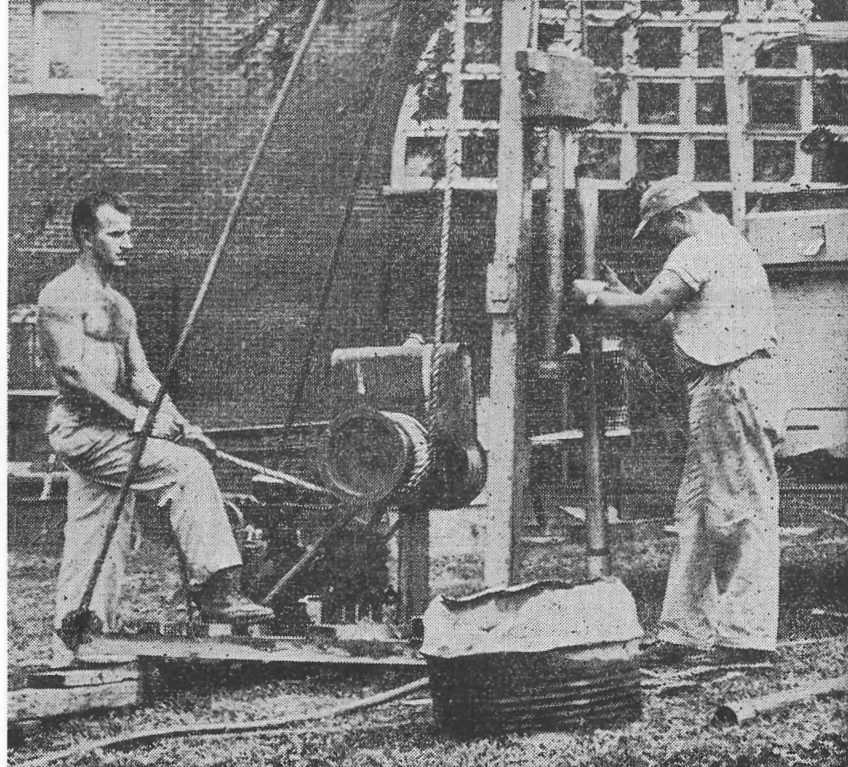

firmly a logical step. Provision has been made instead in each dormitory for the care of students who become ill.

The instructional facilities of Harvey hall have also been improved by the addition of a home equipment and household physics laboratory. Because of constant progress in automation at the home level, homemakers must now know more than ever about the selection, purchase, maintenance and efficient use of large and small appliances and equipment. To meet this need, the new laboratory will be fitted with many different types of such equipment with which each girl will become familiar.

Also planned for this year are re-equipping of the college auditorium and a complete renovation of Stout's famous clock-bell tower. New, more comfortable seats, carpeting and a general refurbishing are in store for Stout auditorium. Renovation of the tower is described in greater detail elsewhere.

Plans are already being drawn for Stout's next major building, a $725,000 multi-story metal shop and classroom structure, to be located where the Dunn county agriculture high school and Dunn county teachers college now stand.

All metalworking activities of Stout state college will be located on the lower floors. Offices and classrooms for certain academic fields, as well as rehearsal accommodations for band and choir, will occupy the upper stories. It is anticipated that construction will

AIR FORCE OFFERS NEW PROGRAM TO VETERANS

A non-commissioned officer course is being offered to Air Force veterans in Menomonie. This course is open to all members of the Air Force Reserve who hold the rank of Airman first class through Master Sergeant.

Those who have reserve obligations, as well as those who have been discharged are encouraged to enroll. Regular meetings are held at the court house on Wednesday evenings between 8 and 10. Those who participate will be paid according to their rank.

For further information contact Bill Tiefenthaler or Bud Heyel on campus, or see them at the court house on one of the following evenings after 8: October 2, 9, 16, November 6, 13, 20, December 4, 11, January 8, 11.

To provide adequate facilities of the important health and physical education program at Stout, a million dollar health education building will then be constructed on or near Nelson field. This structure will provide space for spectator sports, intramural games, classes in health and physical education, and offices for staff members.

In order to maintain heat in Stout's present buildings and handle the heating of the additional units to be built, a million dollar central heating plant will be necessary. Present heating facilities are over a half-century old and are both inefficient and inadequate. Much of the cost of the new plant will be returned through more efficient operation possible with modern equipment. However, as new buildings appear on the campus, the fringe heating service which the college now provides will have to be curtailed.

FRESHMEN GALS FINDING DORMS INTERESTING

Enthusiastic freshmen, numbering 167, are making Tainter hall their home away from home this year. With the building program in progress and Tainter Annex torn down, the two remaining dormitories are filled to capacity.

Eichelberger hall, with Mrs. Gertrude Adams as housemother, is housing sophomores, transfer students, and foreign students from Indonesia.

A new residence hall for women is Boeing house, located next to the Stout gymnasium. Mrs. Manila Ohnstad is the house mother.

Tainter hall, under the direction of Mrs. Charlotte Sims, director of dormitories and head resident, has already been the scene of two important social events. There was the Big-Little Sister Tea sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. and the freshman women's dorm party, sponsored by the S.S.A.

Of course most of the freshmen feel a little lonesome for home and familiar faces about this time, but thanks to the Y.W.C.A. and the S.S.A. and others on Stout's campus, a remedy for this condition called "homesickness" has been achieved.

The Stout Snoop

Hi. Bet you thought I had gotten lost in the shuffle. Gosh it's good to see so many old classmen back but even better to see so many new freshmen. It gives me all the more people to "snoop" around. Excuse me, guess I better introduce myself to all of you who don't know me. I am the Stout Snoop. A dime to a donut you all have felt me because I specialize in fluttering around heads, sitting on shoulders, and sometimes I even cause a buzzing sensation in heads if I get on real hot "news". Don't ever say I didn't warn you because I'm going to now — I am every where, see every thing, hear every thing and somehow or ever this column always seems to contain what I see and hear.

Now for the trivial of the beginning of this year. It looked for awhile like registration was going to be the end of everyone. But finally it was over with, everyone was satisfied (outwardly anyway) and the first all school function took the spotlight — the picnic. It was here that many reunions took place among upperclassmen (repercussions of them were heard on the outskirts of the picnic area). It was here that freshmen boys called junior and senior girls freshmen. It was here that the freshmen sported their new Stout sweat shirts in force. And it was here that the freshmen began to feel a part of the big Stout family.

Then along came the dances and the usual "Big-he-man stag line" and standing and analyzing the "Little-weak-felines" sitting in unprotected groups.

Well, are you ready for homecoming? Its just around the corner. Are your floats started or are you still planning hurriedly for it? From the looks of things there are really going to be some tremendous ones this year. And, after having snooped into some closets of Stout gals, I would predict a record turn out of new, "oh-la-la" dresses. Its too bad gals, that the guys can't see them, for I would be willing to bet you all would have dates!

Here's hoping our football luck keeps coming and we win our homecoming game as well as we did the Eau Claire game.

Did you notice how tired the Stout band was this week Monday? They really had reason to be with all of the marching they did on a previous Saturday. First they were in the Dairy Day Parade then onto busses to go to the ground breaking of the freeway and then back home for pre-game and half-time maneuvers. Considering everything, I think they did an excellent job.

Well, off to my "snooping" again. See you in two weeks, with reports on how Stout students spent their summer as the results of my snooping.

An earthquake in a small South American town frightened the inhabitants, and one family sent their little boy to stay with friends in a different city. Two days later, the parents received this telegram: "Am returning your boy. Please send earthquake instead."

HOMECOMING TILT PROMISES TO BE THRILLER; TEAM PHYSICALLY FIT FOR CONTEST WITH INDIANS

Taking to the field in their 1957 homecoming game, Stout will attempt to "Toss La Crosse for a Loss" tomorrow.

Always a tough team when they face the Blue Devils, Stout will be looking for revenge for a 41-0 pasting suffered last season.

La Crosse boasts a one win one loss conference record thus far this season. The Indians lone loss came at the hands of undefeated Platteville last week due to a last minute touchdown.

The gridgers will be at full strength against the Indians, with no serious injuries occurring over the week.

Coach Joe Gerlach's probable starters consist of Larry Gannon and Bruce Eland at the ends; Bill Doane, Bill Kindschy, or Jim Lubalm at tackle; Jim Nadeau and Ernie Oyama at guard; and Dick Tepp at center. In the backfield, Joe O'Leary will be heading things with Glen Harke, Elroy Wicklund or Jack O'Reilly at halfback, and Bob Mitchel or Ned McDonald at fullback.

STOUT SUFFERS FIRST LOSS OF SEASON 20-6

The smile of victory was lost last Saturday, as the Stout Blue Devils fell victim to a powerful River Falls team 20-6.

On paper, the Falcons had only a slight edge over the Blue Devils, but this however, proved sufficient. Stout piled up nine first downs as compared to twelve for River Falls, and finished with a total yardage gain of 91 compared with 136 for their hosts. Passing seemed to provide the deciding factor as the Blue Devils completed only three out of eleven for a total of sixty-one yards, while the Falcons connected six of twenty for ninety-eight yards.

Stout's lone tally came in the third quarter when Jim Nadeau intercepted a pass by Nick Laubers and sprinted all the way, forty-three yards to pay dirt. Bruce Eland's point after attempt was blocked.

Two of River Falls' touchdowns came as a result of long runs. The first one when Mike Lauber returned Joe O'Leary's punt sixty-five yards to score, and the second when Tom Everson returned a kick-off to the Stout ten yard line. The other one came at the end of a sustained drive.

freshman last year at Stout. She is also a member of Synchronized swimming. "Gus" says she enjoys the classes and social life at Stout, but she would like to see more school spirit at games.

Shirley Atkin a sophomore from Durand is returning to the cheerleading squad for her second year. Nineteen year old "Shirl" is 5'2" and has blue eyes and brown hair. In her spare time you might find Shirley swimming, skating, bowling, or dancing, as these are all tops with her. Shirl's cheerleading experience goes back to junior high school, and her activities at Stout include the Home Economics club and the Wesley church group. She is very enthusiastic about Stout's football team, and would like to see the organization of a pep club.

Another sophomore, Carol Barber, comes to Stout from Ladysmith. Blue-eyed, blonde-haired Carol is 18 and 5'4". Swimming, skating, bowling and playing the piano help to keep "Barb" busy. Her experience includes some cheering in junior high, but this is her first year on the squad at Stout. "Barb" is also a member of Synchronized swimming, the Home Economics club, and LSA. She thinks school spirit has been great this year and she's hoping the students body will continue to support the teams.

A newcomer at Stout this year is Judith Kay Gordon. Nineteen year old Judy is from Chatfield, Minnesota, where she was a cheerleader in junior and senior high school. Judy has blond hair and blue eyes, and is 5'5". When she can sit still long enough, Judy loves to curl up in a comfortable chair with a good book and a sack of butter-

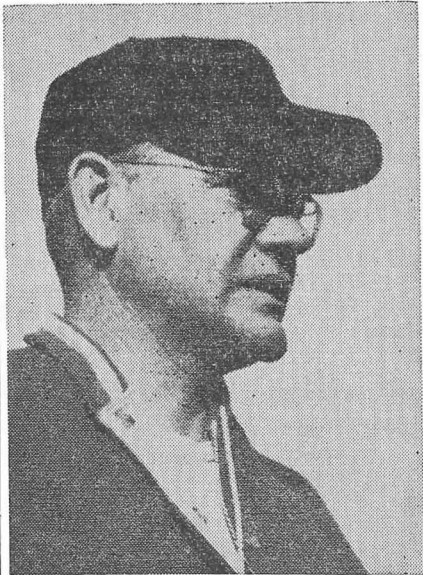

GERLACH AND JOHNSON PROVIDE YEARS OF EXPERIENCE TO THE STOUT COACHING STAFF

"Tomorrow, is the parade and homecoming football game"—The two are inseparable, but how many of us will think of what or who is behind those eleven players and their reserves.

There are two men found at the edge of the playing field nervously pacing back and forth—watching every move, every play, every man—now and then giving encouragement to a man, giving him a few instructions and sending him in.

Those fellows are known as coaches. We have two such fellows at Stout, whose names are Gerlach and Johnson. They are out there every night with the boys, giving instructions, watching for strengths and weaknesses, plugging away all the time to help the boys win.

Coach Gerlach is in his second season here at Stout. Before coming here, he was football line coach as well as basketball and track coach at the University of Minnesota, Duluth branch. He was at Duluth for nine years.

Coach Joe Gerlach

Here at Stout, his official title is Assistant Professor of Physical Education. According to him, "The team is ready. The boys have a lot of pep, spirit, and fire; it's a pleasure to work with them."

When asked about tomorrow's game with La Crosse, he has this to say, "La Crosse is a good club. If we beat them there will have to be an effort on the part of all of the team. We will have to play good ball."

The coach feels that the team can scotch candy. Ice skating, swimming, and water skiing also rate high with her. Judy is a member of the Home Economics club and the live wire of third floor, Tainter hall. Judy says Stout is tops, but the school spirit isn't what it could be.

Another frosh, Nancy Fruit, comes from South Milwaukee. Nancy is 18 years old, 5'5", and has dark hair and brown eyes. She made her debut in cheerleading when she was in high school. Swimming, water skiing, and record collecting occupy Nancy's spare time. When asked about a nickname Nancy pleads the fifth amendment. A member of the Stoutonia staff and the Home Economics club, Nancy is enjoying herself here at Stout.

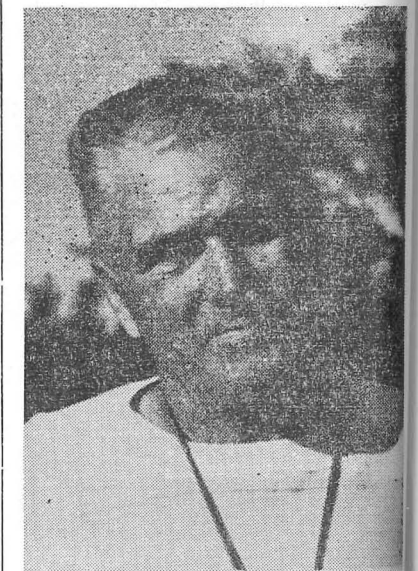

Most of the cheerleaders ask for more school spirit. Let's get behind the cheerleaders and the team and make this year one to remember at Stout!

win with work. "It's a better team than last year in that the boys have more experience. There is good spirit, and a couple of new boys like Glen Harke and Ken Berndt help."

The other fellow walking around out there is Coach Johnson. He is an old-timer here at Stout having been here 20 years. Before coming here, he served for eight years at Red Wing. During that time he had a championship basketball team. One of his pleasant experiences while being here at Stout was a reunion with that championship team in 1953.

Coach Johnson feels that at Stout we have a somewhat different problem because of a great many new ideas that must be taught to the men coming from long distances and not from a closer area. He says, "This does not mean a lack of fundamentals but this is a melting pot where there is more likely to be different systems when boys come from all spokes of a wheel. Our football team has more freshmen than the average team. This necessitates a longer period of time to give the proper foundations and intertain them in our system."

The coach feels that our winning over Winona who thoroughly trounced

Assistant Coach Ray Johnson

Loras college after being defeated Stout was not so much contributed our strength as to our spirit.

"Now we are going into the crucial part of the schedule. We need depth in all positions and may find that we are not able to impart to adequate fundamentals to the new men. Experience is necessary to take care of changes against teams with men of more ability due to depth and experience."

"In some positions, we've lost as high as five men from last year, such as ends Basil Holder, Jerry Stauffacher, Ronald Uuertl, Morrie Ellis, Ne Hoefman, and Willard Bengs. We have to rely on men with less experience as well as to play these men longer periods of time."

"We know that in our homecoming game this year, we meet the best conference has to offer. But if spirit and hard work are the criteria for winning, we are in a position to win our 1957 Homecoming game with La Crosse."

We have not been hosts to La Crosse at a Stout homecoming since 1947. The score was Stout 6, La Crosse 7. The result of the game in 1948 was: Stout 6, La Crosse 13.

SEVEN PEPPY CHEERLEADERS TO LEAD STOUT THROUGH PROMISING 1957-58 ATHLETIC SEASON

Returning for her third year is Adeline Bocke. Twenty-year-old Adeline is a senior from Rosemont, Minnesota. She is 5'6" tall and has green eyes and brown hair. Among her hobbies are sewing and listening to semi-classical music. Adeline's cheerleading career began when she was in high school. She demonstrated her talents as a freshman and junior at Stout. She is also a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, LSA, the Home Economics club, and is secretary of the senior class. "Toots" says school spirit has improved since she was a freshman, and she would like to see a pep club organized.

Another three-year veteran, Bette Zander, is from Brillion. Blonde-haired Bette is 5'6" and a junior at Stout.

For 20 years Bette has spent most of her spare time eating and she claims there's nothing like it! Bette, who "fortunately" has no nicknames, began cheering "way back in the grade school." Among other activities at Stout, Bette is active in M.A.P., Palas Athene sorority, and W.R.A. She is quite pleased with Stout school spirit and she has high hopes for the football and basketball teams.

Jean "Gus" Goehring is back on the cheerleading squad for her second year. Brown-haired, brown-eyed Jean is a sophomore from Menomonie. Jean is 5'4½" tall and an avid sports fan, with swimming, tennis, skiing and hiking among her favorites. She gained her first cheerleading experience as a

NEXT CONVO TO FEATURE CARL MOSE, SCULPTOR

The student convocation for Wednesday, October 16, will present Mr. Carl Mose, an American sculptor. His program will include slides of modern and ancient sculpture and a demonstration of modelling.

Mr. Mose was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, but has lived most of his life in this country. He studied sculpture at the Art Institute, Chicago, the Art Students' League and Beaux-Arts academy, New York, and has traveled for many years. He has been active in the Army information and educational program in Guam, Saipan, and the Hawaiian Islands.

Usually Mr. Mose models the head of a person chosen from the audience. Working with his tools and clay, he demonstrates his method of modeling and explains his procedure as he works. It is said that he has a reputation as a humorist as well as a sculptor. This type of clay modeling is sometimes the basis for sculpture to be "poured" in plaster or metal; at other times the pieces may be fired in a kiln and finished as ceramic sculpture. The program should be very interesting.

DO YOU KNOW HOW THE BIG SECRET WAS KEPT?

How many students know how last week's queen election results were kept secret for two days? The story behind this is an interesting tale of intrigue and cooperation; intrigue because of the suspense and cooperation of the SSA and the STOUTONIA.

To begin with, the election was held on Wednesday with the ballots counted that same afternoon. Early on Wednesday evening the results were turned over to the STOUTONIA editor by the SSA president. The story was then written by the editor, set in print by a printing instructor, and proofed. Then everything was locked up until late Thursday night.

An interesting sideline is that on Thursday morning, four little cards were found at strategic points around the campus. Each card stated that a different girl had won the election.

On Thursday night the story was hauled out and put to press only after the print shop had been cleared of unnecessary personnel and the doors locked. After the paper had been running for an hour and a half, the same people who counted the ballots on Wednesday afternoon came over to the shop to help put the inserts into 3000 STOUTONIAS. This job was finished at about 11 pm and the papers were locked away until 8:30 Friday morning when the news was broken.

The secret had been shared for two days by the following SSA members: Pete Jackson, Ralph Stevens, Peggy Deering, Bill McKinnon, Loretta Sletton, and Barbara Hartig; and the following STOUTONIA personnel: Bill Erpenbach, Alice Weltzin, Gene Kirscht, Norbert Link, and instructor Paul Axelsson.

NEW SORORITY PLEDGES INITIATED BY SISTERS

Fall sorority pledging is well under way for 1957. The four sororities are pledging a total of 37 women, and all held their informal initiation ceremonies last week.

Alpha Sigma Alpha initiated seven new members on Wednesday. The seven girls proudly wearing the Alpha's silver, four-pointed pledge pins are Nancy Fullmer, Fort Atkinson; Gloria Zittlow, Fond du Lac; Rita Anderson, Sister Bay; Dorothy Grundmann, Waukesha; Katchen Kubitz, Janesville; Lucretia Ebbott, Janesville; and Jean Goehring, Menomonie.

Thirteen sophomore women can be recognized as Delta Zeta pledges by their black and gold pins, designed with Betty lamps. Initiated into Zeta Beta chapter Thursday, October 3, were Karen Rambo, Stoughton; Shirley Hintz, Waldo; Kelly Keliher, Eau Claire; Midge Shattuck, Amery; Barbara Harms, Platteville; Avis Cahill, Bayfield; Sharon McManus, Washburn; Rita Todd, West Lima; Sandy Milar, Menomonie; Marlys Vieths, Goodhue, Minnesota; Judy Steiner, Eau Claire; Kathy Anderson, Britt, Minnesota; and Ruth Isaacson, Virginia, Minnesota.

Pallas Athene held informal initiation Wednesday, October 2 for eight new pledges. Diamond shaped red and white pins are being proudly worn by Sandy Sorenson, Kenosha; Jean Sprain, West Salem; Joanne Salm, Chilton; Alice Schweizer, River Falls; Marilyn Peterson, River Falls; Jeanne Larson, Denmark; Margaret Massey, Fond du Lac; Jo Hanson, Baldwin; and Nancy Fisher, Milwaukee.

A triangle inside a silver circle describes the pledge pin of Sigma Sigma Sorority. Eight women, initiated into Tri Sigma sorority Tuesday, October 1, were Nancy Feuerstein, Sharon; Nancy Cory, Palmyra; Evelyn Kichefski, Rhinelander; Barbara Grover, Galesville; D'Ann Mattson, Brookfield; Sally Owen, Milwaukee; Laura Kiel, Manitowoc; and Alice Studt, Braham, Minnesota.

APO OFFICE IS CENTER FOR LOST AND FOUND

Say, have you lost some (plural) books, jackets, keys, gloves, wallets, watches, slide rules, locks, or perhaps a ring? If so, take a walk to the APO Lost and Found office. This office is located in the basement of Harvey hall. The hours are 9:20-11:20 and 2:20-4:20 every day Monday through Friday.

To claim a lost article all you have to do is describe it to the person who is in the office at the time. If it is in the office you will get it by signing your name and if it is not there, inquiry will be made about it.

If you have found something just bring it to the office and it will be returned to the proper owner.

APO, in cooperation with the Stoutonia staff, will publish a list of the more important articles every month.

COLLEGE AN ECONOMIC ASSET TO MENOMONIE

How does Stout state college fit into the economic picture of Menomonie?

The opening of every college year is readily apparent because of the multitudes of young people who come to live in the community, the write ups of new faculty appointments which appear in the newspaper, and the widespread discussion of college buildings under construction and in the planning stage. But what is the actual financial consequence of this educational enterprise which operates in our midst? Here in precise, objective figures is the financial impact of Stout state college on Menomonie and the surrounding area.

The college now operates on a yearly budget of $1,260,274.00 exclusive of building projects. The annual Stout payroll is $803,844, of which $558,350 goes to 77 faculty members and $245,494 to 70 civil service employees. Most of these people, in turn, live and buy in Menomonie. For instance, 36 of 51 male faculty members own their own homes, paying taxes and sharing in all community endeavors.

Also part of the 1 1/4 million dollar annual budget is $156,300 for materials, services and expense, as well as $45,000 for capital outlay and repairs. The bulk of this money is also spent right here in the community.

Included in the budget is $287,365 in "self-sustaining" activities, such as dormitory operation and student functions, which pay for themselves. A large part of this money too is spent locally, as are the wages of from 200 to 300 students who are hired annually by Stout for varying kinds and amounts of part-time work.

Perhaps the best evidence of the growth of Stout state college and its economic role in the community is a comparison of the value of its physical plant. In 1911, when the heirs of James H. Stout deeded the college to the State of Wisconsin, the entire enterprise was valued at only about $500,000. This year alone, the college will add $511,000 in dormitory additions and a $525,000 student union, both structures to be paid on a long term basis from students fees, not tax funds.

Perhaps more difficult to gauge accurately is the expenditure in the community by the nearly 1200 students who attend Stout. The schedule of charges now in effect for students is as follows:

LA PETITE GALERIE FEATURES TREASURES OF OLDEST AND GREATEST AMERICAN CIVILIZATION

LES AND LARRY ELGART'S BAND HERE OCT. 21

Coming Monday, October 21, to the Stout state college campus is the orchestra of Les and Larry Elgart. The Sigma Tau Gamma housing corporation is sponsoring the "Sophisticated Swing" orchestra.

The evening's entertainment, beginning at 7:30 pm and lasting until 11:30 pm, will be divided into a two hour concert and a two hour dance. The Menomonie high school gym at 820 Broadway will be the site of the dance. Dorm hours will be extended to 12:00 am for students attending the programs.

Admission for the dance and concert will be $1.25 per person if the ticket is bought in advance or $1.50 per person at the door. Advance ticket sales will be held throughout the school and town.

The Elgart orchestra is well known for its top Columbia recordings. One of its most famous was "Sophisticated Swing." Featured vocalist with the band is Don Forbes.

Les and Larry have performed at various well known places such as the Astor Roof, New York; Stell Pier, Atlantic City, New Jersey; Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; and Ohio University, Athens, Ohio.

Before starting his own band in 1947, Les Elgart was the featured trumpet player with Harry James, Woody Herman, Charlie Spivak among others. He also was heard on the Eddie Cantor radio program and played with Raymond Scott.

The Elgart band was recently nominated in a poll conducted by "Mademoiselle" magazine as the most likely to succeed. Another honor bestowed upon the group was being chosen by the National ballroom operators association poll as the most promising swing band.

Jim Jonen has been chosen as general chairman for the dance. Assisting Jim are Al Finnell, finances; Tom Rosenthal, publicity; and Ken Held, refreshments.

FRATERNITIES RELEASE LIST OF 1957 PLEDGES

All around the campus, you have no doubt seen the new fraternity pledges, easily identified by the odd attire worn during hell week, which began October 3, and ran until the formal initiation dinners on October 9.

The new pledges for Chi Lambda fraternity are Michael Bachler, Jerry Koskinen, Alan Matson, and James Teske.

Delta Kappa's pledges include James Blarczyk, Duane Duquette, James Lambert, Harley Peterson, and Richard Schendel.

Phi Sigma Epsilon's pledges are Fred Slabey, John Sherry, and Gene Smagelski.

Pledging to Sigma Tau Gamma are Ken Held, Gilbert Feller, Harry Shimada, Don Stoddard, Helmuth Albrecht, and Bruce Olander.

At the time of publication, the FOBs had not answered the Stoutonia's inquiry as to who their pledges were.

Drink! Drive! Die!

La Petite Galerie in room 221 of Harvey hall is now holding some of the treasures of the Inca and pre-Inca civilization. This is the oldest civilization of the Americas and it is the greatest ever to be reached anywhere without the use of the wheel.

In the display case is the original jewelry designed and created by Miss G. Laffi, an internationally famous Peruvian artist and craftsman. Inspired by the style of the pre-Inca Indians, Miss Laffi used actual stones from jewelry found in Indian tombs and on Indian mummies.

Also displayed are textiles, two of which date before the time of Christ. In fact, everything in the gallery dates back to the Incan empire period or before, although these same hand dyed and woven ponchos are still worn by today's Indians of the Andes.

La Petite Galerie leads into Studio 211, where we find a modern Indian festival dress. The influence of the modern age is shown by the fact that chemical dyes are used and the braid is sewn on by machine.

The belt featured in the back of the studio is the only exhibit not from Peru. This is the hand woven belt of Mexican design which was brought back by Dr. Lorna Lengfeld, who spent her summer at school in Mexico.

The rest of these art creations were obtained from the Indians in all parts of this mysterious and enchanting land or from Miss Laffi.

Except for the stones used in the bracelet, the jewels were taken from ancient Indian necklaces and were chosen either by Miss Laffi or by Miss Mary Williams of the Related Art Department, who spent most of the summer in Peru. Most of the textiles belong to Professor Helen Annen of the University of Wisconsin's Art Department, who toured Peru several years ago. It is to these people that we owe our thanks for making such a beautiful display possible.

STOUT TO HOLD FIRST PARENTS' WEEK END SOON

The first annual Parent's weekend will be held November 1-3. The idea of having a parent's weekend is to acquaint the parents of the students here on campus with the school, educationally as well as socially.

The social committee, made up of all vice-presidents of organizations on campus under the direction of the SSA vice-president, has made a program for the parents which they feel will include all the major functions of campus life at our school. Invitations to each parent will be mailed today with the program.

Friday night a presentation by M. A.P. will be followed by a coffee hour at the Union. Saturday's schedule will include dinner at the dorm, a tour of all the campus buildings, a football game, and the Sweetheart dance.

Try to encourage your parents to attend Stout's open campus. It will give them a chance to learn what the college offers their sons and daughters.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

The 1957 Homecoming of Stout state college has now been written into the history books. What a sparkling entry it must have made as this year's homecoming was undoubtedly one of the all-time bests.

Everything from the new burning of the letters to the high quality of the floats, seemed to reflect with dignity upon our campus. It was indeed a tribute to the individual efforts of all involved that Homecoming was such an overwhelming success. The fact that everything did go so well points out what good cooperation among all can do. This Homecoming could never have been so well received through the efforts of only two or three, but that of everyone pulling together.

There is neither space nor time enough to credit everyone in and everything about this year's Homecoming. However, it can be said that beyond a doubt, the students and faculty of Stout state college can rest assured that a job has been well done. This highly successful venture, then, has put the social year off on the right foot for 1957-58, may it never falter.

CLUB NEWS

Homecoming week was a busy one for the Pallas Athene sorority. Monday and Tuesday evenings were spent serenading the dorms as part of the campaign for queen candidate, Diane Davis. Wednesday night the group gathered at Betty Havlik's home for the pledging ceremony. Nine pledges, Nancy Fisher, Jo Ann Hanson, Jeanine Larsen, Margaret Massey, Marilyn Petersen, Jo Ann Salon, Alice Schweiger, Jean Sprain, and Sandra Sorenson, were accepted. The homecoming float was the center of interest on Thursday night as the girls gathered at the home of Liz Erpenbach to work. The theme, "Resting in Victory" was symbolized by a football lying on a cloud.

Serenaders have entertained the residents of the dorms this week. Campaign posters and mobiles gaily decorated halls and bulletin boards.

Both women's residence halls elected officers this week. Tainter Hall chose the following girls: president, Pat Wenner; Vice-president, Bunny Stehr; secretary, Jean Smith; Treasurer, Carol Bishop; and S.S.A. representative, Ann Hedler.

Eichelburger Hall elected the following officers: president, Barbara Bosch; vice-president, Dottie Bauer; secretary, Carol Kirchmeyer; treasurer, Alice Cramer; and S.S.A. representative, Kathieen Keliker.

The Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity held their regular weekly meeting Thursday, October 2, at 7:00 p.m. in the Sig Tau house. The main business of the meeting was to accept candidates for pledging. Each pledge was given a list of duties for the week. The pledges accepted were Ken Held, Gilbert Feller, Harry Shimada, Don Stoddard, Helmuth Albrecht and Bruce Olander.

The 4-H Club held their first meeting of the year at Riverside park on September 21, where the group assembled for a picnic. Following a "song-fest" of 4-H music, the students each introduced themselves and gave a brief description of their 4-H background through the past years.

Carol Bibbey was in charge of the program for the picnic. Serving on the food committee were Ruth Olson, D'Ann Mattson, and Amanda Tumm. The recreation committee consisted of Judy Berget, Jean Sprain, and Kay Vanda.

Slides on "How to Give a Demonstration," a film entitled "Heads Up for Beauty," summer activity reports, and group buzz sessions were on the agenda for the first regular meeting of the club which was held on October 9, at 8:00 p.m. Membership sheets were filled out by all new members and dues were paid.

Several members of Stout Christian Fellowship will attend a fall conference of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship held at Wood Lake located near Grantsburg.

With the homecoming breakfast for the alumni and float written down in history, the group is ready to swing into its schedule for the year. Intermingled with the regular meetings on Wednesday night in the library, there will be socials, films, and exchange meetings with the groups on nearby campuses. Come out and join us.

Plans are nearing completion for the M.A.P. production, "Outward Bound," which will be presented on November 21-23.

There are openings on the following backstage committees: stage crew, lighting, make-up, properties and sound effects, costumes, business and publicity. Anyone wishing to participate in these activities may do so by signing up in Mrs. Lengfeld's office, room 316 in Harvey hall.

"Outward Bound," a comedy drama, promises to be "the most" in enjoyable entertainment. The cast of six men and three women are aboard a small-ocean liner — destination unknown!

Besides the two major productions there are one act plays in which students may earn points to join the M.A.P.

The M.A.P. will soon present a booklet to inform all freshmen about this organization, but all students are welcome to take part on the dramatic activities.

PHI SIG PLEDGES HOLD SKIT AND MIXER IN GYM

"People dying to get in!" Yes, that was the way the Phi Sigma Epsilon pledges started their "Casey Comfy Coffin Company Commercial."

This little affair took place in the small gym Wednesday night from 8:00 to 10:00. There was a free mixer following the skit, where everyone danced to the recorded music of many top hits.

The evening was completed by the "men in the red shirts" singing their Phi Sig song.

The Phi Sig pledges who were in charge of this event were, John Scherry, Fred Slaby, and Eugene Smigalski.

DANFORTH FELLOWSHIP AVAILABLE TO QUALIFIED

Seniors, are you planning to go on into graduate studies? Financial assistance may be possible to several men who can meet the requirements for the Danforth graduate fellowship.

Appointment as a Danforth fellow is one of the major academic honors available for the student entering graduate school and preparing for college teaching. Selection is made on the basis of academic ability, personality, and integrity and character, including serious inquiry within the Christian tradition.

The fellowship may be used at any accredited university in America. It does not prevent him from having other national fellowships concurrent with the Danforth fellowship. The appointment is for one year with expectations of renewing it through the years of graduate study.

Men are encouraged to apply even though they may have no financial need that they may participate in this "relationship of encouragement."

Fellows who qualify are expected to attend — at the expense of the Foundation — the annual Danforth fellow conference on teaching held in the fall of the year.

All applications must be completed by January 31, 1958. More information can be had from Dr. Iverson in his office.

WHAT STUDENTS WILL BE DOING THIS WEEK END

What are you going to do over teacher's convention?

Bob Scheele: Going home to Sheboygan and old girl friends.

Dave Passo: Going home to St. Paul.

C. Roger Curtis: Going home to my girl.

Richard Kirchefski: Going home to hunt? ? ?

Lowell Quist: Going home and work.

Pat Fitzgerald: Going home with his best buddies.

Jerry Koskinen: Going home to see his girl.

RURAL TEACHER OF YEAR LIKES COUNTRY LIVING

Wisconsin's rural teacher of the year claims she should have been a gypsy because of her love of travel and the outdoors.

The teacher is Mrs. Elenore Dahl, selected recently by a committee of state educational leaders for the honor. She teaches at the Cottage Grove grade school in Dane County.

Her travels have taken her to every state in the union and to Canada and Mexico. She and her husband load up the station wagon with a tent, stove, and supplies and head north, south, east, or west every summer. Next year's destination: Alaska.

The petite and pleasant Mrs. Dahl frankly admits her age is 50. Her hair, once blonde, has turned, she says, to "mouse-colored." She has completed most of her third year of college work at Whitewater state college by attending summer sessions and extension courses. Her degree in elementary education is "about five years away," she thinks.

Her classroom at Cottage Grove reflects her interest in nature. Two white rats are expecting a family soon in their cage in one corner. There is an aquarium in another corner and a live grass snake lives in a jar on the shelf near the mounted badger and bat.

"Two boys brought in the bat but it was wounded so they killed and mounted it," Mrs. Dahl explains. "The badger was killed in a fight with a dog about five years ago on a nearby farm and I had it mounted."

There are also snake skins, wasps' nests, butterflies, and leaves in her room. Boys in the 7th grade are free with their admiration for this teacher who isn't afraid of rats or snakes.

But there is one thing, the rural teacher of 1957 can't stand. After a half century of rural living she has this to say:

"I couldn't tolerate living in a city."

ARTS AND CRAFTS CLUB ELECTION TO BE SOON

The election of students who wish to join the Arts and Crafts club will take place on November 4. The requirements for entry are a one point average and that the electoree be at least a second semester freshman.

If you are eligible and want to join the club, contact a member to obtain the necessary application forms. Meetings are held every Monday evening in the general shop from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m.

A 1957 Homecoming Record

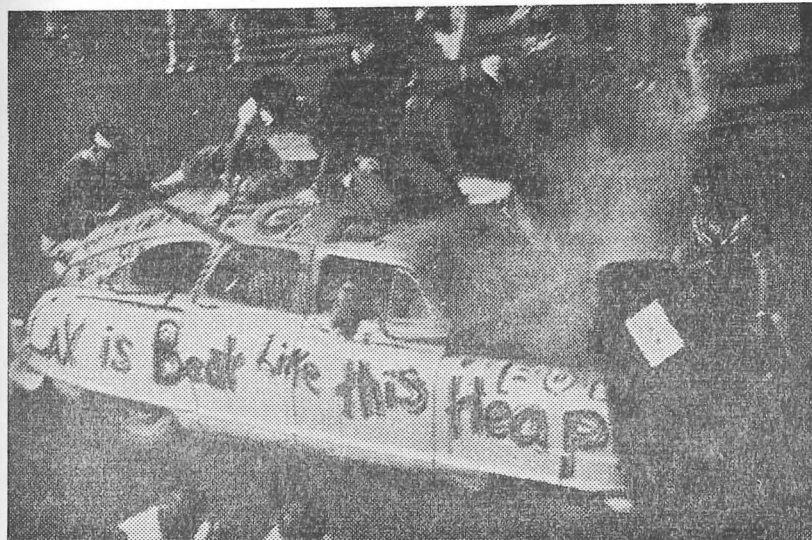

The above scene came from the alumni banquet Saturday evening in Tainter hall. The festivities included honoring of the classes of '32 and '47. The people in the picture are unidentified.

Ron Critser and Dick Kevton are shown as they sipped on apple cider at Saturday night's dance. The Indian maiden serving them is unidentified.

An unidentified ground keeper is framed as he removes an obstacle from the football field during Saturday's game. The stage for this picture came just after the half time parade when a horse drawn cart left a few remains behind just before the start of the second half. At the left is assistant coach Ray Johnson of the Bluedevil staff.

The FOB's are captured as their prize winning "float" cruises down Broadway street. Their entry copped first place in the most humorous division. The smoke pouring forth makes identification impossible.

STUDENTS AND ALUMNI ENJOY FRIDAY NIGHT

Stout state college homecoming activities got into full swing with the crowning of our 1957 Homecoming queen, Gerry Krueger, last Friday night in the auditorium.

Queen Gerry, who was royally escorted through a sword arch formed by the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity pledges, was preceded to the Stout auditorium by her attendants and the miniature crown bearers, Peter Medlie and Susan Carswell. Betty Havlik, 1956 Homecoming queen, crowned our 1957 winner.

Upon completion of the crowning festivities, the band led the torch light parade to the fair grounds where the burning of the letters ceremony took place. Football captain, Dick Tepp, put the torch to the letters. After several cheers, and the re-introduction of Queen Gerry and her attendants, Jeanne Machel, Diane Davis, and Dori Aramori, the huge letters spelling La-X with a Bluedevil fork through the X, were set aflame.

As a climax to the evening, a mixer featuring music from a Hi-Fi set was held at the Stout gym. Refreshments consisted of coffee and doughnuts.

ALUMNI BANQUET HELD AT TAINTER SATURDAY

One of the highlights of the homecoming week-end for the alumni this year was the alumni dinner honoring the classes of 1932 and 1947. The dinner was held at Bertha Tainter hall, on Saturday.

Dr. Iverson acted as master of ceremonies introducing the speakers.

Dean Alice Kirk spoke to the group on, "Changes in the Home Economics Faculty." She informed them of the location of faculty who were no longer at Stout.

Dean Jarvis discussed, "Changes in Menomonic." Dr. Wiggen spoke on "Changes in the Industrial Arts Faculty."

Dr. Verne Fryklund explained Stout's rapidly progressing building program.

All of the speakers emphasized the importance of the influence of alumni on prospective students. It was pointed out that many of the students now attending Stout came because of the influence of their home economics or industrial arts teachers.

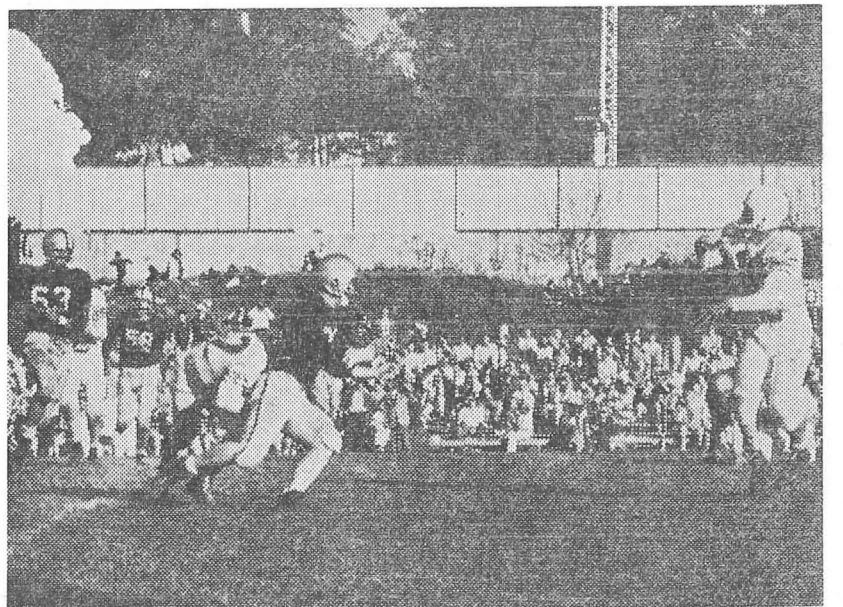

Following the speeches emeritus Dean Bowman, now residing in California, conducted the entertainment. Prizes were given to the man with the least hair, the mother of the most children, and the person who came the longest distance in both the class of 1932 and 1947.

Tribute was paid to the late Ellen Nelson, a graduate of the class of 1932.

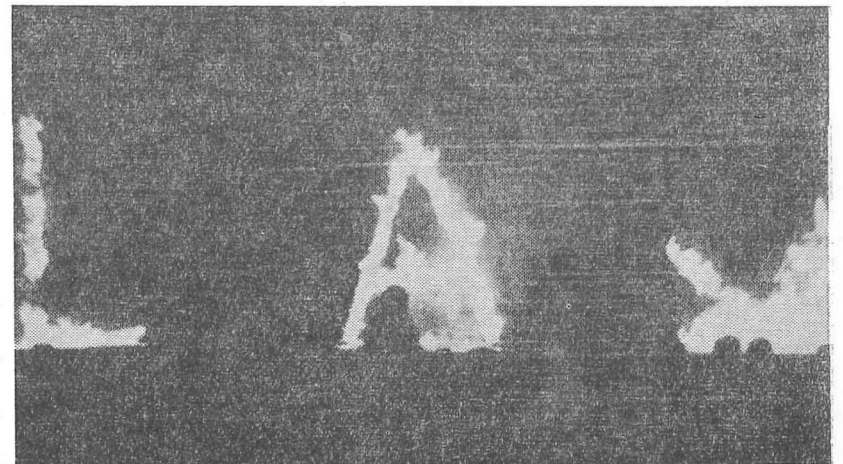

General chairman for the event was Mrs. Alyce Vanek. Miss Frieda Kube and Mr. Paul Axelson were co-chairmen of the alumni banquet.

"I crown you, Gerry Krueger, as Stout's 1957 Homecoming queen." Last year's queen, Betty Havlik, bestows this title upon queen-elect Gerry Krueger as Jeanne Machel, attendant, looks on. The scene came from Friday night's coronation ceremony.

Elroy Wicklund gets off the pass (top left) that gave Stout its only touchdown against La Crosse in Saturday's game. Joe O'Leary is the Bluedevil throwing the block against the unidentified La Crosse defender.

SATURDAY WAS EVENTFUL DAY FOR EVERYONE

Saturday's activities climaxed Stout's 1957 Homecoming. Students, alumni, and faculty members enjoyed the numerous events of the day.

The colorful homecoming parade, beginning at 1:00 pm, preceded the game. The parade, considered the biggest and best ever, was highlighted by the presentation of Queen Gerry Krueger and her court along with numerous floats. Bands in the parade included those of Stout, Menomonie High, Menomonie junior high, Elk Mound, and Boyceville.

Judged the most beautiful float of the parade was the Delta Zeta entry, "Orchids to Our Team." Tied for most in keeping with the theme, "Toss La Crosse for a Loss," were the floats sponsored by the Delta Kappa fraternity and the Sophomore class. The Phi Omega Beta fraternity had the most humorous entry.

The Stout Bluedevils played host to the La Crosse Indians for the Homecoming game at 2:00 pm. Although the home team lost by the score of 30 to 6, enthusiastic fans enjoyed a beautiful afternoon of football. The field was decorated by the sophomore class.

Halftime activities included formations by the Stout state marching band and the presentation of Queen Gerry Krueger, Princess Dori Aramori, and attendants Diane Davis and Jeanne Machel. Winning floats were displayed to the crowd.

Queen Gerry and football captain Dick Tepp reigned over the 1957 Homecoming dance Saturday evening in the school gymnasium.

Dancing to Rod Aaberg's orchestra was from 8:30 to 12:30 in an "Indian Summer" setting. Decorations were provided by the junior class. A large crowd of students, faculty, and alumni were present at the social evening.

Alumni meetings were an important part of homecoming activities. Saturday morning alumni breakfasts were given by Delta Zeta, Delta Kappa, Phi Omega Beta, Sigma Tau Gamma, Sigma Sigma Sigma, and Alpha Sigma Alpha organizations. A business meeting for alumni was held in Harvey hall Saturday morning.

After the game alumni, faculty members, and friends enjoyed an informal coffee hour in the lounge of Bertha Tainter hall.

Alumni supper gatherings were given by the Phi Sigma-KFS and Pallas Athene organizations. The Class of 1932 and 1947 smorgasborg reunion supper was held in Tainter hall.

The fine planning and variety of activities made the 1957 Stout Homecoming a memorable one.

TOTAL ALUMNI PRESENT TOPS FIVE HUNDRED

Stout alumni back on campus for the 1957 Homecoming festivities numbered approximately 500. Two hundred and fifty persons registered at the alumni booth, which was twice the number that registered last year. Almost 50 years of classes were represented, ranging from 1909 to 1957. Special reunions were held for the Class of 1932 and the Class of 1947. Alumni traveled from such far-away places as Hawaii, California, Indiana, and Ohio. Also well represented were Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin.

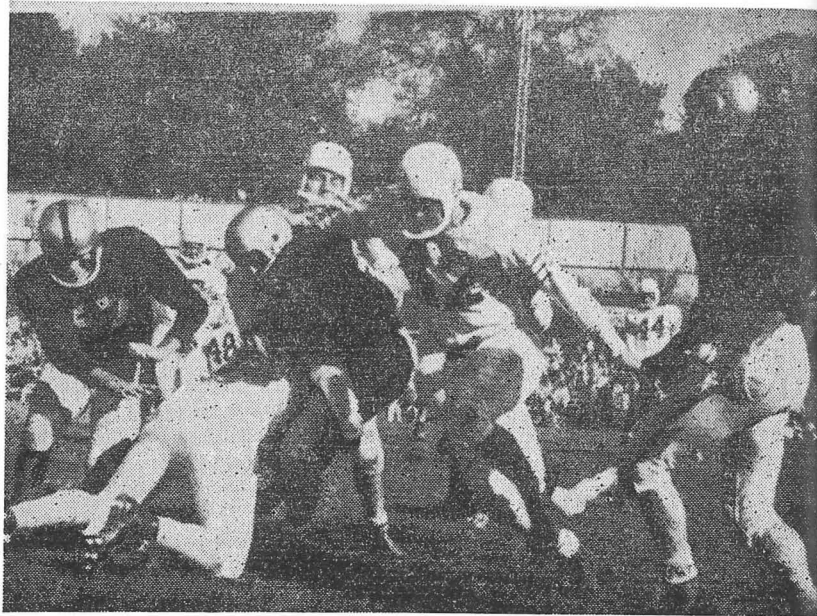

Honored guest of the alumni banquet was Dean emeritus of Industrial Education, Clyde A. Bowman, class of 1909.

Flanked by the two crown bearers, Susan Carswell and Peter Medlie, queen-elect Gerry Krueger prepares to be crowned queen at Friday night's ceremony in the auditorium.

The Delta Kappa float which tied for first place in the "Most in keeping with the theme," parades up Main street in Saturday's show. The DK's theme was to "Toss La Crosse in the Mississippi Mud."

Tied for the title of "Most in keeping with the theme" was the Sophomore classes' "Victory Salad." The two girls riding on this float are unidentified.

NEWS OF OUR ALUMNI

A 1956 graduate of the School of Home Economics at Stout state college, Mary Ellen Mellquham, whose home is in Chippewa Falls, was honored at Teachers' Recognition day during the 1957 Wisconsin state fair.

She was given special recognition for being the youngest teacher in Clark county holding a bachelor's degree during the 1956 school year. The award was a new one, designed by State Fair officials to recognize young people entering teaching. It is given in addition to the usual awards to veteran teachers retiring from the profession.

Mary Ellen's award also highlighted the fact that the teaching profession now offers reasonable financial opportunity and community recognition and is therefore worthy of thorough consideration by young people contemplating a life's career.

Mary Ellen taught her first year in Thorp, Wisconsin. This year she has accepted a home economics position at Germantown, Wisconsin.

An alumna of the School of Home Economics of Stout state college, Miss Emily D. Slamar, B.S. 1948, has recently completed a three year study designed to provide important information regarding the home living program at the junior high school level.

Result of the study is a widely-circulated booklet, "Our Adventure in Coeducational Junior High School Home Living and Industrial Arts." Miss Slamar, as supervising teacher of homemaking in John D. Pierce Laboratory school, Marquette, Michigan, worked with educators of Northern Michigan college in Marquette and the Department of Public Instruction for the State of Michigan through the homemaking division of the office of vocational education of that department.

Miss Slamar's report summarizes the manner in which the home living program of John D. Pierce Laboratory school was first examined and evaluated. A description is then furnished of types of students in attendance and of the activities for home living and industrial arts used in coeducational classes at the seventh and eighth grade levels.

The booklet concludes by summarizing the opinion of students and educators participating in the project and offers such recommendations as continuation of such coeducational classes, more frequent class meetings, constant evaluation and improvement, and continuing effort to increase student-parent-teacher participation and understanding. It was also recommended that home living be stressed in junior high school and family living at the senior high level.

MADISON ALUMNI

The Madison area alumni held a summer picnic at Hoyt park in Madison, Sunday, August 18. Games, food, films, and fellowship were the order of the day, with attendance somewhat lower than expected due to inclement weather.

New officers were elected as follows: Howard and Phyllis Schwabke, presidents; Dean and Faye Frey, co-vice presidents; and Ward and Esther Cowles, co-secretaries and treasurers. The new officers have met and formulated plans for the coming year with two events scheduled. A dinner-dance is scheduled for the Park hotel on Saturday, January 25 and a picnic on June 15.

High interest indications predict a good year and the officers would like to have Stoutites within fifty miles of Madison to contact them so that the mailing list can be brought up to date, either by additions or corrections. Write to the secretary at 5512 Goucher Lane, Madison, Wisconsin.

The Madison area alumni chapter has not been as yet officially chartered by the national office and tentative plans are that this might be done next January.

DR. JOHN JARVIS HAS NEW EDUCATIONAL JOBS

Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of the school of industrial education at Stout state college, has accepted two recent educational responsibilities. He has agreed to serve on the editorial advisory board of the American Technical society, a leading national publisher of books in technical fields.

On October 4, Dr. Jarvis spoke to educators attending the Michigan Educational association convention, which met in Marquette, Michigan. Title of his address was "Trends in Industrial Education."

WHYDOTSKI TO ADDRESS JOURNALISM MEETING

Addressing a sectional meeting of the forthcoming Chippewa Valley school press association of Wisconsin will be Lloyd Whydowski, chairman of the graphic arts department of Stout state college. The meeting will be held in Eau Claire on October 22.

Topic of the sectional will be "Headlines Tell the Story." High school journalists and their advisers from a large part of northwestern Wisconsin will attend the association conference.

Through the Lutheran Student Association the National Lutheran Council seeks to provide students of member churches with Christian activities and fellowship. While the emphasis of L.S.A. is naturally concentrated on Christian teachings, the organization is also aware of the student's need for social activities and thus presents numerous picnics, parties, and banquets throughout the year.

All Lutheran students belonging to the National Lutheran Council churches are automatically members of the L.S.A. Meetings of the group alternate between Our Savior's Lutheran and Peace Lutheran Church. Everyone is invited to attend the weekly L.S.A. meetings.

This year the local L.S.A. group has procured an office located over the First National bank building. Miss Berneta (Bernie) Owen has been assigned to this area as L.S.A. counselor and will spend her time assisting the Stout and Eau Claire chapters. She will be in the L.S.A. office on Wednesdays to assist students in any way she can. With these additional assists the Lutheran Student Association anticipates a broadening and an enriching of its present program.

Stout Christian Fellowship has an informal meeting from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. each Wednesday in the Club room above the Union and is open to every Stout student and faculty member of any denomination. It is the campus organization of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, an international Christian campus organization.

Each Wednesday night is devoted to Bible study and fellowship. Other special meetings and "get-togethers" are in store periodically as well as exchange meetings with Eau Claire and River Falls. S.C.F. participates in other Inter-Varsity retreats in the area.

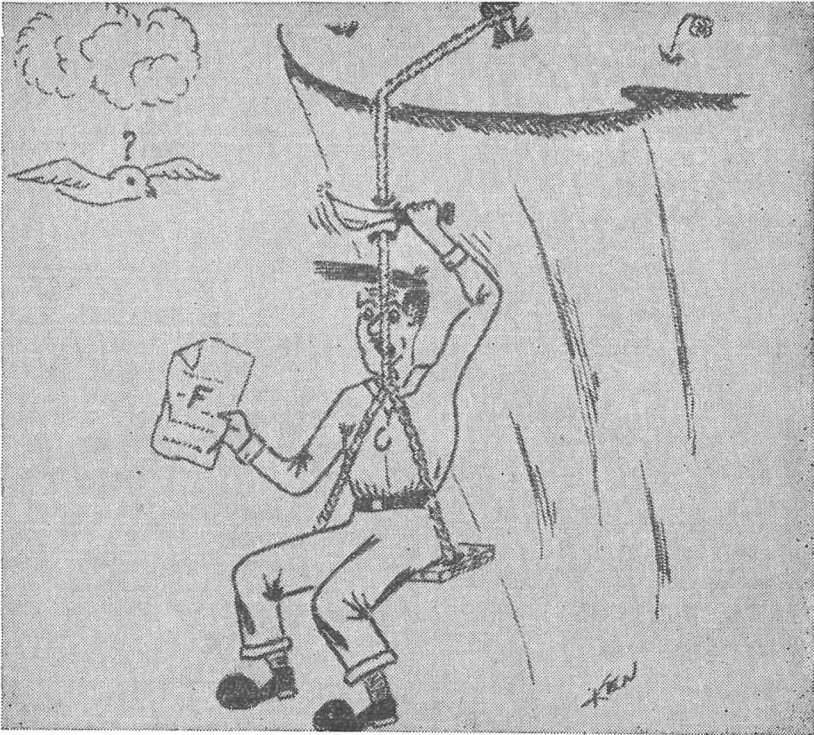

The purpose of the group is to provide fellowship and a means for deepening and strengthening spiritual life; but it is not intended to be a replacement for regular church attendance at the church of your faith.

GEORGE SODERBERG IN ADDRESS AT LA CROSSE

Addressing the industrial arts sectional meeting of the 52nd annual Western Wisconsin Education association convention, meeting in La Crosse October 3-4, was George Soderberg, associate professor of industrial education at Stout state college.

Soderberg, who specializes in the teaching of finishing at Stout and who is the author of numerous publications in that field, spoke on "Spot Finishing, Finishing, Painting and Decorating."

One girl to another, "There's no denying, he's a cad, but on the other hand, so's his convertible."

Room rents per semester vary from $76.50 to $112.00, depending upon location and number of students in a room. For 20 meals per week served in a dormitory, the per semester cost is an additional $210. Students rooming where meals are not available must, of course, eat in commercial business establishments of the city.

But none of the preceeding figures include clothing, incidentals, non-college entertainment or transportation of the nearly 1200 students, thus even a curious glance into Menomonie stores, especially any Friday evening or Saturday, will reveal without question that Stout students "shop" here and spend much of their "non-educational funds" in Menomonie business establishments.

Summer school, too, is a definite factor in the economy of this community. Stout has now lengthened its summer offerings to nine weeks: a one week pre-session, six weeks regular session, and two weeks, post session. This past summer, 756 persons were enrolled for summer courses. They, too, spent considerable money for local goods and services, as did the 40 regular faculty members and five visiting teachers.

Relatives and friends who visit students at any time, the many seminars, workshops and conferences, and college extra-curricular activities all mean additional people spending money in this community.

Another value of Stout state college to this area, but one which is also difficult to estimate in exact dollars and cents, is the role of the college in training Menomonie high school girls and boys in home economics or industrial arts.

For instance, two Stout laboratories are especially equipped for, and are used entirely by, students in high school home economics classes. Stout also provides over-all guidance in the teaching of all high school classes scheduled in these laboratories. Approximately 300 Menomonie high school girls benefit yearly from this cooperative arrangement with Stout.

Annually, about 325 boys of Menomonie high school receive their industrial arts training using Stout facilities. They are taught by cadet teachers attending the college, supervised by 14 men of Stout's industrial education faculty. For this program, 22 classes are conducted in 15 Stout shops. Stout also furnishes up to 32 cadet teachers for the high school driver education program, although the high school provides the supervision, equipment and cars.

Some time ago, a president of the Menomonie Chamber of Commerce stated publicly that "Stout state college is Menomonie's biggest business." Whether or not it is the "biggest" enterprise in Menomonie, the personnel affiliated with Stout and many local business men too believe that the college is of definite financial significance to the community, as well as being of importance educationally and culturally to all our citizens.

Jack O'Reilly eludes a would-be tackler for another Bluedevil gain against La Crosse in Saturday's Homecoming game.

INDIANS DAMPEN HOMECOMING BY WINNING 30-6

La Crosse state college didn't seem to want to go along with the weatherman last Saturday, as it provided rain for an otherwise sun-shiny homecoming, by defeating Stout 30-6.

The Indians simply could do no wrong as their speedy offense, and stone wall defense proved too much for the Bluedevils.

With a timely passing attack, La Crosse would take to the air in any tight situation. Their first touchdown being set up by a nearly intercepted pass, they tallied with the first period only four minutes and thirty-five seconds old.

Fumbling also aided the Indians, as the Bluedevils lost the ball in this way on five different occasions. Stout went the entire game however, without being called for a single penalty, as compared to eleven for their opponents.

The gridders' only score came early in the third stanza, when Elroy Wicklund flipped a pass to Glen Harke, who carried it into the end zone. Bruce Eland's point after attempt fell wide to the left of his mark.

A final Bluedevil march was stymied with one minute and twenty-seven seconds left in the game, when Fred Lehrke took a lateral pass from a team mate who had intercepted a Stout pass, and ran the chalk line seventy-two yards to pay dirt.

FOB's LEAD STANDINGS IN TOUCH FOOTBALL

The defensive minded FOB's are on top of the heap after the third week of touch football. Ken Dickie's passing and the defensive play of Jann Peterson and Keith Moessner gave notice, with two decisive wins, that Our Side is the team to beat (naturally). Phi Sig's and Lynwood hall are tied for third with 1 and 2 records, and DK's with 0 and 1 and Blackhawks with 0 and 2 complete the standings as of press time.

"BUCK" PROVES TO BE "BIG MAN" ON STOUT TEAM

"Big man," "One hundred places at the same time." These phrases best describe big Bill Buckley. Bill can always be found in the locker room, on the football field, at the Campus cafe, or at the Flame. It is said that he is at all of these places at the same time.

Buck, as he is frequently called, is the competent Bluedevil football trainer. As Buck says, "I take care of everything from an ingrown toenail to a dislocated shoulder." The majority of his duties consist of taping ankles, wrists, knees, applying heat treatment and giving massages to injured players.

Buck estimates that he averages 50 hours a week at his job of trainer. As far as the pay is concerned, Buck is not the least bit enthusiastic. "No pay whatsoever, just plain hard work," he laughingly replies, "But I enjoy it."

In one game one of the players was determined to get back in the action after he had been injured. Buck remarked between his jovial laughing that he had to "sit" on him to keep the injured player still. Then he wittily replied, "The poor guy has never been the same; he looked like a hunting bow."

BILL BUCKLEY AND PETE FULCER

after I sat on him for the whole half." Pete Fulcer is Bill Buckley's competent assistant. Pete is in charge of all the equipment. He also repairs it, issues it, and sends it to the laundry. Pete estimates that he sends 700 pounds of laundry out every week.

Pete sadly comments, "Sometimes it gets awful discouraging to give the boys clean suits and then get them back as black as coal."

But win or lose, both Pete and Buck agree that as far as they are concerned, it's "Semper Fidelis" to the Stout football team.

ers. Fifteen touchdowns have been made, one by running, seven by passing, and seven by pass interception.

Next week schedule finds the FOB's facing Our Side on Monday (Game of the Year), Phi Sig's tangling with Blackhawks on Tuesday, DK's meeting Lynwood on Wednesday, and FOB's squaring off with Blackhawks next Thursday.

BLUEDEVILS ATTEMPT TO BREAK LOSING STREAK TO FACE WHITEWATER IN HOME TILT TOMORROW

Fighting back after two straight conference defeats, the Stout Bluedevils play host to the powerful purple and white of Whitewater tomorrow night at Nelson field. Game time is at 8:00 p.m.

Rated the probable underdog, the Bluedevils will be playing a Whitewater squad which boasts a much stronger team this year than the one that defeated Stout last year at Whitewater.

The Quakers have proved a headache to every opponent they have faced thus far this season. They have lost only once, and that to the conference leading Platteville Pioneers last week by a 25-0 count.

Forrest Perkins eleven boasts the deadly passing arm of Dick Ruges, along with the running of Roger Kerkman, Walt Steindl and Chuck Coulthard in the backfield which have counted for much of the Quakers yardage this season.

Stout's coach Joe Gerlach's probable choice for a starting team consists of Larry Gannon and Bruce Eland at the ends; Bill Doane, Bill Kindschy, or Jim Lubalm at tackles; Jim Nadeau and Ernie Oyama at guards; and Dick Tepp at center. The backfield will probably find Joe O'Leary at Quarterback; Glen Harke, Elroy Wicklund or Jack O'Reilly at the halfbacks, and Bob Mitchel or Ned McDonald at fullback.

Today's tourist is a person who after witnessing a highway accident drives carefully for nearly a mile.

Music seems to be the theme of activities this weekend as Sue Ingalls, left, and Nancy Feuerstein prepare for a jam session in Stout's band room. Along with weekend mixers on our campus, Monday night will find the famed orchestra of Les Elgart here to round out a week of music in the air.

LES AND LARRY ELGART'S BAND HERE MONDAY

Les Elgart and his orchestra will be appearing in the Menomonie high school gym this coming Monday evening, October 21, playing highly danceable tempos. Primarily this is a dance band; however, its arrangements are spiced with original musical ear-arresting sounds to provide maximum listener interest as well. Therefore the program has been divided into a two hour dance and a two hour concert beginning at 7:30 p.m. and lasting until 11:30 p.m.

The Sigma Tau Gamma housing corporation is sponsoring this event. Tickets are on sale throughout the town and also in the corridor of Harvey hall. Admission is $1.25 per person presale and $1.50 per person at the door.

Dormitory hours are being extended Monday evening until 12 p.m. for all students attending the concert and dance.

Les Elgart has received the distinction of being classified as one of the outstanding trumpet players throughout the country and has been in demand quite often by distinguished audiences. His brother, Larry, has been equally well known as one of the country's finest saxophonists.

Featured vocalist with the group is Don Forbes whose singing style resembles Frank Sinatra. One of the unique features of this band is that it avoids the piano, putting extra emphasis on the guitar. Even though there is no piano, the Elgart orchestra has been voted by the colleges as the number one collegiate band in the country.

The band believes in keeping pace with the public's wants in popular music. They have recorded a number of top songs and albums for Columbia records. One of their most requested numbers is "Sophisticated Swing", a collection of dance numbers originally picked up by the very selective college group. Other arrangements included in the album are "Geronimo," "Bendix Bounce," and "The Weasel Pops Off." Altogether there are 12 numbers in the album of which none are vocalized.

This is one of the first times that a band has come along that offers something new, and yet, has a rapport with most of the dancing and listening audiences of America.

SSA SPONSORS SWIM, DANCING, SHOW PROGRAM

A movie, square dancing, and swimming are the highlights of the annual SSA all school function to be held tonight, October 18th.

The evening's entertainment will begin at 7 pm in the auditorium. The featured movie will be "Father Brown."

The next activity on the agenda is swimming, which will take place in the natatorium.

This regal panorama of activities will be highlighted by square dancing that will be called by Al Finnell.

Girls are requested to wear gingham and calicos. Levis and plaid shirts will be the order for the fellas.

This free evening of entertainments is indeed an event that one would not want to miss.

SENIOR GIRLS RECEIVE TEACHING LOCATIONS

One of the most important graduation requirements is for the senior girls to go off-campus on teaching assignments. As a part of this course students are to assume teaching responsibilities and participate in extra-curricular activities in the school and the community. This is a six week program.

The following students are off campus from September 30 to November 8. The students names are followed by the center.

Audrey Adams, Diane Bournoville, Amery, Joan Boetcher, Mrs. Shirley Shaft, Baldwin.

Mary Brackett, Mrs. Mary Critser, Medford, Jane Spurget, Mondovi, Marian Pientok; Marval Klecker, Carol Ann Hawsworth, Mondovi.

Marilyn Bangs, Sharon Fink, Neillsville, Joan Manes, Mary Ann Cerny, Onalaska, Mrs. Katherine McIlquham, Mrs. Patricia Kurey, Rice Lake, and Ruby Jane Dietsche, Ethel A. Scholler, Schofield.

Miss Margaret Perman is the supervisor for the off campus teaching students.

CASTING COMPLETED AS PLAY PRACTICE BEGINS

Casting has been completed for "Outward Bound," a play which is to be presented by students of Stout state college the weekend of November 21, 22, and 23 in the Stout auditorium. The play is a modern comedy based on the story of different people who are on an ocean liner, destination unknown.

The cast is as follows: Scrubby, Darrel Ebert; Ann, Yvonne Hammer; Henry, Thomas Rosenthal; Tom Proik, Paul Halverson; Mrs. Midget, Katherine Thuli; Mr. Lingley, Sheldon White; and Rev. Frank Thomson, Scott Evensen.

Darrel ("Fritz") Ebert has had a variety of past experiences including three one act plays. Parts in "Green Valley" and "Angel Street" have been played by Yvonne Hammer. Tom's past experiences have been in "Night of January 16" and other plays.

Mr. Paulson has had various other acting experiences here at Stout. Alice Phelan played in "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." Mr. Halverson has gained experience locally as a student at the Menomonie high school. Miss Thule, Mr. White and Mr. Evensen have all had some part in the acting field.

Dr. Lorna Lengfeld is directing the play. Miss Mary Cutnaw, and Mr. Norman Ziemann are in charge of publicity. Various other production committees are now being formed. Admission for the play is free upon presentation of your SSA card.

ONE ACT PLAYS TO HIGHLIGHT PARENTS' VISIT

Highlighting the Friday evening festivities at Stout's first annual Parents' Weekend will be two one-act plays sponsored and presented by the Manual Arts Players under the direction of Dr. Lorna S. Lengfeld. Curtain time is 8:00 p.m. at the Stout auditorium. Parents will be entertained during intermission by a group of Hawaiian students singing and playing songs of the Islands.

Immediately following the plays will be an informal coffee hour at the Stout gymnasium. Parents, students, and faculty members will have an opportunity to become better acquainted during this social hour.

Saturday at Stout will be an entertaining day for everyone with a campus open house, evening football game, and post-game dance scheduled. The cafeteria at Bertha Tainter Hall will be open between the hours of 11:30 and 2 p.m. for the convenience of all parents and students.

From 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. all buildings including the dormitories and fraternity homes will be open for inspection. Faculty members will be present in the shops to explain the organization and operation of their shops.

Kick-off time for the Stout-Loras football game is 7:30 p.m. at Nelson Field, and because Dad's Day also falls on this date, Dads will be especially honored at the game. Everyone is invited to the Sweetheart Dance at the high school gymnasium after the game at 9:30 p.m.

In order to allow parents who have greater distances to travel have a chance to get an early start, no activities have been scheduled for Sunday. However, if time permits, the college invites the parents and students to attend the church of their choice.

This annual Parents' Weekend is the first of its kind at Stout and is being sponsored by the Stout student association and the Social Affairs committee, in cooperation with the college administrative staff. All activities have been planned to acquaint visiting parents with the general way of life at the college and also permit them an opportunity to observe the community in which their sons and daughters spend their four-year college life.

DELTA ZETA'S SPONSOR COLLEGE "CATS" DANCE

The Delta Zeta sorority is sponsoring an all college mixer this Saturday night from 8:30 to 12 pm in the college gymnasium.

The dance will cost fifteen cents single and twenty-five cents per couple. Records will furnish the music of the mixer.

FIELD TRIP INSURANCE REQUIRED BY COLLEGE

Stout State college is stressing the requirement that all students and faculty members participating in college field trips be adequately covered with liability insurance in case of accident to themselves or to persons in their charge.

This requirement may be met in any one of three ways: Use of an insured bonded carrier to transport the group, provision of individual insurance coverage on each person for a specific trip, or assurance that any private vehicle used on such a trip carries adequate liability insurance to cover all passengers.

To remind all persons of the necessity of such liability coverage, the following memorandum was circulated on September 26 by college officials.

Whenever feasible, the transportation for every college-sponsored field trip should be arranged in regularly bonded carrier vehicles (Such as chartered buses).

However, if any faculty member uses his own car or authorizes the use of a student car, it is essential that both the faculty member and the business office know that adequate insurance coverage is provided for all persons participating in the field trip. Trip insurance is available on an individual basis through the Northwestern railway company. The rate for this insurance has been nominal: 25¢ per day per individual.

"It is therefore exceedingly important that all trips involving Stout state college in any way every vehicle transporting any staff members or students carry adequate insurance coverage. Absolutely no trips of this nature are to be made unless such coverage is provided."

TEA TO COMMEMORATE OCT. U.N. OBSERVANCE

In commemoration of United Nations day, the Home economics club is sponsoring a tea. The tea will honor Stout students from other lands wearing their native costumes. Decorations will be articles illustrating nationality customs. The menu is also being planned in coordination with the theme.

General chairman of the event is Lois Onsrud. Other chairmen are Helen Froehlich, decorations; Kay Kitzman, food; and Virgene Achenbach, music.

The tea will be held in Harvey memorial, October 23, from 3:30 until 5:30. Join in getting acquainted with the people from lands around the world.

PLANS ARE BEING MADE FOR BUILDING OF UNION

The new student union, to be located between the gym and the library, is still in the drawing stage. Larson and Playter, architects, from Eau Claire, have made preliminary drawings, (not construction blueprints) which are now in the hands of the Federal Agency for approval.

As soon as the Federal Agency approves of the preliminary plans, working drawings will be made up and bids will be let. The engineers estimate for the total job is $525,000 for building and equipment. Actual construction will probably start next spring.

Five test borings have been made to a depth of approximately 30 feet. Under a foot or two of top soil lies mostly sand with some gravel. No rock is anticipated. At the -2 to -23 foot level the water table is encountered. This should be low, enough so that piling will not be necessary. The library, being at a lower elevation, was built on piling as that area at one time was all swamp.

STOUT INSTRUCTORS TO SPEAK AT RED WING

Two members of the industrial education faculty of Stout state college, Dr. David Barnard, head of the college audio-visual center, and Paul Axelson, instructor in graphic arts, will speak and conduct demonstrations for the industrial arts section of the Southeastern Minnesota education association meeting, to be held Friday, October 18, in Red Wing.

Dr. Barnard will demonstrate "New Audio-Visual Techniques for the Industrial Arts Instructor." He will include an explanation of the use of the Polaroid camera for making slides and the Diazo process for creating transparencies to be used with an overhead projector.

Axelson will discuss and demonstrate silk screen printing techniques.

MISS JEANNE CRICHTON, GRAD OF '57, KILLED

The many student friends and faculty acquaintances of Miss Jeanne Crichton, bachelor of science graduate from Stout state college in 1957, will be saddened to learn of her death in a car crash north of Fond du Lac on Wednesday evening, October 16.

The fatal accident was the worst such crash in the history of Green

JEANNE CRICHTON

Lake county, five persons being killed. Dead, in addition to Miss Crichton, are the driver of the other car and three of the six Markeson high school students riding with Miss Crichton. The three other students are badly injured.

Miss Crichton, who this year was teaching home economics in the Markeson high school, was transporting the six students home from a roller skating party which had been sponsored by a church organization. The accident occurred in a heavy rainstorm.

Jeanne Crichton came to Stout in 1953 as a graduate of Whitewater high school. She was an excellent student in spite of the time which she had to devote to jobs which paid all the cost of her college education. Nevertheless she found time to be an active member and secretary of the United Student Fellowship and the YWCA and also a member of the Home Economics club.

During each summer, Jeanne also worked to provide money for college expenses. She was employed by the Whitewater Sportswear co. and another summer directed high school students in food management for the Wesley Woods Methodist youth camp.

It may seem coincidental that Miss Crichton was co-author in the September, 1956, issue of "Forecast for Home Economics" magazine of a professional article with the late Miss Ellen Nelson, a faculty member with whom Jeanne worked closely and whom she greatly liked and respected.

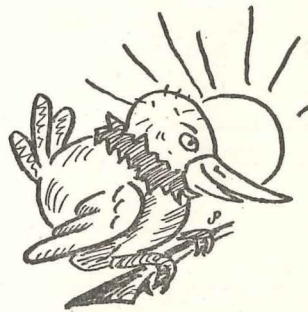

SNACK BAR FEATURES QUICK, TASTY LUNCHES

If you desire a quick, convenient, and tasty lunch at a low price, then the place for you is Stout's snack bar.

Located at the eastern end of the ground floor of Harvey hall, it has been a boon to the students, faculty and other Stout personnel.

The line forms at 11:15 and lunches are served until 12:45. For the popular prices of 45 cents and 50 cents, you may have your choice of two menus.

If you haven't yet taken advantages of the snack bar, make it a point to do so soon. It's open every week, Monday through Friday, for your convenience.

WEATHERBIRD

"Today's cool, sunny weather will be with us through the weekend," said the weatherbird this morning.

"Chances are, though, that the mercury will climb into the upper 60's on Sunday," he added. All in all, a fine pheasant hunting weekend is on tap for west-central Wisconsin and nearby areas.

The bird asked that all prospective hunters be reminded that "blast-off" time isn't until 12 noon on Saturday. Several of the weatherbird's companions got it in the morning last year before they could take cover.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

From the campus of the Gustavus Adolphus college in St. Peter, Minnesota, comes the following report. The article was written as an editorial in the GUSTAVIAN WEEKLY on September 20, 1957 and was titled "Freshmen, Unpack Those Bags, Suitcases Miss Social Life."

"The expression on the face of the pretty freshman girl above (a picture at the head of the editorial depicts a pert coed holding a big stuffed teddy bear and standing amidst several suitcases) indicates that arriving at Gustavus is one of the happiest moments of her life. Yet the unhappy fact is that more than a third of the men and women who enter college fail to graduate.

"This suggests that a large number of frosh cannot adjust themselves to a new kind of life, one in which they are expected to behave like an adult.

"There are a multitude of factors causing a student's maladjustment to college life, of course, but on the Gustavus campus there appears to be one reason which is a trifle more prominent than the others. This factor is the convenience of travel, which permits Joe College or Sally Coed to dash home at the first tinge of homesickness.

"While a few weekends at home each year is undoubtedly beneficial, the tendency is to overdo it badly and hence, miss many of the college's social and recreational activities.

"So, frosh, leave your suitcases in the closet and gradually break away from your high school environment. The crowd at the corner drug store, old Pastor Larson and even Mom and Dad should see you less and less. The time has come to make new friends, to settle in a new church home and to break away from the previously predominant influence of your parents.

"Remember, this is not grade 13."

Is this the situation on the Stout campus? If you will now reread this article substituting the word Stout for Gustavus, you will probably find that the shoe will fit in several instances. Now, let's hear from you, the student body, on this matter. Letters should be signed and delivered to the STOUTONIA'S mailbox for publication.

CLUB NEWS

At the last meeting of the Metals Guild plans were discussed as to where the club would go on their field trip. A trip to the Twin Cities is being planned.

Pledge week starts on October 21. Anyone interested in becoming a member should see Gerald Alfheim for application blanks.

The Metals Guild has shown another very interesting film concerning the metals field. There are many other equally interesting films scheduled to be shown.

On October 9, Chi Lambda held formal initiation for pledges Michael Bachler, Jerry Koskinen, Alan Matson, and James Teske. After the formal initiation, a dinner held at the Hide-away in honor of the new members climaxed the events of the past week.

At the dinner, Mr. Norman Ziemann was officially recognized as an advisor to the fraternity. The members feel that Mr. Ziemann will be of great assistance to the fraternity and to Dr. Nitz, who is also an advisor to the Chi Lambda fraternity.

The '57-58 school year is well underway and Stout Christian fellowship is rolling right with it. Three members were able to get to the fall conference of the Inter-Varsity Christian fellowship this past week-end.

There is a meeting in the library each week at 7:00 pm which consists mainly of Bible study. We invite any who are interested in studying with us. Bring your Bible and YOUR ideas along.

Future plans include a social with Eau Claire, River Falls, and Macalaster college on the 30th of October.

At their last meeting, the Newmanites saw the one-hundred metal chairs they had purchased for their Newman center and learned that the Knights of Columbus donated money for the ceiling boards. After the floor is painted, the Newman center will be ready for Open house, which will be held on October 27.

All the members have been working on the Newman convention plans. The convention will be held at Stout on November 2 - 3. Ann Janda, who is general chairman, and her committees have made all of the general arrangements.

The Newman handbook has been compiled and placed in all the Catholic students' mailboxes. The handbooks contain a greeting from Dick Popp, president, and telephone numbers of the Catholic students; the year's program of events; and the Constitution and By-laws of the Newman club.

The Stout ski club started its yearly activities with an organization

FUTURE HERE ALREADY AT STATE COLLEGES

The future is here now at the 10 Wisconsin state colleges where the number of students enrolled in September was almost double the 1952 enrollment.

The 6,450 enrollment of 1952 has mushroomed to well over 12,000 on the 10 campuses this fall. An average college size five years ago was six or seven hundred. Today every college, except the institute of technology at Platteville, has exceeded 1,000 students in size. The colleges at La Crosse and Oshkosh are well over 1,500.

"We have added the equivalent of a new college every year since 1952," says college director Eugene R. McPhee. "And all this is happening with very little increase in the available number of high school graduates."

Problems too have almost doubled since 1952. Although 18 new dormitories and seven new academic buildings have been added there is still a shortage of space. Nine more academic buildings are in the planning stages and construction will soon begin on student unions on each campus.

Qualified teachers have been added almost as fast as the college presidents can find them. The 1952 total faculty was 560. This fall there are 775 teachers.

"We are facing problems we weren't supposed to have until 1965," says Director McPhee. "The future has come without warning, a decade too early."

meeting on October 15th at 7:15 in Room 12 of the library.

The meeting found time to renew membership and for new members to acquaint themselves with the club. Membership is open to all Stout students who have an interest in skiing or who want to learn more about skiing techniques.

Deepwood is the club's main ski hill, although several trips are made to other ski areas throughout the winter. There are openings on the Deepwood ski patrol for several experienced skiers.

Make plans to attend future meetings.

On Tuesday, October 8, Eta Kappa chapter of Alpha Phi Omega held their formal pledging. The chapter saw twelve new men enter the ranks of APO.

The twelve were: Richard Allen, Pat Fitzgerald, Gordon Grotte, James Hansen, Albert Hurling, James Mowers, James Phelan, Allan Trafford, Richard Jimbo, Marvin Johnson, Dave Millihan, and James Sinnette.

APO is broken down into four service fields. These men will be working in each field during the next few weeks. The services they will undertake are: Service to the college, service to the community, service to the nation, and service to the chapter. The new pledges of Alpha Phi Omega will be formally initiated on November 12, 1957.

CLUB NEWS

This year's calendar was the topic of discussion at the meeting of the Dietetic club which was held on Monday, October 14. The girls made future plans regarding their annual fruit cake sale, which is to be held during the Christmas season.

A membership book will become effective at the initiation ceremonies on November 11. This book will be a permanent record of all Dietetic club members and it will include their professional status after graduation.

Avinal Turner was elected as the assistant advisor.

The initiation service for eleven pledges of Gamma Delta was held on Sunday evening, September 29. The pledges initiated were Rosalind Nuttleman, Donita Beguhn, Mary Welking, Mary Alms, Sandra Madsen, Karen Bagh, Laurene Blumke, Fern Krueger, Jeanette Seiler, Charles Raeder, and David Wohlgemuth.

Following the candlelight initiation ceremony a cost supper was served by the food committee: Helen Froehlich, Nancy Gabert, and Jean Sprain. The Gamma Delta members then assembled around a bonfire at the Devil's punch bowl for an inspirational hour of singing and fellowship.

The next meeting will be held on Sunday evening, October 20, at 5:30 pm. A cost supper, vesper service, program, and recreation are on the agenda. Roger Turenne, regional president of Gamma Delta, from Eau Claire, will give a talk on the experiences which he had this summer working at Lad Lake, a camp for delinquent boys, at Dousman, Wisconsin.

Initiation of eleven new members was the main business at the October meeting of YWCA. Harvey lounge was the scene of the ceremony.

The following girls are new members: Judy Steiner, Katherine Hisey, Barbara Olson, Mary Hunderson, Laura Kiel, Martha Bramley, Carol Heins, Gwen Martinsen, Doris Farrey, Donna Wittmann, and Bobette Mulock.

Mother: "Johnny, this isn't a very good report. Are you sure you're really trying?"
Johnny: "Oh, yes. The teacher says I'm the most trying boy in school."

MENOMONIE RESERVOIR CONSTRUCTION STARTED

Just west of City Hall a new structure is being built. It is to be a water reservoir for the city of Menomonie. It replaces the old one down by the dam. The old one can no longer be used as such, because the dam will raise the lake level to the point where it would be possible to contaminate the city water supply. However, the old one is not a total loss, as it may be used for a boat house. The city water department awarded the contract for general construction to the Hanson Construction Company, Menomonie, Wisconsin, with a low bid of $19,400.

The structure will be underground with about half the size devoted to pumping machinery and also a water meter repair shop. The other half will hold 60,000 gallons of water as it is pumped from the well, east of city hall, through an aerating tank and into the reservoir. The streets you saw torn up last week were to put in an additional water main to carry more water to the Broadway Street area.

The walls are of concrete reinforced with half inch rods every twelve inches, both horizontally and vertically. The inside is treated with Lapitlite (waterproofing) and the outside is painted with tar. The roof, which is to be a parking lot, will be made of Dox block. This is a relatively new, hollow, reinforced, prestressed, concrete slab section. Over this will be poured regular concrete. This method is much faster and cheaper than conventional methods, as it eliminates forming. On this particular job it is estimated that it will save approximately $1,000. The job is expected to be completed in about two weeks, if the necessary water pipe arrives on schedule.

What is the Women's recreation association? The WRA is a student led college organization which promotes and conducts the various extra-class or intramural sports and social activities held here on the Stout campus.

The sports activities include: field hockey, basketball, volleyball, badminton, bowling, aerial tennis-darts, shuffleboard, archery, lawn tennis, softball, and deck tennis. In fact, any sport will be offered if there is a demand for it.

The name "Recreation association" rather than "Athletic association" is merely a suggestion to recognize the inclusion of many activities which are not really athletic in nature or classification. In other words, the association is a collection of clubs under one board of directors.

The officers are elected by the members and the sports managers are appointed by the board of directors. This board of officers, sports managers, historian, reporter, and advisor act as a control board. This group forms a strong nucleus about which the organization revolves.

The organization is self supporting, therefore many money making projects have been organized. For example, the sale of hot dogs at all varsity home football games; the concession for college pets; balloons; and a booth at the "S" club carnival.

The social activities include a sports spree; Christmas party, treasure hunt, gymjams, tea, and a picnic.

This club is a highly organized and all inclusive association which provides a lot of fun for the members of the Women's recreation association.

On every first Monday of the month, the WRA board of directors has a meeting in the Girl's gymnasium; on the second Monday of the month, the general meeting for all members is conducted. The time and place will be posted in all dormitories and Harvey memorial two days before this meeting.

All girls interested in WRA can join and pay their dues at the first general meeting of the month; however, the deadline for joining WRA and paying dues has been set for the second general meeting.

Miss Nancy Lee Fenner, a finalist in Wisconsin's "Make It with Wool" contest, opens the portable sewing machine which was awarded to her as a district winner. Miss Fenner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fenner Plymouth, is a junior in home economics education at Stout state college.

NANCY FENNER SELECTED FOR WOOL CONTEST

A student of Stout state college, Miss Nancy Lee Fenner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fenner of Plymouth, Wisconsin, has been named district winner and a finalist in Wisconsin's state-wide "Make It With Wool" competition.

Miss Fenner won in her district contest with a wool dress which she had created in a sophomore clothing construction course at Stout. She then modeled the garment in district competition and won on the basis of workmanship, appropriateness of material to pattern, poise and good grooming.

For her prize she was awarded a Pfaff portable sewing machine and the opportunity to compete in the state contest in Madison on November 9. The competition is sponsored by the American Wool Growers association and, if this year's state contest is successful, the project may become national in scope.

Miss Fenner, a graduate of Plymouth high school, is a junior in home economics education at Stout state college. She completed two years of home economics in high school and has been active for four years in Future Homemakers' activities.

At Stout, Nancy Lee takes part in activities of the college choir, Symphonic Singers and Women's Recreation association.

Have you a nose for news? If you have, you might be interested in one of the various school papers kept on file in the Stoutonia office for you.

There are papers from colleges and high schools in Minnesota, North Dakota, Illinois, as well as Wisconsin. Students and faculty members are free to go into the Stoutonia office to read the papers. They will be found in the bottom drawer of the steel filing cabinet. We only ask that the file be kept in decent order.

If there are any papers you would like to read and cannot find in the file, the editor will gladly arrange to receive a copy of that school's paper regularly.

Hey, that's mine! Bob Mitchel pulls the ball in as he is tackled in the Whitewater game last Saturday.

BLUEDEVILS WILL JOURNEY TO SUPERIOR TODAY; YELLOWJACKETS SLIGHT FAVORITES IN CONTEST

Journeying to Superior, Wisconsin today, the Stout Bluedevils will be aiming for their second conference victory of the season after tying the Whitewater Quakers last week.

"It'll be a rough game," commented coach Joe Gerlach, "the boys are in good physical condition but will have to play heads up ball to win."

The Yellowjackets defeated powerful La Crosse last Saturday, 14 to 7. La Crosse won over the Bluedevils previously this season 30 to 6. For this reason, Stout will probably be rated the underdog.

Coach Gerlach is not too sure as to his starting eleven against Superior. He plans on rotating the ends finding either Bruce Eland, Larry Gannon, Ken Berndt or Bob Mitchel starting. Tackles will probably be Bill Doane, Bill Kindschy or Jim Lubalm. Jim Nadeau and Ernie Oyama at the guards, and Dick Tepp at center will fill out the line. The backfield will consist of Joe O'Leary at quarterback; Glen Harke, Elroy Wicklund or Jack O'Reilly at the halfbacks; and Bob Mitchel or Ned McDonald at fullback.

STOUT BATTLES TO SCORELESS TIE IN RAIN

Entering the game as underdogs, a determined Stout team held third place Whitewater at bay Saturday, in a game that finished as a scoreless tie at Nelson Field.

Battling through an on-again-off-again rain storm, the Bluedevils led by Dick Tepp, Larry Gannon, Bill Doane, and Glen Harke, were forced to play a defensive game, holding the Quakers to ten first downs and forcing them to punt on seven different occasions.

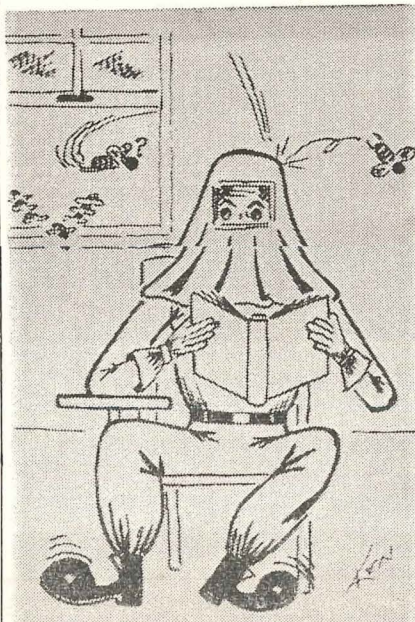

"Both teams played a good defensive ball game, as is shown by the score," commented coach Joe Gerlach.

Stout's deepest penetration was only to the Whitewater thirty-five yard line, while the Bluedevils held the Quakers two different times deep in their own territory.

Biggest thorn in the gridders side proved to be Whitewater's Dick Ruge, who constantly cut through the Bluedevil forward wall for four and five yard gains.

Glen Harke and Elroy Wicklund led Stout offensively averaging 4.5 and 3.4 yards respectively per carry.

As a result of this game, Stout now holds down seventh place in the Wisconsin state conference standings with a .375 average, and Whitewater takes over third. Superior, this week's opponent, is at the bottom of the list.

JOKES

Speaking of tomahawks (was anybody speaking of tomahawks?), perhaps you heard about the old hen who was sitting on an axe. She was trying to hatchet.

"Did I hear you say your girl's legs are without equal?" asked the newcomer of the native Texan. Not exactly that. What I said was, they are without parallel.

One golfer watched another tee off, then said to him, "Hang it all, man, you almost hit my wife!" Said his friend, "I did? Well then, have a shot at mine."

"OUR SIDE" WINS TITLE GAME IN INTRA-FOOTBALL

The closing chapter for the 1957 intramural touch football season was written last night at Nelson field under the lights. The game carried into it all the competition, spirit, and color of a championship contest.

Our Side controlled the entire game with the FOB's never mustering a scoring threat. The seven touchdowns were scored by seven different men. The first half Peterson, Moessner, Klosterman, and Dickie. Second half: Eggleston, Farrel, and Gabriliska. Two PAT's were scored by Moessner.

Our Side completed the whole season without having a point scored upon them and finished the season with a 3-0 record, to gain first place.

BOB PIERCE IS SUBJECT OF RECENT STORY

(Editor's note: Many Wisconsin newspapers recently printed a column by John Wyngaard, a man recognized throughout the state as one of Wisconsin's top political reporters and analysts. That column described the personality, political philosophy, and political accomplishments of Robert L. Pierce, who among numerous other public responsibilities is the Menomonie member of the Board of Regents of Wisconsin state colleges.

Feeling that alumni and other readers would enjoy reading what Mr. Wyngaard had to say about Regent Pierce, a man who has devoted great amounts of time and energy to the welfare of what was formerly the Stout Institute and is now Stout state college, that column is reproduced below.)

MADISON—A man of modest pretensions and vast practical experience as a politician to whom the Republican hierarchy of Wisconsin could profitably listen in its season of crisis is Robert Pierce, the ranking Republican organization figure of the state as Wisconsin member of the Republican national committee.

Unlike some others of the GOP, Pierce recognizes the Republican problem for what it is — the most serious challenge the party has had in this state for more than 20 years. Its terrific defeat in the special election for senator this summer will require an enormous rebuilding of machinery, and the most deliberate unification effort the most deliberate unification effort

CONFERENCE HELD FOR SUPERVISING TEACHERS

Supervising teachers from eight northwest Wisconsin high schools met at Stout state college here for an all-day conference dealing with problems of supervision of student teachers in home economics and with findings of mutual value in assisting both the student teacher and her supervisor.

The visiting supervisors are all affiliated with the school of home economics of Stout state college, directing Stout's student teachers in home economics who teach and live for six weeks in towns having cooperating off campus centers.

Those in attendance were Mrs. Marjorie Porter, Amery; Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, Baldwin; Miss Sybil Widvey and Miss Marion Pientok, Medford; Miss Jane Klatt, Mondovi; Mrs. Lois Burghardt, Neilsville;

Mrs. Betty Taylor, Onalaska; Miss Doris Brimer, Rice Lake; and Miss Hermalinda Bohl, Schofield; Mrs. Mildred Halverson of Glenwood City was unable to be present.

In addition to meeting with Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout, and Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of the school of home economics there, the supervisors heard a research report by Miss Klatt, a discussion of helping student teachers with out-of-class activities by Miss Bohl and a description of new teaching aids by Miss Johnson.

Following luncheon, Mrs. Taylor explained techniques which aid a student teacher in selection of supplementary classroom aids. Mrs. Burghardt discussed special problems which supervisors have in working with student teachers.

Following the conference, the visitors had an opportunity to meet with a new group of student teachers from Stout's school of home economics. Planning the day-long meeting were Miss Margaret Perman, chairman, and Miss Ann Noble, of the faculty of the home economics education department of Stout state college. Mrs. Johnson was also a member of the committee.

STOUT PRINTERS HOLD INITIATION FOR SIX

There may be some questions as to the reason for the paper hats and aprons worn by certain fellows on campus for the past week.

These men are being initiated into the Stout Typographical Society. To become candidates for the society, the men must fulfill certain requirements. They must have completed one semester on the Stout campus, completed one printing course, carry a one point or better grade average, and show a desire to become a member of the society.

Informal initiation was held on Tuesday, October 22, and the formal initiation and dinner were held Wednesday evening, October 23.

Members initiated into the society were: Keith Koch, Gerald Kellam, La Vern Bender, Tom Murray, Pat Iannone and Lloyd Hoeffner.

Allen Trafford was the pledge master for this group of initiates.

TEACHER EXAMINATIONS WILL BE FEBRUARY 15

The National teacher examinations, prepared and administered annually by Educational testing service, will be given at 250 testing centers throughout the United States on Saturday, February 15, 1958.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common examinations, which include tests in Professional information, general culture, English expression, and Non-verbal reasoning; and one or two of eleven optional examinations designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught. The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the national teacher examinations and which of the optional examinations to select.

A bulletin of information (in which an application is inserted) describing registration procedure and containing sample test questions may be obtained from college officials, school superintendents, or directly from the National teacher examinations, Educational testing service, 20 Nassau street, Princeton, New Jersey. Completed applications, accompanied by proper examination fees, will be accepted by the ETS office during November and December, and in January so long as they are received before January 17, 1958.

STOUT STATE'S PARENTS EVENT NEXT WEEKEND

Only one short week away! Just time to get a letter home to your folks — to tell them of the first annual Parents' Weekend.

The program is designed to acquaint visiting parents with the general way of life at the college and also permit them an opportunity to observe the community in which their sons and daughters spend their four-year college life.

Hurry up and get that letter written and you might even be pleasantly surprised to find out that they ARE COMING — Parents even do strange things once in a while! And we would like to have them visit us November 2.

"S" CLUB TO SPONSOR BI-ANNUAL DAD'S DAY

Coinciding with Parent's Day on the 2nd of November, will be the tenth annual Dad's Day. This event is sponsored bi-annually by the "S" club.

This big event, which is put on solely by the "S" club members is in honor of the Dad's of Stout's fighting Bluedevil football squad.

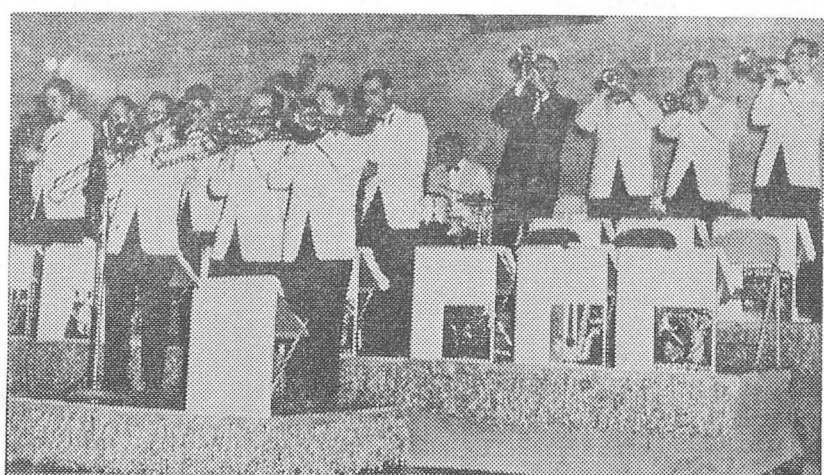

At the time of publication, no definite commitment for a speaker had been made. However, Dr. Thomas Fleming, of the English department will be master of ceremonies for the banquet.

Events will begin at 12:30 with the banquet. At 2:30 pictures will be taken at the south entrance of Harvey hall. The dads will then be taken on a tour of the industrial education department. At 7:30 the fathers will be guests of the "S" club when the Bluedevils will face Loras College at Nelson field.

Mom won't be forgotten however, as her day will start with a meeting in Harvey memorial at 1:00. At 1:15 their pictures will be taken and they will go on a tour of Harvey hall. Their day will be completed with a tea in the Stout tea room at 3:00.

TRI SIGS AND PHI SIGS INVITE ALL TO DANCE

The Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity and Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority wish to extend an invitation to all students and their parents to attend the annual Sweetheart Dance in the high school gym following the football game November 2nd. Come stag or with your date and dance or just listen to Chuck Mehl's "Rhythm-Aires."

Trombones and trumpets of the Les Elgart band take the lead in a number during the two hour long concert. Les Elgart, wearing a dark suit, is shown boosting the trumpet section.

"POPS" PROGRAM ON TAP BY COLLEGE ORCHESTRA

According to Dr. Edfield Odegard, Stout's director of music, the Stout state choir and band will present a program of "selected music which people like to play and listen to" on Wednesday evening, November 6, 8:00-9:00 p.m. in the Harvey hall auditorium.

The Fall Festival of Music is a new type of musical program to the Stout campus. It is a "pops" program of varied musical selections.

The band is planning to play six numbers featuring "Trombones on Parade," "One Alone," the "Oriental Suite," and "With a Song In My Heart."

The choir, consisting of 82 members, is planning to present such favorites as "Ain'ta That Good News," "Rain and the River," "Younger Than Springtime," and "Bali Hai."

DRESS DESIGNERS VISIT FASHION SHOPS OCT. 17

High fashion was the keynote of the applied dress design field trip to St. Paul and Minneapolis on Thursday, October 17. Amluxens, Daytons, and Field Schlicks were toured by the 17 fashion conscious students.

The purpose of this trip was to give students an opportunity to view current fashion trends first-hand. Members of this dress design class design a dress and then execute their ideas by draping on a form, also made in class.

Newest fabrics, import materials and variations of the better-known fabrics were shown at Amluxens by Miss Terrill, who proved to be a very helpful and courteous guide.

Daytons was the next stop on the itinerary. Once again the girls were warmly welcomed, this time by the much-informed buyer for Dayton's Oval room, Miss Thelma Johnson. Students were here given the opportunity to view fashions by such nationally known designers as Traina-Norell, Ceil Chapman and Hattie Carnegie. Miss Johnson, recently back from a number of fashion reviews, told the girls of the newest trends in line, color, make-up and jewelry during an informal chat in her office.

Junior fashions and other name designed clothes were reviewed at Field Schlicks after Mr. Schlick, vice president of the store, extended a warm welcome to everyone.

The fashion show held in the sky-room of Daytons, where Miss Hazel Van Ness and her class enjoyed lunch, provided an additional opportunity to view high fashion.

Full of ideas, 17 weary package laden misses boarded the bus (along with the members of the millinery class who also conducted a field trip) for the journey home.

COLLEGE TO BE SCENE OF CHURCH'S CONFAB

Students representing ten different colleges will attend the region two Newman club convention which will be held here on November 2 and 3.

Discussion, to be conducted at the Stout library, will be centered around the theme "Mind Speaks to Mind." Outstanding speakers of the area will be featured.

The convention will begin with registration at 9:30 a.m. in the Stout library and will close with Sunday Mass followed by a breakfast.

Ann Janda, general chairman, urges all Newmanites to attend.

ELGART PLAYS ENGAGEMENT HERE AT STOUT

Last Monday evening, October 21, the band of Les and Larry Elgart played in a one night engagement in the Menomonie high school gymnasium. The program was divided into a two hour concert and a two hour dance lasting from 7:30 p.m. until 11:30 p.m.

The evening's entertainment was sponsored by the Sigma Tau Gamma housing corporation. Several hundred people, young and old, attended the program.

Don Forbes was featured as the band's vocalist. His singing style was found to be quite similar to that of Frank Sinatra. Les Elgart featured himself on the trumpet. His brother Larry, one of the finest saxophonists, was unable to attend due to illness.

In all, the band played a variety of tunes ranging from modern jazz to the old standards. Some of the songs they included in the concert were such well-known recordings as "Geronimo," "Night Train," and "Lullaby of Birdland." These songs were played with the use of percussion, wind and string instruments. Instead of a piano, there was emphasis placed on the guitar.

This was the first time that a highly tempoed dance band has come to our campus. It brought with it spicely original arrangements to provide good listening and dancing interest.

BARBERSHOP QUARTETS TO HIGHLIGHT EVENING

An outstanding musical program, Barbershop Parade, will be presented Saturday, October 26, at 8 p.m. at both the Stout auditorium and Memorial theater. Tickets for general admission and reserved seats are now on sale.

The program, running simultaneously in both auditoriums, will feature outstanding barbershop quartettes. Appearing will be the Hi-Lo's of Milwaukee, For-Mor of Madison, Aquatones of Minneapolis, Monotones of La Crosse, Six Foot Four of Mondovi, and the Melodiers of Menomonie.

The River Falls-Hudson chorus, which won first place in Class B of the Minneapolis chorus contest in October, and the Menomonie chorus, directed by Bud Medtlie, will also be included in the musical program.

Barbershop Parade is being sponsored by the local Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartette Singing in America.

College fellows interested in singing are encouraged to attend the Monday evening meetings held at the house on the corner of Highway 12 and 13th street.

LYNWOOD HALL AGAIN HOLDS OPEN QUARTERS

With over 150 people in attendance, the annual open house of Lynwood hall was held last Sunday. The boy's resident hall was open for inspection from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m.

Under the supervision of Robert Fraser, general chairman, and the Lynwood counselors, things were put in tip-top shape for the visitors.

Lynwooders acted as guides on a tour of their building. They made sure that living and recreation quarters were viewed by all of the guests.

Following the tours, coffee was served in the downstairs lounge to the enthusiastic group of tourists.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

It seems that now would be good time to put the editorial policy of our college newspaper in print once again. The main idea being thus; that most students fail to realize just what duties a college newspaper has towards the population of that particular school. I hope that in stating the editorial policy for the STOUTONIA, that I will clarify many points of interest.

The first duty or objective of our paper is to bring to the students news of educational or school importance. We chose to let national and international issues be covered by other news agencies, except in those that directly affect the students of Stout.

The second duty or objective of our paper is to serve as a voice of the Stout student. Any organization that wishes to submit articles of any sort needs only to contact the Associate Editor or the Editor for certification. If the news is worthy of a photograph, that can be arranged. Be sure that all copy reaches our hands ahead of the Monday deadline. A regular club reporter should be designated by each group, to write publicity for that organization.

The STOUTONIA will gladly accept editorials and letters to the editor from anyone who desires to use it as a media of communication. However, the editorial staff reserves the right to judge the importance of these contributions to print only that which is justified. Faculty news must remain secondary to that of the student news.

The third and last, duty or objective of our paper is to take a firm stand on what we believe is the student's will or conviction. Therefore, we need the complete support of each and every organization and individual on the Stout campus. It follows, then, that you, the student must let us know just what your thoughts are. Remember to sign your full name to all articles and letters that are submitted for publication. The names will be withheld if requested only with just cause.

CLUB NEWS

Formal initiation was held October 15. We are pleased that so many students are interested.

The members elected Beverly Leschoier and Sylvia Felland as their delegates to the W.R.A. convention at Elverno college, Milwaukee, October 26 and 27.

All students who wish to rid themselves of excess energy, sign up for deck tennis. This is a new sport included, and we hope to see a good turn out.

The U.S.F. rally at Madison was discussed. Seven of the members from U.S.F. were nominated to go to it on November 8, 9, and 10. The work night on November 3 was discussed. Helen Russel gave a talk on "Hollywood Movies and the Church," Chile was the main dish of the cost supper.

The Pallas Athene sorority held a regular business meeting at their October 17 meeting. Many committee reports were given on the Homecoming activities. The major items of discussion were the trip to the cities this Saturday and the "splash party" which was held at the pool last night.

Last night's party was a new and unique occasion; all roommates of the sorority members and pledges were asked to join us for the evening. After an enjoyable hour of splashing in the pool, refreshments were served in the YWCA kitchen.

Tomorrow the group will journey to Minneapolis by chartered bus, shop, dine at the Waikiki Room, and attend "Around the World in Eighty Days."

The Delta Zeta sorority celebrated the anniversary of its founding date on October 24. The new Zeta Beta outfits, matching green skirts and sweaters, were initiated on that date also. The day was climaxed by a banquet for D Z active members and pledges in the Tea Room.

SCHOOL NURSE ONE TO SEE FOR POLIO SHOTS

Although the season when polio is most prevalent is not upon us right now, it soon will be. Are you prepared? In other words, have you had your polio shots?

If not, they are still available in the nurses office. You should wait four to six weeks after your first shot before you get the second. Then, several months later, you can get your third and last shot. Since they are so readily available, it is advisable that you get yours as soon as possible.

HALLOWEEN TEA TO BE SPONSORED BY TRI SIGS

An eerie atmosphere will pervade Harvey memorial lounge on Wednesday, October 30, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. when Tri Sigma sorority presents its annual Halloween tea.

Decorations, food and the attire of the sorority members will further carry out the Halloween theme.

Everyone — students, faculty, and staff are encouraged to attend.

SCHOOL NURSE REPORTS NO CASES OF ASIAN FLU

As of the date of publication, there have been no cases of Asian flu reported among Stout students. It has been suggested by the school nurse, Mrs. Chase, that at any sign of a cold coming on, you should drink a glass of water every hour.

The flu that is going around Stout is just regular flu.

PIERCE CON'T

most of the contemporary Republican leaders have ever conceived. Most of them have risen to their rank during the period of easy victories. Some of them have never really engaged in a difficult campaign.

Pierce is cut of another cloth. He has spent more than 30 years of dedicated service to the party. Unlike most of the men who rise to the top in Wisconsin politics, he came up slowly, through service in the ranks that is ideal but so rarely practiced in the reality.

Precinct committeeman, county chairman, national committeeman, Pierce has had all of them—and in the process has developed a practical wisdom in political affairs that is not always recognized because of his gentle nature and reluctance for pushing himself and his ideas.

More than any other contemporary Republican, he has lived and worked in the heartland of Wisconsin Republicanism; the small city and the village. Son of a village banker, proprietor of a modest milling business in Dunn County, Pierce has lived with farmer and small town residents all of his life and his conversation and his political party behavior are flavored with his village background.

Many men of prominence in politics intersperse their conversation and their anecdotes with the names of the mighty and the prominent. Pierce is one of the most entertaining recounters in state politics, but his stories always involve the village business man, or the farmer on Route 2.

Once a city-bred governor of Wisconsin, surrounded by advisors who were equally unlearned in the psychology of rural Wisconsin and the economics of agriculture, proposed a campaign scheme that was hare-brained, as it turned out.

Everybody to whom it was submitted approved it—except Pierce. The Dunn County politician quietly remarked that it wouldn't work. The man who defied his advice later apologized.

A phase of political party management that is infrequently understood, even by rank and file organization workers, is the fact that the rewards of organization office are few in Wisconsin.

National Committeeman Pierce has prominence and some influence in the party, but little else. Practical power—as in patronage for example—is in considerable. The cost of holding such offices is great, in physical energy and in money expenditures. Relatively few men can endure a party chairmanship or membership on a national party committee—in either parties for financial reasons if for no other.

EXAMINE YOUR SUPERSTITIONS ON OCTOBER 31

A good time to dig out superstitions for a coldly scientific look is October 31st. Ghosts, goblins, and witches are too busy that night to object.

Better do it during the day, with friends, and get over that touch of the flu first. One is more apt to be superstitious when ill, alone, at night. The friends should be as well educated as possible. The higher the education the easier superstitions are given up.

Studies have shown that grade school children believe in about one out of three of the common superstitions. Many of these drop away in high school, and by the time the student has entered college there are few left. A course in psychology is the best way to shatter those that remain.

Rural students are generally more superstitious than urban students. But, of course there are more horseshoes and four-leaf clovers in the country than in the city.

Friends are to blame most often for growing superstitions. Youngsters learn them from playmates and parents. They also learn to believe in good and bad luck by their own observations. Everyone has seen deaths come three-in-a-row.

Intelligence seems to have little effect on superstitious beliefs. Women are usually more superstitious than men. And everyone has some superstition he can't shake.

So pity even the male Ph.D. who trips over a black cat on Halloween. If the fall broke his pocket mirror he may be dreading a bleak future of seven years of bad luck!

Men like Pierce and their counterparts in other political situations draw their satisfaction to a greater degree than the public knows or wants to believe from a consciousness of public service. The concept that party service is public service is sometimes resisted. But the American government, state and national, is inextricably built upon parties and the parties are as good as the men who direct them and keep them alive.

STOUT GRADUATES PAID MORE, STATES BELISLE

The peculiar population situation now prevalent in the United States is reflected in the salaries currently being paid graduates of Stout state college and in the number of job opportunities for such graduates, according to a recent report by Frank J. Belisle, placement chairman and registrar of the college.

This situation was also described to the Coordinating committee for higher education in Wisconsin by vice-president J. Kenneth Little of the University of Wisconsin, who told the committee that the nation at present has a very small comparative population of young persons in the age group 18-24.

The result, Dr. Little pointed out, is a national shortage of trained personnel of every description, not just those in the greatly publicized areas of science and engineering. Therefore, teaching, home economics, dietetics, industrial technology and all endeavors requiring trained personnel are experiencing this acute shortage.

That shortage is evidenced by the fact that for the 1956-57 college year, Stout processed 386 job opportunities for only 62 available home economics education graduates. Another 602 calls were received for 132 Stout male graduates in industrial education.

This serious imbalance of short supply to great demand is also reflected in the constantly rising salary schedule for teachers in Stout's areas of specialization. For instance, bachelor of science graduates in home economics education in 1956-57 averaged $3928.57 for a beginning job, compared with $3676 a year earlier. A master's degree raised that salary an additional $225.

Men entering the industrial education field with a bachelor of science degree from Stout received an average of $4273.88 in 1956-57, compared to $4004 a year before. The master's degree meant an average of nearly $400.

In addition to the shortage of teachers, Belisle points out that Stout graduates are also being sought by business and industry. Constant pressure of the rising cost of living is also a significant consideration, he has found, especially as the limited number of available graduates pick and choose among the many opportunities available to them.

"And perhaps the most important element in the situation hasn't come to pass," Belisle warns. "The full impact of increased enrollment of pupils in Wisconsin high schools hasn't occurred as yet. When that happens, then the strain will really be felt."

Said one gentleman to another, "I wish I had his doe."

SIG TAU PLANS ANNUAL FORMAL. '57 ROSE DANCE

Plans are now underway for Stout's first formal of the 1957-58 school year. This affair is the ninth annual Rose dance which is to be held on Saturday evening, November 9. The dance is sponsored by Sigma Tau Gamma.

One of the highlights of the big evening will be the crowning of the new Rose Queen. The lucky girl is chosen by the members of the fraternity and she will reign for the next year.

Tickets will go on sale shortly in the corridors of Harvey hall, as well as by each Sig Tau. So girls, better start laying a trap for that favorite man, because this dance is one of the social year's highlights, and you won't want to miss it! Watch next week's Stoutonia for further details.

STOUT STUDENTS ENJOY FRIDAY'S SSA ACTIVITY

Reports indicate that all in attendance of the Stout student association function last Friday night had an enjoyable time. Besides square dancing, which was called by Al Finnell, college students participated in table tennis and billiards in the student union.

Because the pool was being cleaned and no pin-spotters were available swimming and bowling activities could not be included in the schedule that night.

SIDELINE SLANTS

... With Bob Papas

Sprained ankles, twisted knees, broken arms and black eyes tell the story of three retiring Bluedevil linemen. They have but two remaining games of college football left in their careers.

These three linemen are Jim Nadeau, number 44; Ernie Oyama, number 45; and Dick Tepp, number 43. Every night for four years from 3:30 to 6 p.m. they have practiced in dry, cold, and wet weather.

Anyone would ask why? As the three summed up their feeling by saying, "It's hard to explain, you can't really describe it unless you're out there on the field."

Let's take a look at the backgrounds of these three departing seniors. Our first senior is Jim Nadeau. Jim resides in Chippewa Falls and played guard for four years at McDonnell high school.

Upon coming to Stout Jim immediately went out for football. His position on offense was guard and on defense he was constantly used as a line-backer. Jim has played in 31 games here at Stout.

Our second senior is Ernie Oyama. Ernie hails from Honolulu, Hawaii, and played tackle for three years at McKinley high school in Honolulu. For the past three years Oyama has played guard on offense and tackle on defense. Ernie has played in 20 games for the Bluedevils.

When asked what his most amusing experience was while playing football here at Stout, Ernie laughingly replied, "The time I received my black eye, I thought that was really funny."

Our third senior is Dick Tepp. Dick comes from Stevens Point and had played center for four years at Stevens Point high school. Throughout his four years here at Stout, Tepp has played center. He has also been the Bluedevil football captain for the last two years.

The Stout state college Bluedevils will officially open basketball practice on November 4. All interested candidates should report to coach Gerlach at 3:30 in the upper gym of Bowman hall. This year Stout will have a well seasoned squad reporting for duty. Last year's record of 12 wins and 8 losses was the bright picture of the year's sports scene. Returning lettermen include: seniors, Jim Bolm, Jann Peterson, juniors, Herb Helm, Bob Sorenson, Brian Howard, and sophomore Keith Moessner. Bolstering the reserve strength will be: senior Dick Johnson, junior Bill Kindschy, and sophomore Bill Hills. The services of letterman Terry Meyers, reserves Robert Ryman, and Tom Pagel will be missed this coming season.

Next week: The basketball outlook for 1957-58.

For those of you that have been asking, below is a copy of Stout's basketball schedule this season. The Bluedevils' first game will be at St. Mary's on November 26, and they open up their home season against Northwestern on December 3.

NORTHLAND FOE FOR BLUEDEVILS TOMORROW NITE

Saturday at 12 p.m. the Bluedevils will leave for Ashland to play Northland college. Nadeau, Rohrbacher and Bob Mitchel will not make the trip. The following team members have been hit by flu during the week; Brehm, Kindschy, Barron, and Kane.

"If we can get over this flu barrier," commented coach Joe Gerlach, "we should win."

The scouting reports on the Lumberjacks show a split T, two platoon ball club. The over all size of the team can be considered big, but without an outstanding ball player on the club. This is not taking anything away from the Jacks who can field a potential winner.

The Bluedevils will know they were in a ball game, but can come home with a win if injuries and flu doesn't take its toll on more key positions.

Last years' score was 13 to 12 for Stout.

PAT CHOITZ IS ADDED TO STOUT CHEERING TEAM

A new cheerleader has been added to the Stout cheerleading squad. Her name is Pat Choitz.

Pat is a freshman from River Forest, Illinois. She has brown hair, hazel eyes, and is 5' 7 1/2" tall.

Cheerleading is nothing new for Pat. She was a cheerleader in junior high as well as senior high school. Although she feels the student spirit isn't quite what it could be, Pat enjoys cheerleading at Stout very much.

Sewing, art, music, swimming and bowling are all hobbies of Pat's. Her favorite spectator sport is basketball.

Teaching Home Economics is Pat's goal. She likes school very much to date.

A Yellowjacket finds nothing but white shirted Bluedevils as Joe O'Leary 22, Ken Berndt 19, and Jim Loomis 21, bring him down in last Friday's game at Superior.

BLUEDEVILS LOOSE TO YELLOWJACKETS 20-12 IN CONFERENCE FINALE; NADEAU OUT WITH INJURIES

Loosing 20 to 12, the Stout Bluedevils finished their conference football season last Friday night at Superior. The Bluedevils thus ended up in eighth place in the Wisconsin state conference.

The two teams played on even terms the first half with only a last second touchdown finding the Yellowjackets ahead 13 to 6 midway through the game.

Superior scored first in the game on a long drive in the first quarter. Stout tied things up in the second stanza, however, when Glenn Harke took a screen pass from Joe O'Leary and carried it into the end zone. With only twenty seconds left in the second frame, the Yellowjackets scored on a seventy-nine yard pass play.

Superior scored what proved to be the clincher in the third period when George St. Catherine carried the pigskin to pay dirt. Never giving up, however, Stout came back in the fourth quarter when Doug Rohrbacher completed a Bluedevil drive with a five yard plunge.

Coach Joe Gerlach felt the boys played a fine game and was particularly pleased with the performances put in by Harke, Dick Tepp, and Gil Feller. He also praised Rohrbacher and freshman quarterback Bob McNaughton.

The only injury in the game proved to be a vital one, when Jim Nadeau received a couple of badly sprained ankles which will probably sideline him in tomorrow's game at Northland.

Elmer, 16 and puzzled over girls, was talking to Joe. "I've walked her home 3 times; I've carried her books and twice I've bought her sodas. Now do you think I ought to kiss her?" Joe thought and said, "Naw, you've done enough for her."

Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, left, president of Stout state college, presents to State Assemblyman William E. Owen the completed color movie on electrical safety, "My Pop's a Lineman," while Otis G. Berger, Barron, president of the Wisconsin Job Training and Safety committee, watches with satisfaction.

PREMIER PERFORMANCE OF STOUT PRODUCED FILM "MY POP'S A LINEMAN" HELD LAST WEDNESDAY

Premiere performance of the new sound color movie on electrical safety, "My Pop's a Lineman," a combined project of the Wisconsin Rural Electric Job Training and Safety committee and Stout state college here, took place before the Menomonic Rotary club at that organization's noon meeting on Wednesday, October 30, at Hotel Marion.

In addition to Rotary members, also present were representatives from Northern States Power co. and the Wisconsin State Traffic Patrol, two other organizations cooperating in the production of the movie, as well as REA personnel from this area and faculty members and students from Stout who helped create the film.

Arrangements for the premiere were made by Dunn County Assemblyman, William E. Owen, who is also man, William E. Owen, who is also president of the Dunn County Electric Cooperative.

Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout state college and also a Menomonic Rotarian, represented the college and its part in producing the movie.

The event not only provided the public with its first view of "My Pop's a Lineman," but it also announced that the movie is now available for showing and for sale. Although the audio-visual center at Stout state college has not yet received its original retail consignment of prints, already eight purchase orders have been received from organizations wishing to own this movie on electrical safety.

According to Dr. David Barnard, head of Stout's audio-visual center and producer-director of the film, "My Pop's a Lineman" is designed for use by local REA cooperatives and other electrical suppliers. However, it will be equally suitable, Barnard indicates, in university film rental libraries, public school systems and even for television showing. Price of the 15½ minute full color movie is $135, about $20 below commercial prices for a comparable film.

Taking the leading role in the production is H. C. Potthast, director of the Wisconsin Rural Electric Job Training Safety committee and also an active participant in creation of the movie.

Over-all goal of the movie-making project was to provide students of Stout state college with valuable practical experience in the many phases of movie production while producing a film financed not using state tax funds.

The college class in Production of Audio-Visual Materials developed the script under the direction of H. C. Potthast, with Dr. Barnard serving as producer-director-instructor of all phases. Students at Stout also did the necessary research, helped perfect the narration which accompanies the movie and participated in all such technical aspects as lighting, camera work and editing.

ATTENTION,

At 8 p.m. this coming Monday night there will be a conference for all STOUTONIA reporters and club reporters in the Stout print shop.

SSC TO HOST PRINTING EDUCATION MEETING

The 33rd annual conference on printing education of the International Graphic Arts Education association will be held on the campus of Stout state college here from August 3-7, according to a preliminary announcement just released by I.G.A.E.A. headquarters.

In attendance will be well over a hundred teachers of printing from the United States, Canada and a number of foreign countries.

Preliminary plans for the gathering were recently completed when Samuel Burt, executive secretary of I.G.A.E.A., visited the Stout campus to confer with the administrative officers of the college and with Lloyd Whydowski, chairman of Stout's department of graphic arts.

SWEETHEART DANCE IS AFTER LORAS GAME

The traditional Sweetheart dance, sponsored by the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority and the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity is scheduled for this coming Saturday night, November 2, following the football game, and is to be held at the high school gymnasium. Decorations and music planned promise to be entertaining to the young as well as the young-at-heart—namely our parents.

One of the highlights of the dance will come at the drawing of a name to see who will become the happy recipient of the cuddly "Lover." Each year a "Lover" is given to the lucky person who has bought the drawn chance on him at a very small fee in the corridor of Harvey hall during the week preceding the dance or at the door. This year it is stressed that the person whose name is drawn must be present at the time of the drawing in order to receive "Lover."

Decorations will be according to the general theme of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." They will remind us of the generations of sweethearts before us and should bring back memories to our parents.

Music easy to listen to and better to dance to will be presented by Chuck Mehl's talented and popular "Rhythm-a-ires."

Tickets will be sold at the door if you have not already purchased them in the corridor during this week. Admission prices are 50 cents per person or 90 cents per couple.

A Message From the President . . .

Welcome Parents,

It is truly a pleasure for all of us at Stout to welcome you to Parents' Weekend, an event which we hope will become a tradition here at Stout state college.

It is the hope of all those who have planned and worked to prepare this weekend for you that you will receive maximum enjoyment and information from your visit. This is your chance to view modern college life first hand. This, too, is your opportunity to meet the faculty; to inspect the shops, laboratories, and classrooms in which our students learn; to visit various types of housing accommodations; and to see how Stout students spend their leisure on campus.

I wish space permitted me to describe the many opportunities available to every Stout graduate. Ever-increasing calls for qualified graduates afford them a wide choice of positions—in type of work, salary potential and even unlimited location.

Yes, we are glad you came. We hope that you will find all of us and our college cordial and active. You are most welcome to Stout state college.

'OUTWARD BOUND' CAST AND CREW PREPARE

Some of the cast and their parts in the forthcoming production of "Outward Bound" were mixed up in a previous printing of this information. Therefore it is hoped that this rewrite will straighten the matter out.—Editor

Cast and crews are hard at work on the Manual art player's forthcoming production "Outward Bound", which is to be staged on the evenings of November 21, 22, 23, in the auditorium of Harvey hall.

"Outward Bound" is a comedy-drama which promises to hold your interest throughout its entire three acts.

The cast, consisting of familiar veterans of the M.A.P. stage and also many new players, has the quality and industriousness to give you a good evening of acting entertainment. The cast, all eager thespians, is as follows.

Darrel, "Fritz", Ebert, a senior is a familiar figure on our stage and hails from Green Lake. He has held acting parts in three previous plays. His latest was "My Three Angels."

Yvonne Hammer will make her debut upon the M.A.P. stage. She is a freshman from Bayport, Minnesota, and will act the part of Ann.

Tom Rosenthal of Detroit, Michigan, is cast as Henry in "Outward Bound."

Paul Paulson, a senior from Ripon, has had acting experience in M.A.P.'s 1957 spring play—"A Murder Has Been Arranged". He is taking the character of Tom Prior.

Two Menomonie residents, Alice Phelan and Keith Halvorson are cast as Mrs. Cliveden Banks and Reverend William Duke, respectively. Alice has taken part in such Menomonie high school productions as "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," "Annie Get Your Gun," and "Oklahoma."

Sheldon White, a sophomore from Antioch, Illinois, with acting experience in such previous M.A.P. productions as "The Bishop Misbehaves," and "Kind Lady" is taking on the character of Lingley in the current production.

Scott Evenson, a sophomore, from Wausau, cast as Reverend Frank Thomson completes the cast.

Norman Valiska, as stage-manager, and Donna Enders and Merna Sherer as co-student directors, head the hard-working backstage crews.

JOHNSON TO CHAIRMAN DISTRICT 14 OF N.A.I.A.

New chairman of District 14 of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics is Ray C. Johnson, athletic director of Stout state college here, according to an announcement recently received from N.A.I.A. headquarters in Kansas City.

Johnson was selected as chairman by the membership of District 14 and takes over the N.A.I.A. responsibilities formerly held by the late Phil Belford of River Falls state college.

As district chairman, Johnson will direct the organizing and administering of the N.A.I.A. program in all member colleges of the district. He will also discharge additional duties as they are determined by the membership.

Dr. Thomas Fleming, public relations director of Stout state college, has agreed to handle public relations matters for District 14 during Johnson's tenure as chairman.

FERN MATHEY, SENIOR COED, WINS IFYE TRIP

"I was flabbergasted!"

Yes, that was the first reaction of Fern Mathey, Stout state college senior coed, who was recently one of two Wisconsin young people selected to live in a foreign land for six months next summer as part of the International Farm Youth Exchange program.

Miss Mathey, who is majoring in home economics education at Stout, is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Mathey, Route 1, Medford. She is a 1954 graduate of Medford high school.

The pert young lady had many qualifications to present to the IFYE selection board. She had joined the 4-H program in grade school and had carried on many projects and held a number of offices in her 12 years of membership.

Her awards included recognition in clothing, gardening, home grounds beautification and wild life creatures projects. Her imagination and skill in clothing construction resulted in her receiving two trips to the Wisconsin state fair to appear in dress reviews.

In addition, the young home economics student has put her Stout training to good use by serving for two summers as a 4-H agent.

Now that Mis Mathey has recovered from being "flabbergasted" she is trying to decide to which foreign country she hopes to be assigned. Wherever that is, she will live with a number of different families during her six months residence overseas.

Another activity to which she looks forward to with pleasure is the so-called "requirement" that upon her return she share with interested groups throughout Wisconsin her IFYE experiences. This she will do in a number of illustrated talks.

Other Stout state college seniors too, have won coveted IFYE appointments in recent years. Mary Detlor, Plainfield, represented Wisconsin among the peoples of Denmark, Barbara Ness, Byron, Minnesota, was an IFYE goodwill ambassador to Finland.

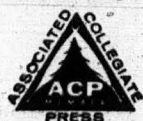

"But," smiles Fern Mathey, "I don't really care where my assignment will be, just so I see new things and meet interesting people. First graduation from college and then an all-expense trip abroad. Yes, this will really be a big year."

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Welcome, Moms and Dads, to the first Parents' Week-end at Stout state college. This is your week end, so have a good time and share life in Menomonie with your sons and daughters today and tomorrow. There will be a great number of events to attend, places to see, and things to do, so enjoy yourselves as your offspring show you parents their "home away from home."

The first Parents' Week-end has come about largely through the efforts of our SSA officers, the "S" club and the college administration who have worked many long hours to make this occasion possible. It was their conviction that the Moms and Dads of the Stout student body would enjoy an opportunity to spend a typical week end with their sons and daughters at college. So, through various committees, questionnaires, and letters, the big event has arrived.

After all, Mom and Dad, why shouldn't you see for yourselves what college life is like at Stout? You people are responsible for the 1150 or so students presently enrolled here. Then, is it not logical that you should walk the halls of their campus, eat a meal at their favorite restaurant, cheer their football team on, and then take in a dance as they would on most other fall week ends? Of course it is, and that is the main reason for Parents' Week-end, 1957. Have fun, look around, and see just how much your sons and daughters are taking advantage of a college education at Stout state college.

CLUB NEWS

The Tri Sigmas, dressed in black, welcomed the school to their Halloween tea Wednesday afternoon in Harvey hall memorial. Tea was served from three to five-thirty.

The hall was decorated with jack-o-lanterns and corn stalks to give the tea the real Halloween spirit. A huge spider web hung at the door and two black candles illuminated the whole scene.

Refreshments included spiced tea, coffee, nuts, and tea-cakes.

Tri Sigma's national inspection date has been scheduled for November 22. Mrs. Rachel Kyle, a national officer, will be on campus for the week-end in order to become acquainted with Stout and each of the Tri Sigma girls.

Following the business meeting the sorority members and pledges met in the reading room of the library for charm school.

An eerie fall atmosphere highlighted Friday evening's Ghost dance, sponsored by the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity. Dancing to hi-fi music took place in a setting of lighted pumpkins and corn shocks.

Bobbing for apples was a part of the evening's activities. Only two people attended in costume, with a Swiss costume meriting the free ticket to the Rose Dance on November 9th.

Ski club elected officers at their second meeting. The officers for the new year are: Jen Lambert, pres.; Gid Grotte, vice-president; Mary Tickler, secretary; and Ray Nichols, treasurer. Arnold Nolan, from the Eau Claire ski shop, will speak to the group on November 5, about techniques of skiing. He has slides of interest and will also bring new equipment to show the group. Gid Grotte will show ski exercises at this meeting, also.

Phi-Sigma Epsilon has formally accepted three new members to its organization with the hope that it can further its fraternal and scholastic activities on campus. The three new members are: John Sherry, a sophomore from Portage, Fred Slaby, a sophomore from Fish Creek, and Eugene Smigelski, also a sophomore from Milwaukee.

Five Phi Sigs are off campus teaching this quarter, they are: Pat Spielman, La Crosse; Clifford Aderholt, Stevens Point; Tom Kukar, Black River Falls; Ron Anderson, Hudson; and Doug Dorner, Eau Claire.

The last meeting of the Metals Guild marked the beginning of pledge week for new members. The pledges are: Jim Lubahn, Jerome Berger, Ronald Dhuey, Sheldon Satter, Afif Hajir, and Walter Trianoski.

Dr. Wiehe gave a talk on General Motors company which was extremely enlightening to all that were in attendance.

Any member interested in getting the School Shop magazine should see Leo Nevala.

Displays of textiles, jewelry and art work from Jordan, Ghana, Thailand, Indonesia, Peru, Bolivia, Nicaragua, Hawaii, and Japan were the decorations at the U. N. Tea held October 23, in Harvey memorial.

The Home Economics club sponsored the event in observance of United Nations Day. Lois Onsrud was general chairman with Virgene Achenbach, Helen Froehlich, and Kay Ritzman being in charge of the music, decorations and food.

Male students from foreign lands greeted the guests at the door and mingled with the group.

The centerpiece for the serving table was a globe with ribbons attached to places where the foreign students are from with their name on the other end of the ribbon. Three ladies from Indonesia poured the punch for

MARINE, NAVY OFFICERS TO DISCUSS PROGRAMS

Marine Captain Arnold E. Bench announced this week that the Marine Corps Officer Procurement Team would visit the campus of Stout state college on Monday and Tuesday the 4th and 5th of November 1957.

The Officer Procurement Team will be located in Harvey hall and will accept applications for any programs from qualified students, also, students are invited to discuss their military obligation under the Armed Forces Reserve Act of 1955 with members of the Procurement Team without obligation.

Opportunities leading to a commission in the United States Navy will be explained to young men in this area by an Officer Procurement Team from the Office of Naval Officer Procurement and Naval Air Station, Minneapolis, on the campus of Stout state college on Friday, November 22, 1957. Any and all questions will be answered at this time.

In order that Stout state college students may get information concerning the Navy at times other than during scheduled visits by an officer procurement team, the Navy has assigned Dr. G. S. Wall, who is a lieutenant commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve, as liaison officer.

Any students desiring information may contact Dr. Wall in Room 163, Harvey hall (Graduate Studies Office).

Last Sunday, Wesley fellowship met at five o'clock for fellowship, food and an interesting program. Bruce King presided over the meeting.

Following a cost supper, students were encouraged to attend the Sixth Quadrennial Conference of the Methodist Student Movement that will be held at the University of Kansas at Lawrence. Mr. Robert Spinti, a former student and present faculty member, showed slides and talked of the conference he attended. Louise Grant gave increased information about the Conference that is scheduled for December 27.

Mrs. Archie Henry concluded the program with delightful and informative comments on the United Nations. She showed two film strips of U.N. help around the world. The U.N. theme was carried out at the meeting through the use of place mats, table appointments, and posters about the room.

The September 24th meeting of Alpha Sigma Alpha was held at the home of Mrs. Katie Schomburg. Plans for a tea for the mothers of the football team on November 2 were discussed. After the regular business meeting, an informal pledge party and coffee hour was held.

The Alpha's will soon be starting their annual magazine sale. If you are in a quandry as to what to buy for Christmas presents, magazines make wonderful gifts that are appreciated all year long. If you would like a subscription, see any of the Alpha Sigma members they will be happy to oblige you. Remember, there are only 51 shopping days left!

CLUB NEWS

The International relations club held their meeting Wednesday evening, October 23, at 8 p.m. in the Audio-Vis room of the library. A United Nations film (Made in Denmark) was shown on the food and agriculture section of the U.N., after which a discussion was held. The regular business meeting followed, with plans being started for the mock U.N. convention to be held at the University of Wisconsin in the spring. Programs are being set up two or three months in advance. More films pertaining to the U.N. will be shown, as well as guest speakers coming in from time to time.

Representing Stout's Home Economics club at the fall meeting of the Wisconsin Home Economics college club section at Madison, October 18-19, were six Stout coeds and one advisor: Patty Jo Hovde, Peggy Handlos, Marlys Pettis, Margaret Massey, Joan Salm, Rhea Van Vleet, and Miss Clure.

Discussion groups and speakers were featured on the weekend's program. Miss Youmans, president of the Wisconsin Home Economics association, was guest speaker and she explained the relationship of the local and state college clubs to the national organization.

Leadership and its importance was emphasized in an address given by Miss Zuill, assistant Dean of Home Economics at the University of Wisconsin. Also on Saturday's program were six women students from other lands who presented a panel, "Home Economics and International Relations." Countries represented on the panel were Turkey, Iraq, Norway, and India. Islands represented were Hawaii and the Philippines.

Last Thursday evening, the Delta Zeta sorority held its first standards program. Mr. Belisle spoke to the group on the importance of scholarship, the projection of personality, and the factors which influence the selection of trained people for teaching positions. It is one of the duties of Mary Hitesman, standards chairman, to see that the members of Delta Zeta maintain the high standards being set by the group.

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

After weeks on campus you have probably seen us wearing white blazers with a red insignia on the pocket. We are members of Alpha Sigma Alpha, a national social sorority.

In 1951, Alpha Sigma Alpha became a national sorority after previously being the SMA society. By becoming national it enables our members to transfer to other colleges and if they have a ASA chapter there, the girl automatically becomes a member of that chapter.

Our membership is limited to forty girls on Stout's campus and the number of pledges we have depends upon the opening left by graduating seniors. We choose our pledges on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and friendship.

The first event that we sponsored was the Bermuda Blast, which was held in September. Our other big event of the year is Sadie Hawkins Week. During this week the guys have it easy as the girls do all the courting and the paying. A Valentine's Tea and the Sadie Hawkins Dance help to climax this week.

In the fall and again in the spring we participate in the Panhellenic rushing party and sponsor our own rush party shortly after. For us, as well as the other sororities, this is a busy and exciting season.

We'll be seeing you on campus.

CHI LAMBDA

On May 8, 1956, Chi Lambda was officially recognized as a fraternity on Stout's campus. The objectives of the fraternity are:

1. To create a strong bond of brotherhood between the members.
2. To foster social competence of members.
3. To nurture high moral and ethical values.
4. To contribute to the wholesome growth of the extra-curricular activities of the campus.

Last year was the first complete year of Chi Lambda. It was highlighted by monthly dinner meetings, entering social activities throughout the year, and climaxed by the first annual dinner-dance held at the Country club.

The requirements for entrance into the fraternity are none other than the regulations set by the Stout student-handbook.

The start of the 1957-58 school year has seen the fraternity busily engaged in social activities such as the street dance, plans for pledging, and homecoming activities. Also work has begun on the Mardi Gras dance to be held on February 15, 1958.

Members of the fraternity can be recognized around the campus by the gray jackets with red Greek letters.

PHI U INITATES ELEVEN GIRLS HERE RECENTLY

Tau chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron had the privilege of entertaining the district counselor, Miss Juliette Myren, on October 18, and 19. Through a series of meetings with the whole group and the officers, Miss Myren was able to meet all the members of Tau chapter.

The highlight of the week end was initiation and the banquet following. Those girls initiated into Phi U are Carol Bibby, Opal Burton, Rita Casey, Peggy Deering, Sylvia Felland, Mary Hitesman, Mary Parkel, Joan Scheevel, Pat Soldner, Alice Weltzin, and Eleanor Weltzin.

The banquet following took as its theme "Phi U Salutes the United Nations." Four dimensional globes, flags from the different countries and red carnations formed the centerpieces of the tables. A delicious dinner was served by the ladies of the Peace Lutheran church.

The program included a group of songs from various countries sung by a quartet composed of Joan Wonoski, Betty Havlik, Barbara Hartig, and Ann Kofoed. A very clever book review and reading was given by Beverly Duerkop on the United Nations as seen through the eyes of a child. Alice Yamamoto did a hula; and Miss Latifah, one of the Indonesian women on campus, gave a very interesting talk on home economics education in central Java and its marriage customs. The program closed with the singing of "America the Beautiful." A very successful weekend had been enjoyed by all.

NINTH ANNUAL ROSE DANCE NEXT SATURDAY

The Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity is sponsoring the ninth annual Rose Dance a week from Saturday night. This first formal of the year will be held in the high school gym.

Dancing will begin at 8:30 p.m. and last until 12:30 a.m. Dorm hours are being extended to 1:00 a.m. Guy Woodford's band will provide the music. Admission is $2.00 per couple. The tickets will be sold by individual members of the fraternity and also in Harvey hall the week before the dance.

Intermission at the dance will feature a grand march of the queen and the frat members with their dates. Following the coronation of the queen, there will be the singing of the "Rose Song."

SEASON IS PROMISING FOR BLUEDEVIL CAGERS

With the football season nearing an end, there comes a cold nip in the air, and Stout fans' thoughts turn to basketball.

It appears as if this year's Bluedevil team is somewhat blessed with talent. However, the real outcome of this year's season will probably hinge on scholastic achievements.

Stout will probably boast the most experienced returning five in the conference as graduation has not taken a single starter from a team that compiled a 12 win, 8 loss record last year. Therefore, to repeat, much of this depends on everyone's scholastic fitness.

Although finishing fifth in the league, the Bluedevils ended the season with a strong burst of power which let every team in the conference know they could be the team to beat.

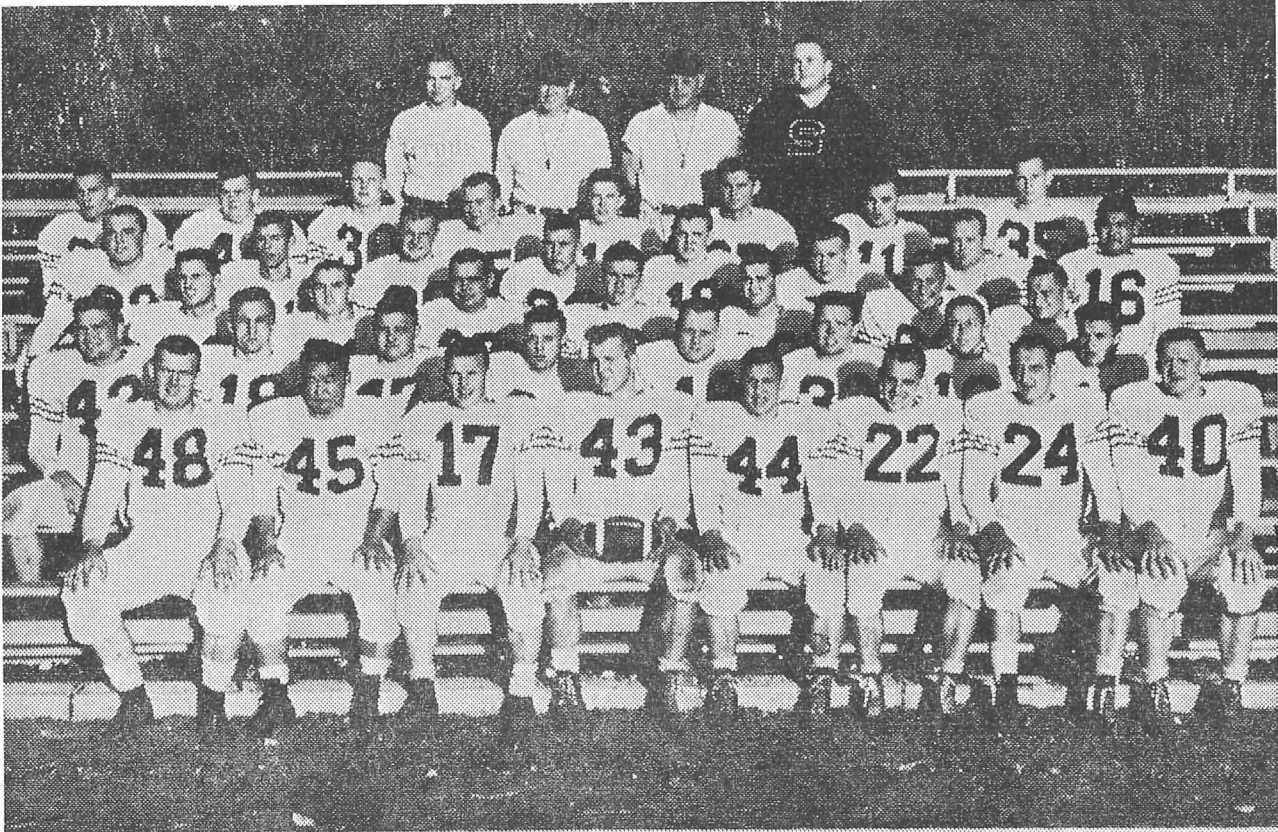

Last year's squad posted victories over conference teams Superior, twice, La Crosse, Whitewater, and Stevens Point. Outside of the league the Bluedevils won over St. Mary's, Northland, twice, Winona, twice, and St. Cloud, the outstanding victory being towards the end of the season against the league's first place team from Stevens Point.

If history repeats itself, look for Keith Moessner to lead the scoring column for the Bluedevils. Moessner last year averaged nineteen points per game. He was followed closely by Bob Sorenson with a 14.7 average, Jann Peterson with 13, Jim Bolm with 11, and Brian Howard with 9.2. The team as a whole averaged 79 points per game as opposed to 78.25 for their opponents.

Other returning men include Herb Helm, Bill Hills, Tom Pagel, Dick Johnson, and Bill Kindschy. Prospects from the freshmen class also look very promising.

Stout will have a relatively short team this year with the tallest man probably not running much more than 6 ft. 3 in. As a result the Bluedevils will probably use a man to man defense which they have employed successfully in the past years.

Reports on other tams in the Wisconsin state conference will follow in coming weeks.

FOOTBALL TEAM PLAYS HOST TO DAD TOMORROW

An event-filled day is in store for the football players' fathers tomorrow, when the team will show their Dads a grand time on the ninth bi-annual Dad's Day.

The day will begin with a banquet at Jeatran's Supper Club at 12:30 p.m. Wynn Brockmeyer, athletic director of Wausau high school will be guest speaker. August J. Tepp, father of Dick Tepp, football captain, will speak on behalf of the Dads.

At 7:30 the Dads will be entertained as their sons will attempt to defeat Loras college at Nelson field.

Mom won't be forgotten however, as her day will start with a meeting in Harvey memorial at 1:00 p.m. At 1:15 their pictures will be taken and they will go on a tour of Harvey hall. Their day will be completed with a tea in the Stout tea room at 3:00.

LORAS IS FOE IN DAD'S DAY TILT TOMORROW

Wrapping up the 1957 football season, Stout's Bluedevils will take to Nelson Field tomorrow night in a Dad's day performance against Loras college from Dubuque, Iowa.

Loras boasts a very strong team that finished high in their own conference standings this year. The Du-hawks lost an early game this season to Winona, who had suffered a defeat the prior week at the hands of the Bluedevils. Loras has come a long way since then however, with one of their recent accomplishments being a victory over Platteville, Wisconsin state conference champion, last week end, 14 to 13.

Injuries will play an important roll in the game as the Bluedevils will probably find themselves without the service of four starters. Captain Dick Tepp will probably not see action due to a broken fingerbone. If a proper cast can be fitted however, he may be able to play on defense. Jim Nadeau will still be out with injuries suffered two weeks ago, and Glenn Harke will miss the game because of an injury received last week against Northland. Bob Mitchell is also a question mark as he has been out most of the week with the flu.

BLUEDEVILS RAMBLE OVER LUMBERJACKS 8 TO 0; TEPP AND HARKE ARE SIDELINED WITH INJURIES

Battling through a game of defenses, Stout emerged victorious in their contest with the Blue and Gold of Northland last Saturday, 8-0.

Both teams played on even terms the entire game with a touchdown in the final minutes of play clinching it for the Bluedevils.

Northland's only substantial scoring threat came in the second period when they marched 64 yards to the Bluedevil's 25 yard line. A critical off side penalty stopped the Lumberjacks, however, and Stout took over on downs.

From then on the Stout gridders' defense told the story. Pushing Northland all the way back to their own 13 yard line, the Lumberjacks were faced with a fourth down situation. Speedy Dick Tepp then broke through the line and blocked their attempted punt. The ball rolled out of the end zone scoring an automatic safety, and the Bluedevils led 2-0.

Stout's stone wall held up the rest of the game, as they did not once allow Northland to enter their territory in the second half.

A fumble on the Lumberjacks' 40 yard line set up Stout's lone touchdown. Driving to the Northland five in six plays, Bob McNaughton entered pay dirt on an end run. The try for extra point was blocked.

The game proved very costly, however, as both captain Dick Tepp and Glenn Harke received injuries which will probably sideline them in tomorrow's contest against Loras college at Nelson field.

PIANO PROGRAM TO HIGHLIGHT NOV. 13 CONVO

Convocation on Wednesday, November 13, will present Mario Braggiotti, pianist. Mr. Braggiotti is a very successful piano soloist and composer. He won fame as a member of the two piano team of Fray and Braggiotti, who toured America and were on CBS radio for a number of years.

It is said that Mr. Braggiotti wants most of all to play "something for the enjoyment of every person in the audience." In addition to the traditional classics, he offers interludes of improvisations and musical caricatures and plays with brilliance and personal charm.

The story of Mr. Braggiotti's life is a story of music. He was born in Italy. His father was a noted voice teacher. His mother was the beautiful Lily Schlesinger of Boston. He lived in Florence and Boston, entered the Paris Conservatory at seventeen, met George Gershwin and Jacques Fray, and later played the piano for Gershwin's musical comedy, "Funny Face."

Mr. Braggiotti has been composing original music, including concertos and musical caricatures. His informal recital here at Stout will probably include composition by little-known composers done in his humorous manner, and well-known classical music played in the traditional styles of those composers.

He caricatures such tunes as "Yankee Doodle" with new and humorous life, imitating the style of different composers with the basic theme of "Yankee Doodle."

It seems quite evident that Mr. Braggiotti will try to please his entire audience.

QUARTER ENDS; GRADES PROMPT LETTERS HOME

Dear Maw:

Whew! My first nine weeks of college life are over with. Things sure are different up here in the "big" city compared to back home in Chicken-switch.

The teachers up here are very degrading, in fact I got four D's just last week. What a crazy mixed-up bunch they have up here. Everyone calls me Joe College and they all know my real name is Herkimer.

I had to write a term paper, so I wrote on how you can pickles. My English Professor told me it was a juicy story. In fact, he said it was really a dilly. That sure set me ajar.

They have lots of girls up here they call Co-eds. I guess "co" is supposed to mean co-operative but when you take them out on dates they're anything but co-operative.

I've certainly been spending a lot of time at union meetings up here. It seems like there is an important issue being discussed there every night.

I'm anxiously looking forward to the next nine weeks. I hope it proves as exciting an experience as this last quarter has been.

Well, Maw, say "Hello" to all my friends at Fishcreek high and as my English Prof would say "Ah Rewar."

FRYKLUND, KIRK, JARVIS TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Three administrators of Stout state college will represent Stout at a conference, being held on the campus of Marquette university November 6, to consider methods of providing for the growing needs of American citizens for education beyond that of high school.

In attendance from Stout will be Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of home economics; and Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of the school of industrial education.

The conference is being held at the recommendation of the President's Committee on Education Beyond the High School. Participating will be presidents and academic deans of public and private universities and colleges throughout Wisconsin.

During the morning session of the gathering, over which will preside Dr. E. B. Fred of the University of Wisconsin, delegates will hear addresses by Dr. Douglas Knight, of Lawrence College, and Miss Catherine Cleary, of the President's Committee on Education Beyond the High School.

Dr. Robert Steel of Carroll college will preside over the afternoon session, at which the speakers will be Dr. Eugene Kleinpall of River Falls state college, and Dr. Miller Upton of Beloit college.

GOV. BOARD DISCUSSES STOUTONIA BUDGET

Tuesday evening a regular meeting of the governing board was called to order by vice-president, Ralph Stevens.

A franchise was granted to the Wesley fellowship for the selling of monogrammed tooth brushes.

Bob Scheele, the freshman representative from Lynwood hall, questioned fellow board members on the rights of freshman representatives on the board, and asked why freshmen are not given the right to vote. Freshman representatives are not voting members mainly because of inexperience in the governing body. The freshman class, however, does have the power to voice its opinions and influence the governing board by the presence of its two representatives.

The Stoutonia submitted its budget to the board for approval. Editor, Bill Erpenbach, and associate editor, Alice Weltzin, presented to the board ideas for improvement of the school paper. The Stoutonia is being printed in a formal, out-moded typographical style at the present time, according to national rankings by the Associated Collegiate press. A "new look" for the Stoutonia was suggested and discussed. An accounting system to trace Stoutonia expenses in a more exacting manner was suggested by Mr. Whydowski, Stoutonia advisor.

Mr. Whydowski also suggested that a new award system be set up by the S.S.A. which would grant awards to those students who made outstanding contributions to student life during the year. Such a system would eliminate small yearly awards presently being given by individual groups. A committee was appointed to investigate the matter.

A volume of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" is going to be purchased by the governing board each year and will be placed in the library in hopes of arousing more interest in obtaining the honor.

'UGLY MAN' IS CONTEST THEME FOR NOV. 11-16

Monday, November 11 marks a big day for the students of Stout state college, for it is the starting date of Alpha Phi Omega's UGLY MAN ON CAMPUS CONTEST. The rules are simple, if you are naturally ugly. But seeing that most people are not faced with this advantage, the ugly man on campus contestant's face will be doctored up a bit with plastic surgery, something you have dug out of the trash barrel, city dump, or obtained from Hollywood.

The person who models this creation will have his picture taken and a print of it will be submitted to APO for judging (APO is not responsible for photographic equipment that is broken). The size of the print is to be 5" x 7". The pictures will be displayed in Harvey hall during the week of November 11 to 16.

The judges will be the entire student body. Votes for the candidates will cost 10 mills or 1 cent if you prefer and you can vote as many times as you like. All organizations, clubs, or individuals are invited to enter this contest.

The week's events will come to a close with the UMOG Dance on November 16. At the dance, the winners will be announced. All proceeds are to set up a Stout state college scholarship. Who knows? ??? Maybe you will be Stout's UGLY MAN ON CAMPUS.

INSTRUCTOR OBSERVES 'SPUTNIK' THURSDAY

Dick G. Klatt, an instructor in the Metals department of Stout state college, observed the Russian satellite Sputnik II, Wednesday morning at 5:47 a.m.

Dick received the Sputnik II time table over KSTP and got up early Wednesday and went to an open field near his home where he had an unobstructed view of the sky. Only one cloud in the sky, and that covered the moon. The first thing he saw was a meteor in the North. Then as his gaze swept to the Southwest he saw Sputnik II coming up over the horizon at 5:47—right on schedule. It was unmistakably "IT."

"Brighter than any star in the Big Dipper," said Dick. "It was visible to the naked eye for approximately seven to eight minutes, and would grow dim, then bright, then dim... but visible at all times. It traveled from Southwest to Northeast and was about 60 degrees at its zenith." (The brightening and dimming, scientists say, is due to its turning over, end for end.)

Dick highly recommends getting up to see it. "It's hard to describe the feeling of seeing something like this, but you know what it is when you do see it. I plan to get up any time, day or night, when it goes over." The next scheduled time in this area will be 5:47 Sunday morning.

ROSE FORMAL SET FOR GYM SATURDAY NIGHT

SSC FACULTY MEMBERS TO WEA CONVENTION

Numerous members of the faculty of Stout state college took part in the forthcoming Wisconsin Education association convention in Milwaukee, November 7-9.

Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of the school of home economics will participate in an executive meeting of the Wisconsin Home Economics association council, as will Miss Margaret Perman of the home economics education department, who is chairman of the home economics section of the Northwestern Wisconsin Education association.

Together with Miss Hazel Van Ness, associate professor of home economics, they will also attend the banquet of the W.H.E.A. council. Miss Van Ness is a WEA delegate from Stout. Miss Dorothy Clure, of the faculty of the school of home economics, also will take an active part in convention activities.

In addition to attending convention functions, Miss Mary Frances Cutnaw, instructor in speech and English at Stout, will participate in a meeting of speech teachers of the faculties of Wisconsin state colleges.

Five faculty men from Stout's school of industrial education will be present for convention activities. Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of industrial education, will join in a reunion of Stout alumni and in an Epsilon Pi Tau breakfast, in addition to his regular convention responsibilities.

As executive secretary of the Stout state college National Alumni association, Dr. E. Robert Rudiger has been active in helping to arrange the annual Stout alumni reunion accompanying the WEA convention. Dr. Rudiger will attend that reunion and also participate in convention activities.

Dr. David Barnard, as membership chairman of the Wisconsin Department of Audio-visual instruction, will meet with that group, of which he is past president. He will also attend other convention gatherings.

Ray Kranzsch, who directs safety education activities at Stout, will attend driver education sessions of the convention. He will also visit with other safety directors present at the WEA gathering.

Edwin Siefert, assistant professor of general and machine drawing at Stout, will be present at industrial arts and vocational education conferences. He will also attend a seminar sponsored by firms specializing in drawing equipment and supplies.

STUDENT BODY EFFORTS HELP PARENT VISITS

Stout state college held its first annual parents' week end on November 1 and 2. The 400 parents present represented about a 350 mile radius.

On Friday evening the Manual Arts Players presented two one-act plays, "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," and "A Cup of Tea." Also on the program were musical selections by a freshman girls' quartet, Hawaiian student trio, and the college choir. Movies on the home economics and industrial arts program at Stout were also shown.

Saturday's activities for parents' week end included lunch in Tainter hall cafeteria and tours of the dormitories and buildings. Faculty members and guides were on hand in the afternoon to lead visitors and explain the equipment displayed.

The Dad's Day football game against Loras took place on the rainy Saturday evening. Fathers of the Stout football players were honored. After the game students and parents attended the Phi Sig-Tri Sig sponsored Sweetheart dance in the high school gym. Music was by the Rhythm-aires.

After attending the church of their choice, many parents took their leave on Sunday. Parents' week end gave Moms and Dads a wonderful opportunity to become better acquainted with the Stout campus and faculty.

Special credit should be given to members of the "S" club, faculty, and students who made this event possible. Committee chairmen included Patty Jo Hovde, informal coffee hour; Alice Marshall, luncheon; and Ralph Stevens, Mr. Ziemann, and Dr. Lengfeld, Friday night program.

Diane McKinnon Reigns As 1957 Rose Queen In Ninth Annual Sig Tau Sponsored Dance

DIANE MCKINNON

Chosen as the 1957 Rose queen has been Mrs. Diane McKinnon, wife of SSA treasurer Bill McKinnon. She was picked to reign over the ninth annual Rose dance sponsored by the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity.

Diane will be crowned queen during intermission at the big dance tomorrow night. Festivities start at 8:30 p.m., and will last until 12:30 a.m. Dorm hours have been extended until 1:00 a.m. Admission to this first all school formal has been set at $2.00 per couple.

The Rose queen is selected because she is either pinned, engaged, or married to a member of Sigma Tau Gamma. Besides this, she must be active in the supporting of the college and the fraternity.

Intermission at the dance will feature, in addition to the crowning of the queen, a grand march of the queen, her court, and the fraternity members and their dates. The other two members of the court are Mrs. Jean Hoffman and Mrs. Cynthia Ebert.

A pre-Rose dance for the Sig Taus and their dates will be held at the fraternity house. At this point the long evening will begin and the dates of the members will be presented with favors instead of flowers.

Invited as guests have been Mr. and Mrs. Paul Axelson, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Face, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Halfin.

This dance marks the opening of the winter social season at Stout. To repeat, this is the first all school dance, so get your arm around that favorite beau and don't miss this important event.

General chairman for the dance is Thomas Rosenthal. Working under his supervision are John Kasten, publicity; Don Stoddard, punch; Ralph Stevens, pre-party; Jim Kogler and Allen Fennell, tickets; and Dick Dignon, decorations.

FRYKLUND REPRESENTS DISTRICT AT NCA MEET

As a commissioner of colleges and universities for District B of the North Central Association of Colleges and secondary schools, Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout state college, recently participated in deliberations of the commission to plan revisitation by North Central representatives of colleges and universities under its jurisdiction.

District B of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is composed of 16 Midwestern states. The visitation and appraisal of eligible public and private institutions of higher learning in those states is an on going endeavor of the commission, with review and evaluation of member colleges constantly in progress.

In addition to Dr. Fryklund, another Wisconsin state college administrator is a member of the commission, Dr. E.H. Kleinpwell, president of the Wisconsin state college at River Falls.

HARVEY ELEVATOR WAS INACTIVE DUE TO CABLE

The cause of the temporary shutdown of the elevator in Harvey hall was due to the excessive wear to the elevator cable. The state inspector of elevators took the elevator out of service until a new cable was obtained and installed last week.

Now the new cable is in place and the elevator is back in service.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Fighting his way through the dense, jabbering mob, the hapless freshman finally reached open space and fresh air. He turned around to see from whence he had come after being swallowed up by the mob. "Oh yes, now I remember," he thought, "I was on my way to the elevator when that group of girls bumped into me."

"After that, there was nothing that I could do because the mob was rushing and pushing and it was impossible to get out because no one would step aside."

Of course, the above story is not entirely true, but it could be. Have you recently tried to walk through Harvey hall between classes? Well, if you have, you might be able to relate a similar story.

The elevator seems to be the favorite crowding place for half of Stout's student body, although stairs and corners also seem to be very popular. Is this some sort of new fad?

Could it be, that inconsideration has come to our campus in this form of thoughtless congregation, or is this some sort of new sport (seeing how many people you can block out)?

Whatever the reason for this unnecessary blocking of hallways and stairways is, it has got to cease. Not only is it a frustrating thing to try and get around a group of gals or guys, but it may cause a few accidents before long. Let's see if this nuisance can't be overcome, and if order can be restored to the corridors of Harvey hall.

CLUB NEWS

Have you had your taste buds tested? The members of the Dietetic club and the girls from the institution food preparation class had an opportunity to take a taste-test which was one of the features at the Minnesota Restaurant Association's show held at the Hotel Leamington in Minneapolis. After the tastees wandered from booth to booth sampling food and seeing some of the displayed equipment, they had a taste of Chinese food at Nakins.

In the afternoon the girls were the guests of General Mills for a tour of the Betty Crocker kitchens. They visited the Early American dining rooms and colorful and charming kitchens with their home-type conveniences.

The weekly meeting of the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity was held last Thursday with Bob Krejcie presiding in the absence of Pat Spielman who is off campus teaching.

Final preparations were made for the car wash which was held Saturday. Phil's Standard again was the scene of the wash.

Decorative colors were again the main topics with regard to the annual Sweetheart dance. It is hoped that everyone who attended the dance had a very enjoyable evening.

Rick Steckel received proper congratulations from the paddle of Jim O'Bryon, for his birthday which was on Wednesday.

The Delta Zeta sorority celebrated "Little Peanut Week" this past week. Its activities followed the same traditions set by the Hyperion sorority

SUPT. EXPLODES RISING GROWTH IN DELINQUENCY

A Wisconsin city superintendent of schools exploded over juvenile delinquency in his community.

"Within the last few years truancy has increased to an alarming extent," he wrote to the state superintendent of public instruction. "The rapid growth of our city makes me fear further increase."

"Parents seem totally indifferent to their children's habits," he complained. "Whether their children run the streets or attend school, they are equally satisfied."

He claimed that teachers fail to exert any good influence over such pupils. Parents seem deaf to their obligations, he charged.

"It is sad to think," he wrote "that in this enlightened period, in a city crowded with churches, in a community that generously supports a good school system, young people grow up in ignorance and vice."

This was his suggestion: that youthful offenders be arrested as vagrants and tried at police court.

"We just cannot allow children to fit themselves for lives of indolence and crime," he said. "They become a serious expense to society in providing police to watch them, courts to try them, and prisons to hold them."

There was no official answer from the office of George Watson, state superintendent of public instruction.

"I consider it useless to argue the charges," said Superintendent Watson with a smile.

He was right, of course. The critical city superintendent who wrote the letter is dead and so are all of the delinquent pupils who plagued him. The letter is a part of the annual school reports for the year 1867.

SWEETHEART DANCE IS WEEK-END HIGHLIGHT

Green and white streamers and a huge tinfoil heart decorated the Menomonie high school gym for the annual Sweetheart dance co-sponsored by Sigma Sigma Sigma and Phi Sigma Epsilon last Saturday evening. Those in attendance entered the gym through picture frame doors.

"Let Me Call You Sweetheart," general theme of the dance, was chosen with both parents and students in mind. Music was furnished by Chuck Mehl's "Rhythmairs" from Eau Claire.

Freshman Bruce Rady was the recipient of "Lover" the cuddly toy dog which has become a Sweetheart dance tradition. Each year "Lover" is given to the holder of the lucky number in a drawing made at the dance.

Sweethearts through the ages, whether parents or students, thoroughly enjoyed this annual Tri-Sigma-Phi Sig event marking the end of the 1957 football season and "Parents' Weekend" activities.

Or, as the Londoner said, "Welcome to our mist."

ADVISOR - ADVISEE MEET DURING CONVO PERIOD

Advisor-advisee conferences have been included in the schedule again this year. The first pair of meetings was held October 23rd and 30th. Future meetings are scheduled for the following dates: December 4th and 11th; March 5th and 12th; April 30th and May 7th.

Five main purposes are to be met by the advisor-advisee meetings: 1. To provide a time when advisors and advisees can get together without interference from other activities. 2. To improve the counseling service for students. 3. To enable faculty members to provide better instruction which can come from a better knowledge of students. 4. To provide students with an opportunity to acquaint the faculty members and administration with their needs. 5. To emphasize that education includes social and personal development as well as intellectual growth.

A few changes have been made in the program this year in order to improve the service to students. Outside talent will be brought to the campus to assist in the orientation of students to the world of work. On December 11th, some industrial personnel workers will be here to talk with students about opportunities in industrial and business positions. The Graduate Studies department will acquaint students with graduate work at Stout and elsewhere at the March 12th meeting. On May 7th it has been suggested that seniors be briefed on the offerings of the division in which they have not taken work so that they can be more helpful after graduation to prospective students. Students are invited to inform the Student Personnel office of other group guidance services which are desired. Last year the meeting with officers from the armed forces was started by a student suggestion.

All shops, laboratories, and classrooms not used for advisor-advisee meetings will be closed during the 9:30 period on the dates listed at the opening of this article so that no interference is provided with the group and individual interviews. The library will remain open, however, so those who do not have interviews can use their time profitably.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

Sigma Sigma Sigma, the first national sorority on the Stout campus, was organized in 1952. Previous to this time the group was known as Phi Lambda Theta, the first local sorority here.

Tri Sigma members are sophomores, junior or senior women who have maintained a "C" average or better. Transfers are eligible after being enrolled at Stout for one semester. Members are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and strong womanly character.

Membership in Beta Pi, Stout's chapter, is limited to 40. However, 52 college chapters and 102 alumni chapters are located throughout the 48 states, Hawaii, and the District of Columbia. On campus, busy Tri Sigmas may be identified by their lavender sweaters, Tri Sigma sweatshirts, or the triangle badge.

During the Homecoming weekend, a breakfast is served to members and visiting alumna. Sponsoring a queen contestant is another early fall activity. Each year there's a Tri Sigma float in the parade.

October 30 was the date for the Halloween tea. Black witch earrings, black sweaters and skirts, and a halloween atmosphere trademark this event held annually in Harvey memorial.

The Sweetheart dance, an annual affair, is co-sponsored by Tri Sigma and Phi Sigma Epsilon, the brother fraternity. This year, it was scheduled for November 2 following the football game. Lover, a stuffed animal, was given away during the dance.

In December, members of Tri Sigma attend the Christmas Ball which is sponsored annually by Panhellenic. A Christmas sale, held in the Harvey memorial corridor is another activity. Gifts of many kinds are featured.

Second semester activities begin with a Panhellenic rush party and Stunt night.

Founder's Day is celebrated on April 20, each year in honor of the eight women who founded Tri Sigma at Longwood college, Farmville, Virginia in 1898. Sigma traditions are in evidence during the banquet and the serenade which follows it.

May activities are a dinner dance and Senior Send-Off. During the summer a picnic is held.

Throughout the year, Sigmas may be seen and heard campaigning for their contestants for Homecoming queen, winter carnival queen and SSA office. Serenading is done at these times and on other special occasions.

Pledges are initiated twice a year. During one day of each pledge season, Tri Sigma exchanges pledges with the Phi Sigma fraternity.

With these activities in mind and the many more which are added throughout the year, Tri Sigmas are looking forward to a busy and rewarding year at Stout state college.

Carrying his hiking gear, Ronald Bergman is shown during one of his few stops he made while hiking 96 miles in five days.

RONALD BERGMAN, SOPHOMORE, COMPILED 96 MILES DURING SUMMER JAUNT TO BRILLION

Did you ever walk 96 miles in five days? Ronald Bergman, a sophomore at Stout state college, did just that this summer when he hiked from Gardiner Dam Boy Scout camp, thirty miles north of Shawano, to his home in Brillion.

After completing four days journey, he had this to say to a Milwaukee Journal reporter as he rested his legs: "I didn't think they'd make it," he said. "They've been tightening up." The next day he finished the hike.

Ever since he earned his merit badge for hiking, Ronald has wondered what it would be like to walk to camp — a distance of 96 miles. This summer he did it in reverse. He plodded along the highway starting on Sunday, August 11, wearing shorts, knee socks, heavy shoes, a straw hat, T shirt and carrying a knapsack and a wooden walking stick.

The first day he made 30 miles to Shawano. Then the next day a nine mile hike took him to Bonduel. After trudging 18 miles Tuesday he spent the night in Black Creek and then walked the 16 miles to Appleton, Wednesday. Friday he finished his journey.

Because of the blisters on his feet he has been wearing three pair of stockings at once. His feet were sore but he did manage to make the distance to his Calumet county home without any rides.

His mother says he has always been quite a walker, taking 20 mile hikes near his home.

The son of a Brillion electrician, Ronald is a drafting major in industrial education.

In 1955, Ronald and a dozen other fellows walked 75 miles in 10 days while on a visit to New Mexico.

The Brillion youth has been a staff member at the Valley Council camp. During the state fair, he was a tent leader. However, he didn't walk to Milwaukee. —The above article was taken from the Brillion News originally printed in the Milwaukee Journal. —Photo courtesy Seymour Press

GRIDDERS END SEASON WITH .438 RECORD

Last Saturday brought to a close the 1957 football season at Stout state college. The Bluedevils finished the season with a .300 conference percentage, and a .438 overall record.

Stout journeyed to Winona for their first contest of the season and overcame a 13-0 halftime deficit to defeat the Peds, 20-13.

Eau Claire was the gridders' next victim as they fell to the Bluedevils, 20-0, in Stout's home opener.

Journeying to River Falls, Stout lost its first game of the season 20-6.

Homecoming also proved disastrous as La Crosse ruined the day by

SIDELINE SLANTS

... With Bob Papas

From Harry Miller, student director of intramurals, comes the following information on the winter program for intramurals.

As the football season draws to a close, the time arrives when we should survey the coming of winter sports on our campus. Skimming through the program that has already been set up by Ray C. Johnson, athletic director, and Harry Miller, student director of intramurals, we find the following summaries.

WRESTLING
A new varsity sport will appear on our campus this year. For the first time, wrestling will be considered as a varsity area. Several intercollegiate matches have been arranged. Anyone who wants to go out for this sport should sign up on the athletic bulletin board. Dick Tepp is this year's coach.

SWIMMING
Swimming will be offered on the intramural level this year. It is hoped winning 30-6.

Third place Whitewater received a surprise from an underdog Bluedevil squad, as Stout fought to a scoreless tie in the rain at Nelson Field.

Superior wasn't ready to make the same mistake, however, as they downed Stout 20-12 in the conference finale at Superior.

The Bluedevils then journeyed to Northland where they posted their last victory of the season 8-0.

Dad's Day, 1957, found the close of the season as Loras college of Dubuque, Iowa, downed the Bluedevils 31-0.

Stout thus finished the season with a total of 72 points as compared to 114 for their opponents.

that swimming will be built up enough this year so that it can become a varsity sport next year. Some intercollegiate meets are being scheduled this year.

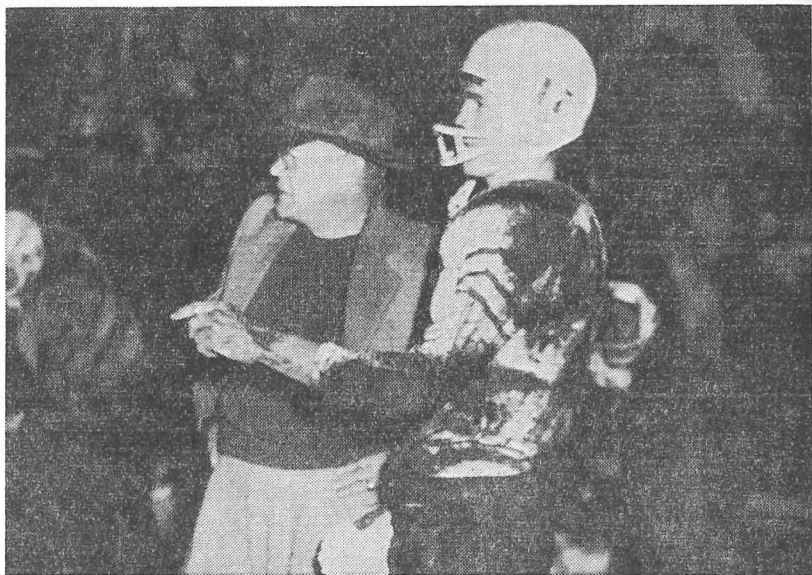

JUDO
For the first time in the history of Stout, judo will be offered on the intramural level. Ernie Oyama will hold down the mat as instructor.

BADMINTON
Badminton will be offered on three levels of competition, these being: Men's singles, men's doubles, and mixed doubles.

VOLLEYBALL
The volleyball season is near at hand. Two areas of competition will be opened this year, these are: Men's six man teams and mixed three man and three woman teams. Squads in each area must consist of eight players.

The athletic bulletin board contains more information on the above sports. You are urged to check it and to turn out for these sports. The students of Stout are indeed fortunate to have such a varied program available.

Anyone who would like to become an area manager of any intramural sport is invited to leave his name with Mr. Johnson or Harry Miller. Area managers are needed in the following activities for this year: Basketball, badminton, volleyball, table tennis, and bowling. They are also needed for spring activities.

BLUEDEVILS END SEASON WITH MUDDY LOSS TO LORAS; DUHAWKS OFFENSE IS DECIDING FACTOR

Battling through a rainy, dreary night, in the final game of the season, Stout came out on the short end of a muddy 31-0 score. The game was held last Saturday at Nelson field against Loras college.

The ground attack of the Duhawks and a few perfectly timed breaks proved the deciding factor. On the ground Loras out gained the Bluedevils 298 to 26 yards. The air attack for both teams was quite even, however, as Stout completed 5 out of 11 for 61 yards, and Loras hit on 4 out of 8 for 69 yards.

Loras' first break came in the second half when they recovered a fumble on the Stout 37 and six plays later the Duhawks led 7-0.

While the first half proved to be comparatively even, the second thirty minutes proved disastrous for the Bluedevils. Not once was Stout able to muster a first down.

Loras scored twice in each of the final two periods with two of their tally's resulting from vital fourth down penalties against the Bluedevils.

Glen Harke led the Stout offensive attack averaging three yards per carry. Captain Dick Tepp and Jim Nadeau provided outstanding performances.

A sparkling scene from Saturday's Rose dance is captured shortly after the crowning of Queen Diane McKinnon. On her left is Jeanne Hoffman, and on her right, Cynthia Ebert, both members of the court.

DIANE MCKINNON CROWNED ROSE QUEEN AT NINTH SIG TAU SPONSORED ROSE DANCE ON SATURDAY

With Mrs. Diane McKinnon reigning as queen, the ninth annual Sigma Tau Gamma sponsored Rose Dance was held last Saturday evening in the high school gym. Mrs. Jeanne Hoffman and Mrs. Cynthia Ebert made up the queen's court.

Diane was selected as Rose queen by the fraternity members. She is the wife of Bill McKinnon. Diane is also active in supporting the fraternity and the college. She was enrolled as a student at Stout until last June, having completed two years before becoming a housewife. The queen is a member of the Pallas Athene sorority.

Intermission consisted of a grand march and coronation of Queen Diane. The court preceded the queen-elect up to the throne through an aisle formed by the fraternity members and their dates. Mr. Herman Arneson, advisor crowned Diane as the 1957 Rose queen with a wreath of white roses. Following the coronation, the fraternity members serenaded the queen with their "Rose Song."

Highlighting of the decorations was a wishing pond with water streaming down a rock waterfall. Blue and white crepe paper streamers decorated the dance floor, forming false walls. The small stuffed animal favors presented to the dates of the Sig Taus were arranged on one wall on shelves that formed the greek symbols of the fraternity.

STOUT'S 1957 'TOWER' WINS NCP FIRST RATING

According to information released by the National Collegiate association, the Tower, official Stout state college publication, received a first class rating in 1957 national competition.

The NCP is an association which critically examines and constructively criticizes any yearbook submitted to the group. The Tower was entered in a class including colleges with enrollments of 1001-2000. Students and administration can be proud of the results of the work of the 1957 staff which was headed by Carl Smith, editor; Kathleen Ritzman, associate editor; Richard Vogtsberger, production manager; Patricia Soldner, literary editor; Wilbur Hanson, business manager; and Thomas Pagle and Thomas Munro, assistant literary editors. Dr. David P. Barnard and Dr. Norman O. W. Adams were faculty advisors of the '57 Tower.

While the officers are responsible for the coordination of the efforts of the staff, a large share of the credit for the quality of the book must be placed upon the staff members who did such things as write stories and type copy. Not to be forgotten are the student photographers who took pictures to provide pictorial record of the school year.

The staff of the 1958 Tower is striving to maintain the record made by last year's staff. Richard Vogtsberger heads the staff which includes Patricia Soldner, associate editor; James Kogler, production manager; Ellwyn Hendrickson, literary editor; Loren Johnson, production manager; Thomas Pagle and Thomas Munro, assistant literary editors. Mr. John H. Wills is working with Dr. Barnard as advisor to the group.

SSA GOV. BOARD TO HOLD FIRST OPEN MEETING

Acquainting students with the operation of their student government is the primary purpose of the first in a series of open governing board meetings. Pete Jackson, SSA president, announces that the first open meeting will be held in room 411 of Harvey hall, Tuesday, November 19, at 7 p.m.

"We hope to give students a better understanding of the functions of the Stout Student Association governing board and initiate increased participation in student issues in the future," according to president Jackson of the association.

The student president goes on to explain that the first meeting will be conducted as all regular business meetings of the board are conducted, but audience participation and exchange of ideas is encouraged at future open meetings.

However, if a student has a question or topic he would like discussed at the November 19 meeting, the board encourages him to submit his topic in writing in specific terms to the SSA office at least 48 hours before the meeting.

UMOC CONTEST CLOSSES POLLS AT 5 TODAY; VOTE!

The time is running out. Yes, you only have five more hours to cast your vote for the Ugly Man on Campus. The poles will close at 5:45 p.m. sharp, so be sure to get in those last minute votes.

If everyone were to vote ten times we would get approximately one hundred dollars. At the university of California, the students took in $6,696.87 for a new record in UMOG contests. Let's see what Stout can do!

The dance scheduled for Saturday, November 16 has been cancelled. The Ugly Man will remain a mystery for one week. At the end of this time the winner will be announced at the dance sponsored by the Delta Zeta sorority and the APO chapter. The winning Ugly Man will be presented with an Ugly Man trophy and the name of the winning organization will be placed on a plaque. This plaque will be placed in the new student union when it is built. The name of each year's winner will then be added.

So, don't forget to get in those last minute votes. We'll see you at the dance on November 23.

Members of the dance committee are: Mary Reulhland and Sandy Richards, general chairmen; Gene Kirscht and Jim Herr, publicity; Virgil Gottwalt, music; Mike Brennan, lighting; Mary Tickler, refreshments; and Greg Trzebiatowski, clean-up.

Set this night aside now for the mid-semester mixer.

WOMEN'S DORMS HOLD OPEN HOUSE TONIGHT

Visitors will be welcomed from 7:30-9:00 p.m., Friday, November 15. Following the tours through the two buildings guests are invited to attend a social gathering in the lounge of Tainter hall where refreshments will be served and entertainment provided.

The girls are combining a party with their open house for the first time this year. Everyone is invited to come to the lounge of Tainter hall where there will be dancing and special entertainment. Cookies and punch will be served by the girls to their guests.

Students who have leading roles in "Outward Bound," forthcoming fall play to be presented by the dramatics organization of Stout state college, practice a little stage business in preparation for opening night. The players, who will be seen on the stage of Stout auditorium the evenings of November 21-23, are (L-R) Yvonne Hammer, Bayport, Minnesota; Alice Phelan and Keith Halverson, both of Menomonie; and Paul Paulson, Ripon.

MANUAL ARTS PLAYERS' PRODUCTION OF 'OUTWARD BOUND' OPENS HERE THURSDAY NIGHT AT 8

"It is a deeply impressive play with all-engrossing characters and the accentuation of the mysterious hovering over it like a mist," wrote the critics concerning the intriguing three act drama of "Outward Bound," to be presented by the Manual Arts Players, November 21, 22, and 23, in Harvey hall auditorium at 8 p.m.

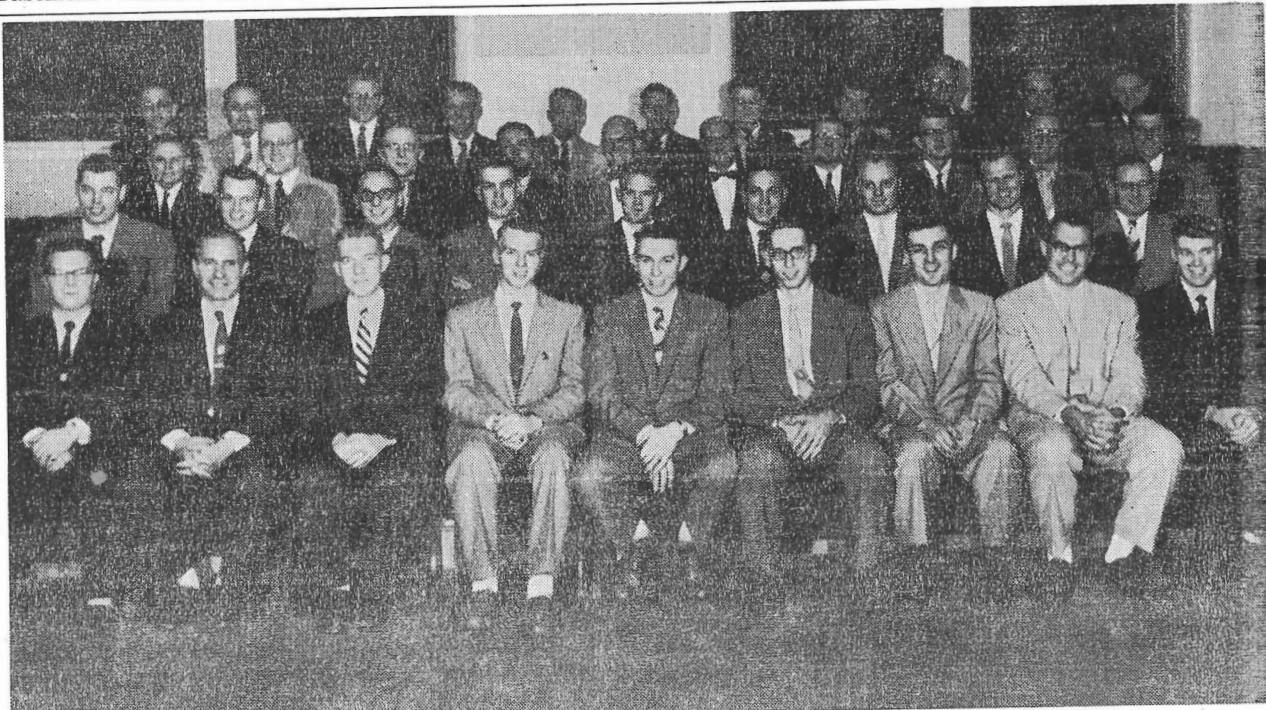

"Outward Bound" was first produced in London, and later in New York with Alfred Lunt in the cast. It is an unusual story dealing with common human hopes, fears, and affections. Outward bound on an ocean liner are seven passengers who know not where they go nor why. There are philosophic questions about heaven and hell in this play of suspense and surprise.

When Warner Brothers produced this play, Leslie Howard was cast in his initial speaking role. Dudley Digges played in both the stage play and the motion picture. The play was chosen as one of the ten best in the Burns Mantle listing of the year.

Although the author, Sutton Vane, wrote the drama after his experiences in World War I, the story of these characters sailing the mysterious sea cannot be assigned to a specific era. They are as meaningful today as they were yesterday.

The production is nearing readiness. Tickets will soon be available. S.S.A. members will be admitted free upon presentation of their cards. Adult tickets for "Outward Bound" will be sold for $.75.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Government by the students, for the students, and of the students! Every student who is enrolled at Stout state college is a member of the student association and is represented on a governing board by a selected few who have been nominated and elected by these same members of the SSA.

Whether it be matters of school, state, or national concern, government is everyone's business. Because the governing board is of interest to all Stout students, the board wants to show those it represents just how this body operates.

The first of a planned series of open governing board meetings will be held in room 411 of Harvey hall on Tuesday, November 19, at 7 p.m. This will be a regularly scheduled business meeting and will be conducted as such.

In what better way can underclassmen, especially freshmen, in the beginning of their college career, learn and understand the system that their student government uses, and their rights and powers as represented by this board?

Government by representation and the satisfaction of the majority are precious privileges men and women have fought and died for for centuries. This privilege is not to be ignored! It then falls upon the shoulders of you, the student body, to show your interest in this ruling body.

Young people need to show their gratitude and respect for this precious privilege while they are in college by supporting their rights in student government and exercising the ideals of that government.

Students realize many wants and needs from day to day. These can be and must be satisfied through support of the student government. It shall be interesting to note on the attendance at this open governing board meeting just how many of Stout state college's students are concerned with their own welfare and, more important, how many are democratically minded.

CLUB NEWS

Schedule of teams for inter-club competition was set up, pistol trap is ready for use, postal matches, and a match with Superior were items of discussion and importance in the meeting of the Rifle club on Wednesday, November 6, in the upper gym.

Members were placed on one of four teams for inter-club competition according to their skill in shooting.

With the help of our club advisor, Mr. Klatt, a pistol trap was set up in the left corner of the gym.

Postal matches were discussed and everyone thought it would be a good idea to have a few throughout the year.

The members decided to send Superior an invitation to participate in a match with them.

Tri Sigma sorority girls are busy making articles for their annual Christmas sale. The large variety of hand-made articles, which make excellent Christmas gifts, will be on sale in the corridor of Harvey hall beginning December 9.

Other matters of business discussed at their weekly meeting included the plans for decorations for the Intersorority Ball of which Tri Sigma is in charge.

Plans and preparations for National Inspection were made and a report was given on the sorority's national social service project.

Ruth Thomas, Joan Wonoski, and Jermaine Folkman were hostesses

Friday evening at an informal gathering for all the Tri Sigma members and pledges.

Plans for the annual Thanksgiving dinner and pledging activities were the main items of business at the Palas Athene meeting held on November 7, at 7:30 p.m. in room 10 of the library.

Pledging for the 1957 first semester will soon be culminated. The formal completion is to occur near Thanksgiving vacation time.

The girls and their guests met in the tea room of Tainter hall last Monday evening for the Thanksgiving dinner.

Wednesday evening November 6, the Alpha Sigma Alpha pledges entertained the pledges and advisors of the other sororities at a Pink Tea. The tea was held in the tea room of Bertha Tainter hall from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. The girls were arrayed in pink dresses in keeping with the pink theme.

At the regular business meeting Thursday evening the Alphas discussed plans for their Founder's Day ceremony and activities. The ceremony will be held in the tea room of the dormitory Thursday, November 14, with a coffee hour following.

Remember kids—there are only 27 more shopping days until Christmas. We will still be happy to accept magazine subscriptions.

HURDLES FACE STATE COLLEGE TEEN STUDENTS

There are three hurdles the high school student must clear to enter one of the 10 state colleges of Wisconsin.

(1) He must graduate from high school in the upper three-fourths of his class. (2) He must have a recommendation by his high school principal. (3) He must have studied for a little more than half of his time in high school in three or more of the fields of English, foreign language, mathematics, history, or science.

The three hurdles are not on the academic track as obstacles only. Each has a reason.

Successful completion of high school is the best predictor of college success. The better a student does in high school the better his chances are of making a success of college. The opposite is, unfortunately, also true.

The high school principal who has watched the student's progress over a four-year course of study is best qualified to recommend or refuse him a chance to run a similar four-year course in college.

And the five academic fields provide a high school course which most nearly resembles the college track on which the student must run. If he made satisfactory progress in these areas in high school, then he will probably be able to advance in college.

Two questions keep popping up as college enrollments swell to double and triple their "normal" size. Will more hurdles be added to limit enrollment? Will the present hurdles be raised to limit the number of students able to clear them?

The answer to both questions is, "no." The state colleges are not considering bigger and better hurdles to block Wisconsin students.

There will be no academic walls built in Wisconsin to halt capable students in their race toward college graduation.

Plans were laid for a guided tour of the University of Minnesota Hospital and Dayton kitchens which the club is taking on November 16. Sophomore girls interested in dietetics as a profession are welcome to go on this trip.

The various committees for the Delta Zeta dance of November 23, are preparing for that event. The mixer is being held after the final performance of the MAP play. Kathy Krupp is the newly elected Philanthropic chairman. Her duties will include keeping the members of DZ at Stout up to date on the various funds and philanthropies of Delta Zeta.

ORGANIZATION FORMS FOR MARRIED STUDENTS

A splendid opportunity for married couples to participate together in a church and school connected organization is the theme of a proposed organization of the married Lutheran Students Association.

This is an organization whose purpose is to enable married couples to become better acquainted with fellow married couples through spiritual and social fellowship.

The meetings themselves will consist of a devotional service, social hour and a delicious lunch. Bible study, pot-luck suppers, movies, picnics, and hayrides are just a few of the many activities that are now being planned.

Meetings will be scheduled once a month. The first meeting is November 23rd at 7:30 in Our Savior's Lutheran Church which is located at 9th street and 10th avenue.

Advisors of this newly founded organization are Intern Paul Christenson, of Our Savior's and Jack Sampson, instructor at Stout state college.

VAN NESS TO ATTEND NOV. TEXTILE MEETING

Miss Hazel Van Ness, associate professor of home economics at Stout state college, will represent Stout at two forthcoming educational gatherings. Early in November she will be the Stout delegate to the Wisconsin Educational association meeting.

On November 13-16 Miss Van Ness will travel to Urbana, Illinois, to attend the Conference of College Teachers of Textiles and Clothing taking place at the University of Illinois. In attendance will be college teachers of clothing from the central U. S.

"The Forward Look for Textiles and Clothing in College Teaching and Research" will be the theme of the meeting. Under discussion will be new teaching trends in the application of sociological, psychological and economic considerations to college teaching and research in the areas of textiles and clothing.

A number of outstanding leaders, including Dr. Day Monroe and others, will lead discussion groups during the meeting.

NEWS OF OUR ALUMNI

Mrs. Helen Trader, B.S. 1931, was recently appointed to the faculty of the University of Minnesota. Mrs. Trader, who is a native of Cobb, Wisconsin, has taught at Boscobel and Bloomington high school, and West Allis, Wisconsin vocational and adult classes.

After a busy year of studying French language, literature, and history, Martin Braaten, B.S. 1956, is now in the French Camerouns, West Africa, teaching in the French secondary school system of the French Overseas Territories. During the summer months he will be working in the fields of mechanics and woodworking, learning the technical terms and studying the French methods. From his observation, Martin says "The French are far behind the United States in the field of industrial education."

It's a girl, Laurie Jean, for the Rudolph Wegners, B.S. 1946. Mrs. Wegner is the former Ardis Cyr, also from Stout. They reside at 4342 South Adams street, Milwaukee 7, Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bartling, M.S. 1954, announce the arrival of twin girls on November 4. They reside at 8145 Aberdeen court, Wauwatosa, Wisconsin.

A 1956 dietetic graduate of Stout state college, Second Lieutenant Barbara F. Rushing, has been named a staff dietitian at Brook Army Hospital, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, according to an announcement of Major Martha E. Moseman, chief of the training section of the food service division at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Miss Rushing recently completed her dietetic internship at Walter Reed Army Hospital. In a letter to Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of the school of home economics at Stout state college, Major Moseman complimented Second Lieutenant Rushing on her work at

Walter Reed and said: "Our staff of dietitians felt that it was a pleasure to have Lieutenant Rushing participate in our dietetic internship and hope that we shall have another one of your students in our program."

Lieutenant Rushing's dietetic internship prepared her to accept the responsibilities of a dietitian in the United States Army and in the profession of dietetics. She received classroom instruction and on-the-job training in institution management and organization, professional ethics, menu planning, food procurement, financial management, equipment management, varied types of specialized nutrition and similar relevant phases of dietetics.

TRI SIGMA ALUMNAE

All alumnae of Sigma Sigma Sigma will be given the Circle Degree of this national sorority on Saturday, November 23, between 2:00 and 4:00 at the home of Mrs. Guy Salyer, 401 Second street West. Mrs. Chester D. Kyle of Dearfield, Illinois, who will be in Menomonee for the national inspection of the college chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma, will give the degree.

As many Sigma Sigma Sigma alumnae as possible are asked to be present for the degree. A luncheon for all alumnae will precede the degree service at the Harbor Inn at 1:00.

Sigma Sigma Sigma alumnae in this area have recently formed a chapter. Officers for this group are: Mrs. Robert P. Miller, president; Mrs. Guy Salyer, treasurer; Mrs. James Lentz, secretary. The group will meet monthly for luncheon on second Saturdays.

Besides sponsoring both local and national social service projects, the Menomonee Area Alumnae chapter hopes to be of assistance to the college chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma and to aid the local Panhellenic. The members will be happy to do whatever possible for these groups and ask that their president be contacted if their assistance is desired.

Student: "Sir, I don't think I deserve an absolute zero."
Professor: "I don't think so either, but it's the lowest mark I can possibly give."

PHI OMEGA BETA
The Phi Omega Beta fraternity was founded secretly in 1927 by a group of Stout men when fraternities were forbidden. It was the first fraternity in the history of Stout Institute. Since its beginning, it has gained fame, though not fortune, and has backed and promoted school functions and athletics. In the years since 1927, the F.O.B.'s have won first places in intramural sports, placed officers in the S.S.A., and still found time to serve its own members. The wearing by each member of a black shirt with the white Greek letters for F.O.B. monogrammed over the pocket was initiated in 1953. It attained these heights only by the effort of every member of the F.O.B. It is determined to uphold athletic leadership and social prominence at Stout state college. Qualifications for membership are the following:

1. Obtain a "C" average.
2. Be at Stout at least one semester.
3. Have a co-operative attitude.
4. Be a gentleman.
5. In plainwords, be an all-around "good guy."

SSC PERSONNEL HAVE ARTICLES IN IA MAGAZINE

A number of persons afflicted with Stout state college have features in the November issue of "School Shop" magazine, national professional publication for teachers of industrial education.

"Storing Sheetmetal" is the title of an article by Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of Stout's school of industrial education, and Floyd Keith, head of the department of metalworking. The article and photo describe an efficient, attractive means of storing sheets of metal in a shop.

Wesley S. Sommers, specialist in design at the college has written "Design or Art" for the November issue. In the explanation, Sommers urges shop teachers to be their own design experts.

"Project Tie Clasp" is the collaboration of Dwight D. Chincock, supervisor of student teaching in Stout's school of industrial education and Patrick Spielman, Stout senior. That feature describes an easy-to-make shop project which is an excellent short-term or special incentive undertaking for shop students.

"Well, what do you think of it, Keith," asks Wendell Carlson, left, of Keith Koch. Wendell's car is pictured just after he had rigged it up for another autumn jaunt.

SLEEPING DECK GIVES SMALL CAR NEW LOOK;
ADDITIONAL COMPARTMENTS TO BE ADDED LATER

"A little car for a little man." That could be very appropriately applied to Wendell Carlson, a junior majoring in metals, and his little car, a sleek black Volkswagon. Wendell finds the car very economical and just the answer to his transportation needs.

The possibilities of a Volkswagon first appeared before the little man while he was working with a friend who owned one. A new shiny "mileage maker" came into his possession during his sophomore year at Stout.

Wendell needed a car to get home because of poor bus connections between Menomonee and his home at Peshtigo. Now he goes home at intervals—whenever his clean clothes run out.

The "little car" has big features in it. Wendell and a friend plan to do some traveling after graduation and have remodeled the car to provide economy in points other than just gasoline. During a week and a half of work this past summer, he designed and built sleeping quarters on top of the car.

The top is four feet wide and eight feet long with a ladder extending down to the back bumper for access. It sleeps three "normal" length people quite easily. Wendell believes "it's the closest thing to a home on wheels without pulling a house trailer which the car probably wouldn't do."

The "topside" sleeping tent doesn't slow the car down too much," declares Wendell. "It cuts my top speed about six miles but doesn't affect pick-up at slow speeds noticeably."

An air mattress is inflated to sleep on. The tent can be folded down ready for travel, without deflating the mattress in about three minutes.

Wendell's plans for the future include another compartment below the first to accommodate a camping stove, small icebox, and food storage.

Parking problems almost fail to exist; "it doesn't take up much room." Wendell remembers the time he went to an air show with several others. A parking lot attendant was about to charge him fifty cents for parking when someone commented that since they were so small, they should get in for half price—it worked.

Wendell also believes it is a morale booster in that people carry along with them a chuckle after seeing "the little car"—with a "little man" inside.

"What is the difference between a vice president and a president?"
"Six G-men on motorcycles."

Manager Bill Geisert equips returning letterman Bob Sorenson with practice gear for this year's basketball squad.

"S" CLUB REMINDS ALL OF LETTER STANDARDS

Here is an important re-run which should be considered by all who are concerned.

Every year at this time, many high school letter sweaters are seen on the Stout campus. This is in rather bad taste and should be considered as impolite.

The "S" club, composed of Bluedevil major monogram winners, requests that all high school letter sweaters not be worn on campus or in town. The sweaters, however, are permissible provided that all numerals and monograms are taken off.

The "S" club realizes that all of you enjoy wearing your high school colors, but it is felt that high school days are over now, and that college life has started.

So, from now on, let's try to remember to comply with the wishes of the "S" club and the student body by leaving the lettered sweaters at home. Come out and win a college letter!

Tonight is the big night. Why? Because it is the beginning of the first jaycee auto show in Menomonie. The big event is being held in the auditorium across from the fairgrounds (Main & 17th Street). Starting time is at 7 p.m. and runs until 10 p.m. Tomorrow it will be open from 2 p.m. until 10 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 10 p.m. Admission for students is 25¢, according to Don Koch, Grad student, and Ken Geske, senior, at Stout, and also members of the jaycee's.

Foreign Cars Too

In addition to 1958 models of every major U.S. manufacturer will be new, foreign sports cars, and even antiques, approximately thirty cars in all. The show will be held in a 9600 sq. ft. heated building so there will be room for all. Refreshments will also be available.

Oil Demonstration

Dick Kasel, senior at Stout, and part of the J.C. publicity, says not to miss the large display of motor oils and demonstrations as to their proper use by major oil company representatives, which will be one of the featured attractions.

KOREAN EDUCATORS VISIT STOUT STATE CAMPUS TO OBSERVE CURRICULUM, TEACHING PROCEDURES

Studying the curriculum and instructional procedures of Stout state college on a recent visit to the Stout campus were Korean educators of the Korean Ministry of Education. Their visit was sponsored by the International Cooperation Administration, in cooperation with the U.S. Office of Education.

Aim of the Koreans' examination of the Stout educational process was to prepare them to develop practical training facilities and to improve teaching practices and administration of Korean technical secondary schools.

War damage to school facilities in Korea has resulted in the necessity of too much theoretical and academic instruction in Korean technical schools. Upon their return to Korea, the visiting educators will help inaugurate an instructor training course in a Korean technical high school and assist the Korean Ministry of Education in revising subject matter and instructional methods.

Workshops and summer courses in trade and industry shop subjects are also planned for other Korean teachers. The visitors to Stout met with Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of the college, and Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of the division of industrial education. The Koreans then went into Stout classrooms, shops and laboratories.

In the visiting group were Byung Ho Kim, of the educational administration of Kyung Nam provincial government, Pusan; Man Ho Kim, of Tong Do technical high school, Seoul; In Kwan Lee, principal of Seoul technical high school; Joon Hyong Lee, secondary supervisor of Kyungbuk province; Chang Soo Aoh, architectural engineer for the Korean Ministry of Education; and Moo Deck Rim, also a technical high school principal.

Accompanying the group were Eugene Flug, instructor in the department of industrial education at the University of Minnesota, on whose campus the tour party spent much time, and Manabu Fukuda, interpreter for the U.S. Department of State.

"And a good time was had by all!" These words apply to all those who attended the open house at Tainter hall on November 15. After a guided tour of the rooms, the visitors were invited to go down to the lounge where entertainment was provided and refreshments were served. Music for dancing was provided by records.

SSA GOVERNING BOARD HOLDS SPECIAL OPEN MEETING; MANY INTERESTING ITEMS DISCUSSED

At 7 p.m. on Tuesday, November 19, the student governing board of Stout state college held their first "open" meeting of this school year in room 411 of Harvey hall. Technically, the term "open" meeting is not accurate since all meetings of the board are open to interested students and faculty. Occasionally, however, the meeting is held in a place which is large enough to accommodate more persons. Regular meetings take place in room 11 of the library.

The attendance at this meeting was not large but much constructive comment was contributed by the audience.

Ralph Stevens, the chairman of the social committee, announced that the SSA is sponsoring an all-school hayride on December 6. He also mentioned the annual Christmas party. Under the direction of this year's sophomore class, the party will be held in the Union and the small gym on Friday, December 13, for 8:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. The orchestra of George Soderberg will be on hand for music.

Two items of business which drew special attention from the audience as well as the board were committee reports on the no-cut system and on the possible establishment of a new award to be presented annually to students outstanding in their service to the school.

Enthusiastic interest and cooperation were displayed by the persons who attended this meeting. Board members expressed satisfaction and hope that student and faculty participation will grow at each future meeting.

MISS G. L. CALLAHAN TO PARTICIPATE IN CONFAB

Acting as a discussant for the round table meeting, "Teaching Mass Communication," at the forthcoming 47th annual convention of the National Council of Teachers of English will be Miss Gertrude L. Callahan, chairman of the department of English at Stout state college. The convention will be held in Minneapolis on November 28-30.

Chairman of the sectional meeting in which Miss Callahan is to participate will be James McCrimmon of the faculty of the University of Illinois. Others who will take part include Wilbur Elston, editorial page editor of the "Minneapolis Star and Tribune"; Richard Braddock, University of Iowa; Robert O'Hara, University of Minnesota; Alice Sterner, Newark, New Jersey, public schools;

LOANS AVAILABLE FOR STATE STUDENTS UNDER WISCONSIN FINANCIAL PROGRAM

Money is available for Stout state college students who require a loan to complete all or a portion of their college education, if they meet the requirements to borrow from the student loan fund of the state of Wisconsin.

Yes, the state is now publicizing the fact that money can be obtained by needy resident students for payment of tuition, fees, and partial maintenance, not to exceed $200 per semester or $1200 for the four year college curriculum.

All loans are dependent upon the student's financial need and academic ability. The financial situation of his parents is also considered in the pre-lending investigation.

The technique of obtaining a student loan is this: Application for such money is made directly to Stout, which in turn judges the scholastic eligibility of the applicant and is responsible for recommending approval of the loan to the Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare. That department in turn arranges for, or makes, an investigation of the student's economic eligibility.

It is worth noting, however, that unmarried students who operate automobiles while attending college will probably have serious difficulty qualifying for a student loan as long as they maintain a car. That regulation is applied less stringently to married students or to those who must commute to the campus.

State-wide publicity on the availability of student loan money was recently provided in a syndicated column written by Thomas J. Lucas, of the

FOB FRATERNITY WINS UMOG CONTEST HERE

NINETEEN WOMEN START OFF CAMPUS TEACHING

Nineteen student teachers in the home economics division are working off-campus from November 11, to December 20.

Mary Ann Spangler and Mary Lou Miller are teaching at Amery; Muriel Erickson and Marvene Nelson, Baldwin; Marion Lohr and Gloria Scholtz, Glenwood City; Mrs. Laura Nass, Mrs. Cynthia Ebert, and Barbara Bender, Medford.

Others include Mary Smith and Beverly Duerkop, Mondovi; Margaret Braun and Kay Ritzman, Neillsville; Pauline Rosenthal and Carol Ann Becker, Onalaska; Billie Jo Braker and Marlene Bublitz, Rice Lake; Susan Harychi and Julia Muenich, Schofield.

Phi Omega Betas Win Contest With Picture of Harry Proctor as Ugly Man

With nominations going at the rate of a penny per vote, it has now been firmly established that the FOB fraternity proudly boasts the ugliest man on campus—according to the recent UMOG contest anyway. Yes, the FOB's have won the Ugly Man on Campus contest!

With a grand total of $88.09 being taken in by the Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, in the first UMOG contest on our campus, the FOB fraternity captured first place ahead of six other entrants. As was previously specified, this money will go to the scholarship committee of APO to be used as an aid fund for upper classmen. However, to this amount, the APO will add $11.91 out of admissions to Saturday's dance, making a grand total of $100.00.

To celebrate the closing of this most successful first time event, a mixer is being sponsored by the Delta Zeta sorority and the APO's. This dance starts at 8:30 p.m. and lasts until 11:30. At 11:30, there will be an intermission when the winner of the UMOG contest will be officially recognized. Other entertainment is scheduled.

SSA SPONSORS HAYRIDE FOR STUDENTS DEC. 6

Plans are now progressing for an all school hayride sponsored by the SSA, Friday, December 6. The hayride will begin at 8 p.m. at Tainter hall.

There will be at least ten wagons pulled by tractors there to take all who plan on going. A tour of the Menomonie countryside will follow for approximately two hours.

Following the ride, the students will be brought back to Tainter hall for coffee and doughnuts. Dancing will last until 12:00 a.m. This event is being sponsored for everyone.

Bill Neverdahl is supervising the countryside tour. The event is being publicized by the pledges of four sororities. Patty Jo Hovde is planning the refreshments and Mike Brennen is in charge of the dance.

The SSA would like to stress that all the students should plan on attending this event. It is the first time that such an activity is being planned for them. Whether or not it is held again depends on the number of students that turn out. Everyone who has an SSA card is paying for this function, since it is being sponsored by the SSA; therefore, they should take advantage of it.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

"The governing board, or the SSA officers, are only as good as the students who back them," stated SSA treasurer Bill McKinnon, last Tuesday night at the open governing board meeting. From the apathetic attendance at this same meeting it would appear that this year's SSA administration is not very good. However, before going any further, let's establish this fact. This year's SSA officers, through extra extremely fine efforts of their own, under trying handicaps, probably form one of the best organizations of their kind since the beginning of student government on the Stout campus.

"... and where were you?" Yes, just where were you last Tuesday night when this meeting was in session? Have you already forgotten all the comments and complaints that you had earlier in the year? Was your time so short or valuable that you just couldn't tear yourself away from that television or movie screen or other similar activity? There undoubtedly exist many varied and interesting reasons or excuses for this lack of attendance, but more than likely, none of them will hold much water.

This open governing board meeting was held for you, the student, and you are a member of the Stout Student Association. It was excellently planned, more than adequately advertised, and yet a mere handful of students showed up. What's more, these were the students who didn't need to be there; they know how the SSA is run. It is you who should have been there.

It now appears that the only course left open by the SSA as well as other organizations who are losing money in sponsoring lackadaisically attended functions will have to be to serve coffee and doughnuts every half hour to get anyone to attend.

CLUB NEWS

Slides of Aspen and a display of new ski equipment took the place of the regular business meeting of the Ski Club on Tuesday, November 5, in the Audio Visual room of the library.

Arnold Dolmer, who owns a ski shop in Eau Claire, brought a large exhibit of sweaters, skis, boots, and poles. He pointed out the advantages of each make and invited everyone to his ski shop in Eau Claire.

He also showed slides of Aspen, a famous ski area, through which he traveled last spring.

"There is service in helping others" was the theme Bob Sheer used at the formal initiation banquet of Alpha Phi Omega. Don Erickson, the pledge master, brought eleven new candidates before the members of APO for their formal initiation rites.

The eleven new members of APO are: Richard Allen, Pat Fitzgerald, Gordon Grotte, James Hansen, Albert Hurling, James Mowers, Allan Trafford, Richard Jimbo, Marvin Johnson, Dave Millihan and James Sinnette.

Following the initiation a banquet was held at Colonial Pines. At the banquet we heard of the losing of one of our members. Pensit Potijinda, who has been active in APO ever since he arrived at Stout, has left the campus. Another APO man, Charles Constantine, has accepted a teaching position in Lincoln Park, Michigan. We would like to say good luck to these two fine members of APO.

Whitewater is the place. Yes, Whitewater, Wisconsin is the place of the national Delta Kappa fall business meeting. On November 22, and 23, all D.K. chapters are to be the guests of Chi Delta chapter of Delta Kappa. Voting delegates of the Sigma chapter of Stout are Bruce Eland and Pete Fulcer. The purpose of the delegates is to cast the Sigmas vote on discussed fraternity problems.

The meeting also enables the local fraternity members to make new social contacts. Expected to be present are representatives of the following chapters: Epsilon, Omicron, Sigma Phi, Phi, Chi Gamma and the Sigmas.

No weekly meeting was held due to the tri-school Phi Sigma Epsilon and Delta Zeta party. Last Wednesday evening three sororities and three fraternities from Eau Claire, River Falls, and Stout met for a "get together." Music, singing and dancing highlighted the party.

Music for the party was provided by Dave Zak with his guitar and Dick Dirschel and his piano accordion. Both fraternities and sororities sang songs followed by a short joke session by the River Falls' Phi Sigs.

TRI SIGMA NATIONAL INSPECTOR ON CAMPUS

Mrs. Chester Kyle, national art chairman for Sigma Sigma Sigma is on the Stout state college campus this week end. The event is national inspection which is part of the triennial plan involving national convention and regional meetings in addition to the personal visit.

This evening, Mrs. Kyle will be attending the M.A.P. play with Tri Sigma members, pledges, and advisors. Later the Sigmas will have dinner together at the Harbor Inn.

Tri Sigma is a national social sorority with chapters throughout the United States. Stout's Beta Pi chapter was the fiftieth to be installed and was the first national sorority on campus.

Throughout the week end Mrs. Kyle will meet with the advisors, officers, committee chairmen, members, and pledges. On Saturday afternoon she will bestow the circle degree on women who have recently organized Stout's alumnae chapter. Late Sunday afternoon, she will travel to Minneapolis for another alumnae meeting and then to her home in Deerfield, Illinois.

tion with the completion of the APO's Ugly Man On Campus contest. The winner will be announced at the intermission of the mixer to be held Saturday night. Patty Jo Hovde, pledge director, supervises the girls in this project as well as others they undertake.

Observing their Founder's Day recently were the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority members and pledges. Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority was founded November 15, 1901, at Longwood college, Farmville, Virginia, by five women who wished to become united in stronger ties than friendship.

Alpha Sigma Alpha came to the Stout campus in the spring of 1951. Thus a national sorority has grown and expanded throughout the United States. Beta Phi chapter was formerly a local sorority known as the SMA society.

In observance of their Founder's Day, the members and pledges dressed in their finest and wore yellow and white baby mum corsages. Thursday evening, November 14, the Alphas held their Founder's Day ceremony and coffee hour in the tea room of Bertha Tainter hall. After the ceremony and coffee hour, the girls serenaded at the two girls' dormitories.

Coming attractions for the Alphas are the formal initiation of pledges November 24, the Panhellenic Christmas Ball December 7, and the sale of magazine subscriptions. There are only 27 shopping days until Christmas.

The YWCA will hold its annual Thanksgiving Breakfast, November 27, at 6:45 a.m., in the club room above the Student Union.

Ruth Stratton is general chairman of the affair which includes a short vesper service.

All Stout college students are invited to attend this cost breakfast. Watch the bulletin board for the "sign up" notice!

A social is planned by Stout Christian Fellowship next Tuesday night at 8:15 to provide part of the group's yearly social program.

Please note the change of day and time brought about by Thanksgiving vacation. Watch the bulletin board for more information concerning the program.

The last meeting of Arts and Crafts was the first semester formal initiation ceremony. Seven candidates were received into the club. The following students were qualified on the virtues of grade point average and the passing of a standardized vocational test: Keith Koch, Bill Hemsey, Rex Peterson, Robert Gannon, Harold De Fosse, Bernard St. Claire and Mike Sueharski.

After the ritual, an informal coffee hour was held to better acquaint the newly elected members with the advisors, officers and club members.

EDUCATION IS NO BARGAIN IN HIGH CIRCLES

There are very few bargains in higher education today. Here's one—3,212 students enrolled in 118 college courses on 71 different "campuses" over Wisconsin at a cost to the state of nothing.

The bargain has been forced on the state colleges by the demands of teachers, principals, and superintendents. They ask for a course to be offered in their community, provide a classroom, and pay a fee sufficient to cover travel, meals, and up to $350 for a college teacher.

Eight Wisconsin state colleges provide the 118 teachers for the 10-year-old extension program. This semester the college professors will travel 131,400 miles to meet with their students.

"The colleges' extension program has grown up almost unnoticed," says Eugene R. McPhee, director of the colleges. "One out of every six of our teachers are involved in off-campus travel and lecturing. They will travel a total mileage equal to five times around the world this semester."

Subjects include most of the college offerings with only technical laboratory courses excluded. Literature, speech, psychology, history, philosophy, sociology, education, economics, geography, mathematics, music, and art are a few of the subjects offered. Classes range in size from 12 to 73 students with an average size of 27.

"We have many more requests for community classes than we can satisfy," says Director McPhee. "There are two heroes in the program, the students who come long distances after a day of work to study and learn, and our college faculty members who travel as far as 100 miles from home to offer the courses."

The growth of the state college extension program has been tremendous. This year there are 1,000 more students than last year taking advantage of one of the few remaining educational bargains.

JOKES

The summer guest was complaining, "Your advertisement distinctly said that there was a sting in the air after sundown."

"Well, sir," said the host, "can't you feel those mosquitoes?"

"If I refuse to marry you," whispered the sweet young thing, "will you really commit suicide?"

"That," answered the rejected suitor, "is what I usually do in these cases."

The Joneses were fighting again with words. Mr. Jones grew tired of her yacking, so he issued a warning—"Careful woman, or you will bring out the beast in me."

"What of it?" she sneered, "who's afraid of mice?"

ANNA GURUSAMY, PAST STUDENT, WRITES IN APPRECIATION OF YEAR AT STOUT

I sailed from Los Angeles on the 24th of August, and had a very pleasant trip, on the whole. In all, there were ten passengers on board the ship. All were women with the exception of a 14 year old boy, and a 3½ year old boy. In spite of it we had loads of fun. I amused myself quite a bit with the children and watched the others play cards, bingo and dice. Other times we read books or else gazed at the wide wide ocean and observed the beautiful sun-rise and sun-sets. For three whole weeks we felt quite lonely on the sea because for days on end we did not see any land, neither did we pass any other ships. It just gave us the feeling that we were really all, all alone in a wide wide sea.

On the 13th of September we reached Manila in the Philippine Islands. Our ship stayed here for three days for they were unloading a lot of wheat flour here. Because of this we were able to go all around and see some of the interesting sights there. I went to a Catholic Church and saw an organ made only with Bamboo's. It was done in the 19th century. All of us who saw it were quite fascinated by it. A man played the song "Ava Maria" on it, and the sound was just wonderful. I also visited the new war memorial cemetery where more than 25,000 American soldiers are buried. What fascinated me most was to see every state in the U.S.A. represented there. The graves all had crosses on them and no matter from what direction you looked it was still very straight. It is on a hill and is a very beautiful view.

After Manila we stopped at two other ports in the Philippines. We just spent a few hours in these places. On the whole the Philippines still hasn't recovered from the effects of the last war. There were many traces of poverty, but the people seemed very hospitable. Transportation is very different. They still had horse carriages, and I took a ride in one of them but was so scared that I would fall off because I wasn't used to it.

After leaving the Philippines we headed for Hong Kong. We were not very fortunate because we got into the midst of two typhoons. One was ahead of us, and the other was behind us and we and the ship just rocked and rolled from side to side. The experience of it I shall never forget. Not a thing remained in place on board, and even passengers had to hold on to anything for dear life. All of us were hurt in some way or other but not too seriously. For three days we suffered, and when we got to Hong Kong we were glad to be alive to tell our tale of woe.

When we got in, we heard that four ships had capsized but we saw only one that had been battered up against the rocks. This typhoon was one of the worst they've had for nine years and it not only caused a lot of damage to our ship but also the city of Hong Kong.

Hong Kong was a very beautiful city and we found that it was worth while all the trouble we had in getting there. The city, like Duluth, Minnesota, is built on a hillside and at night it was like a beautiful jewel box with all the lights glittering. We stayed in Hong for three days and had a grand time sight seeing. Things here are very cheap. The city is neat and clean and people spoke English and were very nice to us.

After leaving Hong Kong it was just plain sailing til we reached Singapore, but all the same, we talked and talked about our typhoon experience and relived it many times. At Singapore my father and cousins were there to meet me. It was just grand seeing them all again. We arrived in Singapore on the 29th of September, and we took the night train to Kuala Lumpur, my home town. I was very glad to be with my folks again, but unfortunately I had to resume duty in school on the 2nd of October, so it really was hard to leave home again so soon. Homecoming was quite a grand affair. They had a prayer meeting and this was followed by a tea and it was attended by 32 of my close friends and relatives. It was a very enjoyable, but busy evening. Thousands of questions were asked of me and of course I gave glowing accounts of you all and your beautiful country where I had spent a glorious year.

Ever since I came back, I have been very busy. The principal of the school has just left for home in Missouri, and I have been collared to take her place at least til the end of the year. There

DR. JARVIS ON PANEL AT EDUCATION MEETING

Participating in the recent workshop on vocational - technical education sponsored at Milwaukee by the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare was Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of the division of industrial education at Stout state college.

Also participating in the workshop, whose theme was "Meeting Manpower Needs for Technicians," was the Wisconsin State Board of vocational and adult education, and the Milwaukee school of vocational and adult education.

Dr. Jarvis served on a panel of selected participants who discussed such factors of vocational-technical education programs as certification of teachers, selection of students, effective advisory committees and similar relevant matters.

C. L. Greiber, director of the state board of vocational and adult education, discussed "Success Factors in the Operation of a Vocation-Technical Education Program."

Objective of the Milwaukee conference was to define the role of vocational educators in the preparation, upgrading and retraining of technicians; to analyze the skills needed by such technicians and the education to develop those skills; and to create preparatory programs for technicians adaptable to the changing needs of industry.

FRYKLUND, COLLEGE PRESIDENT, PRESIDES OVER 44TH ANNUAL IA CONFERENCE IN CHICAGO

Presiding over the 44th annual meeting of the Industrial Arts Conference, which gathered recently in Chicago, was Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout state college here. Dr. Fryklund is permanent chairman of the conference, composed of 65 of the nation's leading industrial educators.

Those in attendance participated in five conference sessions, each devoted to current problems or practices in the field of industrial arts. With Nelson Hauer, of Louisiana state university as chairman, one session discussed the question, "Should the Objectives of Industrial Arts Teacher Education Be Broadened to Include Consideration of Industrial Employment?"

Chairman Hauer stressed the fact that, although the bulk of present publicity stresses a shortage of engineers and scientists in the United States, actually there is an acute need of trained personnel of all kinds. The shortage of technicians is especially great, Hauer pointed out, indicating that between five to seven such technically-trained persons are needed for every one professional engineer.

Another conclusion reached was that although it is not practical to educate simultaneously industrial arts teachers and industrial employees—because the industrial arts teacher is responsible for broader knowledge and experiences—the industrial arts education program has provided sufficiently broad to train teachers and also aid persons entering industry.

Also participating in that session were L. L. Gore, Peabody college for teachers, and Lawrence Secrest, Northern Illinois state college.

Another conference session discussed "Whether There Should Be A More Objective Approach to the Teaching of Design in Industrial Arts Teacher Education." Among conclusions reached were these that industrial arts teacher education needs an appropriate definition of design and that teachers should approach the design problem as it relates to industrial arts.

Ralph Wenrich of the University of Michigan served as chairman, assisted by Robert Hardin of the University of Oklahoma and Welcome Wright of East Texas state college.

"The History and Development of the Industrial Arts Conference" was traced by John J. Metz, editor of "Industrial Arts and Vocational Education" magazine; Arthur Mays, formerly of the University of Illinois; and Tom Diamond, of "School Shop" magazine.

A fourth conference session was devoted to "Knowledge a School Administrator Needs to Supervise Intelligently the Work of His Industrial Arts Teacher." A panel of industrial educators suggested that a superintendent understand the philosophy and objectives of industrial arts and that proper equipment, class size and teaching load be provided.

Chairman for this session was C. R. Kinison, Ohio university, assisted by Nelson Grote, state supervisor of industrial arts for Kentucky, and Floyd Krubeck, Kearney state college.

The final conference session discussed "Problems in Bridging the Gap

COLLEGE FACULTIES SUFFER AS NEW PH.D.'S HEAD FOR OTHER FIELDS SAYS NEA

A beginning deterioration in the quality of college teaching staffs—with science bearing the major brunt—was reported in a new study released here today by the National Education Association.

Fewer and fewer of the new doctor's degree graduates have been joining the teaching ranks in colleges and universities during the past four years, according to a nationwide study made by the NEA Research Division. During the past year (1956-57) only 23.5 per cent of all new full-time college teachers held the Ph.D. degree. Four years ago, 31.4 per cent of the new teaching crop were Ph.D.'s.

The production of Ph.D.'s is four times greater than it was 10 years ago, the study shows. But these new graduates are turning their backs on teaching and heading for jobs in industry.

Science teaching is hardest hit. Three of every four new Ph.D.'s in chemistry who take new jobs upon graduation go outside education's environs. Three of every five new Ph.D.'s in physics and the other physical sciences take the same path.

William G. Carr, executive secretary of NEA, expressed concern over the trend revealed in the study. "Colleges and universities," he said, "do not now have the resources to do the job the nation expects of them. If they continue to be priced out of the market, the quality of the educational service they render will deteriorate at the very moment it should be further strengthened."

"On many campuses, the only course open will be to lower standards and thus concede the necessity of accepting a lower quality of teaching performance."

In all fields, one of every three new Ph.D.'s by-passes teaching for another career.

"This means that colleges take second-best when they recruit new teachers," said Ray C. Maul, author of the study and NEA assistant research director.

The number of new full-time college faculty members without even a master's degree is increasing. Four years ago the minus master's degree group comprised 18 per cent of the total. In 1956-57, this figure had climbed to over 23 per cent.

Every one of the 22 fields studied except one showed an increase in the percentage of new teachers at the bottom of the scale and a decrease in the percentage of new top level teachers. More than half (54.7 per cent) of new teachers of engineering started their Between Theory and Actual Practices in Industrial Arts Education." Material was presented to show the need for better articulation between theory and practice and suggestions were offered for the achievement of this objective.

Beryl Cunningham of Bradley university was session chairman. Cooperating with him were B. C. Tinnell, Tennessee teachers college, and Coleman Hewitt, Chicago teachers college.

EPT MEMBERS IN TOURS OF CINERAMA, MOLINE

Members of Theta chapter, Epsilon Pi Tau, honorary professional fraternity in industrial arts and industrial vocational education, traveled to Minneapolis Wednesday, November 13, to see the Cinerama process, viewing "Seven Wonders of the World" at the Century Theatre, and to tour the Minneapolis Moline plant.

The 27 members arrived before matinee time for a guided tour with theatre technicians, who explained stereophonic sound and peripheral vision as presented in the Lowell Thomas Cinerama production.

At the Moline plant, they observed the progressive steps in tractor manufacturing.

teaching careers in 1956-57 with less than a master's degree. The other science fields also report new teachers who do not reach the master's degree level.

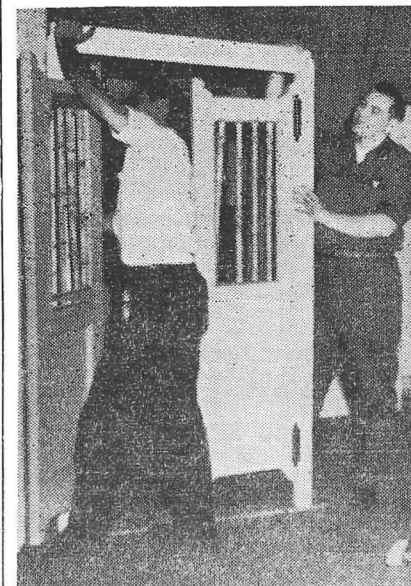

In all fields combined, educational service did claim about 57 per cent of 1955 and 1956 Ph.D.'s who entered new occupations. But almost 42 per cent turned to other careers. (Two of every five of all new Ph.D.'s continue in the jobs they had before receiving doctorates, and therefore cannot be counted as new teaching resources.)

But almost 88 per cent of the colleges and universities cite a serious shortage of qualified teachers.

"Despite the fact that the colleges need teachers, tapping some resources of supply will inevitably lead to trouble elsewhere," said Dr. Maul. Almost 14 per cent of all new full-time college teachers for the last two years came directly to the colleges from high school positions where teachers can hardly afford to be lost.

The study discusses three possible sources of better educated college teachers: (1) more encouragement to women to pursue graduate study, (2) the possibility of part-time teachers, (3) more opportunities for upgrading by teachers now in service.

The study also investigates the supply and demand of administrative personnel in higher education.

KNUTSON IS DELEGATE TO FOODS CONFERENCE

In attendance at the recent Midwest conference for College teachers of Foods and Nutrition was Miss Dorothy J. Knutson, assistant professor of home economics at Stout state college.

The event was held in Chicago and was attended by over 100 delegates from Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Ohio, and Wisconsin.

Conference participants heard such speakers as Dr. Thelma Porter, dean of the college of home economics at Michigan state college, who asked, "What is College-Level Teaching?" and Dr. Everett J. Kircher, professor of education at Ohio state university, who discussed, "Re-Orienting Our Thinking in Terms of an Educational Philosophy."

GURUSAMY LETTER

are 400 little girls in school and they range from 6-14 years of age. There are 14 teachers too, and can you imagine me trying to keep law and order with this gang? I myself am very surprised, for so far things have been going on smoothly and I hope it continues. I teach from 7:30 a.m. til 11:30 a.m. and then I do the administration work til 6 p.m. The subjects I teach are English, History, Singing, Chapel, Foods, and clothing in grades 7, 8, and 9. I enjoy teaching very much, but I get into moods with the administration part of it. Sometimes all goes well and at other times it's just the opposite.

Last week Marian Anderson, the celebrated American Negro singer was in my home town, Kuala Lumpur. She sang to greet crowds of people who appreciated her very much. Living away from home, I was unable to see or hear her. But was able to read the articles about her in the papers. She has now left for Australia.

We have been having an awful lot of rain recently and many places have been flooded. Ten thousand people have been rendered homeless and the Red Cross and other organizations are giving aid to the victims.

You folks must have had a nice time watching TV when the Queen visited Canada and the U.S.A. It must have been very impressive. We here were only able to read about it as well as just see a few pictures of it in our newspapers.

Winter must be fast approaching and I wish I could see the beautiful snow as well as experience the cold again. I just loved it all and the many memories I have of it all really makes me lonesome for America at times. Soon Thanksgiving will be around and I can remember the big turkey feast I had. It all seems like a dream now. Times really flies. I can hardly believe that my year at Stout has ended and that I'm now thousands of miles away. I feel that I'm well equipped with all the new learnings to launch out and guide and help others to live better lives. The more eager to share what I have learned at Stout and to put these new learnings into practice while I work with the girls in Malaya.

Stout has not only taught me the many invaluable, new techniques of teaching, but has also helped develop my social growth. I am indeed grateful for the Christian nurture that I have gained at Stout too. And may I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt gratitude and appreciation to my teachers and my schoolmates, who have been so wonderful to me, so loving and kind, and ever ready to help. I'm sorry I wasn't able to say "good-bye" to all of you before I left so now I wish you all every success in all your endeavours and May God Bless You All. I also hope everyone of you will have a very enjoyable Thanksgiving vacation.

I would like to hear from you all, so please do write. Thanks.

NEWS OF OUR ALUMNI

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Joppa, (nee Donna Anderson, B.S. 1954) of 5820 Tioga st., Duluth, Minnesota, announce the birth of a son, Timothy William, born July 14, 1957.

To all those planning to attend the Detroit area winter frolic, January 25: The meeting place is the downtown Detroit YWCA, not YMCA, as previously printed.

May C. Turner, Dip. 1915, B.S. 1929, retired recently as Head of the Department of Home Economics at State Teachers college, Framingham, Massachusetts. Besides attending Stout, Miss Turner studied at Dunwoody Institute, and Columbia University. She has taught at various schools including Minnesota public schools; Experimental school, Miami; Conservancy, Dayton, Ohio; State Teachers college, Horehead, Minnesota; State Teachers college, Buffalo, New York; Columbia University; Cornell University, and has held several positions at Framingham State Teachers college.

Among Miss Turner's activities and accomplishments are President, vice president and counselor of the Massachusetts State Home Economics association; member and regional chairman of Home Economics Department of N.E.A.; member of A.A.U.P.; life member of American Home Economics association; honorary member of Framingham Alumnae association, and of the Mary Hemenway Household Arts association; co-chairman of Canteens, Framingham chapter of American Red Cross, World War II; and 4-H club leader.

CHICAGO ALUMNI

Despite the dismal, stormy weather November 2, about thirty Chicagoland area Stout Alumni attended the buffet supper at Bill Byer's home, 3418 Henly st., Glenview, Illinois. Enjoyable entertainment consisted of talk including reminiscence of Stout state college.

The next alumni meeting will be a picnic held early in June.

WEA ALUMNI REUNION

The Milwaukee alumni group were hosts to those who attended the W.E.A. convention in Milwaukee on Thursday, November 7. An excellent buffet dinner was served to 117 alumni members. Stout faculty members, and former Stout grads from all over the state. It was held at the County Federation of Women's clubs on Prospect avenue.

Everyone was able to mingle around for the entire evening renewing friendships and making new acquaintances because of the informality of the affair. The efforts of many alumni members and the co-operation of everyone, helped to make this a huge success. The 1957 grads are to be especially congratulated for their fine representation at the dinner.

Due to unfortunate circumstances, the pictures that were taken at the reunion will not be printed. Our photographer hopes to have better success next year. However, we'll give you a verbal glimpse as to who was there. Try to visualize the various groupings of those at the reunion as we describe them for you.

As the first picture was snapped, we noticed that Velda Hilbrot, 1938; Lilian Oltz, 1911; and Mrs. Joann Martin, 1957 were sitting together discussing various topics. No doubt Dr. John Jarvis, Dr. Alice Kirk, Mr. Joseph Lomco, Director of South Milwaukee Vocational school, and Mr. Charles Rowe, Director of Rhinelander Vocational School were discussing administrative problems as they were posing for the second picture.

Various officers, representing other alumni groups, gathered around Mr. H. M. Hansen, retired teacher from Stout in the third grouping — they include George Stromberg, 1922, representative from Racine; Kenyon Fletcher, president of the Chicagoland-area; Dr. Robert Rudiger, 1948, National Executive Secretary; and Howard Schwabke, 1943, president of the Madison-area Stout alumni.

A "class reunion in miniature" may be tagged on this next picture. Gathered together were: Evelyn Alvord Schultz, 1935; Peg Hankwitz Hansen, 1936; Paul Hansen, 1935; Harold Schultz, 1937; Dr. John Jarvis, 1935; Harriet Stein Sharrbach, 1935; Mary Finney Iverson, 1936; Charles Rowe, 1935; Martha Bubeck Schmidt, 1934; Ruth Bubeck Voll, 1936.

The early '50 grads lined up at the buffet table were: Joan Fairweather Tall, 1954; Mary Delter Block, 1954; Vivian Barnhart, 1954; Nancy Kurath Mosher, 1954; and Valerie Bloom Cornwell, 1953; Other notables present were: Dr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Rasche, 1925, Director of Milwaukee Vocational and Adult school; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pool, 1939; Stout faculty members were: Margaret Perman, Ray A. Wigen and Hazel Van Ness; Rowena Jorgensen and Howard Heigl are representatives of our National Alumni Organization. Many other friends were gathered in various sections of the club, too numerous to mention.

Wisconsin was well represented at this reunion—some of the cities from which alumni came were: Iaona, Two Rivers, Racine, Rhinelander, Stockholm, Pepin, Wisconsin Rapids, Manitowoc, Schofield, Cassville, Berlin, New Richmond, Oshkosh and Madison, to name a few.

We do hope that the people that were unable to attend this year will join the friendly gathering next year and help in making the reunion at WEA convention time another terrific success.

The local chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma was founded as the "Phalanx" November 20, 1947. The first fraternity on the Stout campus to become a national fraternity, the "Phalanx" became the Alpha Kappa chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma on November 11, 1948. The first meetings were held in the tea room of Harvey hall.

The pledges are chosen not only on above average scholarship, but also on their social efficiency. They are selected not because of past accomplishments, but because the chapter membership believes that they have the personal traits necessary for the present and future accomplishments.

Sigma Tau Gamma is by nature primarily social in plan of organization, stressing social friendships, and true brotherhood. Many of these aims are accomplished through the sponsoring of various school activities during the year. Those presented thus far have been the sale of popcorn and caramel apples at the football games, the Rose Formal, the Les Elgart dance, the Ghost dance, and the All School activity. Other activities include car washes, the Pre-Prom dinner, and a farewell get-together for the fraternity members at the end of the year.

The prime purpose of the fraternity is to develop men who put honor and virtue above temporary gain and superficial popularity; who find joy in life, pleasure in well organized conversation, tonic in intellectual struggle, and who have a helpful regard for those immediately around them.

LOAN FUNDS . . .

balance amounts to $230,590.04. This sum will increase each year upon receipt of interest accruals. The fund has never been completely depleted. There are 516 open accounts at present totaling $159,271.78. As of July 1, 1957, the cash balance in the fund was $71,318.26.

Twenty-two colleges and two universities qualify as schools through which loans may be made. During the past year fourteen of these colleges and both universities had students making loans. A total of one hundred twenty-nine needy students were granted loans for this period. Since the inception of the fund in 1933, a total of 9,300 needy students have been granted loans.

Loans are non-interest bearing during the period in which the student is enrolled for residence work, including any intermediate regular vacation period. Interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum is payable on loans for any school period during which the student is not attending school. Notes executed for each loan made mature two years subsequent to the date of last attendance.

Rules and regulations governing the fund have changed very little since 1933. The interest rate was lower from 5 per cent to 4 per cent in 1947; the maximum for fees and maintenance was increased in amount in 1951, and the program today has been liberalized in accordance with present-day standards and economic conditions.

Recent legislation which passed both houses but has not yet been enacted into law would provide for endorsement and recommendation by the high school principal on applications of college freshmen. Heretofore, applications were recommended by the college or university only.

LOUELLA HOWELL AND BEVERLY MADSEN RECEIVE OUTSTANDING RECOGNITION IN ILLINOIS RECENTLY

Two Stout state college coeds who are preparing to become teachers of home economics have been informed that they have received recognition for outstanding achievements in home economics and allied activities.

Miss Louella Howell, freshman from Streator, Illinois, has won the Illinois title of "1958 Cherry Pie Baking Queen." She will represent Illinois and the college at the forthcoming three-day national championship cherry pie competition in Chicago.

Miss Beverly Madsen, Ottawa, Illinois junior, has won statewide recognition for five years of successful 4-H effort in the field of electricity. Her accomplishments have been recognized by the Illinois Farm Electrification council which provides an all-expense tour to Chicago where winners observe electric exhibits at such centers as the Science and Industry building.

Both young ladies have had long and successful careers in 4-H work. Now in her ninth year with that program, Miss Howell is both this year and last year's outstanding 4-H girl in her state. She was last year's Illinois 4-H bread demonstration champion and has received the key award, five year state project winner citation, national leadership recognition, and last year's Illinois "I Dare You" leadership title.

At Stout, Louella participates in the college band, Home Economics club, Newman club, and college 4-H club.

In her 10th year of 4-H work, Beverly Madsen has also acquired records for being county and district electrical winner, receiving national leadership recognition, and winning the "I Dare

You" leadership citation. She was named Illinois outstanding 4-H girl on the basis of winning in dress review, home improvement, home economics, and health.

Miss Madsen was also named state winner in clothing and this year was a delegate to the state 4-H Junior Leadership conference.

At college, Beverly keeps busy with the college newspaper, college 4-H club, Home Economics club, concert band, and Wesley religious group.

CALLAHAN . . .

William Boutwell, director of the Columbia University Teen Age book club; Philip Sauer, Bemidji state teachers college; and Grace Garland, Minneapolis Edison high school. Ruth Winter of Denby high school in Detroit will serve as recorder.

Miss Callahan is also active in the work of the College Teachers of English, having served on the state committee when that group held its national meeting on the campus of the University of Wisconsin early in September.

Also participating in the Minneapolis convention of the National Council of Teachers of English will be Miss Wauneta Hain, assistant professor of English at Stout state college. She will attend a number of the convention meetings and will view many commercial and non-commercial exhibits depicting new tools and new techniques in the teaching of English.

SIDELINE SLANTS

... With Bob Papas

Here, in a nutshell, is the way the teams in the Wisconsin state college conference stack up before the beginning of the 1957-58 basketball season. This order is not any indication as to how we think they will finish.

Stevens Point will be trying to uphold the championship which it won last season.

Stout finished strong last year and will be boasting an all veteran team.

Superior is a team that somehow always proves to be rough.

Eau Claire will be hurt considerably this year by graduation.

River Falls is an annual trouble maker, but was also hurt by graduation.

Milwaukee is a highly improved team this year and should prove a headache for all of their opponents.

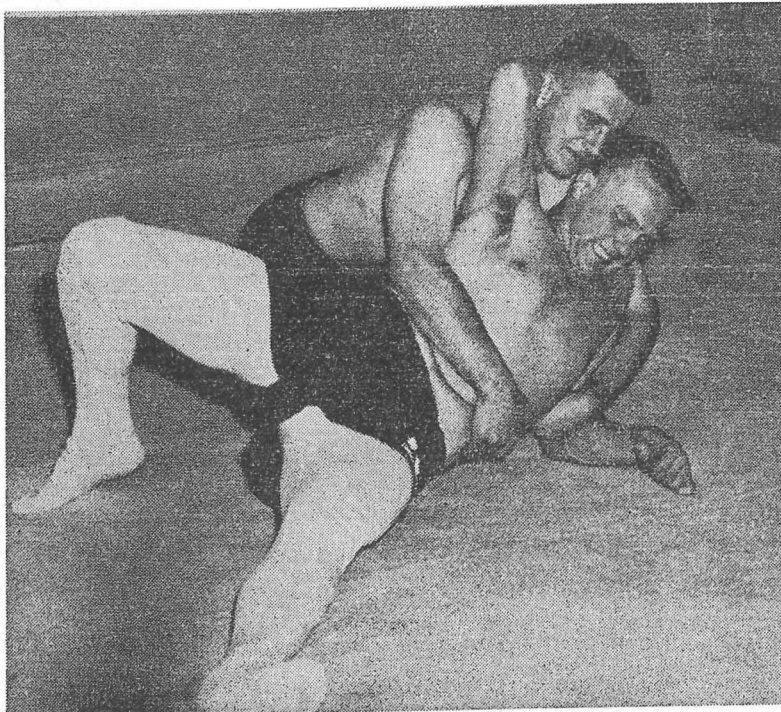

Oshkosh is the conference darkhorse.

Platteville is always a contender.

La Crosse should be stronger than last year although they were hurt through graduation.

Whitewater is much improved, and should fight their way out of the conference cellar this year.

Stout's cagers are slated to play two non-conference tilts following Thanksgiving vacation. Tuesday, December 3, finds them facing Northwestern college of Minneapolis in their first home contest in the high school gym. Game time is at 7:00 p.m. Thursday of the same week, the Bluedevils will journey to Northland.

Jerry Kaskinen and Al Finnell practice a few holds in preparation for the wrestling season which will be carried as a varsity sport for the first time this year at Stout.

BOLM, PETERSON, SUPPLY SPEED, VERSATILITY, AGILITY TO THE BLUEDEVIL BASKETBALL SQUAD

Speed, versatility, and catlike agility best describe Jim Bolm and Jann Peterson, two Stout Bluedevil basketball players.

Jim and Jann have played in 80 games for the Bluedevils plus the fact that they have been in the starting lineup for each game.

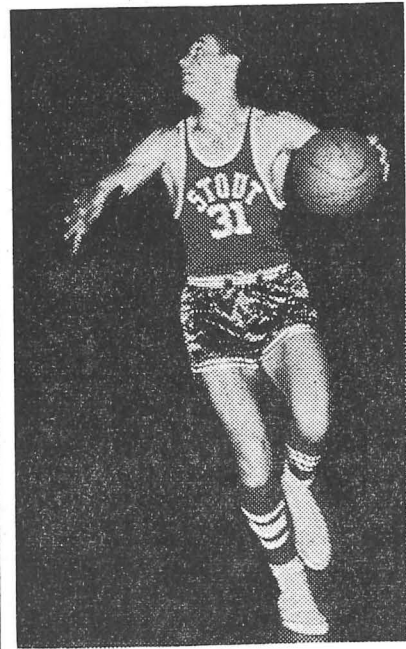

Bolm is 6 feet 3 inches tall, plays center and hails from Escanaba, Michigan. In high school Jim also played center for four years; this experience has been of great value to him in college ball.

When asked what he thought of this year's team Jim replied, "I think we have a fine team and with last year's experience we will really win our share of ball games."

Training is a must to all ball players and Bolm is no exception. While conscientiously working at the Campus cafe he is always eating some well balanced meal. "I think waiting on tables really helps in building up my wind," explicates Jim.

His highest scoring game was an unbelievable total of 34 points against Northland in 1955. Bolm has also been captain of the Bluedevils for the last two years.

BOLM

Our second ball player is Jann Peterson who is also a senior. Jann's home town is none other than Menomonie. A graduate of Menomonie high school and one of their star forwards for four years total up his experience prior to enrolling in Stout.

Peterson is 6 feet 1 inch tall and plays guard. He racked up 23 points in last year's Stevens Point game which gave him his highest scoring game.

Jann's secret ambition is to some day coach a high school basketball team. "I believe that the fundamentals are the really important part of basketball," remarks Peterson.

For the past two years Jann has been voted the Bluedevil's most valuable player. "My only wish for this season is that the team will not disappoint their fans," comments Peterson.

Aside from possessing speed, versatility, and agility perhaps we should add one word. That one word is "strive," for this is what Bolm and Peterson are constantly attempting to do. Striving for the betterment of their school and the success of their team.

STOUT'S CAGERS TO OPEN SEASON NEXT TUESDAY

Next Tuesday sets the stage for basketball at Stout state college, as the Bluedevil five will take to the court against St. Mary's at Winona, Minnesota.

The college of St. Mary's has established a fine reputation for their basketball team over the past years, as it is the major varsity sport carried by that school.

The Redmen will be looking for revenge for the 76-60 defeat at the hands of the Stout cagers last year.

St. Mary's boasts an all veteran starting five, that will probably provide the Bluedevils with one of their toughest battles of the season.

Final selection of the team finds the following men composing 1957-58 Stout cagers:

Jim Bolm, Jann Peterson, Brian Howard, Bob Sorenson, Keith Moessner, Herb Helm, Bill Kindschy, Bill Hills, Dick Johnson, Bill Farrell, Glen Harke, Al Ripple, John Peterson, Bill Harycki, James Today, Luther Reuter, Donald Elsing, and Bob Gutschow.

"This is it," says Nancy Feuerstein (center), Wisconsin's champion in the "Make It Yourself with Wool" contest, as she displays her winning creation to Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of home economics at Stout State College, where Nancy is a sophomore, and to Anne Marie Dahl, Rock Falls, freshman coed at Stout and four-state champion in national sewing competition. Both girls are planning to become teachers of home economics, specializing in the clothing area.

NANCY FEUERSTEIN AND ANNE MARIE DAHL WIN STATEWIDE RECOGNITION IN SEWING CONTESTS

The sewing talents of two Wisconsin young ladies who attend Stout state college here to become teachers of clothing instruction have won for them statewide and area recognition. The coeds are Nancy Feuerstein, Sharon, Wisconsin's all-state winner in the "Make It Yourself with Wool" contest, and Anne Marie Dahl, Rock Falls, winner of a four-state sewing competition sponsored by a leading manufacturer of sewing machines.

Miss Feuerstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Feuerstein, who reside at Route 1, Sharon, in the Beloit-Janesville area, is a sophomore in home economics education at Stout. Her two-piece wool suit won her a $250 college scholarship as Wisconsin's winner in competition sponsored by the National Wool Growers association.

Nancy attributes much of her success to seven years experience in 4-H clothing projects. In the past two years she has twice won her way into the 4-H dress revue of the Wisconsin State Fair, this year being awarded the blue ribbon. She is an active junior leader in the 4-H clothing construction program, teaching younger 4-H members the finer points of sewing.

A graduate of Walworth high school, Miss Feuerstein is active at Stout state college in the band, Symphonic Singers, Home Economics club, and Lutheran Students association. She is also a pledge of Sigma Sigma Sigma national social sorority.

Anne Marie Dahl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thalman Dahl, Route 1, Rock Falls, in the Eau Claire area. She was named four-state sewing finalist for her wool sheath dress, which won over several hundred competitors in local and later in regional judging. A scissors set was her award for winning the Eau Claire area championship.

For her regional triumph, Miss Dahl is now the proud possessor of a $300 college scholarship and a Singer portable sewing machine valued at $250. A freshman in home economics education at Stout, Anne Marie takes an active part in the college newspaper, yearbook, Lutheran Students association and Home Economics club.

A graduate of Durand high school, Miss Dahl has been a consistent winner in 4-H clothing projects and in other 4-H home economics programs. She also won first place for modeling her wool dress in the dress revue of the Wisconsin State Fair.

DR. FRYKLUND ACCEPTS FORD REAPPOINTMENT

The Ford Motor co. has announced that Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout state college, has accepted reappointment for a second three-year term as Wisconsin's advisor of the Ford industrial arts awards competition.

This international contest annually attracts the best of industrial arts projects from schools throughout the world. Even after local and state or national judging had "screened out" all but the outstanding projects, 5,000 entries were evaluated last summer in Dearborn, Michigan, site of the final judging.

Last year Dr. Fryklund was a special guest of the Ford Motor co. at the Dearborn finals. At that time, he also helped evaluate entries in the drafting area.

The purpose of the Ford Motor co.'s international industrial arts awards program is to stimulate interest and excellence in technical education. Entries are judged not only on the basis of technical skill exhibited, but also on the application of such factors as mathematics, physics, art and design.

HOLIDAY DANCE PREPARATIONS LED BY S.S.A.

This year the Christmas dance, which is one of the annual Stout state college social highlights will be held in the small gym, Friday, December 13, from 8:30 to 12:00 p.m. George Soderberg and his band will provide music for the SSA sponsored event. The Christmas dance is an informal affair to which all students and faculty are invited.

SSA president, Pete Jackson, is floor manager of the dance and special duties are designated to each class. The freshman class is responsible for advertising; sophomores will display their talent through the gym decorations; and the junior class is furnishing the punch. The entertainment at intermission, consisting of Christmas carols sung by representatives of the various fraternities on campus, will be sponsored by the senior class.

SSA SPONSORS HAYRIDE DANCE FOR STUDENTS

Everyone is invited to attend the first all school hayride tonight. This event is being sponsored by the SSA with the hope that a great majority of the students will participate.

The hayride wagons will leave Tainter hall around 8 p.m. From there they will travel around Menomonie countryside, especially at the site of Devil's Punch Bowl. (Students, now is the time to get acquainted with this place.)

Dancing to top records will be held in the lounge of Tainter hall following the hayride. It will last until 12:00 a.m. The refreshment committee will serve coffee and doughnuts.

Mary Pettis was omitted from the last article as chairman of the refreshment committee. Patty Jo Hovde is assisting her as co-chairman.

Remember students, that this event is sponsored by you the students. Your money has paid for this event with the purchase of your SSA card. If you want future events such as this, you need to turn out for this hayride.

STUDENT BOARD HEARS IMPROVEMENT PLANS

The regular meeting of the student governing board was called to order Tuesday night by president Jackson.

Mr. Ray Johnson presented the proposed budget for the athletic department for the 1957-1958 school term. He explained the budget in detail.

The SSA is going to allocate $120.00 for the purchase of six speakers which are to be installed in the small gym. The addition of these speakers should greatly improve the music at the record dances. The radio and electronics club has volunteered to purchase and install them.

The student handbook is due for revision this year. The handbook committee will begin this project in the near future under the direction of Mr. Arneson.

NOTICE!

CHRISTMAS WORK

Men students who have bonified jobs during Christmas vacation needing additional excused time off, should confer with Dean Price. A statement from your employer is one of the prerequisites. It should be remembered that the student is still responsible for his own class work.

GRADUATE WORK

All students who intend to enroll for graduate work during the second semester, 1957-58, should report to the Graduate Studies office for pre-enrollment for graduate work. Check in the Graduate Studies office for appointments.

WISCONSIN REGENTS SEEK COLLEGE PRESIDENT AS PLATTEVILLE'S CHESTER NEWLUN RETIRES

Wanted, a college president!

The search is on by the state college regents for a new college president. He will replace Chester Newlun, retiring at Platteville next spring.

Salary — excellent. Responsibilities — endless. Working hours — terrible. Security — assured. Future — brilliant. And the field is wide open.

The 10 state college presidents represent 170 years of service in office. The last president was selected at River Falls 11 years ago; the first of the president crop were chosen at Superior and Oshkosh 26 years ago.

"We have set no rigid requirements for the new president to meet," says Eugene R. McPhee, director of the colleges. "We will spend the next couple months gathering the names of candidates from Wisconsin and the nation."

A screening committee made up of regents, presidents, and college teachers will select the best candidates for final consideration. Finally, early next spring, the new president will be chosen by the regents.

"Consideration will be given to every application," says Director McPhee. "We hope the list of applicants will include every qualified person within the interest range of the colleges."

Anyone in Wisconsin who knows a potential college president may send his name and a summary of his accomplishments to the office of the Board of Regents. The task of screening the candidates will be long and tedious but the job warrants it.

"We're picking a man to be a leader in higher education in Wisconsin, probably for the rest of his life," says William McIntyre, president of the regents. "The job is above pull and politics. We want the best man available in the nation."

Honest, educated, sincere, successful, healthy, friendly, and dedicated to higher education. Do you know such a candidate? The regents will welcome your letter of recommendation.

Demonstration of the latest in adjustable circular saws by Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout state college, is watched attentively by (L-R) Manabu Fukuda, interpreter for the U. S. Department of State; In Kwan Lee, principal of Seoul, Korea, technical high school; Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of Stout's division of industrial education; and Joon Hyung Lee, supervisor of secondary schools in Kyungbuk Province, Korea. The Koreans and their interpreter were part of a larger group of Korean educators recently visiting the Stout campus.

MISS COX PARTICIPATES IN SCIENCE-MATH MEET

Participant in the recent convention of the Central Association of Science and Mathematics Teachers, meeting in Chicago, was Miss Eleanor Cox, associate professor of chemistry at Stout state college.

Over 800 teachers of science and mathematics were present for the Central Association's 57th annual meeting. The group was addressed by Dr. Harold C. Urey, professor of chemistry at Chicago university and discoverer of deuterium, material now much used in nuclear projects.

Another high point of the convention was Miss Cox's tour of Argonne Laboratories to view two nuclear reactors, one for power and the other for research. The research reactor is the newest addition to Argonne's tools for experimentation and service.

This reactor is a high-level source of gamma radiation for testing the effects of gamma irradiation on foods, chemicals and other substances.

STOUT ORGANIZATIONS HOLD CHRISTMAS SALES

Once again the various organizations at Stout are holding their annual Christmas sales. On Monday the Stout Christian Fellowship started things off selling Christmas cards.

On Wednesday, December 4, the YWCA sold candy, which was donated by the members. Home Ec. club and SCF had their sales on Thursday and Friday.

Beginning on the 9th, the Tri Sigmas, the Delta Zetas, and WRA will be holding their sales. They will continue through the 11th. IRC will also be selling on the 10th.

The Tri Sigmas and WRA will also be selling throughout the week of the 16th.

FANTASY BALL FOR SORORITIES ON SATURDAY

The Panhellenic Christmas ball, December 7, will officially open Stout's holiday activities. Sorority members and their dates will dance to the music of George Soderberg and his Royal Blackhaws in a modernistic setting of "Christmas Fantasy."

Advisors of the four sororities: Miss Marshall, Miss Williams, Miss Knutson, and Miss Williams and panhellenic Council advisor, Dean Antrim, as well as several guests, will be present at the formal dance.

Chairmen of committees for the dance are Panhellenic council members. General chairman is Kathy Van Doorn, and her assistants are Barbara Hartig, programs; Rita Casey, food and cleanup; and Audrey Schroeder, decorations.

Modernistic decorations will transmute the small gym into a holiday fantasy. Mirrors with black silhouettes will line the walls. A background of flocked trees. A picture framed punch stand will also be part of the decor of the Panhellenic formal.

BAND AND CHOIR PLAN ANNUAL YULE CONCERT

The annual Christmas concert by the Stout band and choir will be presented on Wednesday, December 18, at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium. Directed by Dr. Edfield Odegard, the choir will sing music in the holiday festival mood. The band selections will include sacred music.

The final part of the Christmas program will feature selections by the combined band and choir. Everyone is invited to attend this holiday concert.

WEATHERBIRD

The weatherbird's morning forecast calls for continued cloudiness and snow flurries for tomorrow with little change in temperature.

"Sunday will be slightly cooler," he remarked. "The sun should come out by then too."

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Why should it be that the first snow of winter and the first cold wave should be accompanied by a rash of inexcusable accidents! Most of us have lived in Wisconsin long enough to have experienced the hazards of winter driving. Yet too many of us, it seems, have to learn all over again each year.

So the basic winter safety rules are worth repeating.

Reduce your speed and follow at a greater distance. With regular tires, it takes from 3 to 12 times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry pavements. On "warm" ice, just below the freezing point, braking distance is twice as great as on ice when the temperature is zero because the film of water formed by tire friction acts as a lubricant.

Pump your brakes to slow down or stop. Jamming brakes on can lock the wheels and throw you into a skid. Get the "feel" of the road by trying brakes while driving slowly and away from traffic.

Keep windshield and rear window-in fact, all windows-clear of snow, ice and fog and frost. Be sure your windshield wipers will clean, not smear. You have to see danger to avoid it.

Be sure your tires have good tread. Snow tires improve traction, but do not count on them for quick starts or quick stops on either snow or ice. Reinforced tire chains are still your best form of protection.

A number of residents of Bertha Tainter residence hall for women had their pictures taken recently for public relations department of Stout state college. These photos have been sent to daily and weekly newspapers throughout Wisconsin. Posing prettily above are (L-R) Anne Marie Dahl, Rock Falls; Rosemary Ackley, Madison; and Karen Coperud, Minneapolis. Also cooperating on the project were Mrs. Charlotte Sims, head of residence halls, and Dr. David Barnard, head of the audio-visual center, who provided the photographers.

DO STRAIN AND WORRY BOTHER YOU? TALKING THINGS OUT RELIEVES TENSIONS

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY TOPICS OF SPEAKERS

Those who do not have individual interviews at 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, December 11, will have an opportunity to learn of career opportunities in business and industry by guest speakers well qualified for such discussions. Mr. John De Pauw of the Technical Employment department, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company, will talk in the auditorium with the men who may be interested in learning of opportunities for Stout graduates in business and industry.

Miss Irene Anderson, Supervisor of Betty Crocker Kitchens of General Mills, Inc., will speak to women on home economics careers in business and industry. Miss Anderson will speak in room 411, Harvey hall. She is a Stout alumna so she knows our college as well as the world of work.

Both students and faculty members who are not scheduled for interviewing during the December 11, 9:30 period are invited to attend these meetings.

break, there was no regularly scheduled meeting of Sigma Tau Gamma last week. However, approximately fifteen brothers journeyed to Winona, Minnesota last Tuesday for the Stout-St. Mary's basketball game.

Pledging has ended for seven sophomore women who became members of Alpha Sigma Alpha in a formal initiation ceremony, Sunday afternoon, November 24.

New members are Rita Anderson, Sister Bay; Lucretia Ebbott and Nancy Fullmer, Fort Atkinson; Jean Goehring, Menomonie; Dorothy Grundmann, Waukesha; Katchen Kubitz, Janesville; and Gloria Zittlow, Fond du Lac.

Dressed in their finest, the Alphas enjoyed a choice of chicken or ham dinner at the Colonial Pines, after the initiation ceremony. Serenading at the dormitories ended the exciting and important day for the Alphas.

Alumnae of Alpha Sigma Alpha were entertained at a coffee hour Saturday afternoon, November 23, in Bertha Tainter tearoom. Taking part on the program were recent graduates of Stout, Nat Wick and Helen Harry Klevin, and two members of the local chapter, Jo Scheevel and Barb Hartig.

Two philanthropic projects, in addition to the magazine sales, have been adopted by Beta Phi chapter. Members are making bandages for Dunn county cancer patients, and each member will play "Santa Claus" to a needy child in Menomonie this Christmas.

Congratulations are in order for two Beta Phi's. Sandy John recently became pinned to Tom Kukar and Jane Spurgat recently became engaged to Jay Voss.

Talking things out can go far toward relieving the tensions which everybody experiences. So writes Dr. George S. Stevenson in a National Association for Mental Health booklet condensed in the November Reader's Digest under the title, "How to Deal With Your Tensions."

"When something worries you, don't bottle it up," says Dr. Stevenson. "Confide your worry to some level-headed person you can trust. . . Talking things out helps to relieve your strain, helps you to see your worry in a clearer light, and often helps you to see what you can do about it."

He also makes these suggestions: Escape for a while. Sometimes it helps to escape from a painful problem: to lose yourself in a movie or a book or a game. But be prepared to come back and deal with your difficulty.

Work off your anger. If you feel like lashing out at somebody, pitch into some physical activity instead and work the anger out of your system.

Give in occasionally. If you do this, you'll find others will yield too. The result will be relief and a feeling of satisfaction and maturity.

Do something for others. You'll find this will take the steam out of your worries and even better give you a warm feeling of having done well.

Take one thing at a time. Pitch into a few of the most urgent tasks one at a time, setting aside the rest for the time being.

Shun the superhuman urge. Don't try for perfection in everything. Decide which things you do well, and put your major effort into these.

Go easy with criticism. Some people expect too much of others, then feel let down when another person doesn't measure up.

Schedule your recreation. It is desirable for almost everyone to have a hobby that absorbs him in off hours—one into which he can throw himself completely and with pleasure, forgetting all about his work.

"Why do you look so unhappy? Anything wrong?"

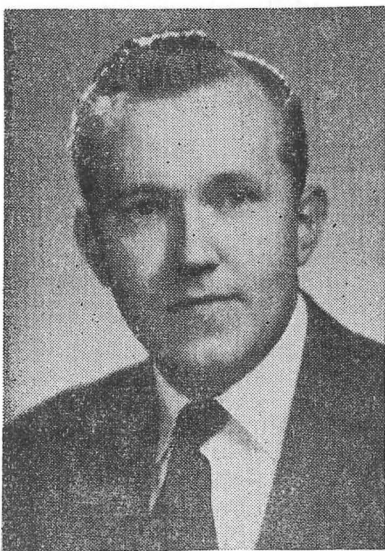

"I had to shoot my dog."

"Was he mad?"

"He wasn't exactly happy about it."

One of the most prominent citizens of a small western village died suddenly, leaving a lot of money behind. The sheriff shot him as he was crawling out of a window of the First National bank.

In attendance were teachers from the Hayward community, meeting in the Hayward junior-senior high school building. George Rehnstrand, supervisor of instruction in the Hayward community schools, was chairman.

HOSPITAL TRAY FAVORS MADE AT EICH MEETING

Tray favors for patients in Memorial hospital were made by the residents of Eichelberger hall at a work meeting held at 9:15 p.m. Monday, November 25. The rec room was the scene of the action. Sarah Albrecht and Barbie Harms served as co-chairmen. Christmas carols and other songs were sung which made for a pleasant and worthwhile hour.

STUDENT POLL REVEALS AVERAGE COLLEGE COST

The U. S. Office of Education has just finished asking 15,316 students from all over America what college is costing them. The answer: $2,000 a year at a private college and $1,500 a year at a public institution.

That's almost double what it cost in 1940.

Some students from average-to-low income families have been priced out of a college education. But, generally, fathers who earn less than $5,000 do pretty well educationally for their youngsters. Sixty per cent of American families in 1953 made less than $5,000 a year; 50 per cent of the college students studied came from these average-to-low income families.

Not until the family income reaches the $6,000 to $7,000 bracket does the national distribution equal the student distribution. From $7,000 on, the number of students is proportionately larger than the national distribution of such higher income families. Only one-half of one per cent of American families had an income over $25,000 in 1953, yet they sent almost three and one-half per cent of the student population to college.

The ten state colleges of Wisconsin have a price tag on education which is less than the national average. A student living in a dormitory and eating in the college cafeteria pays less than $550 for room and board annually. He pays another $180 for fees and books. This $730 is the basic cost. Clothes and entertainment must be added but the total is far less than the nation's average.

One-hundred student leaders at the Wisconsin state colleges last year reported spending an average of $900 a year for their education.

The family with an income of less than $5,000 finds $900 much more palatable than $1,500 or $2,000.

"Now open wide," coaxes Geraldine Rassbach, Menomonie cherry pie baking champion, to William "Bud" Eick, mayor of that city, as he prepares to sample the pie with which Geraldine won her way into the district contest to be held in Menomonie December 7. Waiting for the mayor to snap at the succulent tidbit are Dr. Verne C. Fryklund (left), president of Stout State College, and William Terrill, superintendent of Menomonie public schools, both of whose educational facilities are used for this west-central Wisconsin district competition.

WIS. WEST-CENTRAL CHERRY BAKE-OFF TO BE AT STOUT ON SATURDAY, DEC. 7

West-central Wisconsin's best cherry pie bakers will assemble on the campus of Stout state college here Saturday, December 7, when Miss Geraldine Rassbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald G. Rassbach, Route 2, will defend her local championship in district competition of the 1958 Wisconsin Cherry Pie Baking contest.

Miss Rassbach, a junior at Menomonie high school, earlier won her local contest in competition with seven of the best senior pie bakers at that high school. Last year 15 west-central Wisconsin high schools were represented in the district contest here and at least that many are expected for this year's event.

The "bake off" will be held in the high school home economics laboratories which Stout state college maintains on its campus. Directing the competition will be Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of the school of home economics at Stout, and Mrs. Frances Schneider, home economics teacher of Menomonie high school.

Each participant will bring from her home school her favorite baking utensils and other necessary materials. Cherries will be furnished by the Wisconsin Red Cherry Institute. During the day-long competition, each girl will bake a cherry pie from her own special recipe.

At exactly the proper moment, all pies will be evaluated by a panel of judges. Judges selected for the event are Clara Carrison, Dorothy Knutson and Frieda Kube, all members of the department of food and nutrition at Stout state college.

Winner of the Menomonie district bake off will receive an all-expense, two-day trip to the state contest for herself and a chaperone. At that event, Wisconsin's outstanding cherry pie baker will be selected for the 1958 national finals in Chicago.

SIDELINE SLANTS

.. With Johnny Bluedevil

Intramural volleyball is now underway with six teams entered. They have been playing since the 11th of November. The league consists of the FOB, Phi Omega Beta, Our Side, Volleyteers, Chi Lambda, and Phi Sigma Epsilon.

Jui Jitsu is also getting underway. Those wishing to try out are encouraged to do so. Later on the team will be paired down.

Badminton is also beginning and is slated for men's singles, men's doubles, and co-recreational with men and women.

The schedule for intramural basketball will be announced at a later date.

As a final wrap up on the football season, congratulations are in order to Jim Nadeau and Dick Tepp on making the North all conference team in the Wisconsin state conference.

Nadeau and Tepp are both seniors and were awarded this honor through a vote of all the coaches in the conference. This is the second straight year for Tepp on this honor team.

CAGERS LOSE TO ST. MARYS IN OPENER

Stout suffered its first defeat of the season last Tuesday night, being defeated in their opener by St. Mary's college 80-53. The bright spot of the game was the play of Keith Moessner and Bob Sorenson who scored 11 and 10 points respectively.

At half time the Bluedevils led 37-36. The second half was entirely St. Mary's as they pulled away to a commanding lead after the first five minutes.

It was indeed evident that the size of the court was a great hindrance to the Bluedevils' play. During the final 15 minutes Stout could hit for only six points.

Last night's game against the Northland Lumberjacks does not appear due to the fact that the results of the game arrived too late for publication.

To clear up a few questions, here is an explanation of the rule in conference basketball this year regarding the one and one free throw shot. All fouls not committed in the act of shooting will be awarded only one try at the foul line. For every foul a team makes in the excess of seven in a half, however, the one and one ruling will be in effect. In other words, if the player makes his first shot, he will be awarded an additional gift shot.

For you statistic-minded people, in the Bluedevils' contest against Northwestern last Tuesday, the cagers scored 41 points in the first twelve minutes. At this rate, had the first string not taken a rest, it would have been possible to score 140 points in the entire 40 minutes.

CAGERS TO FACE AUGSBURG AT HOME SATURDAY

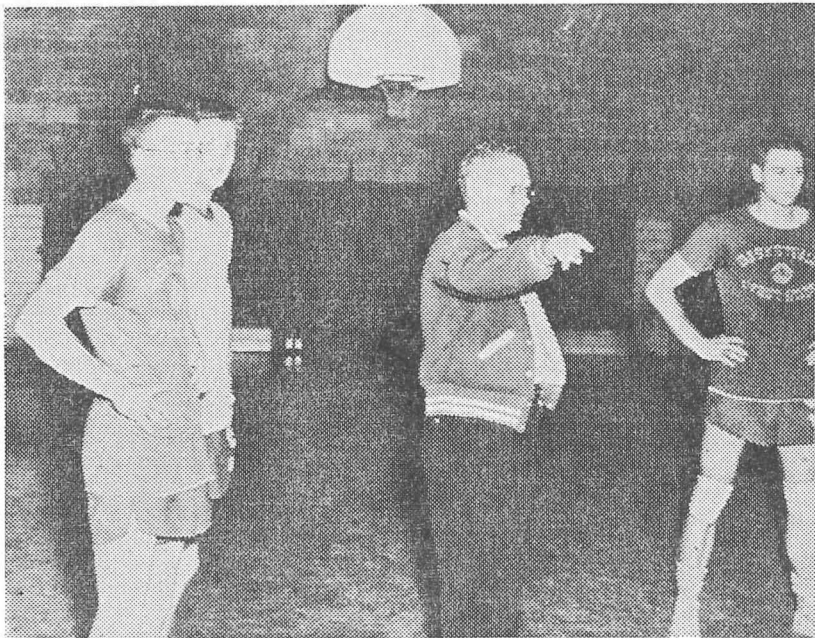

The Stout's cagers will be looking for their third victory of the season tomorrow night, as they play host to Augsburg college of Minneapolis at the high school gym.

The Auggies boast a well rounded attack this year, with very little difference separating their first and second strings.

Biggest thorns in the Bluedevil's side will probably prove to be Dick Robinson and freshman Dick Thompson who have led the scoring column for Augsburg thus far this season. Dick Green will also provide trouble with his fast defensive play.

The Auggies opened their season with a victory last week when they squeezed by River Falls from Wisconsin state conference in a thrilling 80-77 overtime victory. Augsburg trailed through the majority of the game, but their determination proved too much for the Indians.

Stout's Bluedevils will be in good condition for the game tomorrow night, following a four day rest since their following a two day rest since their last game against Northland of Ashland. The team has suffered one injury in their three tilts thus far this season which would hinder them tomorrow.

Coach Joe Gerlach gives a few pointers to Bill Hills and Jann Peterson for tomorrow's game against Augsburg.

BOB SORENSON, KEITH MOESSNER SUPPLY HIGH SCORING TO STOUT BASKETBALL SQUAD

Second in a series of articles

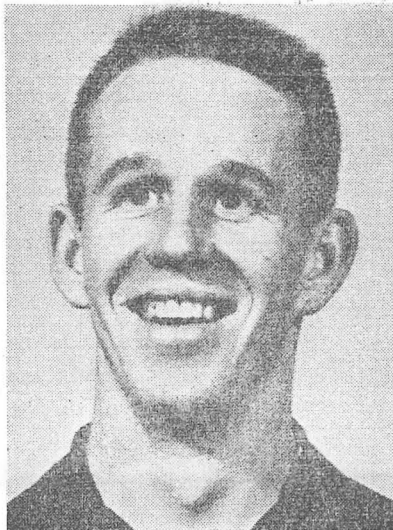

Two of the biggest point makers at Stout state college are Keith Moessner and Bob Sorenson.

Moessner averaged 19.3 points per game last year and Sorenson tallied for 14.7 points per game.

"Mogie" hails from Menomonie and was the Bluedevil's leading scorer last year. He was also captain of his high school team and won five letters in sports.

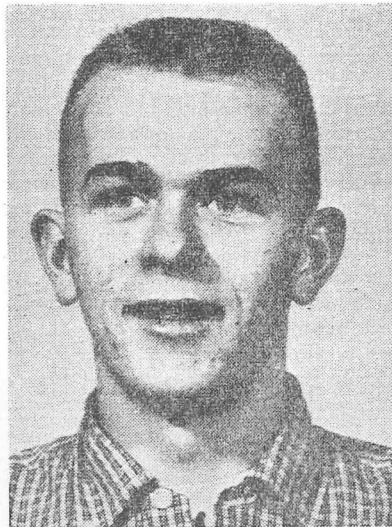

While in the service Moessner was

"I'm looking forward to a tremendous season this year due to the fact that we have last year's starting lineup back once again," remarks Moessner. "Having the needed experience means an awful lot when your opposition puts pressure on you in the final minutes of a game."

Our second Bluedevil is Bob Sorenson. Bob is from Milwaukee, and is a graduate of Milwaukee East high school. Sorenson plays forward for the Bluedevils and is 6 feet 2 inches tall. He is considered to be one of the best defensive players in the conference. He was Milwaukee's All-City lead-

STOUT DOWNS NORTHWESTERN IN HOME OPENER

A combination of speed, deadly shooting and good reserve strength, proved too much for Northwestern college of Minneapolis as Stout's cagers rambled to a 94-58 victory last Tuesday in the high school gym.

Stout's fast break counted for numerous points in the contest, the first coming with the game only eight seconds old.

The Bluedevils placed four men in double figures. Bob Sorenson led things off with 21, followed by Keith Moessner with 14, Jann Peterson with 14, and Glen Harke with 10.

The cager's reserve strength also showed promise as the first string received rests during the first quarter and most of the fourth.

Stout never trailed during the entire game and not once was the score knotted. The Bluedevils' widest margin was in the second half when they led by 42 points 80-38. Halftime score was 50-26.

"The team has a tremendous amount of spirit this year and that is the one ingredient that is a must if you are going to have a winning team regardless of what sport it is," states Sorenson.

It is obvious that to have a winning team you must have your point makers. In the true sense of the word Moessner and Sorenson will be trying to make every point that they can in all of the Bluedevil's basketball games.

In next week's Stoutonia we shall read about two more Bluedevil basketball players; these two players will be Herb Helm and Brian Howard.

CHRISTMAS SEASON OPENED BY FESTIVE BALL: STOUT GYM TRANSFORMED INTO FANTASY LAND

Silver stars, flocked silver trees, mirrors with black silhouettes, and a picture from a punch bowl decorated the Stout gym at the Panhellenic ball, "Christmas Fantasy," held last Saturday evening. Several Christmas trees and mistletoe added to the festive atmosphere.

Sorority members, their dates, advisors, and guests danced to the music of George Soderberg and his Royal Blackhaws. Christmas bough and silver decorated the bandstand at the bottom of the circular stairway.

Small groups of dance goers met for many and varied cocktail parties beforehand and for dinner parties following the ball. Cocktail dresses were the favorite attire for the occasion. Several of the traditional short and long formal were also in evidence.

Kathy Vao Doorn, Panhellenic president, was general chairman for the dance. Jeanne Machel was decoration chairman; Rita Casey, food and clean up chairman; and Barbara Hartig, program chairman. Actual work on the dance took several weeks while planning was begun months ago.

The Panhellenic ball is one of the occasions during the year when the different sororities have an opportunity to work together. The next Panhellenic sponsored function will be a sock hop early in spring.

HAYRIDE PARTY ENJOYED FRIDAY BY STUDENTS

Singing, talking, and joking highlighted the first hayride sponsored by the SSA last Friday night, December 6.

The students bundled themselves up with warm clothing for the brisk ride around the Menomonie countryside.

Because of the shortage of wagons and tractors the ride was divided into two shifts. This also enabled the latecomers to take part in the fun. All the wagons were packed full which helped to keep the students warmer.

Following the ride, a dance was held in the lounge at Tainter hall until midnight. Refreshments consisting of doughnuts and hot chocolate were served.

WEATHERBIRD

The weatherbird is dreaming of a white Christmas and forecasting warmer weather today.

"She'll warm up to a blistering 35 to 40 degrees by tomorrow," he said. "Partly cloudy skies may spill a little snow on the ground, but we don't look for much."

And there you have it—cloudy and warmer for the weekend.

HOLIDAY MUSIC PRESENTED BY BAND AND CHOIR

The annual Stout state college Christmas concert will be held December 1, 1957, in the Stout auditorium. Two performances are scheduled with the 9:30 a.m. concert open to students and a repeat performance at 8:00 p.m. for the public.

The Christmas concert is in three parts; band, choir, and combined band and choir. Some musical numbers featured in the theme of "The Spirit of Christmas is Found" will be "Overture to the Messiah" by Handel, "Alleluia" by Mozart, "Choral Prelude" by Bach, "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Carol of the Bells" by Leontovitch, "Mary Had a Baby" arranged by Parker, "Silent Night" by Gruber, "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" by Whitney, "All Glory, Laud and Honor" by Teschner, and the "Doxology Choral Prelude" by Leidzer. "Joy to the World," rendered by the combined band and choir will climax the concert.

Dr. Edfield Odegard, Stout band director, expressed a wish for a big turnout to make this concert really worthwhile. Why not take advantage of the privilege of attending the concert and make every possible effort to be there?

CHRISTMAS TEA PLANS MADE FOR WEDNESDAY

Plans are being made for the Home Economics club's annual Christmas Tea to be held December 18 in Harvey Memorial from 3:00-5:00 p.m.

Jean Sprain is general chairman of the event which has the theme of "Silver Bells." Working with Jean are a number of club members on various committees.

Carol Frank is chairman of the food committee. Barb Berkseth is chairman of the music, Pat Wenner is chairman of decorations, Evie Kimura is chairman of hostesses and replenishers, Judy Steiner is chairman of cleanup and Loretta Sletten is chairman of publicity.

Social chairman, Rita Casey is also initiating plans for a new activity known as a Twelfth Night Party. It is temporarily planned for January 6.

The Twelfth Night Party is to be a social event for members of the club with singing of Christmas carols, and burning of the Christmas tree and wishes for the coming year. A coffee hour will conclude the evening.

SPECIAL CLASS ORGANIZED FOR NEXT SEMESTER

Interested persons in the community, or regularly enrolled college students, will have the opportunity next semester to enroll for a Stout state college Saturday class in "Production of Audio-Visual Materials."

According to the announcement by officials of the college, the class will be a regular college course, carrying two undergraduate or two graduate credits. Part-time Wisconsin students will pay a fee of $17. Non-residents will pay $25.

Class meetings, beginning late in January, will take place for eighteen weeks every Saturday morning from 8:30 to 12. Enrollment will be limited to 10 persons.

Anyone is eligible who has completed a basic course in audio-visual education and in elementary photography, or possesses of equivalent experience. Major activity in the class will be instruction in the production of motion pictures and film strips.

Taught by Dr. P. Barnard, head of Stout's audio-visual center, the class will continue the highly-regarded Stout policy of providing students with an opportunity to gain practical experience in all phases of motion picture and film strip production by actually working on current Stout state college projects.

This year, among such current projects, a sound, color motion picture on printing press work is being filmed. Students in the Saturday class will have an opportunity to work on this instructional movie. Such successful pictures as "My Pop's a Lineman," "Industrial Education in Your Future" and "Design Your Future" were the work of earlier classes in "Production of Audio-Visual Materials."

Interested persons possessing the basic qualifications stated earlier should contact Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of school of industrial education at Stout state college. They will receive specific details on enrollment at that time.

MANY SUPERSTITIONS PREVAIL FRI., 13TH

Today is the thirteenth of December. To make matters worse, it's Friday the thirteenth. Although no one is completely certain about the origin of the superstitions about Friday the thirteenth, broken mirrors, and dropped spoons, everyone gives a certain consideration to these events.

You've noticed your acquaintances rub their ears and say, "Someone's talking about me." You've thrown salt over one shoulder and knocked on wood twice a day, bet on all the lucky sevens, and waited anxiously for your lucky birthday.

You've scrupulously avoided stepping on cracks in the sidewalks, rocking empty rocking chairs and walking under ladders.

These are only a few of the hundreds of do's and don'ts of superstition-land that we've grown up with through the years, but now as Christmas approaches and we realize we've lived to the ripe old age of 19 or 20 and we're still kicking, in spite of numerous blunders along the road, we wonder just a little bit.

Perhaps today is our lucky day. Well, a week from today is for sure, because school's out for a while! (better knock on wood though).

Enjoying the fun of the SSA hayride Friday night were Marshall Wake, Janice Weber, and John Wilke, appearing in the upper right-hand corner of the picture

LOST ANYTHING? I. E. MAJORS ASSIGNED OFF-CAMPUS TEACHING

As I was waltzing (I don't know how to mambo) around campus last night, (I'd tell you what time it was except I had lost my watch), I found some very interesting items. Of course I turned them in to the APO bright and early this morning (or was it late). There was one girl who was really glad to get her glasses back because her seeing eye dog was costing too much.

As I walked through Harvey hall I slipped and fell right on my head. I knew right away that I had tripped, so I got out my trusty rusty flashlight and looked around. Sure enough, some boy had lost his earring. Farther down the hall was his purse and ring. I'll bet he'll be glad when he finds out they are in the APO office.

I sure would like to be in the girl's gym class. Don't ask me gym's name because I don't know it. But anyway, it seems as though a couple of girls are running around in corral No. 6 because their gym suits are in the APO office.

Then we walked over to the trades building. Was that a laugh! There sat a couple of drawing majors trying to draw with their fingers. I guess it worked out all right until it came to drawing. Over in Bowman the trig boys are sure learning to count. They must do it on their fingers because we have their slip sticks.

Seriously though the APO has a large number of lost and found items (I think we have more found items than lost items). Why don't you drop around and see us sometime. If you're looking for something stop by and maybe you won't have to clean up your room to find those gloves, over-shoes, bracelets, locks, glasses, and other assorted items.

Well, I guess I'll mosey along home. Say where did I put that jacket now?

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

With the success of the Russian satellites Suptnik I and II, and the one failure of the United States Vanguard, the Soviet Union has been supplied with one of the greatest propaganda items in history. We as citizens sit back and blame the government for such a blunder, and yet we are guilty of almost as great a mistake, which has been supplying the Russians with propaganda material for the past several years. This is the topic of physical fitness.

In recent years, the Soviets have been pushing a physical fitness boom which is unparalleled anywhere in the world today. As a result they are gradually winning world supremacy in the field of sports, which was only too evident in the recent Olympic games in which they overcame a large lead by the United States to walk away with top honors.

The Soviet grade and high school student far exceeds his American counterpart in physical fitness. Sports however, to the Russian citizen are not regarded in the same way as we would think of playing a set of tennis or shooting a game of golf. To Jerry Cooke, photographer and reporter for SPORTS ILLUSTRATED magazine, who visited the Soviet Union lately, "They seem withdrawn, concentrated, even grim at their games, often as much so as their top athletes in international contests." He felt that nobody was having much fun, that everyone works as hard at his sport as at his job, that sport is, in fact, just another job to be done.

The average American always seems too busy to participate in sports. He would rather sit in a drug store and have a malt, or talk on the telephone to his girl than be out enjoying the wonderful recreational facilities that are available for his use. There is a sport to fit every person who has the will to try. Whether it be an individual sport such as fishing or hunting, or a team sport like basketball or volleyball, anyone should easily be able to fulfill his or her needs.

There is even no excuse for those of you that enjoy team sports that always say, "Well I'm not good enough to make the team." As an example, here at Stout there is a wide selection of intramural sports that the average student may participate in.

Lets quit crying about something that only scientists can take care of, and get out and do something which is within our own power.

CLUB NEWS

A project currently under way in the Delta Zeta sorority is the making of stuffed animals. These toys will be turned over to the Chippewa county home for children to serve as Christmas presents for the children there. Another Christmas project is that selling of master mix cook books. These handy little cook books contain many tested recipes for cakes, cookies, and desserts, and also make very nice Christmas presents.

Miss Knutson and Miss Perman, the two advisors of Delta Zeta, have planned a party for the sorority at their apartment on December 15, Sunday afternoon.

The Omega chapter of Phi Sigma Epsilon this past week was preparing for a pregame "Pizza Party," December 14 and their annual Christmas caroling with the sororities on campus.

Following the caroling, at the dorms and the Memorial hospital, the sororities and the Phi Sigs enjoyed coffee, cake and cocoa at the Phi Sig House.

At the present, two members are off campus teaching; Loren Johnson at Stevens Point and Bob Krejcie at Beaver Dam.

Recently the members of the Metals Guild took a field trip to Owatonna, Minnesota to visit Josten's. Josten's is the biggest class ring manufacturer in the United States. The group was given the red carpet treatment.

Coffee and donuts were served on their arrival. A tour of the plant was conducted and lunch was served. The group then went on a tour of the printing department.

It might be interesting to know that while the members were going through the plant they were being ob-

PRIVATE COLLEGES COST $2,000, SURVEY FINDS

A new survey by the U.S. office of Education indicates undergrads in private colleges are paying about $2,000 a year and in public colleges about $1500. These are about double the figures of 1939-40 when private college students had expenditures of $1,023 and those at public institutions $747. Figures include educational costs, (tuition, fees, books, instructional supplies, and equipment) and living recreation, entertainment, etc). The base year for the survey was 1952-53. Projections for 1957 have considered cost or living index and rise in tuition and other college fees.

More than 15,000 students from 110 colleges were included in the random sample for the survey conducted by Ernest V. Hollis. Two thirds of the new students worked, earning an average of $486 a year. Half the women students were found to work, averaging $265. Ten per cent of the women came from families with annual incomes less than $3000. Such low-income group families devoted about one-fifth of their incomes to a child in college. The cost of living at college, rather than educational costs, makes it difficult for low income families to finance attendance of a son or daughter at most colleges. On the average, families supplied 41 per cent of the college costs to students; 29 per cent came from the students' own savings, and they earned 17 per cent after entering college. Other sources were: scholarships 5 per cent; veterans and rehabilitation programs 5 per cent; loans 1 per cent; and miscellaneous 2 per cent.

served as future employees. Stout now has a few of its graduates working at Josten's.

The Metals Guild has again put up the Christmas tree in Bowman Hall, as they have in previous years.

Members of Stout Christian Fellowship journeyed to Eau Claire for a joint meeting and social time last Tuesday night. The meeting was based on Christmas and took the place of the group's regular Christmas social here on campus.

Other plans for the future being discussed now include the showing of another Christian science film similar to the film "Hidden Treasures" which was shown last year and enjoyed by all in attendance

MEN OUTNUMBER COLLEGE COEDS IN WISCONSIN

For girls only!

There was a time when the normal schools of Wisconsin were primarily girls' schools. Even as late as the turn of the century the graduating class was feminine by more than two to one.

But things have changed.

Today the state colleges enroll almost twice as many men as women and the 1957 graduating class was male by a two-to-one ratio. In such a man-dominated college world a coed can be lost or neglected.

That must not happen.

The 4,363 girls who attend state colleges are a highly select group. Nearly nine out of 10 are from the upper half of their high school graduating class. In this year's freshman class only one girl out of every 50 comes from the lower fourth of her high school classmates.

The girls come to college with better records than their male classmates and they continue to be better students. One serious hazard they face: matrimony. By the time they are seniors they have seen their group dwindle to less than half its original size and college officials name marriage as a primary cause.

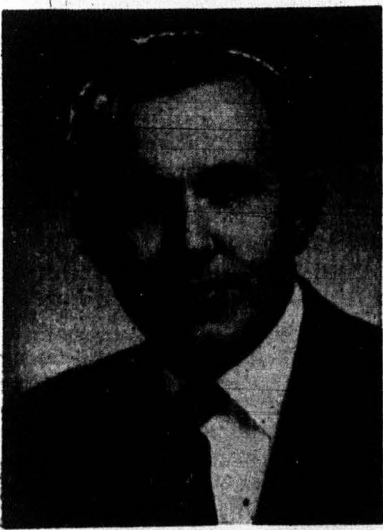

This year eight out of 10 girls plan to be teachers after graduation. They outnumber men in the elementary field six to one, but as high school teachers they find themselves outnumbered one to three.

In other professional courses the college girls are outnumbered six to one by males. In liberal arts the ratio is four to one in favor of males.

Only at Stout state college do the coeds almost equal the men in number.

At the Institute of Technology at Platteville things are different. The "Miners," 316 strong, are all men, a dream-come-true for that rare girl who wants to become an engineer.

SALM AND KUBITZ FILL HOME EC CLUB OFFICES

Recently elected to fill offices in the Home Economics club were Joanne Salm and Katchen Kubitz. Joanne is the new treasurer of the Wisconsin Home Economics college club section, and Katchen is the new editor of the local club.

Both women have excellent records of past experiences to aid them in their new responsibilities. Joanne was active in FHA activities in high school and served that organization as state president when she was a senior. Joanne graduated from Chilton high school and, at present, is a sophomore at Stout, majoring in home economics education.

Katchen attended high school in Janesville. There she was co-editor of the high school's yearbook and newspaper. Katchen is also a sophomore majoring in home economics education.

The Home Economics club council now has 16 members which include the six officers, chairman of the seven standing committees, and three class representatives.

Officers of the club are president, Rhea Van Vleet; president-elect, Opal Burton; vice-president, Beverly Duerkop; secretary, Shirley Budde; treasurer, Mary Hitesman, and editor-historian, Katchen Kubitz.

Chairman of the standing committees are program, Ardelle Dregne; social, Rita Casey; finance, Joanne Salm; song and music, Jo Scheevel; poster and publicity, Mary Ann Parker; roll call, Gloria Scholz; and money making, Jane Thompson.

Representing the freshmen class is Mary Metz; sophomore class, Jo Hanson; and the junior class, Louise Grant. The increase in council membership is one result of a recently revised club constitution which was ratified at the club's October meeting. Council formerly had seven members.

CENTRAL AND SOUTH AMERICAN STUDENTS STUDYING U.S. EDUCATION BACKGROUND

Typical of the foreign students of nine nations now in attendance at Stout state college are three recently arrived men from Central and South America. Some are sent to this country by foreign business concerns, but the greater number enter under the "Point Four" program.

After arriving in the United States, they attend American university for a two weeks intensive course in the English language. Each then goes to the college offering the training which he desires. At Stout, these students may enroll for a full degree course or, as is often the case, they complete only a year at each of the several colleges to develop a general background of American education.

Present on the campus this semester is Genaro Enrique Frago, a Nicaraguan who is taking work in the area of administration. Upon his return to his native country, he will be assistant to the principal at the National Technical Vocational Institute.

That school presently enrolls 300 Nicaraguan boys in nine shops for a four year course similar to that at Stout. Head of the school is a graduate of the University of Michigan. Three other Americans are also faculty members.

From another Central American nation, Costa Rica, comes Edward Chaves. Edward is an instructor in his native country and, after experience in American teacher training institutions, will return to Costa Rica and teach the schools of that land.

A South American resident is Juan A. Pereira, an educator from the school system of Bolivia. Possessing 14 years experience in the educational field, Juan will return as supervisor of 14 Bolivian trade schools.

Although a primary desire of such visiting students is to gain a knowledge of American educational practices and techniques for use in the schools of their homeland, a large number have decided from observing American schools, that there must also be an extension in the social life of the students attending their schools.

As one visitor described the situation, "We need to contribute more to the life of our pupils. To fill their needs only during the school day is not enough. Now we must begin to reach them after the formal school day is closed."

The reaction of visiting students at Stout seems to be one of satisfaction with the educational and social opportunities being afforded them. As one such visitor recently explained, "I certainly like this college. Not only am I getting what my country wants me to learn, but Stout is like one big family."

STOUT BLUEDEVILS ROMP TO FOUR STRAIGHT WINS

Conquests Include Two Over Northland Lumberjacks Of Ashland; Eau Claire Next

The Stout Blue Devils scorched the nets for 84 points on December 5, to defeat a Northland quintet 84 to 64 in initial meeting of the two teams. This the Blue Devils second consecutive win.

At the half way point Stout held a 12 point lead 44 to 32 and went on to increase this lead in the second half. High point man was Jann Peterson, who hit the hoop for 20 points.

Sorenson was next with 18, Moessner with 16, and Howard with 13 as the Blue Devils played aggressive and winning basketball. It is hoped that this type of teamplay will continue throughout the season.

Running their string to four consecutive wins the Stout Blue Devils rolled over the Northland Lumberjacks 95 to 66 Tuesday night, December 10.

Smooth passing and aggressive re-

EAU CLAIRE, ST. CLOUD, SUPERIOR FACE STOUT

This coming week finds a full slate facing the Stout cagers, as they take on three opponents in six days.

Tomorrow night the Blue Devils will open their conference season as they play host to Eau Claire state college in the high school gym.

Eau Claire is a strong title contender this year in the conference and promises to give the Blue Devils a run for their money.

Previously this season the Blue Devils defeated Hamline University of Minneapolis in a thrilling overtime. The Pipers are an extremely powerful team in the Minnesota intercollegiate Athletic Conference, and are slated to repeat as conference champions this year.

Next Monday, the Blue Devils will battle another non-conference tilt with St. Cloud teachers college of Minnesota. St. Cloud also has a powerful squad this year, boasting a four win non-conference record thus far this season. This game will also be played on Stout's home court.

The following Thursday, coach Gerlach's squad will journey to Superior Wisconsin for their second conference game of the season.

bounding were the deciding factors in the game. At half time Stout held a five point lead, 39-34. During the entire first half Stout was playing even ball and was not applying too much pressure to the Lumberjacks.

HOOPSTERS IN RAMBLE OVER AUGSBURG 87-60

An aroused, fighting Stout state college Blue Devil quintet roared in the last half of a game played here last Saturday night to soundly trounce the Augsburg Auggies of Minneapolis by a count of 87 to 60. The play of the Blue Devils, as well as that of the Auggies, was marred by many personal fouls during the first half that found the midway score only 38 to 34 in favor of the Stouters.

Jann Peterson, Blue Devil guard, opened the contest by sinking a field goal after the game was but 45 seconds old. The match was underway three minutes before the visitors connected for a 2 pointer, making the score 8 to 2. After this, Stout had a little more control of the situation until about eight minutes remained in the half. At this point, the Blue Devils lost their lead for a few brief moments as both teams jockeyed for the ball. After this, the Stouters were never tied or seriously threatened.

For Stout, a sluggish first half offensive almost derailed the Blue Devil express, but the equally inept play of the Auggies offset this as both teams exchanged more than the average number of free throws caused by some tight defensive playing. Both clubs utilized strong benches to spell starters. This is a point which has seriously hurt past Blue Devil squads. Outstanding for the Blue Devils were guard Glen Harke, center Bill Kindschy and forward Herb Helm.

Three minutes into the last half, the final outcome became rather evident as the Stout cagers began to break the contest wide open as their offensive finally got into the right gear. At this point, the Auggies were behind 40 to 36. Ten minutes later, the score was 59 to 43 and the Blue Devil margin was widening. It reached 29 points at one time. A blistering fast break coupled with a collapsing Augsburg defense provided the means for guards Keith Moessner and Jann Peterson to set up and penetrate the visitor's court with deadly passes and shots.

Probably the outstanding offensive play of the night was one pulled off by Stout guard Keith Moessner. With one Augsburg defensive man definitely in the better position, Keith faked and drove around him, under the basket, and somehow got the shot off. The ball went through the net for the required two points, Moggie falling flat on the floor. It was a play long to be remembered, and one that symbolized completely the fighting spirit that is rampant among this year's edition of the Blue Devil squad.

High point man for Stout was Moes-

HOWARD, HELM, PROVIDE REBOUNDED AND BALL HANDLING TO BASKETBALL SQUAD

Third in a series of articles

Aggressive rebounding and smooth ball handling are fields in which Brian Howard and Herb Helm excel. These two Blue Devils are both playing their third year of basketball for Stout.

Brian Howard a junior hails from

HOWARD

Chetek and was one of Stout's more effective scorers and rebounders last year. He was captain of the Chetek basketball team and was also selected to the regional and all-tournament teams.

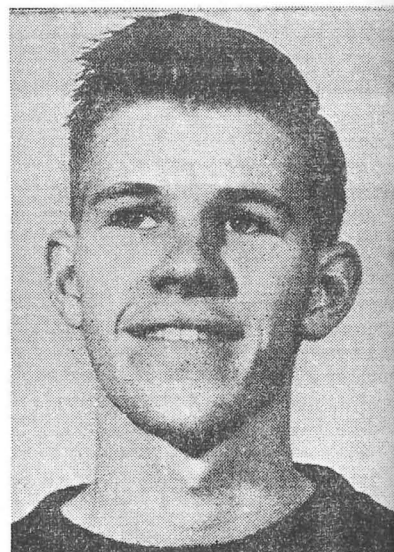

Howard also has excellent driving ability and his 6 feet 4 inches make him one of the taller men on the squad.

"We surely are anxious to win our share of ball games this year. Our aggressiveness should really help in the tougher conference games," relates Howard.

Herb Helm is also a junior at Stout. Herb resides at Winneconne. He won 12 letters in sports at Winneconne high school. He is an exceptional corner shot and plays a very smooth floor game. Helm stands 6 feet 1 inch and operates at forward.

"This year's team is one in which any player can really have a hot night scorching the nets," states Helm. "The opposition can not afford to watch anyone player too long due to our team balance and scoring potential."

Howard with 32 followed by Jim Bolm and Peterson with 15 and 14 respectively. Dale Roffers was tops for the visitors with 12 markers. Outstanding on defense for the Blue Devil basketballers were forward Bob Sorenson, Peterson, and center Bolm. These three cagers gave the Stout cause rather complete control of the backboards during the second half.

ities." Next week we feature Bill Hills and Bill Kindschy.

GRAPPLERS OPEN WITH STEVENS POINT MEET

Wisconsin Central College at Stevens Point will be the sight of the Stout debut into the wrestling arena. The Blue Devils travel tomorrow to participate in the four team Invitational wrestling tournament. This marks the first time that Stout has been represented with a grappling squad.

The Blue Devils will weigh in at five p.m. in Menomonie before leaving for Stevens Point. Preliminaries start at 9:45 the next morning while the finals and consolations will be determined at 1 p.m.

And It Came To Pass . . .

Peace On Earth, Good Will Toward Men

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.

And all went to be taxed, everyone into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; because he was of the house and lineage of David,

To be taxed with Mary, his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn. And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

And they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;
And mamma in her kerchief, and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap,—
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutter and threw up the sash.
The moon, on the breast of the new-fallen snow,
Gave a lustre of midday to the objects below;
When what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver, so lively and quick
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name:
"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixon!
On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Dunder and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall!
Now, dash away, dash away, dash away all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
So, up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
With a sleigh full of toys, and St. Nicholas, too.
And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
His eyes, how they twinkled; his dimples, how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry;
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And his beard on his chin was as white as the snow.
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath.
He had a broad face, and a little round belly
That shook, when he laughed, like a bowl full of jelly.
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself.
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
And laying a finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose.
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle;
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight:
"Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good night!"

THE NIGHT AFTER CHRISTMAS

'Twas the night after Christmas—and boy what a house!
I felt like the devil! And so did the spouse.
The eggnog and candy and turkey were swell
But ten hours later they sure gave me H—?
The stockings weren't hung by the chimney with care.—
The darned were sprawled on the back of the chair
The children were nestled all snug in their bed,
But I had a large cake of ice on my head
And when at long last I dozed off in a nap
The ice woke me up as it fell in my lap.
Then for some unknown reason, I wanted a drink,
And so, started feeling my way to the sink.
And I got along fine till I stepped on the cat.
But I just don't recall what occurred after that.
When I came to, the house was all flooded with light,
Through under the table, I was high as a kite.
While visions of sugar plums danced in my head
I somehow got up and got back to my bed.
Then what, to my wandering mind should appear,
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer.
Then the sleigh seemed to change to a red fire truck
And each reindeer changed to a bleary eyed buck;
I knew in a moment it must be old Nick
I tried to cry out but my tongue was too thick.
Then the old devil whistled and shouted with glee
While each buck pawed the earth and looked daggers at me.
Then he called them by name and the names made me shudder
When I heard them I felt like a ship without a rudder.
"Now Eggnog! Barcardi! Four Roses! and Brandy!
Now Fruit Cake! Cold Turkey! Gin-Rickey and Candy!
To the top of his dome to the top of his skull,
Now whack away, crack away, with thumps that are dull!"
And then in a twinkling I felt on my roof
The prancing and pawing of each cloven hoof.
How long this went on I'm sure I can't say,
Though it seemed an eternity, plus a long day.
But finally, the Night After Christmas had passed
And I found I could really think straight at last.
So I thought of the New Year a few days away
And I've made my vows that no tempter can sway.
So a big "Happy New Year" to you and to all,
I'm back on the wagon, and I hope I don't fall!

TAINTER HALL HOLDS CHRISTMAS SUPPER AND COFFEE HOUR TO HELP CELEBRATE SEASON

Christmas festivities at Tainter hall began with a buffet supper on Wednesday, December 11. This was one of four celebrations put on by the Food Service and Institutional Management classes. Candles and Christmas trees furnished the atmosphere, while place mats were also in keeping with the holiday theme.

"Around the World in 80 Minutes" was carried out at the coffee hour held in the lounge on Sunday, December 15. Poinsettias and white mums made up the centerpiece. The red and green dresses of the hostesses and assistants added to the festive air.

The food served and their respective countries were: Krumaka, the Scandinavian countries; fruitcake, England; snowballs, Switzerland; rumballs, Russia; crescents, Austria; oatmeal cookies, Scotland; and meringues and nuts, United States. Tea, coffee, cranberry punch, and eggnog were also served. Music was provided by Jean Owen, Ann Marie Dahl, Sarah Williams, Pat Wenner, Mary Mueller, Marge Brown, and Sarah Albrecht.

As all the girls were gathered in the lounge at 10:30 Monday evening, who should appear but Santa Claus himself. He asked everyone if they had been good girls and when he found out they had he had something for each of them—a stocking filled with fruit, candy, and nuts. After having hot spiced tea and German stollen the girls went to their room all tired out.

Tuesday evening a traditional dinner of turkey and all the trimmings was served. Place mats representing the famed Charles Dickens' Christmas Carol were used. The dining room was lit by candles and Christmas trees.

Following this dinner there was a program in the lounge. The music club sang. The girls' quartet sang "Oh, Come, All Ye Faithful" and "Silent Night." As Kelly Keliher drew a picture, Sarah Albrecht sang "O Holy Night." The Christmas Story was read by Jackie Zielenski with background music by Pat Wenner and Sarah Williams. This was indeed an evening never to be forgotten.

Tonight the "going home" party will take place at 10:30 for the girls in the lounge. Bev Voight and Alice Johnson will do a takeoff on "I Yust Go Nuts at Christmas." Following that all girls will participate in games and carol singing. The serving of refreshments will conclude the program for the evening and also bring to a close the festivities for the 1957 Christmas season at Tainter hall.

NOTICES

*Christmas vacation will begin at 11:20 Friday the 20th of December. As usual, Thursday and Friday are NO CUT days. Classes will resume on Monday the 6th of January. Monday is also considered a NO CUT day.

CHRISTMAS vacation starts

PHI SIG FRAT SPONSORS PIZZA PARTY

Before the Eau Claire game Saturday night the Phi Sigs served a true Italian meal to a huge number of students and Menomonie residents. Young and old alike found the delicious pizza a good pre-game treat. Many who had their first taste of pizza and the connoisseur of the pizza pie both agreed that it was the best pizza served in this area.

The scene of the feed was the spacious cafeteria in St. Paul's church school. The room was constantly filled with pizza lovers between the hours of 5 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. The tasty pizza was served with a beverage in a matter of minutes after the order was taken.

Ron Anderson, chairman of the event, included every possible detail to make the supper a complete success. Ron Critser provided a soothing atmosphere of hi-fi music. The entire force of the Red Shirts were on hand working hard and continuously to give everyone the best possible service.

The numerous comments the Phi Sigs received automatically give them the go-ahead to plan another pizza party. For those who enjoyed the party and for those who had the misfortune of missing out on it can now rest assured that the Phi Sigs will be holding another pizza party for you in the near future.

WEATHERBIRD

"Clear skies are ahead for tomorrow," the weatherbird said this morning. "The mercury will stay down around the twenty mark, too."

Sunday will usher in partly cloudy skies and a chance of snow in the air, so there still seems to be some chance of having a white Christmas.

Season's greetings from the weatherbird. As he says, "Noel, man, Noel."

GREETINGS FROM THE PRESIDENT

Christmas is coming! Yes, I realize that for weeks all of us have been aware of innumerable Christmas displays in advertisements and stores, but I'm speaking of the more subtle, yet very real, change which takes place on the Stout campus every year about this time.

The famous friendly spirit of Stout state college is now particularly in evidence. This, too, is the pleasant interlude of our Christmas concert, traditional caroling, Christmas tea, and other holiday festivities. It is truly a happy season, a time to be enjoyed to the utmost.

But this is also a holy season and that spirit permeates both campus and community. The many churches of the city offer a variety of special religious services. Most of us already look forward to attending some time-honored Christmas worship in our own community.

So, as you leave to spend the holidays with family and friends, let me extend to you, in the name of all of us at Stout state college, our sincere wish for a safe, pleasant holiday season.

VERNE C. FRYKLUND

PRESIDENT

CHRISTMAS CONCERT PRESENTED WEDNESDAY

FEATURING BAND AND CHORUS IN HOLIDAY MOOD

"A Christmas present to the community" as the special Christmas concert which the music department of Stout state college produced in the college auditorium on Wednesday, December 18. Dr. Edfield Odegard, chairman of the music department, directed.

According to the administration of the college, the evening concert was open to area residents free of charge because of their interest in and cooperation with the many activities of Stout state college. Stout students heard the concert that Wednesday morning at a special convocation.

Participating in the holiday event were 140 student performers, all members of the Stout concert band and mixed choir. This year, members of the audience also joined the band and choir in singing carols during the processional and recessional.

Six soloists were heard during the program. They included Sarah Albrecht, Neillville; Vivian Baumann, Lake Geneva; Marilyn Blotz, Dodgeville; Betty Sandstrom, Barron; Betty Schott, Milwaukee; and Marilyn Utter, Delevan. Steven Saxton, Alma, accompanied several of the special numbers.

A varied program was offered during the concert. The concert band opened with "The Messiah" overture and other appropriate numbers. Theme of the central portion of the presentation was "The Spirit of Christmas Is Found" and included seasonal music from the Appalachian Mountain people, Huron Indians, American Negroes and other cultures.

A chorale prelude introducing the "Doxology," and the recessional, "Joy to the World," closed the holiday concert.

NOTICE!

Reserve books may be taken Friday, December 20, beginning at 7:15 a.m. and continuing until 11:45 a.m. They will be due at 8:30 a.m. Monday, January 6.

All other library books and magazines taken out before vacation will be due during the day of Monday, January 6.

HATSHOP ELVES DEVELOP FLAIR

'Twas three weeks before Christmas when all through Santa's hatshop

Sixteen busy elves were developing their flair.

The materials were draped on the buckrams with care

The headblocks were placed on the shelf after wear.

The hats were all nestled all snug in their boxes

While visions of fashions danced in the crowns

And Ann in her white rabbit Juliette

Had just settled down for an evening of work.

She added the sparkle of sequins for a holiday touch

Wearable also with a ponytail and just $3.50.

When out in the hall there arose such a clatter

She sprang from her chair to see what was the matter.

In came 15 mad hatters, took out their hats,

And there arose a great chatter.

For Christmas was coming and Santa Vanek

Desired a sneak preview before their great trek.

When what to our wondering eyes should appear,

But hats of all sizes and shapes for this year.

With a happy good teacher so lively and quick

We knew in a moment it must be Vanek.

And she motioned and nodded and called them by name:

Now Jo, now Zander, now McDonlen and Okley,

On Louette, on Almar, and Rose Mary.

Leading the parade of Christmas elves is Rose Mary

With her red velvet mushroom

She has carried out Santa's theme

With her white maraboo trim

Adding a festive touch to the holiday parade

Is elf Bette with her pillbox of soft pink fur

A rose velvet ribbon tacked down with care

And a lable exclusive for Zander

Gives Bette a creation of her very own.

Dark warm tones are also in view

Carol chose a derby with a brown deep crown

To complete her costume to wear to town.

Doning another earth color quite popular this year

Is Ann with her gold swede-cloth

And the fashionable deep crown accented with trim

Jo Sommers, another of Vanek's elves

Has created a Black wool hat

The matching satin band for trim

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

We are now in the midst of what can be called the most festive and beautiful season of the year. It certainly should be joyous, for this time has been set aside to celebrate the greatest single event of all time; the birth of Christ.

As we take leave of our campus today, let it be with deep respect and appreciation for the full meaning that this season brings. To be able to celebrate this miraculous event in this country of ours is in itself a privilege that we must indeed be thankful for.

With these thoughts in our minds, the entire staff of the Stoutonia wishes the students, alumni, faculty and administration a most blessed Christmas and an equally joyous New Year.

So let us remain respectful for the many things that this season brings upon us. Let us also be thankful that a star spangled banner still waves over the land of the free and the home of the brave while many a Christmas carol rings forth.

CLUB NEWS

Tri Sigma sorority girls have been busy the last few weeks collecting Butternut Coffee key strips which will provide toys for orphan children at Christmas time. They have also collected an abundance of food, clothing and gifts for a particular family in Menomonie. Mark Suk, Social Service chairman will deliver the baskets of "goodies" to the family shortly before Christmas.

Miss Hazel VanNess's apartment was the scene of a very enjoyable formal Christmas tea held last Saturday for all Tri Sigmas.

Members and pledges joined together Sunday noon for dinner at the Marion Hotel preceeding formal iniation for the pledges. The following girls were initiated into Sigma Sigma Sigma: Nancy Cory, Barbara Grover, Evie Kichefski, and Laura Kiel.

Following the meeting last Thursday evening, Tri Sigma's accompanied the three other sororities and Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity on a caroling party to the hospital and freshman dorms. Following the carols everyone enjoyed a lunch at the Phi Sig fraternity house.

Evergreen boughs and candles provided the background for the 4-H Christmas party held December 11 at the Newman club center. General chairman of the party was Kay Vanda. Serving under her were Deanna Howell, refreshments; Nancy Monick, recreation; Marilyn Bangs, decorations; and Jean Sprain, publicity.

Following some enjoyable games, a lunch was served. Gifts were exchanged and the party was closed with the singing of Christmas carols.

Stout state faculty and students attended the Home Economics club annual Christmas Tea, December 18, in Harvey Memorial from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

"Silver Bells," was the theme chosen by the decorations committee. The entrance was decorated with a huge outline of a bell. The refreshment table consisted of pine boughs laden with snow and all sizes of silver bells. Decorations for the rest of the Memorial followed the pattern of the centerpiece. Pat Wenner was chairman of the decorating committee.

Presiding at the refreshment table were Dean Kirk, Miss Ann Noble, Miss Dorothy Clure, and Miss Sarah Littlefield. Rhea VanVleet, Opal Burton, Shirley Budde, and Mary Histesman assisted in pouring.

Christmas cookies, punch, coffee, mints, and nuts were on the menu. Carol Frank was chairman of the food committee.

Jean Sprain was chairman of this annual Christmas event. Other chairmen were Barb Berkseth, music; Judy Steiner, clean-up; and Loretta Sletten, publicity.

For the first Twelfth night party at Stout State college, Carol Barber has been appointed chairman. The event is part of the Home Economics club social program. Due to conflicts of other school activities, the club will sponsor the party January 8. The celebration will be in the circle.

The Twelfth Night party is an old English custom celebrated January 6. The Twelfth Night, at Epiphany, is a festival coming 12 days after Christmas, commemorating the visit of the Wise Men to Bethlehem.

Originally, it was a religious festival, but like most holidays, it became another time of celebration. In England at one time, the Twelfth Night was celebrated almost as much as Christmas.

According to tradition, carols are sung for the last time, the Christmas tree is taken down, and decorations are put away for another season.

PHI UPSILON OMICRON BEGINS PROJECT TO HELP CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY EVENTS

"Happy Birthday, Janet!" With this wish Ann Janda, president, presented Janet Crook, a freshman at Tainter hall, a birthday cake through the co-operation of Phi Upsilon Omicron. This year Phi U is sponsoring a new project. A letter was sent to all parents of freshman boys and girls informing them that for a slight fee Phi U would arrange to have a birthday cake delivered to their son or daughter on the day of their birthday.

A card was enclosed in the letter to be returned along with the birthday cake specifications. The cake may be an angel food, white or yellow layer cake; also a white, sunshine, or chocolate sheet cake. The choice of frosting and decoration is up to the parents.

Helen Froehlich is the chairman of this project. Serving on her committee are Beverly Duerkop, Betty Havlik, Kathy VanDoorn, Barbara Williams and Jermaine Folkman.

Janet Crook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crook of Ripon, was the first recipient of this new project. Phi U hopes that they will be able to deliver many more "Happy Birthday

1958 RESOLUTIONS — HEAP 'EM OR KEEP 'EM

Several Stout students have made their resolutions for the coming year. Their only worries seem to be considering how long they can keep their wishes.

Tony Pollino resolves to be just Tony, a friend to anyone and every one. Rhea Van Vleet has resolved to trade "Sheasta" off for a newer car, while Jo Scheevel plans to spend more time in Minneapolis than Menomonie. Toots Bocke hopes to keep the resolutions she made and broke last year.

A resolution to make at least one pilgrimage to the library to note any changes in the outside structure is offered by Shirley Grant. Peggy Douglas resolves to disolve.

Bruce King's 1958 plans including holding on to his philosophy of making the best of everything. That's a resolution all of us should make.

Double check that calendar!

Only 11 days left in 1957?

As you look back on the year of 1957, what accomplishments did you make? What resolutions did you keep? What resolutions did you break?

Looking into the year of 1958, what are your plans? Have you made a long list of resolutions? Do you resolve to be the best-dressed man on campus or to become a prominent writer of fiction, or to be a success in your chosen career?

If it is the best-dressed man you wish to be, pack away the blue jeans and flannel shirts for a hunting trip. Brush up the wool slacks and dressy sport shirts for the classroom and date night.

The secret to keeping all wool slacks, including your suit, ready to wear is to hang them up as soon as you take them off. DON'T drape them over the back of the chair! Give the pants a brushing before hanging in the closet and nine chances out of ten, they will require little, if any, pressing before you wear them again.

If it is time for a new pair of slacks, heed this "inside info"—medium grey is more popular than the charcoal that was the rage last year. Back buckles are reserved for the high school set so pick a pair without the caboose trimming or simply remove the back strap and buckle from an otherwise good slacks.

Remember, suits are for the dress-up occasions when you really want to look your sharpest. Caution: don't wear your suit pants as another pair of slacks. Nothing looks worse than an off-beat suit—a new jacket and baggy pants. It is more economical in the long run to have slacks that are worn only with sport shirts and jackets.

Ivy league sport shirts are IT for '58! Solid colors, broken line checks or stripes are the keynote to style in sport shirts for 1958. If it is an informal shirt you desire, a handsome knit shirt is warm, comfortable, and still dressy enough for dinner off campus.

Switched socks and irritated roommates go hand in hand. White tennis socks in stretchable orlon are now available (stretch from size 9-11) and with an equal number of pairs, roommates don't have to worry whose are which.

If you are an undergraduate woman under 26 years of age and have writing inclinations, why wait any longer to into the act? Start now.

Mademoiselle magazine sponsors a college fiction contest every year and offers $500 prizes for the two best stories.

The stories should be original and fictitious and run from approximately 2,500-5,000 words, be typewritten, and submitted to Mademoiselle editors by March 15, 1958. Additional information is available in the Stoutonia office.

Although this contest is open only to women, the editors of Mademoiselle welcome stories written by college men too. If your writing is published, you will receive the regular rates.

Mademoiselle also sponsors a Mademoiselle College Board contest every year. The editor of the Stoutonia has received a letter from the editors saying, "1. All entries that reached Mademoiselle before November 29 were destroyed by fire. 2. They can qualify without redoing their tryout by writing a note of application to Mademoiselle's College Board contest, 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N.Y."

Resolution number three—to be a success in your chosen career. As students prepare themselves for a career, they become more and more concerned about what to say, how to act and what to wear during an interview. Here are some suggestions given by some of our own faculty and advisors:

1. Make an appointment.
2. Be on time.
3. Show enthusiasm.
4. Answer questions frankly and intelligently.
5. Relax, speak freely.
6. Dress conservatively—no loud colors, excessive jewelry.
7. Girls—avoid excessive makeup.
8. Leave the gum at home.

BIG DIFFERENCE BETWEEN WHAT IS SAID, MEANT

What a teacher says and what a teacher means are usually two different things - here are some examples:

1. Everyone who makes an effort should pass this subject (With luck, some of you may last the semester.)
2. Today's chemistry experiment calls for extreme caution. (let's try to lower the casualty rate this week.)
3. First, I want to impress upon you that I am not one of those teachers who gives A's away freely. (There will be no A's in my classes.)
4. As seniors you will be examples to freshmen. (Heaven help the freshmen!)
5. I'm giving you all a break. No homework tonight. (Boy, am I going to pile it on you tomorrow night.)
6. Anyone who hasn't done today's assignment has to pay a fine. (I need bus fare home.)
7. I've decided to postpone today's test. (I've lost today's tests.)
8. As your principal you may come to me whenever you have any problems. (As your principal you will be sent to me when ever the school has any problems with you.)
9. No. (No.)
10. I have decided not to explain the principle of hydromechanics to you in class today. Most of you know them anyway. (Why should I trouble myself when you are all so stupid that you wouldn't understand it anyway?)
11. After four years at P. J. Jacobs you will be ready to face the world. After four years at P. J. Jacobs, you will be able to face anything.)

realized that Stout students have many resolutions or goals for 1958, most of them serious. However, many students have also added secondary resolutions to their lists.

Perhaps they aren't secondary resolutions at all, but merely hard-learned lessons in 1957. Whichever they be, let them be a warning to you.

1. Tie all boats securely to the shoreline before leaving them.
2. Ask your favorite beau at least six weeks before the Panhellenic Christmas Ball.
3. Stop for ALL stopsigns.
4. Hunt chicken hawks in the early morning or afternoon.
5. Reserve the boon-docks for sight-seeing.
6. Be aware (or beware) of the person or persons standing behind you in the union.
7. See everything, hear everything, know nothing.
8. Remember Mom and Dad's anniversary.

ELVES . . .

Makes it an ideal hat for any winter occasion.

Sandy has chosen the popular blue for her velvet calot.

Simple in design, it serves as an accent for her black coat, yet it cost only $2.00.

Her label serves as a unique and individual trademark.

Another of Vanek's elves, Marlene, has chosen a red beverette to wear on Christmas day

For her stylish deep crown bonnet, $2.50 was all she had to pay.

Reflecting Santa's hat in color

Is Annette's bright red velvet with a brand of self trim

Oaurette Original was the name she chose.

Several birds have given their gifts to Santa's hatshop of fashion this season.

A kind hearted pheasant came to the aid of Virgene, and donated a feather to complete her scheme.

Having made her own buckram, the red fur fabric was her only purchase

A generous peacock visited one day and left his festive dress with Dawn

The feathers give the needed color to her mushroom styled berret which will be worn with a dark brown coat.

Helen has chosen a pillbox frame covered with a soft blue wool to match the coat she is tailoring.

The soft ripples give added height to this elf.

With bright red satin for the festive touch.

She has been busy as she designated her original label

For the softer tones at Christmas time

We'll turn to another corner of the hatshop

Christmas day will find Alice in church with her pink suede cloth pillbox which harmonizes very nicely with her tweed coat

Alice shows her flair for creativity with her original label

Smooth and tailored describes this elf's work.

Fern added a soft touch of pink to her drapable jersey

$2.00 was the only cost to complete this costume

Again we have pink in the hatshop

as Ann has designed a light pink velvet hat to adorn her head

The dark pink rose suits her personality

Let's take a peak at this elf's label.

Thank you Annie Okley.

Pretty as a picture is the white fur covered hat worn by Yvonne, the last of our elves

A rhinestone clip adds a festive touch

Wouldn't you like this to top your Christmas stocking?

To the top of the fashions, to the top of the styles

Now flair away, flair away, flair away all, says Santa Vanek with a nod of approval.

The elves all exclaimed as they scampered along—

Merry Christmas to all and may fashion be yours.

STOUT EDGES ST. CLOUD WITH 99-96 VICTORY

Bouncing back after its second defeat of the season Stout state edged out St. Cloud state in a very close battle 99-96 last Monday night.

Jim Bolm and Bob Sorenson tied for the honors of high point man with 22 points apiece. Moessner was next with 18. The Bluedevils attempted 34 free throws and made 25 for a 74 per cent. St. Cloud attempted 24 free throws and made 16 for 67 per cent. At the half-way point Stout held a slim two point lead 49-47. St. Cloud was pressuring the Bluedevils all through the second half but Stout matched them basket for basket.

The Bluedevils' next game is a conference tilt against Superior there. A victory would indeed be a pleasant Christmas present to every student here at Stout.

SIDELINE SLANTS

.. With Johnny Bluedevil

Stout's Bluedevils will take a long deserved rest from action in preparation for their next conference game of the season against the LaCrosse Indians in the high school gym on Saturday, January ninth.

LaCrosse finished in a tie for seventh with Stout in the Wisconsin State Conference last year, and was not expected to be too rough this season. The Indians have proved surprising however thus far, showing a much better balanced squad than was expected.

Leading player on the team so far this season has proved to be Ed Winarski who plays center. Ed has supplied the spark for the LaCrosse five and is murder on the backboards.

In the two teams meeting last season Stout dropped the first contest 89-74, but bounced back to win the second time in a close 98-94 victory.

This will be the Bluedevils' third conference game of the season, the first being a loss to Eau Claire 80-70, and the second one being played last night at Superior with the results arriving too late for publication.

BLUEDEVILS FALL AT HANDS OF EAU CLAIRE

Stout state's four game winning streak came to an abrupt halt last Saturday night as they were defeated by Eau Claire state in their first conference game of the season 80-70.

The Bugolds took the lead after the first five minutes of play and never relinquished it. At half time the Bluedevils were down by 10 points 39-29. Throughout the entire game Eau Claire never held a strong lead. In the final minutes of the game Stout came within four points of evening the score, but Eau Claire buckled down and widened the gap.

High point man of the game for the Bluedevils was Bob Sorenson with 21 points. Peterson and Howard trailed with 14 a piece.

WRESTLING

Stout's wrestling squad put up a valiant effort but to no avail last Saturday in the Stevens Point invitational meet as all members of the squad were defeated. Bob McNaughton was the only team member that was not defeated by a pin but fell in defeat with points.

KINDSCHY AND HILLS ARE INSTRUMENTAL IN MANY WINS FOR BLUEDEVIL BASKETBALL SQUAD

Fourth in a Series

The future holds many moments of basketball thrills for Bill Hills and Bill Kindschy. These two players have been instrumental winners through their basketball careers.

Hills is a sophomore and graduated from Beloit Memorial high school. He is 5 feet 9 inches tall and plays guard. Bill's teammates consider him one of the main sparkplugs of the team due to the fact that he is constantly hustling and is very fast.

When asked what he thought of the team's chances in conference play this year Hills replied, "We have experience, a strong bench, and every player farther than anyone thinks, I sure hope so."

It is a must that the Bluedevils have a strong bench if they are to have a winning team. Players like Hills and Kindschy help them to have this strong and vital bench that is "necessary."

can have a hot night. The team has a very powerful amount of scoring potentiality."

Bill Kindschy is a junior and hails from Galesville where he made all-conference in basketball and football. Kindschy is also a winner of numerals at the University of Wisconsin. While attending Galesville high Bill won eight letters in sports.

Playing the center position on this year's Bluedevils, he adds tremendous scoring punch to the team. His rebounding is indeed similar to that of a kangaroo underneath the boards.

"I like to rebound and the higher I go the better chance I have of obtaining possession of the ball," explicates Kindschy. "This year's team may go

SEASON'S GREETINGS MENOMONIE GREENHOUSE

Pictured above is Harry Miller, student director of intermurals, a senior at Stout state college. He is shown at the sports bulletin board in the student union as he makes arrangements for one of the events.

HARRY MILLER ACTIVE MAN, ON CAMPUS DIRECTS STOUT STUDENT INTERMURALS

Harry Miller is a senior at Stout. However Harry Miller is not the ordinary name of an ordinary guy in an ordinary situation. Harry is one of the hardest working fellows to ever enroll at Stout. What does he do that makes him stand out so? Harry is probably not so sure of the answer himself. So, let's try and find it out ourselves.

Harry's main task is that of student director of intramurals at Stout state college. Although that is his primary concern he still finds time to be a member of the F.O.B. fraternity and vice-president of the "S" club. Anytime that is left over Harry spends studying to keep his grades up and to also keep an eye on his two growing children. He admits that his wife is a great help to him in this department.

A little more exploration into the subject's background finds the following aspects. He spent his freshman year lettering in football and baseball and coming back for a second year on the diamond as a sophomore; he also won an award as the outstanding freshman athlete three years ago. In his sophomore year Harry was also president of the class.

Back in his high school days at Neenah, Harry won three letters in football and two more in baseball. So from these two basic sports Miller has branched out into others and is managing all of them exceptionally well. "He has been responsible for some of the most outstanding improvements in our intra-mural program in years," comments athletic director Ray C. Johnson, Miller's supervisor.

When asked about the present intramural system Harry replied, "I think we have a well rounded program here at Stout. It offers students a wonderful opportunity to participate in wholesome athletic activities." Harry goes on to say that this program ranks among the best intra-mural programs of any college anywhere.

Harry Miller, as student director of intramurals should be congratulated on his excellent work and should also be looked up to with a certain degree of bewilderment on how he does it. When asked to reveal his secret, Harry said, "Sorry but I'm not sure myself." This is our answer; Harry's hard work and persistence of fine work makes him stand out among the others.

WRESTLERS TO PARTICIPATE IN TOURNAMENT

Traveling to the full house of the University of Wisconsin for their second match of the season will be Stout's eight man wrestling team. They will participate tomorrow at Madison in the Wisconsin State Collegiate Wrestling Tournament.

Weighing in time has been set as 9 a.m. with pre-liminary matches slated for 10 a.m. At 2 p.m. the consolation and finals will be held. A special feature of this contest will be the use of two mats so that two matches can be held at the same time.

Chairman for the tournament will be the University of Wisconsin's wrestling coach George Martin. Go get them you Bluedevils.

More bowling teams are needed before league competition can be started. A men's league and a mixed league are in the process of being formed. Gather your teams and sign up now. (bulletin board outside the athletic office)

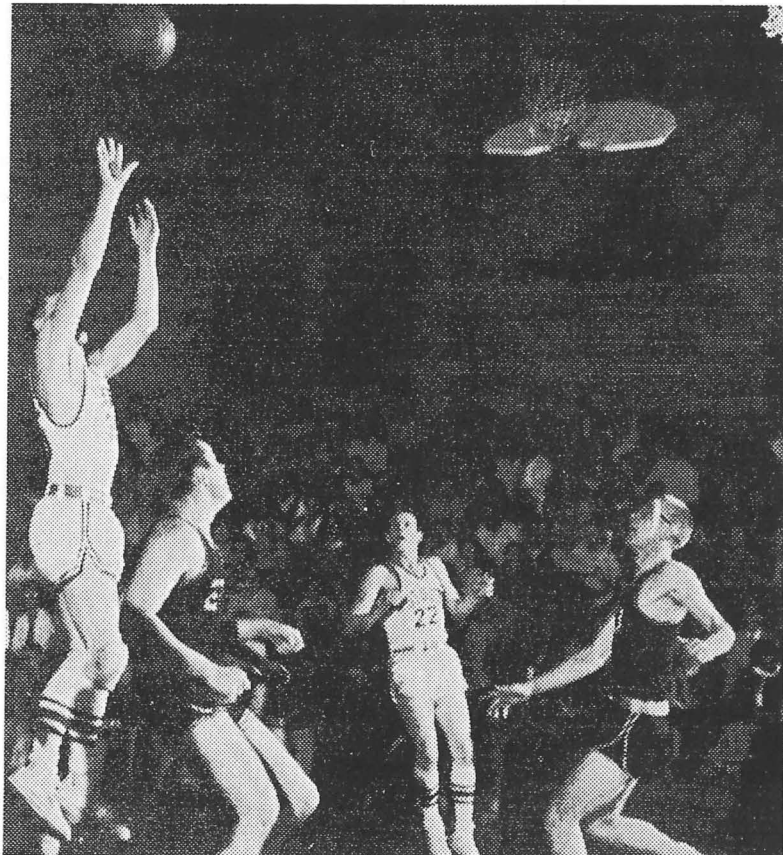

CONCERT BAND DOUBLES AS PEP BAND FOR YEAR

The concert band is doubling as the school pep band this year. Along with preparing for the Christmas program, it has assumed the task of practicing marches and pep numbers. The band is practicing on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at 11:30 a.m.

Under the able direction and guidance of Dr. E.A. Odegard, the participation of this year's pep and concert band has exceeded last year's organization and this year's marching unit. The number now enrolled is forty-four.

A musical organization at Stout is for two purposes; to advance the knowledge and appreciation of those participating in music, and to entertain and build school spirit for the non participating student body. A good band is the core of school spirit, and the goal of this year's organization is to help the student body support their Bluedevils.

The first outing of the pep band was a commendable performance. It is expected that their following appearances will add greatly to our enjoyment of the basketball games, and aid in building support for the athletic department.

Jim Bolm scores as Moessner looks. Stout went on to defeat Augsburg 86-60.

THE INDISPENSABLE MAN

Sometime, when you're feeling important,
Sometime, when your ego's in bloom.
Sometime, when you take it for granted,
You're the best qualified in the room.
Sometime, when you feel that your going
Would leave an unfillable hole,
Just follow this simple instruction
And see how it humbles your soul.
Take a bucket and fill it with water;
Put your hand in it, up to the wrist;
Pull it out, and the hole that's remaining
Is a measure of how you'll be missed.
You may splash all you please when you enter;
You can stir up the water galore;
But stop, and you'll find in a minute,
That it looks quite the same as before.
The moral in this quaint example
Is to do just the best that you can.
Be proud of yourself, but remember,
There's no indispensable man!

...And The World Started To Sing

Let Us Now Go Even Unto Bethlehem

TIME STOOD STILL AT CHRISTMAS

Suddenly, abruptly, time stood still. It was as if the whole universe were a giant toy which had been wound too tightly and with a snap, stopped. Nothing moved. No sound was made. There was only absolute stillness, absolute quiet.

Ever since the giant universe had been formed, their creator had lavished love and hope on all beings. For them he had sent a tiny babe to the earth. The arrival of the infant had caused the inhabitants of Earth to realize much of good will, and the Maker had grown hopeful that man would cease his destructive ways and follow in the path of charitableness toward all men.

Centuries passed. The tiny babe's coming had caused great turmoil on Earth and the Creator looked down upon the multitudes, watching a glimmer of Christian love grow until its radiance began to envelop the entire world.

Now, over nineteen centuries had lapsed and as God viewed his children he grew displeased. Destruction was everywhere. Hatred flourished. All people seemed filled with hurry and competition. It appeared that the small babe who had been sent to the Earth to bring love to all men was forgotten. The good that he had done for mankind seemed lost, ruined.

Would man's eternal hatred ever be over?

Then suddenly everything stopped. Indeed, no bad was being done on the planet Earth. There was no fighting, no lies were being told, the inevitable wars ceased, and the destructiveness of man ended. Oh yes, Earth was peaceful.

For a while God felt pleased. Then he realized that it was the anniversary of the sending of the infant Jesus to Earth.

God looked over the silent world. This time something in its eerie quiet loomed at Him greater than the ceasing of hatred and war. Where voices had rung, all was still. In place of beautiful music and the elated singing of joyfull people, was absolute silence.

In the midst of strife, the love of man for one of another had become buried from the view of many. But suddenly God realized that it had been there, and in abundance. As each earthly creature stood in its motionless state, an inconleivable quantity of love could be seen in the acts in which countless had been occupied. Charity, kindness, good will and open hearted generosity were ended along with the ending of mans ravaging frictions.

Suddenly, abruptly, the world started to sing. It was as if the universe were a giant toy, happy and jubilant. Bells rang out the gory of God on Earth was peace, good will toward men.

CHRISTMAS STORY

We have heard middle-aged people of sound mind insist nostalgically that a subtle but steady revolution of climate has been in progress for quite a number of years. In certain areas of the country where once you could get your ears frozen on Halloween now probably your breath wouldn't even steam on New Year's — and vacationists are around all winter. At least, so they say.

Their sad remembrance of the bygone, more rugged days, seems to pivot on Christmas. Christmas isn't white any more, most of the time. Evergreen decorations are superfluous because the grass and privet retain their July look through December. Department stores carry small skate inventories, and the illustrations in the Dickens books seem like invaders from outer-space, in their unfamiliar mufflers and great-coats.

A more remote and fetching memory to the aging sentimentalist is the tinkle of sleigh bells, the clop clop of snow-muttred hooves, and street lamps lighting up red-cheeked faces of happy carolers. All this has gone.

About the only place you can encounter such scenes today is on Christmas cards or in backward villages of Europe. So that, nowadays, when you wish your friends a Merry Christmas, you are locating the merriment in a very different sort of world and in a different brand of adventure.

You are wishing them a green Christmas out of consideration for their new Cadillac. You are wishing them things like dacron finery and color TV. You are being very modern, very practical, and very unpoetic.

Your misfortune is that you were born fifty years too late to enjoy the old-fashioned Yuletide touted in the Christmas songs. And so were they.

But the great ingredient of Christmas joy for the Christian is none of these things. Rather, it is an irreversible event fixed in the eternal cement of history. Climate has nothing to do with it. Neither has industrial chemistry, nor household electronics.

This, the real key to the holiday happiness, is the simple fact that a long time ago the Savior came and arranged it so that we are to live with Him forever—His kind of life. Christmas is His Birthday.

So, when we wish you a Merry Christmas, we are wishing you the successful accomplishment of that destiny. Wishing you, a much more exciting environment than the winter wonderland of the Christmas cards, tin-pan alley, and the middle-aged memory.

What if it isn't white? A Merry Christmas, anyway.

MR. KARLSRUD TO PERFORM AT STOUT TONIGHT

Edmond Karlsrud, the bass-baritone who will appear January 10, at the Stout Auditorium is a native Midwesterner.

An outstanding athlete and musician, he graduated from Scobey, Montana, high school at 16, and entered the University of Minnesota intending to become a lawyer.

Campus theatricals and solo appearances with the University Chorus and Concert Band, however, brought a pre-graduation music scholarship to the Julliard School in New York.

Mr. Karlsrud received his bachelor's degree in music at Julliard. While still in school he organized the Men of Song quartet and performed with them for several years.

Now only 30, the handsome Mr. Karlsrud has made more than 600 professional concert appearances, as a soloist and with the Men of Song and another group he organized, the Concertmen.

He has been a popular network television guest performer—Milton Berle, Show of Shows, Ezio Pinza Show—and has had many successful dates in theaters and clubs—Palace in New York, Sans Souci in Atlanta, Normandie Roof in Montreal. He has appeared at the larger hotels in the New England resort mountains.

Here, Mr. Karlsrud will offer a program of appealing variety. Selections will include opera, folk songs and spirituals. In addition, Mr. Karlsrud's pianist, Mr. Charles Touchette, will present a series of solo numbers.

Mr. Touchette has been associated with Mr. Karlsrud for many years as pianist, arranger, and partner in the Men of Song Enterprises, Inc.

ROY DIRKS HOLDS NATL. DANFORTH AWARD

A student attending Stout state college, Roy Dirks, is the holder of a national award for outstanding qualities of leadership from the Danforth Foundation, St. Louis. Dirks, a freshman in pre-architecture at Stout, is on Danforth's "I Dare You" honor roll.

Purpose of Danforth's national "I Dare You" recognition is to stimulate young Americans to "dare greatly, live usefully and share freely all the worthwhile things in life."

TOWER IS ON SCHEDULE DESPITE A LATE START

The 1958 Tower staff announced Monday that it is on schedule even though work was started a week later this year. This report is based on last year's activity.

During the past 15 weeks, the literary staff has been interviewing organizations while the photographers have had their lights flashing in your eyes during campus activities.

One half of the literary work is completed and one third of the photography is finished. The cover has been designed and ordered. The size and shape is the same as last years.

Richard Vogtsberger, editor; along with the rest of the staff feel they are fulfilling their aim to make this year-book better than last year's.

WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IS ANNOUNCED; NINETEEN STOUT STUDENTS ACHIEVE LISTING

Considered by many to be the highest honor a student can receive, the Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges recognition has been given to 19 well-qualified students on our campus. Every year this recognition is made in 700 colleges and universities throughout the nation.

Candidates are nominated by the student governing board and the student body. The 19 choices made were selected from approximately 45 original candidates, who were listed in a previous edition of the Stoutonia. A 1.8 grade average is required before a nominee can be considered. Points considered equally in the selection are: residency at Stout, other awards and honors, off-campus activities, extracurricular activities at Stout, and whether or not the candidate is working to help pay college expenses.

Final election is made possible by receiving the majority of vote of the governing board. No automatic elections are possible. A flexible preference list is followed whereby seniors are considered first, graduate students next, and juniors last.

Who's Who was formed 27 years ago when a need for some medium through which the names of deserving students throughout the country could be brought before the business and social world was felt.

The awards are presented to the recipients by the SSA president at honor's day and senior recognition day in the spring.

The following individuals have been selected as members of Who's Who for 1958: Roger Brennan, Green Bay; Romaine Kingsley Deering, La Crosse; Beverly Duerkop, Hixton; Helen Froelich, Cumberland; Barbara Hartig, Milwaukee; Betty Havlik, Woneoc; Ivan Isaacson, Ellison Bay; Peter Jackson, Nashauk, Minnesota; Ann Janda, Abbotsford; Loren Johnson, Manitowoc; Elmer Lemke, Oconomowoc.

Putting finishing touches last week on a display of materials which were viewed by 500 participants attending Stout's seventh annual guidance conferences were (L-R) Joan Hobbick, Menomonie; Iris Friedman, Eau Claire; Dr. Ralph G. Iverson, director of student personnel services and conference chairman; and Andrew Kurey, Milwaukee. Participants from three states heard talks by Dr. Walter F. Johnson, professor of guidance at Michigan State university and president-elect of the American Personnel and Guidance association. They also had a choice of 18 roundtables devoted to special area of guidance.

STOUT SPONSORED ALL DAY CONFERENCE FOR DIRECTORS IN GUIDANCE FROM THREE STATES

More than 500 experts in various phases of guidance met on the campus of Stout state college Thursday, January 9, for the all day meeting which Stout sponsored for guidance personnel from three states.

Keynote speaker for the conference was Dr. Walter F. Johnson, professor of guidance at Michigan State university and president-elect of the American Personnel and Guidance Association, inc. An additional 18 sectional meetings supplemented the two sessions at which Dr. Johnson spoke.

The majority of persons in attendance came from a 200 mile radius of the college and included guidance personnel, workers in the areas of mental health and rehabilitation, school administrators, teachers, county superintendents and supervisors and similar professional persons.

Some school systems closed entirely so that all staff members could attend the Stout conference as a professional in-service training activity.

Following welcomes by Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout state college, and by Dr. Ralph G. Iverson, director of student personnel services at Stout and conference chairman, delegates heard Dr. Johnson's keynote address, "Counseling That Counts."

"Use of Personality Tests in Counseling Students" was the topic of a roundtable at which presided John Hagman, principal of Menomonie high school. Eugene Oetting, of the University of Wisconsin student counseling center, spoke.

With Dr. R. W. Bardwell, director of the Madison Vocational and Adult School presiding, another panel described "Two Year Technical Training Programs." Participants included Curtis Gehling, Oshkosh Vocational and Adult school; John Plenke, state supervisor of trade and industrial education; A. D. Mathison, Milwaukee Vocational and Adult school; and Lawrence Heyt, Wausau Vocational and Adult school.

Another roundtable dealt with education of the slow learner. With Miss Irene Dunn of the Rehabilitation division, Madison, as moderator, Mrs. Clarice Chase Dunn of the Madison Vocational and Adult school gave the principal address.

"Guidance in the Elementary School" was the topic of a sectional gathering, with Hazel Calhoun, Barron county superintendent of schools, as presiding officer. Panel members were Ely Sires in the mental health area of the state department of public instruction; Dr. Levi Muney, of the River Falls State college faculty; and Elvera Reich, St. Croix county supervisor.

Another group discussed "Administration of Guidance Problems," under the direction of Duan Bjerke of the Elmwood area schools. Speakers included Edsel Vergin, principal of Ellsworth high school; W. G. Heiting, principal of Hudson high school; and Clarence Ziegel, principal of New Richmond high school.

"Industry's Needs and Education" were described by Dr. John Wraga, vice president of the Gisholt Machine Co., Madison. L. H. Dawson, superintendent of River Falls public schools, acted as moderator.

Also available to participants in specialized preparation was the sectional devoted to "Technical Opportunities." Richard Lynn, assistant chief engineer for American Holist and Derrick, who is also a past chairman of the Minnesota section of the American Institute of electrical engineers, spoke. Presiding was Russ Gettinger, guidance director at River Falls high school.

W. B. Gautsch, Arcadia principal, moderated a panel devoted to "Four Guide Posts in Preventing Delinquency." Speaker was Robert Carnes, delinquency control consultant for Wisconsin's division of children and youth.

"Making the Most of Scholarship and Loan Programs" was discussed by Richard Bailey, research assistant of the regents of state colleges; Ted Roberts, director of admissions, Lawrence college; George Field, of the University of Wisconsin scholarship committee; and Ellis Evans, principal at Merrill high school. Russell Mosely, of the state department of public instruction, directed the group.

A. B. Abramowitz, director of child guidance for the Wisconsin Board of Health, described "Mental Health Practices for Pupils." Presiding at

RESERVATION OF MEETING ROOMS URGED BY SSA

Attention Students!

If you wish to reserve a room in one of the various buildings on campus for an organization activity, certain procedures must be followed.

When a group wants to use a room in the library, a representative must sign for it in the president's office. Do not expect the librarians to give you a key if you have not done this.

For the use of a room in Bowman hall, a room on the third floor of the union, the gym, or the swimming pool, sign in the S.S.A. office.

Signing in Dean Kirk's office will assure you room in Harvey hall.

In order to get permission to use the big gym, the principal of the high school must be contacted.

Please sign four days in advance for these reservations. With your cooperation there will be much less confusion than there has been in the past.

Thank you
Your S. S. A.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Now is the time to double check everything you have to do or have done. There are but one week and two days separating today and "E" (Exams) Day. Between now and then, there is undoubtedly a great deal to be accomplished.

Let's try to review a few of the things that have to be done in order to wrap this semester up. For the men, pre-registration cards and forms are now available and should be filled out. This will speed up the process when the time comes for it. Next in line, we find that notebooks for shops and other classes are about due. If you haven't already started yours, by all means get busy now while there is some time remaining.

Continuing on, we find that projects of all sorts are about ready to take home now. If yours isn't, better make plans to spend some extra time on it. Next in line are finals, which will be starting with the end of next week. This week end will be an excellent one in which an evaluation of what you will need to know and what you already know should be made. Last of all, make sure that everything that you think is done, really is finished.

A good postscript to all this might be to remember to make time to relax at some of the basketball games and mixers coming up. "All work and no play makes Johnny a very, very dull boy."

CLUB NEWS

Chi Lambda held a Christmas dinner meeting at the Anchor cafe on December 19. Present were Dr. Nitz and Mr. Ziemann, Chi Lambda's advisors, Dean Merle M. Price, and the guest speaker Mr. Robert Melrose. Mr. Melrose is a Menomonie high school faculty member teaching social science, and is also an assistant coach.

Taking an active interest in Menomonie, Mr. Melrose is a member of the toastmaster's club. His talk was a short, but interesting speech highlighting the values of the Reader's Digest impregnated with humorous anecdotes, and ending with facts about the Toastmasters International club for professional men. The members of Chi Lambda thank Mr. Melrose for the delightful and entertaining evening.

Monday night, 7 o'clock, December 16, the girls of Eichelberger Castle journeyed to the Dunn County Hospital to sing Christmas carols to the patients. As a little gift, combs were passed out to the 150 inmates. Colorful seasonal clothes and red bows at the neck were worn to brighten the atmosphere.

The Phi Sigs held two social functions in addition to their weekly activities prior to Christmas vacation.

A tri-chapter party was held Tuesday evening with the two-fold purpose that the three participating chapters might better plan and corrolate their functions and social status. The chapters participating were the Phi Beta's of Eau Claire; the Phi Sigs of River Falls; and the Omega Chapter of Stout state.

Thursday evening a Christmas date party was held for the Phi Sigs and their dates. The hall was gaily decorated with a Christmas tree as the center of attraction. Christmas corages were presented to the dates by the Phi Sig members.

Welcomed back by the fraternity was Ken Wittig when he returned from a six month hitch with the Army. Ken will become an employee of Chain Belt corporation, Milwaukee, in January.

HILLTOPPERS TO APPEAR ON CAMPUS MARCH 24

At the last official student governing board meeting, it was announced that the Assembly-Lyceum committee and the Stout Student Association would combine in a solo effort. This undertaking would involve the piling of surplus monies to bring the nationally famed Hilltoppers quartet to the campus. The combined efforts of these two groups will bring this organization here on March 24.

There will be two-one hour concerts from 7 to 8 p.m. and from 8 to 9 p.m., in the auditorium in which students may choose one to attend. After that, a two hour dance will be held in the high school gym from 9:30 to 11:30.

The Hilltoppers will be appearing with the old Lee Cassel's twelve piece band which was famous in the early and late 1930's. It is now under the direction of Jack Featherstone. We hope that the students will enjoy this program and will make it a real success.

SPEECH STUDENTS GIVE SECOND READING HOUR

For the second time the students in the advanced Speech class (Speech 320) invited their friends for a social hour and to enjoy some of the selections which they had read during the semester.

Louise Soule, Kathleen Vanda, and Nancy Cory planned the program. Louise introduced each number and Nancy invited the guests to have punch and cookies at the close of the hour. All members of the class participated, but special readings were presented by Joanne Salm, John Kleven, William McGovern, James Vogtsberger, James Bolm, Eric Sunstrom, Barbara Olson, Clarence Heyel, Leo Vanderkamp, and Allan Bemis.

that meeting Dr. E. R. Oetting, head of psychology and education at Stout state college.

With Roger Schaus, guidance director of Thorp high school, in charge, another group outlined "Educational Opportunities Beyond High School." The speakers included R. W. Whinfield, state supervisor of occupational information and guidance, and Max Hays and Wilson Thiede, both of the Wisconsin State Employment Service.

Three speakers from the staff of the University of Wisconsin Guidance Laboratory—Eugene Kopitz, William Mueller, and Perry Rockwell—addressed a sectional devoted to "Guidance of the Superior Student." Gilbert Muelenbach, guidance director of Shawano high school, presided.

"Feelings of Inadequacy" held the attention of a sectional gathering directed by Wayne Gustafson, Osceola principal. Dr. Elizabeth Kundert, child psychiatrist for the Eau Claire County Guidance Clinic, spoke.

Erma Hertzfeldt, psychiatric social worker in the Eau Claire clinic, conferred with another panel interested in the use of psychotherapy with high school youth. Mathew Lefy, Cumberland guidance director, was chairman.

"Labor Looks at Education" commanded the attention of another section. Speaking to the group were Dr. J. F. Friedrich, general secretary-treasurer of the Federated Trade Council of Milwaukee, and Otto Jirikowic, president of the Milwaukee board of vocational and adult education. William Terrill, Menomonie's superintendent of schools, was the moderator.

A Minnesota woman attorney, Miss Agnes Anderson, counsel for the Minnesota Railroad commission, spoke of "Vocational Opportunities and the Education of Women." Harold Youngberg of the Eau Claire office of the Wisconsin State Employment Service directed the discussion.

"Teenage Drinking" was a matter discussed by Gerald McGill, a Wisconsin community services consultant. M. M. Price, dean of men at Stout, handled the sectional group.

Conference participants had the opportunity to learn of methods of compiling students' personal inventories and follow up programs as described by Gordon Zich, Hayward principal and guidance director, and Henry Schwandt, counselor at La Crosse Logan high school. Presiding officer was Wayne Kannel, principal of Alma high school.

A special panel of nine persons representing various phases of the guidance endeavor appeared before the concluding general session to summarize conference accomplishments. Members of this special group included:

Clifton Fenstad, principal of Greenwood high school; John Hear, principal at Barron; Arthur Kepp, superintendent at Augusta; Frances Nairn, guidance director at Wisconsin Rapids high school; Dr. Joseph Nygaard, superintendent at Ellsworth; John Ostrom, guidance director at

There were 27 academic buildings and five dormitories on the state college campuses in 1950.

In 1960, with more than twice as many students, the colleges will have 46 academic buildings, 25 dormitories, and nine student unions. Most of the new buildings are finished or nearing completion. A few, like the student union buildings, are being started.

As 1958 ends the colleges are planning or building 21 million dollars worth of dormitories, unions, and academic buildings. Thirteen new construction jobs began during the year.

Each college will have its second new dormitory ready for students by next fall. In 1959 the new student unions will be in use.

Other buildings ready for students late in 1959 or early in 1960 are: Eau Claire, library; Oshkosh, classroom building or laboratory school; Platteville, agriculture and physical education buildings; River Falls, laboratory school and physical education building; Stevens Point, physical education building; Stout, shop laboratory; Superior, academic and laboratory building; and Whitewater, laboratory school.

There is no wholesale tearing down of old buildings. When the new building is ready the old one is converted to a new use. The first building to house a normal school in 1866 is still standing. Its present tenant is the Institute of Technology at Platteville.

YULE CONCERT GIVEN BY MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The Christmas season was celebrated Wednesday night, the 17th of December, by the college choir, band, and Symphonics Singers. They presented their annual Christmas concert at 8:00 p.m.

The spirit of Christmas was found in selections such as "Musical Christmas Card," "Carol of the Bells," "Mary Had a Baby," "Silent Night," and "This Little Babe" sung by the College choir.

"The Messiah Overture," "Alleluia" and a "Chorale Prelude" were the selections presented by the band.

The Symphonics Singers concluded the program with "All Glory Laud and Honor," and "The Doxology."

STOUT BLUEDEVILS TO TAKE ON LEAGUE LEADING LA CROSSE INDIANS AT HOME TOMORROW NIGHT

Tomorrow night Stout cagers will re-open their conference play, as they host the Indians of La Crosse in the high school gym.

La Crosse has posted a better than 500 average thus far this season, winning over Great Lakes, River Falls, and St. Cloud.

The Indians boast a couple of excellent guards in Don Peth and Gar Ammerman that have provided them with a scoring punch that has proved hard to beat.

Peth is playing his second year with La Crosse, following two years in the Army. Previous to his time in the service, he was the leading conference scorer for the Indians. His greatest output thus far this season was 35 points against St. Cloud.

Ammerman is also a promising guard that won all state honors while playing for La Crosse Central high school. He also set a scoring record when his squad played in the state tournament.

The Indians have another punch in center Ed Winniarski whose play under the boards won him an all conference award last season.

The Bluedevil squad will probably not be at its best in tomorrow's tilt, as most of the team has been hit with colds. Bob Sorenson, Brian Howard, and Jann Peterson have been struck particularly hard. Saturday night as a preliminary to the Stout-La Crosse game, the F.O.B.'s will meet the Olympics. Game time is 6:45 p.m.

NOTICE!

Holders of season passes and student athletic cards are hereby advised of the cancellation of the January 18, 1958, Stout-Milwaukee basketball game.

Due to a conflict at Milwaukee state college, the northern trip of their team has been postponed. They were to play at La Crosse on Friday, January 17, and here on the following night. The visitors will be having final examinations on these particular dates.

Permission has been granted by league secretary, Dwight D. Chinnock, for a rescheduling of these contests. Ray C. Johnson, Stout athletic director, announced late yesterday that this contest will be played on the 18th of February, 1958. At this time, all season passes and athletic activity cards will be honored for the game.

CAGERS HOPE TO GET BACK ON WINNING TRACK

Can the Stout Bluedevils bounce back from the depths of the cellar of the Wisconsin State College conference? What are their chances in 1958?

Looking back on this season's record we find that it has already been marred a great deal more than had been expected. Let's quickly review it before tomorrow night's La Crosse contest when the season will roll again after the holiday layover.

The first jolt came at Winona where the Bluedevils opened the season where the Bluedevils opened the season by losing to a highly ranked St. Mary's team. Final score of that one was 80 to 53. Since then the Redmen have lost more than they have won disproving their high regard.

After that, the Stout basketballers conquered the Augsburg Auglies and the Northwestern Eagles, both of Minneapolis. Scores in those games were 87 to 60, and 94 to 58 respectively. Neither teams have done much this season.

Sandwiching the Augsburg game were two contests with the Northland Lumberjacks. Both turned into victories for the Bluedevils. The finals there were 84 to 64 at Northland, and 95 to 66 in the return engagement at Menomonie.

By then, the scene was beginning to look rather bright with four wins against but one set-back. The regulars were finding their jobs hard to keep as the reserves proved to be equal to almost any task.

Then came the real disappointments as the Bluedevils lost two straight conference games. The first came at the hands of the rival Eau Claire Bluegolds by an 80 to 70 count. Then followed a victory over St. Cloud of the Minnesota conference, 99 to 96. After that, the Yellowjackets of Superior handed Stout its second league blow by a 75 to 69 score.

The Bluedevils are supposed to possess the experience and depth necessary for first division play, but they seem to lack the required punch. It will be interesting to note the results of tomorrow's La Crosse game as an indication of things to come for the remainder of this season.

INTRAMURAL BOWLING, BASKETBALL PROGRESS

Intramurals at Stout are progressing at a rapid pace as many new sports take the place of those being finished.

Intramural Bowling

The schedule has been posted for bowling in the intramurals. Four teams are in the title race for this session. The entries are the:

F.O.B.'s, captained by Jim Bolm
G.D.I.'s, captained by Roger Rymer
Sig Tau's, captained by Ken Held
Phi Omega Beta's, captained by Dick Lowry

Teams will bowl a total of six games.

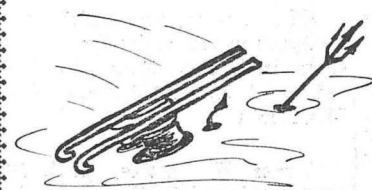

Intramural Basketball

This week's results find that in the American League the Olympics downed the Sig Tau's by a count of 56 to 52, in a hard fought contest. Captain Rich Vogtsberger, flashing the form of his younger days, hit the nets for 30 points; a high for this year.

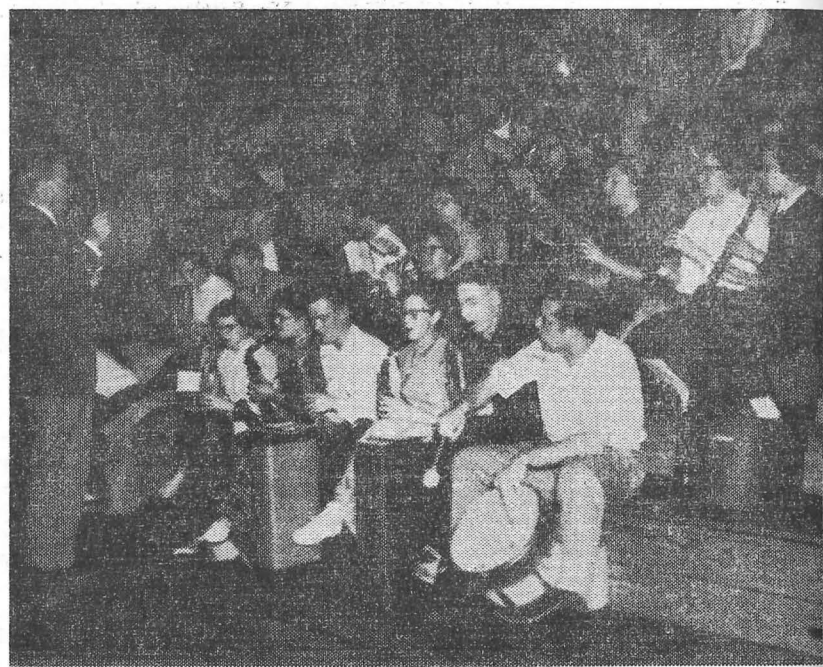

In the National, the Phi Sig's handed Phi Omega Beta a 39 to 32 setback.

WINTER CARNIVAL

DELTA KAPPA HOLDS POPULAR 'TACKY DRAG'

Torn, dirty shabby, greasy, wet dry, wrinkled, messy, an even baggy are the superlatives that best describe the attire that is to be worn at the annual "Tacky Drag".

This popular dance is sponsored every year by the Delta Kappa fraternity. On Saturday, January 18th in the small gymnasium, the D. K.'s will present this cinerama of laughs.

Dance to the music of Wurlitzer with his own high fi-tone. Prizes are also being offered to the tackiest dressed couple and you may also win a prize as the tackiest dressed individual.

Starting time has been set for 8:30 p.m. and ending at 11:30 p.m. due to another engagement Wurlitzer has to leave at that time. Admission is indeed ridiculously low; 15c stag and just 25c per couple.

The Delta Kappa fraternity is also having free DK Dew (refreshments) and is promising a good time to everyone who attends. Don't miss it as this "Tacky Drag" is sure to be a winner.

REUNION OF CAMPUS SISTERS IS PLANNED

All the women on campus are invited to attend the Campus Sister Reunion which will be held on Tuesday, February 4, from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. The scene of the reunion will be the Harvey memorial. The committee chairman for this year's reunion are Ruth Thomas, Publicity; Bobbi Mullock, Food; Peggy Handlos, Decorations; and Marion Brockman, Hostesses. The General Chairman is Beverly Mortenson.

GENARO FRAGO TO GIVE REPORT ON NICARAGUA

The International Relations club invites all students and faculty to attend a firsthand report on Nicaragua as given by an exchange student Genaro Frago, in the library Audio-Visual room at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, January 22.

Frago will give a brief description of his country. There will also be a display that evening of Nicaraguan handicraft and a number of large photographs taken in Frago's homeland.

Reading this article may give rise to some questions you would like to have answered, so a question and answer period will follow for just this purpose. In addition, a few basic facts on Nicaragua are given below:

Nicaragua is one of the five Central American countries. It has a population of 1,224,450 and an area of 57,145 square miles. The national language is Spanish and the capital is Managua. The climate of the country is predominately tropical with an average temperature of 78 degrees.

Principal exports are coffee, cotton, gold, sesame seed, lumber, cotton seed, and rice. Main imports are textiles, machinery, iron and steel manufactures, fuels and oils. Nicaragua is predominately an agricultural country with about 73% of its working population employed in farming.

The Nicaraguan Constitution states that public education at all levels is a major concern of the state. All education is, therefore, under the supervision of the Ministry of Education. The highly centralized educational system is divided into three categories: primary, 6 years; secondary, 6 years; and professional.

Nicaragua is an interesting country. Why not learn more about it and its position in world affairs?

Nos vemos alla.

See you there!

PUPPET SHOW PRESENTED BY DANIEL LLORDS

The Llords' Puppets "International" brings sophistication and glamour to the marionette theatre as the performance on Tuesday evening, January 21, at 8:30 p.m. will prove.

This gay and fanciful revue for adults full of ingenious sound and scenic effects, provides an imaginative evening of entertainment--- part concert, part ballet, part Broadway musical, and part circus.

The Llords' Puppets is undoubtedly the most expensive and lavish revue of its kind in the world today. Genuine mink and chinchilla are worn by the puppet chorus girls; the satins and brocades, the ostrich plumes and the 13 carat gold lame used to costume more than 200 marionettes are the finest obtainable. Over a mile of special black thread is used to give life to the little people and to create a "world on a string."

The unlimited special effects--rain, snow, fire, electrical skyrockets, water-playing fountains, etc.--and the menagerie of elephants, camels, peacocks, and horses add the lavish note to the performance.

The stage used by Mr. Llords for his presentation is 12 feet across with an opening 6 feet wide. The young impresario works from a narrow platform behind the stage and is in constant view of the audience while he manipulates as many as 187 strings at one time.

Mr. Llords puppet entertainments are perfect vehicles for his many talents as singer, actor, playwright, choreographer, designer, and director. He has many voices and accents at his command. Though a native American, Mr. Llords can perform his puppet revues in five languages -- French, German, Italian, Spanish, and of course, English.

He has received citations for over 5,400 hours of entertaining at service camps and hospitals. Mr. Llords has also had radio, television, and motion picture experience.

1958 WINTER CARNIVAL INITIATES SECOND SEMESTER ACTIVITIES

Wednesday, January 29th is the day of the annual Winter Carnival Queen election.

At the morning convocation the Queen candidates will be presented by last year's queen, Dorothy Grundmann. Throughout the assembly, several skits will be given to get everyone in the spirit for the wonderful weekend ahead. A pantomime, quartet, and soloists will also be featured.

In the afternoon there will be another opportunity to meet and visit with the Queen candidates before you cast your vote. You will also have a chance to meet the contestants of the annual beard growing contest. Refreshments will be served in Harvey Memorial from 3:30 to 5:30.

Elections for Queen will be held in the corridor of Harvey Hall. Be sure to cast your vote, visit with your candidates, and have some refreshments.

SPORTS EVENTS TO FOLLOW CORONATION

This year's Winter Carnival is planned to be bigger and better than its predecessors. Activities will begin Friday evening, January 31, with the crowning of the 1958 Winter Carnival Queen. Dorothy Gundmann, last year's queen will do the honors.

Following the coronation, a variety of sports events will be held. Among these being ice skating races for couples and single entries, a hockey game between the Phi Sigs and the F.O.B.'s and a tug of war for the different organizations and the dorms to enter.

Immediately following this there will be a get together with plenty of refreshments and dance music.

OUTDOOR ACTIVITIES PLANNED FOR SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon will be the biggest day for sports in our Winter Carnival. Starting out at 1:00 the snow carvings will be judged for the various prizes, followed by the toboggan run at 1:30, which will be judged for distance. At 2:00 the "Cross-country ski" takes place and is an event which can be enjoyed by all. There is a chance for everyone to demonstrate his or her skill and endurance at 2:15 by pulling a crosscut saw in the log sawing contest. At 3:00 comes the thrilling sport of ski jumping, which usually causes much excitement and is very enjoyable. Snowball rolling, the sport that everyone can do is at 3:15 and precedes the snowball throwing contest at 3:30. Here is a chance to show your best arm by hitting the target. At 3:45 you get a chance to go sliding. Cardboard will be provided and there will be thrills and spills for everyone. Let's all get out and participate in as many events as possible and enjoy out winter wonderland.

QUEEN IS CROWNED DURING INTERMISSION

Climaxing the 1958 Winter Carnival will be the Snow Ball on Saturday evening, February 1, sponsored by the Pallas Athene sorority.

During the intermission the queen will be presented. Competent Menomonie judges, namely three local barbers, will judge the fellows entered in the beard contest. Prizes will be awarded to the best in each of three categories: most unique, best groomed and the longest. At this time prizes will also be awarded to the winning ice carvings, the most beautiful and the most original.

The drawing for the patch work quilt to be given away by the Delta Zeta sorority will also take place during the intermission. Other prizes will be awarded to the winners of the ice fishing contest, the hockey game and the tug of war.

Finally, the top boy and girl winners in the competitive sports will be the two lucky students to receive ski sweaters. These will be awarded on the basis of the points accumulated during the carnival activities.

Why not win a ski sweater or other prizes the easy way? Participate in the Winter Carnival activities!

UPPERCLASSMEN EXPLAIN EVENT TO FRESHMAN

Dear Frosh,

Once again it's time for Stout's Winter Carnival. Are you planning to attend? Here at Stout the winter carnival is a time to get outside and let off some steam.

The carnival starts on January 31 and ends on February 1, but some Stout students started the event at the Christmas recess. Events in this year's carnival are many and varied. They start on Friday night with ice skating, a tug of war, and the crowning of the winter carnival queen. Saturday's events start in the morning with the final touch up work being done on the ice carvings. Judging will take place in the morning so put some colored film in the ol' shutter box and follow the judges on their jaunt around the campus. In the afternoon, sports events dominate the scene. Saturday night is the Snow Ball which climaxes the winter arrival.

I heard that the weather man is going to try and co-operate with us by predicting snow and cooling weather.

Well that's the winter carnival in a nutshell. We hope to see you entering the contests and participating with your lass and friends in the many events.

Sincerely yours,
An Upperclassman

APO OFFICE HAS MANY BOOKS TO BE CLAIMED

Now's the time to start looking around for lost books. The APO lost and found office is the present resting place for Psychology, Physics, Chemistry, and many other assorted books.

Tests have proven that it is easier to walk down to the office and see if its there than it is to work two or three hours to pay for the book.

Office hours are posted on all bulletin boards. Come on down and see us and save yourself some work.

Several members of the Phi Omega Beta fraternity attended a holiday party at the home of a fellow fraternity brother on Saturday evening, December 28. Jim Lubahn invited all of the members to his home in Milwaukee.

Are you always complaining that there is nothing to do? Many students claim that the only place to go on week ends is the show. As one student said, "It's standard operating procedure to go to the theater." But this isn't absolutely true. We must all remember there are many school-sponsored activities that are presented just for us.

But it's the same old mixer or basketball game every week, you say. If we the students do not back these activities, how can we expect anyone to plan any other activities for us?

Remember, it takes people to make a gathering a success. It can be a one million dollar spectacular, but if the people do not attend or if they leave five minutes after they arrive it will not be very successful.

If you will just look at the weekly activities that are presented every week at Stout, you will see that there are many things to do. But you must go to have a good time. Maybe the old adage is more true than false, "When people complain, they're happy; but when they don't complain, something is wrong."

Starting with this week end, let's all start attending our school-sponsored affairs. Don't put off this week end what you've been putting off all year. Remember, it's you that will make it a success or a flop.

CLUB NEWS

A very enjoyable skating party followed by a lunch served at Miss Williams' apartment was held last Sunday afternoon for all Tri Sigma sorority girls.

The Sigma's are again making plans to participate in the annual Winter carnival. Their plans include entering the ice carving, queen, and tug of war contests and various other individual activities.

Following their weekly meeting last Thursday evening, the Tri Sigma and Alpha Sigma Alpha members were entertained by the new members of both groups at a post New Year party.

During Christmas vacation three of the local Wesley Fellowship members attended a national convention of the Methodist Student Movement at Kansas University in Lawrence, Kansas. Louise Grant, Beverly Madson, and Bruce Kence represented Stout in the group of eighty-five from Wisconsin who were lost in the crowd of 3,200 attending. During the convention, December 27 to January 1, many nationally known speakers such as Norman Cousins, Clark Fitzgerald, Philippe Maury, and Dr. Chester Pennington were heard. Besides becoming enlightened mentally, they met many interesting and outstanding students from various parts of the world. For many years to come, these students will feel the effect of this quadrennial conference on their lives.

PALLAS ATHENE HOLDS CARNIVAL, SNOW BALL

The Pallas Athene sorority members met at the library on January 9, for their first meeting of the new year. Program items for the second semester were the main topic of discussion. Plans for the intersorority party with the Alpha Sigma Alphas were completed. Panhellenic rushing for second semester was discussed. Preliminary plans for winter carnival activities were made. Bette Zander was chosen for the group's queen candidate for 1958.

KARLSRUD RECEIVES FOUR ENCORES FRIDAY

Edmond Karlsrud, first lyceum performer of the new year, received four encores last Friday evening. His concert consisted of opera, folk songs, spirituals, and semi-classical numbers. Mr. Karlsrud gave a synopsis of songs sung in foreign languages. German and French opera selections appeared with humorous folk songs such as "Johnny Sands" and popular songs such as "Roving Gambler."

A bass-baritone, Mr. Karlsrud is a native midwesterner. He appeared on the Stout stage with Mr. Charles Touchette who presented a series of piano solos in addition to accompanying Mr. Karlsrud.

A salesman of religious books asked a venerable old gentleman: "Do you believe in infant damnation?" "Nope," replied the prospect, "what is the use of cursing out an ornery kid before he understands what you're saying?"

"Bobby," asked the teacher, "where is the English Channel?" "I don't know," answered Bobby, "we don't get that one on our TV set."

Some people are so prejudiced they won't even listen to both sides of the phonograph record.

Apparently the reason some folks occasionally get lost in thought is that it is such unfamiliar territory to them.

FINAL EXAMINATIONS SCHEDULE

All final examinations are based on a one hour limit. Examinations in all courses having more than one section are scheduled below. All classes will meet through Tuesday, January 21. Examinations in courses having single sections, graduate or undergraduate, are to be given Monday or Tuesday, January 20 or 21, whichever is the last meeting of the class. Exceptions to this will be those classes meeting regularly on Wednesday and Friday. Students having conflicts on the group schedule will take the subject of their classification first. (Juniors will take junior subjects first, etc.). The period 3:00 to 5:00 on Friday is made available for use in case a three subject conflict occurs.

Reports on grades should be turned in at the earliest opportunity, at least 24 hours after the examination. All reports are to be in before the final deadline at noon Saturday, January 25.

STATE COLLEGE FACULTY TELL WHY TEACHING

One-hundred science and mathematics professors at the Wisconsin state colleges teach "because we like young people."

That was the answer nine out of 10 of them gave in a survey conducted by the college Regents and reported in the Wisconsin Journal of Education this month.

Not one of the 100 teacher-scientists remains on campus because of good salaries. Virtually all of them claim they could get more money in industry or research.

"I selected teaching because I thought I could do the most for society in such a position," said a mathematics professor. "Many times I doubt the wisdom of this choice. Most times I am satisfied."

Is there more public interest in science since Sputniks I and II? "Yes," said six of the 100. "No," said 17. The others qualified their answers, admitting that there is more "wild talk," "worried talk," "superficial talk," or "small talk" about science but little real public interest as evidenced by thoughtful action.

"The public's interest in science goes by peaks," said a physics professor. "The last peak came in the years immediately following the A-bombs. This year it's Sputnik."

The professors were, generally, doing their part in recruiting scientists. All but five were advising their students to become scientists, although they pointed out the need for capable men and women in all fields of human activity.

How can we increase the number of qualified American scientists?

Recruit better qualified high school science teachers, said 77. Pay higher salaries to science and mathematics teachers (and all other teachers, warned some), said 76. Set higher standards of attainment in high school, said 76. And do something about the gifted child! Give him or her a college scholarship, said 82.

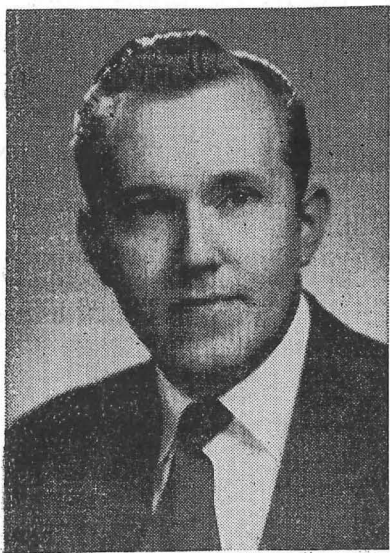

"Let's honor that good student at least as much as a good athlete," said one professor.

"Use federal government scholarships or any other subsidy necessary," said a chemistry teacher.

And so 100 college science and mathematics professors with an average of 17 yrs. experience, 36 doctorate degrees, and a love of teaching joined the national debate.

... with Joannie Bluedevil

Cupid has been a busy young fellow during the last two month. Sporting new engagement rings are Kay Blum, Carol Bibby, Jean Machel, Beverly Duerkop, Shirley Grant, Judy Heil, Kris Ostertag, Helen Russell, Kathy Van Doorn, Jane Spurgat, and Nancy Fullmer.

Recently pinned were Ruth Thomas and Joan Manes.

Included in the "newly married" category are the formers Jean Skar, agory are the formers Jean Skar, Billie Jo Braker, and Carol Frank.

Congratulations to all those listed herein and to any who should have been listed, but whom Joannie Bluedevil accidentally overlooked.

Although Joannie found the largest amount of news in the romance department, she overheard many small bits of other interesting incidents too.

First of all, razor blades and shaying lotion sales are dropping fast in Menomonie now that the beard contest is under way for the annual winter carnival.

Favorite past-times (time killers) change from time to time. "Hearts," "Cribbage," and "Pinocle" haven't faded from the scene, but "Black-jack," and "Liars Dice" are swiftly gaining in popularity amongst the local college students.

Changes, changes, changes—shorter skirts, new classes at semesters and new coffee cups in the union (same old coffee).

Dietetic Club is also making a few changes. This year—no nutrition week with carrot stocks and stuffed prunes! Joannie hears the "calorie counters" have something new cooking.

Crowds go where crowds are! College students are probably the best example of the foregoing statement. However, Les Hanson may be the exception.

Joannie never thought she would see the day when Ken Carlson would buy beef steak for any other purpose than eating it. Strong, wasn't she?

Joannie notonly does a lot of snooping around the campus, she also reads many important documents and informative publications. In one of the "Browsing About Stout" articles in the Stoutonia before Christmas, the writer suggested a sterling monogrammed yo-yo for the person who has everything.

It isn't sterling silver and it isn't monogrammed, but Joannie has seen Mike Brennan having a good time with his treasured yo-yo.

Convenience is a wonderful thing, and Greyhound Bus Lines recognize this by offering schedules to fit every traveler's wishes,—every traveler but Joan Wonoski.

The Atomic Bomb, Jet Airplanes, and Sputnik have caused big uproars in their time, but one of the biggest uproars of late was the "doorpedo" which hit Tainter hall.

You see, Joannie is snooping everywhere and she finds it too interesting a vocation to give it up so he'll be seeing you.

CHI LAMBDA TO HOLD FIRST MARDI GRAS

"Mardi Gras is a period when hundreds of thousands of citizens and visitors give expression to their festive feelings before the Lenten period of fast. It is a season marked by wholesome fun, spontaneous gaiety and feasting." This year the Chi Lambda is sponsoring a Mardi Gras dance at Stout.

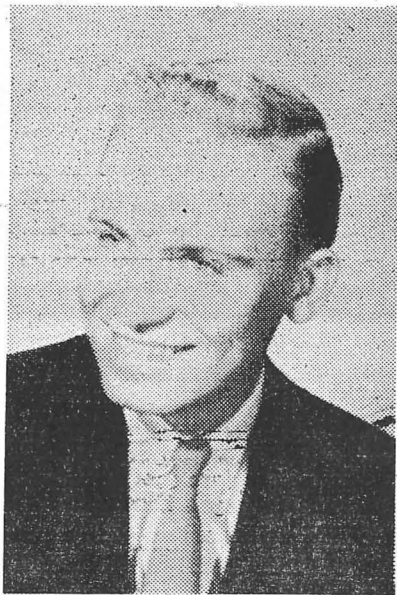

Literally, Mardi Gras applies to Shrove Tuesday — the day before Ash Wednesday, which opens the Lenten season. In fact, Mardi Gras means "Fat Tuesday." Actually, however the term Mardi Gras is popularly applied to the two weeks during which various street parades and dances are held climaxing the Mardi Gras season.

Just when the European custom of celebrating Mardi Gras made its bow in New Orleans is shrouded in mystery. One tale relates that as soon as the city was founded by Bienville an impromptu Mardi Gras celebraion was held by his men. It is a fact, however, that several years prior to the founding of the city, a party of French colonizers headed by Iberville, camped on the Mississippi River thirty miles

STAN SUK WINS PHI SIG AWARD AS SECRETARY

Stan Suk, graduate student, was chosen as the recipient of the 1957 Secretary Award. Each year the award is given to the most outstanding secretary in the national organization of the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity. This award is the highest individual award possible for any one Phi Sig member to win in the entire country.

Stan competed with the many secretaries of all the chapters across the United States. His never ending enthusiasm, interest, and work are only a few of the most prevelant characteristics he has. This is the second consecutive year that a member of the Phi Sigs on the Stout campus has won the award. Doug Pagel won the 1956 award. The pressure is being placed on Ed Birch, the present secretary, to reach out for the award to make it a traditional award for the Stout Phi Sigs.

Stan has won a beautiful trophy for his efforts as well as the hearty congratulations from the brothers of Omega Chapter, here on campus, for bringing the national spotlight to our campus.

from its mouth. Noting that the day was March 3, 1699, Mardi Gras of that year, Iberville recorded that the location was officially named "Point du Mardi Gras." Quite possibly some observance of the hoiday took place, the first in Louisiana.

Because the original inhabitants of the city were a Latin people, it is not surprising that some sort of Mardi Gras celebration became customary soon after the colony was established. Such celebrations took the form of ball and masquerade dances with, perhaps, some spontaneous street masking.

"For the first time, Mardi Gras is coming to Stout," states Sheldon Satter, of the Chi Lambda entertainment committee. "Although it would be impossible to completely carry over the "Twelfth Night" was the theme of the Home Economics club party held January 8 in the circle. Some of the activities were the burning of the tree and singing of Christmas carols for the last time. Refreshments were served in the gym later on in the evening.

MR. WHYDOTSKI SPEAKS AT WIS. PRESS MEETING

Speaking at the recent mid-winter meeting of the Wisconsin Press association in Eau Claire was Lloyd Whydotski, chairman of the department of printing at Stout state college.

Whydotski demonstrated to the 150 weekly editors attending the meeting the operation of the Prototype cold type machine for lithography. He gave the demonstration in conjunction with the Davidson Company presentation.

The Prototype process is a relatively new method of setting letters or entire words photographically on paper or film. That material is then used in the offset process of printing.

Also attending from Menomonie were Paul Hassett, editor of the "Dunn County News," and Dr. Thomas Fleming, publicity director of Stout state college.

BLUEDEVILS TO ATTEMPT TO BREAK CONFERENCE Jinx; FACE OSHKOSH IN HOME TILT TONIGHT

Tonight, Stout's hoopsters will be attempting to break their conference jinx, as they face Oshkosh in the high school gym at 8:00 p.m.

This will be the Bluedevil's fourth conference game of the season. In previous play, the cagers have fallen at the hands of Eau Claire, Superior, and La Crosse, putting them in the depths of the cellar of the Wisconsin state conference.

One of the Titan's big problems thus far this season has been the lack of experience in the back court. This has come about because of the graduation of their two outstanding guards, Jack Wippich and Don Krol.

The Titan coach Eri Kitzman has a handful of outstanding sophomores, but the newcomers sport no great amount of height and have to depend on speed and ball-handling ability.

The Titans have had to rely greatly on their speed, and coach Kitzman has expressed confidence in the speed of his squad.

The big weakness of Oshkosh seems to be in their height, as they seems to have a great deal of trouble controlling the backboards.

Outstanding player for the gold and white is Tom O'Brian. Tom last year, shot a blistering 40% on his field goal attempts earning him a school record of 121 field goals in one season. He also hit on an average of 81% of his shots from the foul line in his record season.

Coach Gerlach's men will be ready for the invading Titans, as they have had a week of rest in preparation for the tilt. Physical condition of the squad is good, and spirits high.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

Early spectators at the Stout — La Crosse game were treated to a fine exhibition of basketball, when the FOB's clashed with the Olympics in a regular league game. The FOB's racked up their third straight victory in as many starts. Other games in the American league found the Sig Tau's trounced by the Dark Horses 57 to 50, the Angels romped home victors at the expense of the Hawaiians 73-40.

The FOB's lead the American league with a 3-0 record, followed by the Angels with a 2-0 mark. Rich Vogtsberger is the leading scorer with 77 points in 3 games, Peterson and Puckhan with 40 each compose the top three.

Phi Sigs and Grads are the big guns in the National with identical 2-0 records. The Sputniks placed three men at the top of the individual scoring list with Soderberg netting 40 points in 2 games, Ott, Bredesen, and Gutschew compiling 26 in as many tilts.

STOUT'S COACH BOASTS 18 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE

Eighteen years of coaching experience a territorial basketball championship, two state basketball championships, and tied for two state football championships is the proud record of Stout State College's head coach Joe Gerlach.

Coach Gerlach is now in his second year here at Stout in which he is acting as head coach in football, basketball, and baseball.

Gerlach began his coaching duties in 1939 at the University of Alaska where he won his territorial championship. From 1942 to 1945 he coach at North Dakota State teachers college.

At North Dakota he won two basketball titles and tied for two in football. In 1946 he had another great year in baseball, and football at York high school in Elmhurst, Illinois.

The year 1947 moved the Bluedevils mentor into the position of head coach in basketball and track, plus becoming line coach in football for the University of Minnesota, Duluth branch. From 47 to 56 Gerlach remained at the Duluth branch.

In 1956 Mr. Gerlach accepted the position of head coach at Stout State College. "The team members and myself feel that the student, faculty, and community support here at Stout is excellent," remarks Gerlach. "This gives us an added incentive for winning in every game."

With a coach of Gerlach's ability and the experience that he possesses we can feel assured that he is trying in every way he can to bring victory to the Stout State Bluedevils.

Consciences Struck

My conscience pricks me, sticks me, stabs me,
My conscience jolts me, jars me, jabs me.
My conscience digs me, gigs me, gores me,
My conscience scars me, scares me, scores me.
My conscience bangs me, whangs me, bops me...
My conscience warns, but seldom stops me.

LA CROSSE INDIANS SCALP STOUT BLUEDEVILS, LEAVING THEM WITH NO CONFERENCE WINS

Going down to their third straight conference setback last Saturday night were our Bluedevils of Stout state college. This time the Indians of La Crosse state teachers college played the role of the tormentors to the tune of a 93 to 78 shellacking. The Bluedevils have yet to post a league conquest.

La Crosse center Ed Winiarski opened the game on the wrong foot when he sacked a 20-foot field goal. The next six minutes were played in a seesaw fashion before Stout guard Jann Peterson gave the hometowners an 11 to 10 lead. This didn't last very long and it proved to be the only Bluedevil edge of the night.

During the mythical second quarter, the Indians caught fire in their featherers and made the nets rip as they sank 73 per cent of every field goal attempt. The visitors connected for 32 points to Stout's 18 during the last 8 minutes of the first half. This brought an 18 point spread at half time, 56 to 38.

As the second half opened, a quick spurt by the Bluedevils narrowed the gap to 11 points at 66 to 55. The margin stayed at this spread until but three minutes were left. At this time, the handwriting on the wall told even the staunchest hometowner that a victory was not in sight.

Fouls played havoc with the Bluedevils during the second half as four regulars fouled out. The Indians made 35 of 46 free throw attempts on 30 Stout errors while the locals made 18 out of 28 on only 21 La Crosse infractions.

From the floor, the Bluedevils had 30 field goals to 29 for the visitors. High point men for the game were Stout's Keith Moessner and Brian Howard with 21 and 18 points respectively. Leading La Crosse were Ed Winiarski and Gar Ammerman. The box score:

CANDIDATES PRESENTED AT CONVOCATION WED.

DRIVER EDUCATION TO TAKE PRACTICE PUPILS

All persons interested in taking practice driving the second semester should enroll with Mr. Kranzusch, Room 23, Bowman hall as early as possible.

Practice driving schedules will be set up as soon as you enroll.

This year the college will use two cars. One car is standard shift and the other an automatic transmission drive. Both cars are 1958 models, dual controlled.

Learning to drive by approved lessons and instructors assures you of the latest methods of teaching. You will also learn the rules of the road and the present laws governing traffic.

A school permit, good for five months assures you ample time so that you may become a good driver. You can secure your drivers license by taking and passing the road test given by State Examiners.

ATTENTION

Petitions are available in the SSA office for candidates for SSA elections. Individuals or representatives of organizations interested in running a candidate may obtain these forms now and the completed forms will be due no later than 5 p.m., March 6. THIS IS THE DEADLINE.

Campaigning begins March 15, and ends March 20. SSA elections will be held in Harvey hall, Thursday, March 20, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The campaign convocation will be held Wednesday, March 19.

WILL STUDENTS CHOOSE JO, TOOTS, BETTE, KATHY, OR BABE FOR 1958 QUEEN?

Part of the 1958 winter carnival is already history! It all started with the convocation on Wednesday. At the convocation students were introduced to the various queen candidates. Voting for the queen followed in the afternoon. The activities were brought to a close with a tea held in Harvey Memorial at which students could meet their candidates for the Queen of the Winter Carnival.

Today saw the start of work on the ice and snow carvings, of which some real beauties are in evidence. Tonight the carnival's activities get off to a real big start on Lake Menomin. Dorothy Grundmann will place the coveted crown on the queen's head at 7:45 p.m. and Stout's Winter Carnival will be officially under way.

SNOWBALL DANCE

Every Betty Coed and Joe College will want to wind up the Winter Carnival festivities by attending the Snowball Dance. The annual event, sponsored by the Pallas Athene sorority, is scheduled for Saturday night, Feb. 1, from 2:30 till 11:30 with music furnished by George Soderburg and the Royal Blackhawks.

Presentation of the queen will be a highlight of intermission time at 10 P.M.. The elected queen will be presented with a corsage from the Pallas Athene sorority. Intermission will also furnish the Winter Carnival climax for men who have been growing beards. Three local barbers will judge the beards and award prizes for the most unique, thickest, and best groomed growths. Sweaters will be given to the boy and girl who earned most points from week-end contests. The Delta Zeta quilt drawing will also occur at the dance intermission. Refreshments will be served throughout the evening. So you see, a full schedule of entertainment and excitement is in store for those attending the Snowball Dance. Come one! Come all!

MANUAL ARTS PLAYER'S TRYOUTS IN PROGRESS

Tryouts for the Manual Arts Player's second production are now in progress. The Torchbearers, a comedy by George Kelly will be presented on March 13, 14, and 15. The play was first produced in 1922, and is hilarious satire on the little theatre movement.

All who are interested are urged to attend tryouts in the auditorium or to contact Dr. Lengfeld in room 316 of Harvey hall. A note under the door will be sufficient. There are six men's and six women's parts available. Copies of the play are on reserve in the library.

STOUTONIA TO HOLD MEETING ON FEBRUARY 8

Strategic planning and informative talk is on the agenda for the Stoutonia meeting coming up Saturday, February 8. The meeting will start at 10 a.m. in the lecture room of the printing department. This program will be of interest to present staff members and newcomers to the field of journalism and public relations.

Subjects to be covered have not as yet been completely decided, but among them will be the familiar ones of deadlines, subject matter, features, and special articles. The future of the paper is to be discussed, as to format, objectives, and distribution, among other factors of the paper's production. This is a subject which has been under discussion for quite some time with no decisions reached.

Plan to attend Saturday morning, and if you have any material which you feel would be of special interest at this meeting, bring it along.

The meeting is open to interested visitors.

WEATHERBIRD

"Sunny skies are going to stay around until at least Sunday," the bird predicted this morning.

"Temperatures will be around the freezing mark during the days and will drop to the twenties at night."

Sunday evening should bring a return of clouds and a few snow flurries to the Menomonie area, but the mercury will remain relatively unchanged.

Looking over material that had just been presented to the STS at a special lecture session are Jim Kogler, organization president, Lloyd Whydowski, advisor, and Cy DeCosse. Mr. DeCosse's enjoyable talk came as part of the STS's Printing Education Week celebration.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Is the big boom finally on? Can it be that students en masse are going to back organizations sponsoring social events? From attendance at the past few activities it could just be that that phenomenon is in the air.

After struggling through the first semester at a snail's pace, social events are finally being well attended. During the past term, very few activities were supported with the result that many other functions were discouraged from being held. It would not be fair to say that high costs of attending any events kept anyone away. The only other factor could be the aged "I had too many studies." Did you? Or, could it be that you couldn't budget your time properly? Anyway, that seems to be in the past.

The next thing on the agenda socially is the Winter Carnival. This usually well-planned, well-executed annual event should be full of fun, surprises, and good all-around entertainment. Let's get out en masse, one and all, and have a good time. Now that the ball is rolling, keep it that way.

STATE COLLEGE GRADS RECEIVE HIGH SALARIES

Last year's 1,117 graduates of the Wisconsin state colleges are teaching for the first time at an average salary of $4,029 for men and $3,633 for women, according to a salary study made by the regents.

Average salaries are $219 higher than reported last year for men and $242 higher for women.

The beginning teaching salaries are highest for high school teachers of special subjects such as home economics, vocational agriculture, and industrial arts. Lowest beginning salaries go to rural teachers who have less than four years of college preparation.

Only three of the 1,120 graduates did not find teaching jobs.

The regents report that men received $4,180 for specialty subject teaching in high school, $4,100 for elementary teaching, and $4,032 for high school academic subject teaching. Women were paid $3,896 for teaching the specialty subjects, $3,805 for teaching academic subjects in high schools, $3,761 for teaching in elementary schools, and $3,074 for rural school teaching.

"These are the highest beginning salaries we have ever reported," says college director Eugene R. McPhee. "It is a pleasure to be able to advise high school graduates to consider teaching with the assurance of a job at a respectable beginning salary at the end of the four-year college road."

State college placement officials agree that salaries will continue to rise in Wisconsin. Teachers are in short supply in most high school subject areas and in elementary schools. It was not unusual last year for a graduate to consider 25 teaching positions in Wisconsin and outside the state before making a final choice.

RED CROSS ANSWERS QUESTIONS ABOUT DONATIONS FOR ANNUAL BLOOD CAMPAIGN

EDITORS NOTE: The bloodmobile will be in Menomonie on February 28, and 29.

Who can give blood?

Any man or woman 21 through 59 years of age and weighing 110 pounds or more. Minors 18 through 20 years of age may give with the written consent of parents or guardian. Persons 18 through 20 years in the Armed Forces or married do not need parental consent.

How is the donor's health protected?

Before his donation the donor is medically screened by a physician. Each donor is then questioned by a registered nurse about past and present illnesses. His blood pressure, temperature, pulse, weight and hemoglobin level are determined.

Will giving blood lower my resistance?

No. Every person has between 12 and 13 pints of blood in his body, 10 of which are circulating and 3 held in reserve in the various organs of the body. Your blood fluid is replaced within 24 hours after a donation. Temporary absence of one pint of blood will not affect the functioning of a healthy body.

How is the Blood Program financed?

By your contribution during the March Fund Campaign.

Who is eligible for blood under the Red Cross Blood Program?

All residents of participating counties. Any such resident, hospitalized outside of his county, must notify his county chairman or the Blood Center in St. Paul regarding his blood needs. Will I be charged for Red Cross

TAKE TIME IN DECISION ABOUT VOCATION PLAN

Johnny walks at 12 months, talks at 20 months, reads at six years, dates at 14 years, and selects his vocation at 18 years. And if he doesn't, someone begins to fret about his "abnormality."

Pressure builds up and Johnny is forced to make a decision. The 18-year-old feels the vocational pressure as a high school senior. The girls he knows are going to be teachers, airline hostesses, nurses, actresses, or married. The boys plan to fly jets, build bridges, coach football teams, or farm 160 acres.

"And what are you going to do, Johnny?"

In desperation he grabs a vocation and the pressure subsides. Parents smile and boast that Johnny has decided to go to college. The guidance counselor checks his name off the list of seniors. Everyone, with the possible exception of Johnny, is satisfied.

The modern pressure pushes toward science and some potential historians, farmers, authors, mechanics, and teachers will drift before the prevailing breeze. Gone with the wind is Johnny who got an A in high school physics. Does he want to be a scientist?

"I guess so," says he, and he is drafted to college.

Why did he have to "be normal" by walking at 12 months and deciding his vocation at 18 years? Johnny is unique — an individual. Why not let him walk when he's ready, talk when he has something to say, and decide his vocation when he has all the facts he wants?

John Milton wrote "Paradise Lost", blind, when he was 59. Grandma Moses painted her first picture at 76 after her fingers became too stiff to sew.

Wife at breakfast table to grumpy husband: "Look on the bright side. In 16 hours you'll be back in bed."

A child seeing a horse-drawn buggy for the first time, exclaimed: "Oh, look Mamma! See the big black thing pushing that poor horse!"

JOHN ONG HAS ARTICLE PRINTED IN MAGAZINE

"Pipe Line Construction", is the name of a recent article written by John Ong for The Explosives Engineer magazine. John, a senior in Industrial Technology at Stout, wrote about the recently completed petroleum products pipe line between Cadott, Wisconsin and Newport, Minnesota. The author's story covered the spread between the Red Cedar river crossing just south of Menomonie, to Newport.

Some of John's earlier writing, concerning blasting rock under city dwellings, will appear in a new engineering text book, Modern Tunnelling Practice, by Rolt Hammond, to be published in England.

One of the outstanding features of pipe line work is the high morale and job security. No one ever "quits," nor is anyone ever "fired". If a man is dissatisfied he "drags up", or if his work is unsatisfactory, he is "run off".

CLASS STUDIES MEAL ECONOMY FOR FAMILIES

Imagine eating for $.45 a day!

In Nutrition and Dietetics class, one of the projects is to draw up a week's menu for the members of the class. Plans were made and carried out, but because a family is not complete without a father, a gentleman was invited to eat with the girls.

It isn't every day that a freshman boy has his girl begging him to eat breakfast with him. A certain Dick can tell you of his experiences of eating a low cost breakfast recently through the courtesy of the nutrition and dietetics class.

Meals were planned by the class, keeping in mind good nutrition, palatability, and low cost. The average cost for each person per meal was $.15. This included a substantial breakfast, a casserole lunch, and dinner.

As many of the students who eat in restaurants will testify, $.15 will hardly buy a glass of juice or a bowl of soup. If you are cooking your own meals, you may find it interesting to attempt a project similar to the one conducted in nutrition and dietetics class.

Any student who is interested in this project and other knowledge of foods and nutrition should enroll in nutrition and dietetics. The class is open to all home economics students who have satisfactorily completed sophomore nutrition. "It is a good elective," says this semester's participants.

"What do you do for relaxation?"
"I like to go fishing during the rain under a bridge."
"Fishing during the rain under a bridge?"
"It's the best place. The fish keep crowdin' in to get out of the wet."

WINONA FALLS AS STOUT'S QUINTET CONTINUES WINNING WAYS OVER MINNESOTA COLLEGES

Aggressive rebounding and floor play proved to be the death dealing blows as Stout State completely outclassed Winona State 81 - 69 last Tuesday night.

Both teams played aggressive ball in the first half. After ten minutes of the first half coach Gerlach sent in his bench to replace the starting five. For the remainder of the half the Bluedevils held Winona from taking the lead.

The surprise of the night came with the sparkling play of Bill Hills. He maintained good ball control and rang up six points in a very fast order. Hills was never at one spot on the floor for over five seconds. His conscientious play may prove to be a big asset to the team for the remainder of the season.

At the end of the first half Stout held a four point lead 38-34. The starting five started the second half and easily drew away from Winona. With nine minutes left in the game Winona closed the gap to five points behind Al Sveenningson's, their high scorer. Not one Bluedevil showed complacency throughout the entire game. Jann Peterson and Keith Moessner tied for high scorer with 18 apiece. Howard was next with 13.

Stout hit for 77% and Winona for 75%. The Bluedevils made 23 out of 30 free throws while Winona made 15 out of 20. This was Stout's second straight for the new semester.

NETTERS POST TWO LEAGUE WINS IN A ROW

Stout posted conference victories one and two on January 17 and 25, with victories over Oshkosh and River Falls.

Keith Moessner stole the show in the 80-75 victory over Oshkosh, when he racked up a total of thirty-three points for the evening. Also in the double figures with him were Bill Kindschy with 14, Jann Peterson with 13, and Bob Sorenson with 11.

The Bluedevils jumped to an early lead, holding a 42-28 margin over the Quakers at halftime, only to find it whittled down to a mere three points in the closing seconds of the game.

The River Falls game did not prove to be so easy, however, as it was tough and go all of the way with the Bluedevils finding themselves trailing 22-18 with but ten minutes elapsed. The cager's overcame the deficit by half time, however, leading at the twenty minute mark 40-35, and finished with a 75-67 total.

The hoopsters never trailed in the second half though the Falcons came within one point of regaining the lead a number of times.

High man for the evening was Bob Sorenson with 26. He was followed closely by Keith Moessner with 24, and Brian Howard with 18.

WRESTLING NOTICE

Stouts grapplers fell at the hands of Winona state teacher's college, of Winona, Minnesota last Wednesday in the college gym 31-3.

Bill Doane was the only winner for the Bluedevils as he defeated his man on points.

BLUEDEVILS LOOK FOR THIRD CONFERENCE VICTORY; JOURNEY TO EAU CLAIRE MONDAY

Next Monday Stout's cagers will make the short jaunt to Eau Claire with hopes for their third stright conference victory.

The Bugolds were the first conference team to set back the Bluedevils this season when they walked away with a victory at the high school gym 80 to 70, on December 14.

The Bugolds will be attempting to break a conference jinx on their own court, as they have yet to win a conference game at home.

Eau Claire is at present tied with the Bluedevils for fifth place in the Wisconsin State Conference, with a two win three loss record. In their third loss, the Bugolds fell at the hands of Oshkosh, who had been beaten the previous night by Stout.

Stout will be facing a much improved squad, however, as Bob Woletz, a former Eau Claire high school starter, became eligible at the semester. The Bugolds will also have the aid of Darrel Fitch, who was out of the two team's last meeting due to an injury.

Probable starters for Coach Bill Zorn's five will be Jon Wensil and Tom Webster at forwards, Bob Morgan and Jim Bade at guards, and Leon Etten will be in the key. Morgan, Etten and Wensil accounted for 54 of the Bugolds points in the last contest.

ENROLLMENT IS NEW HIGH FOR 2ND SEMESTER

With the largest second semester enrollment in the history of Stout state college in attendance, the college has registered 1130 students, with more to be enrolled as late registrants and for the second quarter of the semester. On the campus at this time a year ago were 1097 persons.

Of the present total, 471 are women and 659 are men, the males showing an increase over those registered in September, in spite of a good-sized graduating class at mid-semester. The dwindling supply of veterans present in all colleges is noticeable in the 183 total of ex-servicemen.

Out-of-state registrants are 197 in number, representing Hawaii and 18 states in addition to Wisconsin. Students are also present from Panama, Thailand, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Canada, Ethiopia, Jordan, Turkey, Cuba, Indonesia, Korea and British Honduras.

Of the 1130 total enrollment, 27 men and five women are pursuing studies in the Stout graduate program. An additional 11 men and four women are registered as special students.

By classes, the student body of Stout state college contains 350 freshmen, 244 sophomores, 260 juniors, 299 seniors and 32 graduate students.

RADIO-ELECTRONICS OBTAIN HAM LICENSE

The Radio-Electronics club is proud to announce that Stout state college once again has an Amateur Radio Station licensed by the Federal Communications Commission. The station call letters are W9CPB, the same which were heard from Nova Scotia, Canada to Florida, and from New York to Washington back in 1950.

Records of the station dated in 1950 show operation with amateurs, by voice communication, throughout the United States and in foreign countries. This station has not been operated for the last few years because of lack of a licensed operator.

John Malmin now has filled this position and hopes to finish renovation of the 1000 watt transmitter in order to be on the air this spring.

The organization has a number of members with their Novice Class Licenses, one with a Conditional Class License, and many others working to get their Novice. Some members are working on construction and study of Hi-Fidelity systems.

The club wishes to encourage all students, who are interested in amateur radio, Hi-Fi, and electronic experimentation, to visit one of the meetings or contact a member.

Activities are organized to present a learning atmosphere in electronics for the leisure time enjoyment of its members.

The picture for this story will appear in next week's issue.

AC CLUB HOLDS CARD PARTY FOR STUDENTS

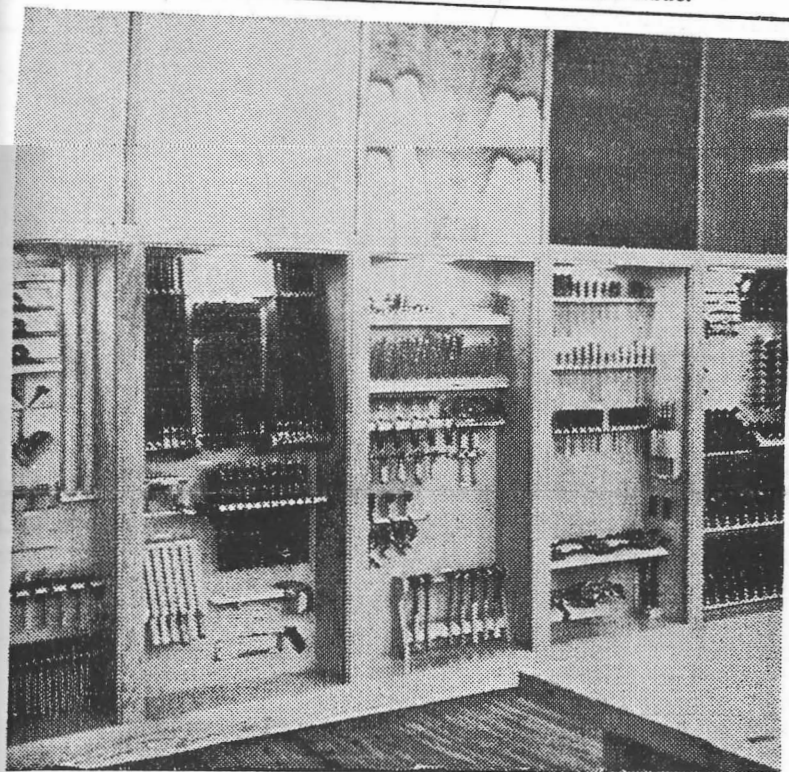

The Arts & Crafts club announces its annual card party to be held tonight February 7th at 8:00, in the Stout gym.

The card party is a non-profit venture of the Arts & Crafts club to promote fellowship among students, faculty and guests.

The door prize, which anyone is eligible to win, will be a $30 radio and the winning player at every table will have a choice of a wide selection of prizes.

Any card game can be played—come as individuals or as groups, singles and pairs can be matched at the game.

Admission price is 50¢. Refreshments of cake, ice cream, and milk or coffee will be served after the card games. Tickets can be obtained at the game or from members of the Arts & Crafts club.

With electrically-powered doors raised, the interior of the unique tool cabinet in the hand woodworking department of Stout state college is revealed. Tools are racked according to type and each section is illuminated by recessed lighting. Above the cabinet are panels of different types of woods, a useful device to cover the mechanism operating the electric doors but even more valuable as a visual aid to teach students the identification of various types of woods.

SODERBERG PLANS UNUSUAL TOOL CABINET ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND IN EXISTENCE

"The idea first came to me as I watched the operation of my garage doors," George A Soderberg explains enthusiastically as he describes a unique facility in his woodworking shop at Stout state college—electrically-powered tool cabinet doors plus a beautiful display of finished wood panels in the Hand Woodworking shop of the Trades building on the Stout campus. Soderberg is an associate professor of industrial education and specialist in finishing at the college.

Many visitors to the campus ask to be directed to this shop, where they can see the cabinet in actual operation. Of course, the unique performance of this cabinet has tempted many of those visitors to inquire about its construction and mechanism.

The electrically controlled tool cabinet, having six automatic overhead doors, is operated by a ¼ horsepower, 17.5 rpm Boston Rationmotor. This is a 1750 rpm motor, but is geared down within the motor itself, at a ratio of 100 to 1, to 17.5 rpm.

Limit control switches are provided to stop the up or down motion of the doors at a set time or position. It is also interesting to note that the six cabinet doors open or close simultaneously in twelve seconds.

The operating mechanism of this six-door tool cabinet consists of a ¾-inch by 20-foot cold rolled shaft, supported by five self-aligning, adjustable shaft supports. On the shaft above each door are two 7-inch "square" pulleys. Fastened to the square pulleys is a ¾-inch, 7-foot steel tape of the type used in a 50-foot measuring tape. This steel tape was secured from Lufkin Rule Co., Saginaw, Mich.

The other ends of each pair of tapes are secured to a cabinet door. When the switch is thrown, the entire shaft and all of its pulleys roll up this tape,

NEXT LYCEUM FEATURES DUO OF JAZZ MUSIC

The Mitchell-Ruff Duo playing here Monday evening, February 10, at 8:00 p.m., is one of the newest and freshest instrumental combinations to hit popular music in a long time.

With Durke Mitchell on piano and Willie Ruff on bass and French horn, they set up a colorful variety of tonal combinations, and explore both old and new frontiers of jazz.

Their music making is partly jazz, partly serious music with the theme dominant and the beat reduced to secondary importance. The artists have dispensed with the need for drums or guitar in the unit, and Ruff's bass is only occasionally used as pure accompaniment.

'TORCH-BEARERS' TO BE SECOND MAP PRODUCT

The members of M.A.P. are beginning work on their second production, The Torch-Bearers, a comedy by George Kelly. This play has delighted audiences since 1922. The Torch-Bearers will be presented on March 13, 14, and 15.

Hard at work are the following committees: stage crew, lighting, make-up, properties, sound effects, costumes, business, and publicity. Anyone who is interested should "keep an eye" on the bulletin board for time and place of meetings.

Make plans now to see The Torch-Bearers. The play is a satire on the little theater movement. It will be impossible to resist this record of mishaps and ill-luck which encounters the amateur actors. Remember, Stout students will be admitted free upon presentation of their S.S.A. cards. Admission for the general public will be $.75.

WEATHERBIRD

The Bird cast a gloomy eye to the north this morning and predicted continuing cold weather until at least tomorrow night.

"No snow in sight this weekend," he said. "If it warms up on Sunday for the ice fishermen, we might see a few flurries."

Better plan on dressing warmly for the contest.

COLLEGE DORMS
TO HOUSE 4,000
FALL STUDENTS

Next fall 4,023 students will live in college-owned dormitories on the nine state college campuses.

The 2,000 women and 1,823 men will pay a maximum of $6 a week for the room, complete with bed, desk, chair, lamp, and roommate. There are small additional charges for such things as laundry and ironing privileges.

Women will live in 15 residence halls and men in eight. More than 1,800 collegians will be the first tenants in the nine spanking new dormitories now being completed.

Dormitory life has more than comfort and low cost to recommend it. School spirit flowers in the dormitory. Friendships are closer and the counseling of a matron is available for women.

A few students may disagree, but dorm hours and rules of conduct provide a socially accepted frame for the picture of a college lady, not yet outdated. A growing number of parents demand a dormitory room before they allow their daughter to enroll at college.

There is one more advantage which comes to both men and women living in the dormitory. Success in college seems to go hand-in-hand with dormitory residence. Studies indicate that socially and academically the dorm-dwellers do better than their fellow students who live at home, commute, or rent private rooms. Poorest achievement comes to students doing light housekeeping and working for room and board.

It's possible for a student to flunk out of college or wither as a wallflower no matter where he lives. But it's least easy in the dormitory.

A thirteenth pulley was added on the extreme end of the shaft to lift and lower a counterweight for the purpose of holding the six doors in an upward position. This counterweight also acts as a counterbalance when the doors are being lowered, preventing their coming down with a "bang."

In order to safeguard the tools contained in the cabinet, a small box provided with a lock has been placed over the two-way operating switch.

Undoubtedly, this cabinet is the only one of its kind in existence. Although overhead doors are not in themselves new, Mr. Soderberg has submitted the plans of his electrically operated overhead tool cabinet doors for copyrighting. "It has taken me two or three years to draw the final, successful plans for this project," Mr. Soderberg points out, "and I feel that the plans are well worth protecting."

Under the direction and guidance of Professor Soderberg, the cabinet was constructed by the Menomonie Cabinet Works of North Menomonie, owned and operated by Albert Leistico.

BLUEDEVILS ONCE AGAIN HUMBLE TO ARCH RIVAL, EAU CLAIRE BLUGOLDS IN 84 - 71 LOSS

Well, how do you state the story (the same old one) except to give the facts. "Just the facts and figures ma'am." Anyway, that old axiom that the Stout Bluedevils just can't beat the Eau Claire Blugolds in basketball held true once again. Last Monday night, the locals lost their fourth conference game of the season by a count of 71 to 84. The loss marked the second one of the year to these same Blugolds.

The contest was also significant for Eau Claire in that it was the first league victory for them on their home court, and only the second one in total play at home. It was also one gained before an overflow crowd swelled by some 300 enthusiastic Stout rooters.

A wobbly start and an inconsistent offense spelled doom for the visiting Bluedevils right from the first tip-off. Stout was able to forge only one small and unlasting lead at 20 to 19 midway through the first half. After that, the Blugolds took complete command of the situation. They went on to fashion a nifty 42 to 30 halftime bulge.

Poor passing and an amazing ability to fail to connect on field goal attempts consistently brought 'oh's' and 'ah's' from the Bluedevil fans in attendance. After the locals had closed the gap to six points shortly into the second half, opportunities to do so further were muffed by misguided passes and shots. The only factor that kept the game from becoming a complete rout was the sparkling play of guard Jann Peterson and center Bill Kindschy. Between the shooting of Peterson and the rebounding of Kindschy the Bluedevils were able to hold the Blugolds down.

High point man for the night was Eau Claire's Jon Wensel with 28 markers. His teammate Bob Morgan, netted 16 to tie with Stout's Brian Howard for second place honors. Peterson with 15 and Moessner with 10 rounded out Stout's scoring punch. The Bluedevils connected with 11 of 12 free throws while the hosts hit on 20 of 23. Stout had 17 rule infractions to Eau Claire's 11.

It is interesting to note that while

Stout's zone defense kept league leading Leon Etten from scoring but 8 points, the other four starters all hit in the double figures. Late into the game, the locals did switch to a man to man type of defense.

The Bluedevils were able to connect on only 17 of 41 field goal attempts for an anemic 29% the first half compared to 15 of 34 for 43% the second half.

The box score:

Sorenson	3	1	3	7
Howard	8	0	4	16

Adeline "Toots" Boche leaps high in a fruitless attempt to cheer Stout on to victory over Eau Claire.

Referees LaVaun Neeb and Carol Proffit talk over a point in the rules with advisor Miss Erdlitz, in a recent W.R.A. basketball game, as anxious players look on.

GLENN HARKE AND BILL GEISERT ARE VALUABLE ASSETS TO STOUT STATE'S HOOPSTER QUINTET

Two valuable assets to the Bluedevil basketball team are Glenn Harke and Bill Geisert. Give Harke a few year's experience in collegiate play and the results may be amazing.

He is a graduate of Kimberly high school. He captained his high school team and won two letters. Harke also made honorable mention on the all-conference team his senior year. He is a good ball handler and is one of the fastest men on the squad. Glenn plays guard and is 5 feet 11 inches tall.

Bill Geisert is now managing the basketball team for his third straight year. Geisert hails from Menomonie and is a graduate of Menomonie high school. While in high school he obtained the nickname "Goose" which refers to that great ex-Harlem globetrotter Goose Tatum.

This is Bill's senior year here at Stout and it seems strange not to see him accompanying the team on all of their games. His hobbies are women, cars, and sports.

Remember the adage, "Give credit where credit it due." No two members deserve more credit for an outstanding job than Glenn Harke and Bill Geisert.

STOUT'S WRESTLERS TO MEET RIVER FALLS HERE

This Thursday, Stout's grapplers will resume conference play, as they take on the squad from River Falls in a meet to be held at the small Stout gym.

The match is open to the public, and there will be no admission charge. First contest will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m.

This will be the matmen's first meet against the Falcons. A return match will be scheduled for later in the season to be held at River Falls.

CAGERS FACE A FULL SLATE OVER WEEKEND

This week finds Stout's cagers with a full slate ahead of them as they face two squads in two days.

Tomorrow night will be the reunion of Stout and Superior state colleges in the high school gym.

Coach Gerlach and his squad are looking for revenge against the yellowjackets, who edged them out in their second conference game of this season 75-69 on December 19, 1957.

After only one day of rest, Stout's quintet will journey to Winona to attempt to repeat their recent win over the Winona Peds. The Redmen from Winona Peds. The Redmen from gopherville were the last victims of Stout, when they fell in defeat last Tuesday 81-69.

The Peds have proved to be extremely tough in their home court, however, and the Bluedevils may find themselves in trouble when they face this upset minded squad.

ALPHA SIGMAS HOLD ANNUAL HAWKINS WEEK

Sadie Hawkins Day was started by Al Capp in the Li'l Abner strip many years ago as a gag. It became a fad and is now firmly entrenched as a part of the American way of life.

It all came about through ultra-drastric measures taken by one Hekzebiah Hawkins, first mayor of Dogpatch. He was determined to get a husband for his homely daughter Sadie—the homeliest gal in all them hills.

All the eligible males had eluded Sadie's clutches until Pappy Hawkins not only resorted to law, but he wrote it himself. He decreed that a foot race be run between all unwed men and maidens, and that any man caught by a girl must marry her. Well, Sadie showed a burst of speed and got her man—and Dogpatch got a new holiday.

Now, this simple legend wasn't confined to Dogpatch for long. Like all good things, it burst the bonds of make believe, and began to be re-enacted in real life.

At Stout, we are not only providin' yo gals with a chance to out the men you've been dyin' to hook all year, but also provides yo men to be asked,

Order of business for the first meeting of the Graduate Men's Club for this semester was the election of new officers.

Elected to the office of president was Leo Nevala. His assistant will be vice-president Harlan Scherer. Keeping minutes at future meetings will be the new secretary, Jerry Schemansky. Dick Cheke and Ray Thurston were chosen to constitute the executive committee.

If you dream of your sweetheart you should get married before the year is up.

Now to make it more certain; boil an egg hard and take out the yoke, fill it with salt, and go to bed, then eat it shell and all without drinking or

STUDENTS ARE URGED TO DONATE BLOOD

Someone must give blood before another can receive. Just one pint of your blood and less than one hour of your time can mean life to someone----maybe yourself.

When the Red Cross bloodmobile comes to Menomonie, on February 28 and March 1, it is our hope that we will surpass ourselves by breaking our previous record.

Last year, students of Stout state college gave 83 pints of blood. In addition to this, three faculty members donated blood. While this more than balanced the account as far as known use of blood by our classmates, it is far behind the amount we should give if we are to cover all of our blood needs, including medicines made from blood.

To give you some idea of the importance of blood products, one of the most necessary is gamma globulin. Just one of the important uses of this valuable medicine is to combat measles. This should interest you married students.

This fact alone should bring the vital necessity for blood donations home to every mother. Our children are all measles prone.

One member of every family in Menemonie should be a regular blood donor when the Red Cross comes to our town.

Blood is a vital resource of our community.

It is easier to give blood than to receive it.

LETTER TO EDITOR IS CONCERN TO STUDENTS

Early on Monday morning, you will find a copy of the newly revised Stout student association constitution. Since all of you are members of this association, read it to see if it meets with what you think you want out of your school. If you think it is okay, look on the last page; there will be a ballot in which you are to tell us your likes or dislikes for this revision.

In our old constitution you will find that a vote of more than half the active student body is needed to pass this measure. If you never thought you were a part of the SSA, now is the time to start participating. Whether you vote for or against this new constitution, be sure to vote. The ballot box is located opposite the mail boxes. Ballots are due Friday at 4:30 p.m. Ralph Stevens, SSA Vice President

Tomorrow night is the night you've heard about and been waiting for. Mardi Gras comes to Stout! For many weeks, the members of Chi Lambda have made preparations to give you the best in evening entertainment.

The highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the Mardi Gras princess; one of the seven vivacious candidates sponsored by the sororities and the classes, and selected by you, the students. Voting will be your privilege as you enter the dance. There are no special costumes or dress necessary.

THE ASSOCIATE EDITOR WRITES . . .

What is a raintree? Many people claim it is wealth, happiness, contentment, prominence, personality, intelligence, good looks, and even arrogance. But is this really what a raintree is?

You may look for years and years and never find your raintree, yet it is perhaps closer to you than you realize. When you do find it, if you ever do, then you will realize how foolish it is to search the world and refuse many obvious contentments in its search.

"What is more important to you than money? Nothing," you answer. But you are wrong. You may already have your raintree: a mother who worries when you worry and is happy when you are happy; a friend who gives a helping hand when no one else will; a teacher in whom you can confide and is there when the going gets tough; a wife who helps you through college; everyone who sincerely cares about you.

These are your raintrees! The sooner you realize this fact, the sooner you will be able to say, "I have truly found my raintree."

CLUB NEWS

At the last regular meeting of the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, held last Thursday, it was finally decided to adopt the life membership program.

Brother Warren Barberg, present national president, was in attendance, and provided the members with information needed to pass this important issue.

Also on the agenda were discussions on pledging for this semester. Brothers Hoffman, Erpenbach, Rosenthal, Stoddard, and Albrecht were nominated to this committee.

Other business included provisions for an activities calendar to be drawn up for the rest of the school year, the plans for stunt night and the practicing of fraternity songs.

At the Pallas Athene meeting held in the library on February 6, the main items of business were the panhellenic rushing party and founder's day plans.

Last Saturday the PA members entered "Mother Goose Land", the panhellenic party, as Indians; while there they enjoyed the games and refreshments planned by the four sororities. Last night the girls gathered at the tea room for their founder's day dinner and pledging of second semester members. Entertainment and serenading completed the evening.

Today is the Pallas Athene Founder's day; you'll see all of the members proudly wearing a red rose.

Last Sunday evening, the Chi Lambda fraternity held a skating party at the 11th street rink for the members, prospective members, and their dates. After everyone was sufficiently frozen, a get-acquainted session was enjoyed by all at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Nitz Where coffee, hot chocolate, and cookies were served.

Continuation of plans and work meetings for the Mardi Gras Ball have dominated the business meetings of the fraternity for the past few weeks. The members have been working steadily preparing for the dance which will be presented Saturday, February, 15.

On Saturday, February 8, the Delta Zeta sorority sponsored their annual Scotch Hop. It was held in the Stout gym, following the game between Stout and Superior.

The decorations were under the Scotch theme and were carried out under the direction of Patty Jo Hovde. Sharon McManus was chairman of the refreshment committee and Barb Harms was in charge of publicity. The general chairman for the dance was Kay McIlquham.

Queen JoAnn drew the name of the lucky winner of the Delta Zeta quilt at the annual Snow Ball. Maurice Hove of Eau Claire has been notified of his good fortune. He will soon receive the quilt which is a dacron-filled, washable, attractive cotton percale.

A valentine party, including a buffet supper, games, and signing was held by the Tri Sigma's at the home of Mrs. Alyce Vanek last Friday evening.

The Sigma's are beginning to work on their annual chapter newsletter which covers the events of the past year and is sent out to all Tri Sigma alumni.

Tentative plans have been made for Founder's Day which is April 20. They will honor this day by wearing white and joining together for a banquet in the evening.

Several of the Tri Sigma girls have offered their services as baby sitters when the Red Cross blood mobile is in Menomonie.

Congratulations were extended to Nancy Feurestein, D'Ann Mattson and Ardell Dregne on being invited to join the national honorary fraternity, Phi Upsilon Omicron.

Eight new members were initiated into the Dietetics Club on Monday, February 10. In an impressive candle light service, these initiates repeated their vows and were told the objectives of the club by Barb Hattopp.

The girls were proud to announce that their ice carrying won second place. Future plans were made for a special event that is to take place during the month of March. This event will give each and every one of you "Food For Thought."

Last week the Phi Sigs made final preparations for the regional conclave and basketball tournament. Pat Spielmann, chairman of the event, has

NCCJ SPONSORS BROTHERHOOD WEEK IN FEB.

Brotherhood Week--February 16-23 is an attempt to bring the different peoples of the world and our own land together. Each year a week is set aside and sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews for this purpose.

The NCCJ is a civic organization engaged in an educational program for better human relations 365 days of the year. It enlists Protestants, Catholics, Jews who--without compromise of conscience of their distinctive and important religious differences--work together to build relationships among men of all religions, races and nationalities.

The following article entitled "The Family of Man" is a brief excerpt on brotherhood as seen by Ben Burroughs in Sketches.

The family of man is made...of many different kinds...and each in his own special way...worships at different shrines...in color, creed and language...there is variety...and yet each member is alike...read on and you will see...each has a need for true love...without which all is lost...love strengthens bonds of brotherhood...and pays the highest cost...each has a need for friendship...the sincere kind I mean...friendliness can help to make...the sea of life serene...so you can see how close we are...the family...of man...pledged to God the Father...and part of his great plan.

scheduled many interesting and educational meetings of current interest to participating fraternity chapters.

The Phi Sigs welcomed back Frank Marose, their 1955-1956 fraternity president. Frank has been instrumental in arranging the regional conclave and basketball tournament being held on campus February 28 to March 2.

riage prevented her from being a "great actress."

Virginia Olson, a freshman from Menomonie, will portray Mrs. Nelly Fell. She is a wealthy widow who has had several husbands and she will continue to be perennially young as long as there are gentlemen present.

Wayne Towne, from Waupaca, Wisconsin, is a sophomore who portrays Mr. Spindler. He's a man who was in the army--drafted during the first World War--and served as a clerk for three months. This has had a lasting effect on him and he has now become leadpencil-bearer for the play director.

Tom Wright, a junior from Klamath Falls, Oregon, plays Mr. Twiller. With others in the cast, this "actor" has his problems putting on the show for the Seamen's Institute.

This is a cast that promises to do a good job. You won't want to miss seeing the former Broadway play, The Torchbearers, March 13, 14, and 15.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL HOLDS RUSHING PARTY

"Mother Goose Land" was the theme of the Panhellenic rush party held Saturday morning. The program consisted of games, skits by each of the sororities, and refreshments served in the student union.

Sigma Sigma Sigma and Delta Zeta members attended the party as the children of the little old woman who lived in a shoe. The presidents of the two groups dressed as the little old woman.

Alpha Sigma Alpha members dressed as Jack and Jill. Pallas Athenes were the ten little Indians. All groups sang several of their favorite songs.

Prizes were awarded the following persons during the grand march of costumes: Sandra Wilcox received first place in the most beautiful division. She was dressed as Alice in Wonderland. Candace Sjaggerud, dressed as the cat and the fiddle, rated the most original prize. A group of girls dressed as old MacDonald and his farm were selected as most humorous. They were Dorothy Brawnwarth, Old MacDonald; Carol Bishop, his wife; Janice Smith, Beverly Voight, and Jean Arneson, pigs; Marilyn Schley, and Joan Rhode, horse; Judy Gordon and Mary Jane Fleury, cow; Faye Hirschinger, cat; Jean Mayou, dog; and Irma Thompson, chicken. Honorable mention went to Virginia Olson, dressed as little Bo Peep.

SIG TAUS OPEN NEW REC ROOM WITH PARTY

Barbeques, potato chips, and hot chocolate made up the menu for the first Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity party held in their new recreation room. All of the Sig Taus, their dates and guests, took their first look at what will someday become a meeting place for the chapter.

Plans for this amazing room were designed and drawn by Bill McKinnon. It took just over two months to complete the masterpiece from the time of the idea's conception. Although none of the fraternity members are masters of any trades, but jacks in all, the work was performed in its entirety by them.

The room, on its east side, has a magnificent red brick fireplace. This huge structure was laid up by Fritz Ebert. On the south end of the room, a serving bar (for cokes, etc.) has been installed. It has for its background, an old dutch door with antique wrought iron hinges. This section of the room was the work of Don Hoffman and his crew.

Opposite the fireplace, two built-in davenports have been placed in a most unique manner. These sofas are framed in on the bottom by red bricks, and have been upholstered in some of the brightest red, green, yellow, and black plaid material ever seen. It is 100 per cent Ivy League. Two unusual book racks separate the two couches. This area of the room was headed by Jim Kogler and his merry working men.

The special attraction of the room is the outstanding mantle piece over the fireplace. This truly masculine piece of work is the resting place of fraternity mugs and favors. In the center of the mantle, rises a huge illuminated map of the state of Wisconsin. Two rather unique lamps help to frame off this startling map which rises nearly four feet above the mantle.

In a few weeks, the Sig Taus will be holding an open house. It will be to put this fine room on display and to officially show the students what benefits can be derived by a fraternity group that lives in its own house.

a short explanation of World University Service of which it is a part.

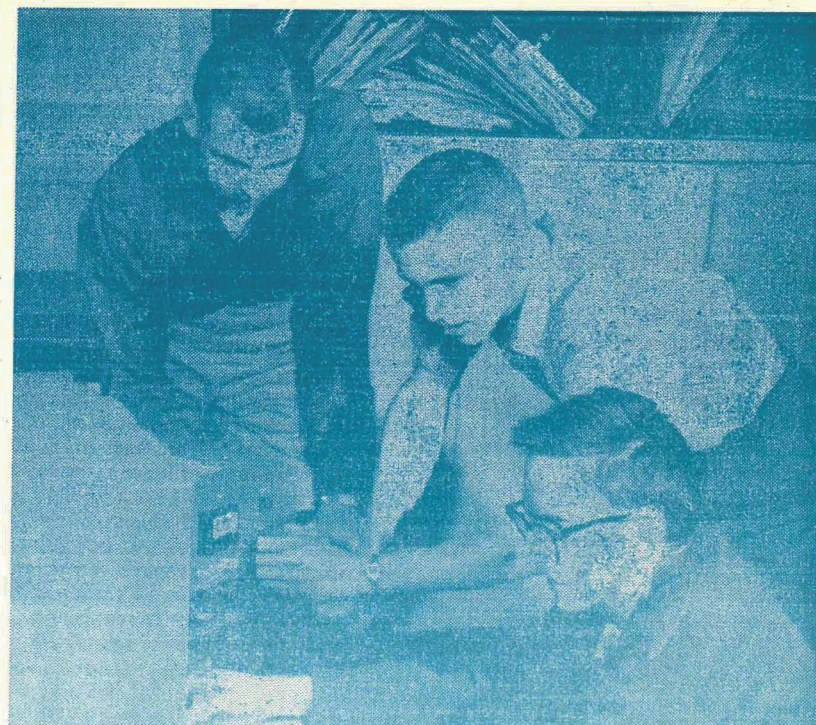

The purposes of Brotherhood Week are threefold. To give individuals an opportunity to re-dedicate themselves to ideals of respect for people and human rights, to help the individual take the practical steps necessary in understanding and realizing these ideals, and to enlist support for the year round activities in building brotherhood everywhere.

Inter-Religious council sponsors the entire program for Brotherhood week, February 16-23, under the direction of Dennis Darling, a junior and Paul Christanson, vicar at Our Savior's Lutheran Church.

speaking afterwards. This may not work for you, but girls in 1786 had a lot of faith in it.

The history of Valentine's Day goes back still further. It is believed that in 271 A.D. there was actually a St. Valentine, known as the lover's saint, who was ordered beheaded by the emperor Claudius. Later the church canonized him and February 14th was chosen as St. Valentine's day.

Another theory that is offered is that during the Roman feast of Lupercolia which was also February 14th, the women of the community put all their names in a box and the gentlemen drew. The men were to be gallant to the women whose name they drew. Since this also occurred on February 14th, it was changed from Lupercolia to Valentine's Day.

Others say the custom started in Europe in the middle ages. It was then believed that the birds' mating season began on February 14th. Regardless of how it started, have a very happy Valentine's Day.

Bill: My girl said she'd be faithful to the end.
Bob: Well, what's wrong with that?
Bill: I'm a halfback.

WINONA PEDS UPSET THE STOUT QUINTET 71-59

Cold Second Half Provides Peds With Winning Factor In The Two Teams' Return Match

A sufficient first half, and a cold second half, were the sad events which brought about a 71-59 defeat for Stout's hoopsters last Monday night at Winona, Minnesota.

Both teams fought evenly in the first half, with each hitting at a 46% average from the court. Stout's quintet held a slight edge at the end of the mythical first quarter 22-18, but lost their edge by halftime trailing by only one point, 37-36.

Things weren't too glum for the Bluedevils when they went to the locker room for a rest, but their rest must have lost their shooting eye, for when they returned to the court for the second stanza, the best they could muster was a 21% shooting average. The Peds didn't lose their eye unfortunately, as they continued hitting at a good pace with 44%.

Stout also lost their rebounding edge which they held in the first half, and were outnumbered in this category 26-18.

This contest found Coach Joe Gerlach experimenting with a new starting five. Using Keith Moessner and Brian Howard as the only veterans, he started Bill Kindschy at center, Don Peth opposite Howard at forward, and Glen Harke teamed up with Moessner at guard.

Bill Kindschy was high man for the blue and white, being the only Bluedevil to hit double figures with 15. Winona, however, placed four men in the double figure column when Don Behren hit for 20, Al Svenningson 18, Don Klogge 16, and Herb Espinda 12.

INTRAMURAL BOWLING, BASKETBALL, CONTINUE

The past two weeks produced much action in both the American and National leagues. The Flunkies continued their winning ways, downing the APO's 86 to 25; Tom Pagel dunked 30 points in this contest. The DK's also fell victim to the tune of Flunkies 60, DK's 35. The Grads 63 and Sputniks 60, and again the Grads 28 and Phi Sigs 2, rounded out play in the Nationals' league.

The FOB's made it four straight as the Angles submitted 51 to 37; the Blackhawks buried the Warriors deep in the cellar 36 to 58; the Warriors lost also to the Dark Horses, by a score of 57 to 37. Olympics 51, Ourside 42 completed the American league schedule as of Tuesday night.

YELLOWJACKETS HAND STOUT 76-69 DEFEAT

The Superior Yellowjackets dealt Stout state its fifth conference loss last Saturday night 89-75. This was the second time this season that the Yellowjackets have defeated Stout. The first contest was 76-69 in favor of Superior.

At the start of the game Superior missed some easy baskets and Stout took an early lead which was short lived. With 13 minutes and 44 seconds remaining in the first half the Bluedevils made ten shots at the basket and did not hit once.

Finally this jump and shoot, jump and shoot came to an abrupt halt as Sorenson was fouled. He then proceeded to make the free throw to the delight of the Bluedevil rooters.

With three minutes and 27 seconds left in the half, Stout became aggressive and played their best ball all evening. Just as the Yellowjacket lead started to dwindle down, the half ended with the count Superior 49-Stout 30.

For the first two minutes of the second half, Stout was again playing heads up ball but Superior kept hitting from the right corner all night. The majority of their baskets were set shots.

With 16 minutes and 25 seconds left in the second half Moessner weaved through a swarm of Yellowjackets and made a beautiful layup. With 10 minutes and 46 seconds remaining, Superior held a 21 point lead, 71-50.

The game seemed lost but with six minutes and 14 seconds left, Stout started to move and the fans finally began to cheer for the first time all evening. But it was too late, as Superior held too commanding a lead.

The two bright spots all evening were the outstanding play of Brian Howard and Keith Moessner. Howard rang up 31 points for his best game of the season, and Moessner had 21 plus the moxey of collegiate basketball.

Superior made 18 of 26 free throws and Stout made 21 out of 28 free throws. Perhaps it should be mentioned at this time that an ex-Stout student, Lowney, who played for the Bluedevils in the 54-55 season, played a great game defensively and also sank 16 points for the Yellowjackets.

The box score:

BLUEDEVILS MEET 3 CONFERENCE KINGS IN 4 DAYS; FACE STEVENS POINT, PLATTEVILLE, & MILWAUKEE

A coach's night-mare come true, is what Joe Gerlach, mentor of Stout's cagers is faced with, as he prepares to put his ninth place quintet against some of the toughest competition in the league.

The Bluedevils will be met with the task of facing three of the strong powers in the southern division of the Wisconsin state conference in four days. To add to the troubles, two of the probable most difficult games are to be played away from home.

Tonight, the blue and white journey to Stevens Point, Wisconsin, where they will do their utmost to upset the third place pointers.

Stevens Point, last year's conference champion, will be out with revenge in their eyes for a defeat they suffered at the hands of the Bluedevils towards the end of the season which blemished their league leading record.

Out of the frying pan, into the fire, is what can be said for Stout, as the next night, they put their skill against conference leader Platteville.

The Pioneers have racked up a record thus far this year of seven conference wins, against one loss. Through their magnificent playing, they are rated high, not only in Wisconsin, but in small college circles throughout the nation.

The Bluedevils will be rewarded with one day of rest following the tilt with Platteville, but will be right back in action Tuesday night when they play host to Milwaukee state college. This is a re-scheduled game originally set to be played on January 18. All season's tickets will be honored.

Sixth place Milwaukee has proved to be the conference spoiler this season, always putting up an outstanding contest no matter whom they face.

Gala Winter Carnival Held Here

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

This special edition was made possible largely through the combined efforts of a few people. At this time I would like to express my gratitude toward these same people and acknowledge the tremendous help received from them.

Thanks for your excellent efforts: Photographers Tom Murray, Dick Beckman, Roy VanDresser, Minnie Claseman, and Virgil Gottwalt. Your coverage was outstanding. To Eileen Sievert and Mary Metz for reporting, compiling, and typing of material. To production manager Gene Kirscht for the extra effort on this masterpiece. To Gene's amiable helper, John Hammil.

To linotyper Dick Popp who gave up all day Saturday to set up the type necessary for publication. To the entire circulation staff who will bear a heavier load this week. To our advisor Lloyd Whydowski who put up with all of us on last Saturday. And especially to my associate Harry Munn whose wit kept us all in a humorous mood.

It is hoped that you, the student and reader, will deeply appreciate this pictorial record of this year's fabulous Winter Carnival. . . . Bill Erpenbach, Editor

CORONATION OF QUEEN STARTED BALL ROLLING

Heavy and bulky clothing was the order of the night, Friday, Jan. 31, as the Winter Carnival started at Lake Menomonie on a cool, but happy note. The microphone crackedled and shivered with cold as Kathy Kliher and Carol Hopper presented some hilarious skits, while showing their cute knees; everyone shivered amidst with laughter.

Tim Toole warmed us up with his antics, and Steve Butz and Bill Beyer completed the fun with their song. The high-light of the evening came when last year's Winter Carnival Queen, Dorothy Grundmann, crowned her successor, freshman candidate, Jo Ann Schoemer.

The crowd then watched Loren Johnson win the men's singles in the ice skating contest. Pat Wenner followed by winning the women's singles. The couples race was won by Frank Zaboi and Pat Wenner.

To keep warm, the crowd again moved to the sidelines, this time to watch a grudge fight. The annual hockey game was won by the F.O.B.'s, as they defeated the Phi Sig's.

Several tug of war events followed, but the odds seemed to be set as the Alpha Sigs won, with some manly help or so it has been reported. This brought the activities on Lake Menomonie to a chilly, but happy close.

Freezing but happy, the crowd proceeded up the hill to the Tainter hall lounge. Dancing was enjoyed by all, and especially noted were the crowds that formed around the refreshment table where hot chocolate was served. Thus the beginning of our Winter Carnival was off to a flying and successful start.

Queen Schoemer, and members of her royal court Betty Zander, Toots Boche, Mary Lou Schleis, and Kathy Anderson reign over the Sno-ball dance.

They're off and running as Ron Unertl takes the lead, Frank Zaboj is second, an unidentified is still in the gate.

Ugh! Ugh! Ugh! Snort three Tri Sigmas as they try to out tug another sorority.

Dick Tepp starts play as Bill McGovern and Nifty Wilde meet in the face off circle.

Don Bilge (bottom) shouts, "Here we come." Pat Fitzgerald (top) is thinking, "This is tough sledding."

It is indeed apparent by these happy, smiling faces that their favorite has just won the ice skating race. This group of gals was a sample of the multitude of people out on the lake Friday night.

"It's just like Blackbeard's," proudly boasts Tom Rosenibal. Diana McKinnon, and Jean Sprain just smile. Genaro Frago and Angel Aguilar, other winners, stand by.

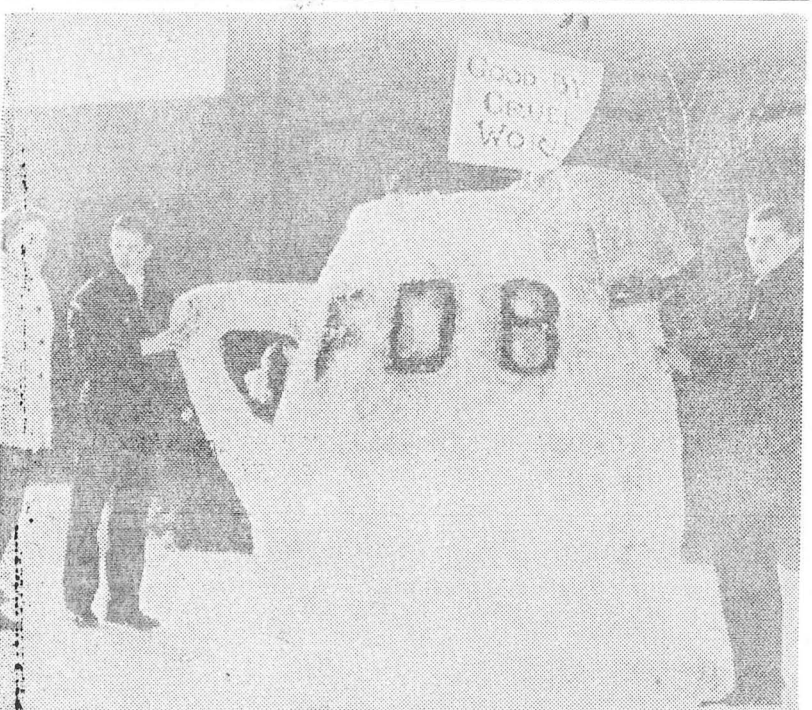

Cold Weather Is No Hindrance To Fun

Joan Bugby, Lloyd Whydotski, and Guy Salyer show a critical eye as they judge the freshman class' snow carving. The carvings could be saying, "Yes, I am," "No, you're not."

Bev Day and Dick Kveton climb the hill prior to sledding down again. The girls in the foreground didn't get very far on their cardboards.

Prior to being sent to the great beyond by "Jupiter A" an F.O.B. drowns in sorrow.

Ten or even twenty years from now you will look back upon Stout's Winter Carnival of 1958, and say, "What did we do and I just wish I could remember who the fellows name was."

We, the Stoutonia staff, felt that a special edition with pictures and captions was in order so you will always remember one of the most successful and gala Winter Carnivals ever held on the snowy campus of Stout state college.

If you add this edition to your repertoire of college mementoes, you will have a pictorial run down to cherish through the years. We hope that you will enjoy this special edition as we feel that this is our way of taking part in the Winter Carnival.

The Stoutonia Staff

Saturday morning dawned bright and early (in most cases, too early) on the Stout campus. The sun smiled fortunately down upon busy ice carvers. Temperatures ranged near the zero mark (felt more like absolute zero after the first half hour of carving).

In the afternoon, the masses flocked to the fairgrounds to rollic in the snow. Events out here included cross-country skiing, ski jumping, log sawing, toboggoning, cardboard sliding, and general putzing.

Loren Johnson captured first place in the ski-jumping and log sawing contests. Frank Zabo took the honors in the cross-country skiing contest.

Fun and pandemonium ranged at the fairgrounds until nearly 5 p.m. when cold, shivering, and tired students headed back to town for dinner and a rest before the big dance.

That night the Snow Ball was held. This annual affair is a regular function of the Pallas Athene sorority. Dancing from 8:30 to midnight was to the delightful music of George Soderberg and his Royal Blackhaws.

Queen Jo Ann Schoemer and her court were re-introduced to start the intermission activities. Master of ceremonies, Bill McKinnon, held the complete silence of the crowd when he began to name the various winners of the carnival. Loren Johnson again won the men's sweater. This coveted prize in the women's division went to Pat Wenner. In the beard growing contest, Tom Rosenthal was declared possessor of the heaviest bush, while exchange students Genaro Frago and Angel Aguilar took the best groomed and most unique titles in that order.

The big suspense was finally lifted when the Freshman class was declared winner of the most original ice carving with their "Winter Sport". Second place in this category went to the Phi Sigma Epsilon "Playboy" rabbit.

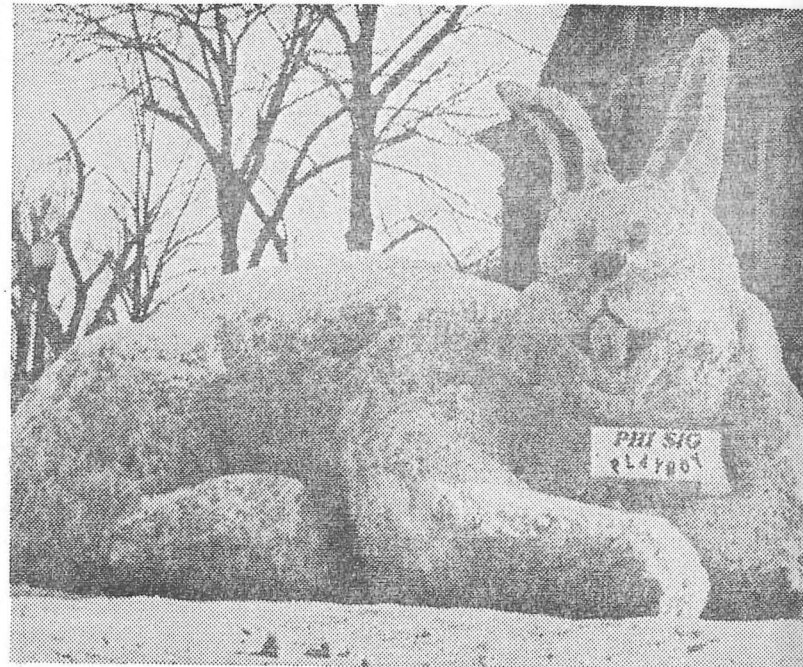

First place in the most beautiful division went to the Delta Zeta's for their "Peace" carving. Runners up were the Dietetics with their version of the "Punchbowl." Honorable mention went to Sigma Tau Gamma's "Explorer" and the Pallas Athene "Glow-worm."

Pat Christenson, Pallas Athene president, pins a corsage on queen Jo Anne at the Snow Ball.

Gloria Walstad finishes the final stroke of her efforts in the log sawing contest.

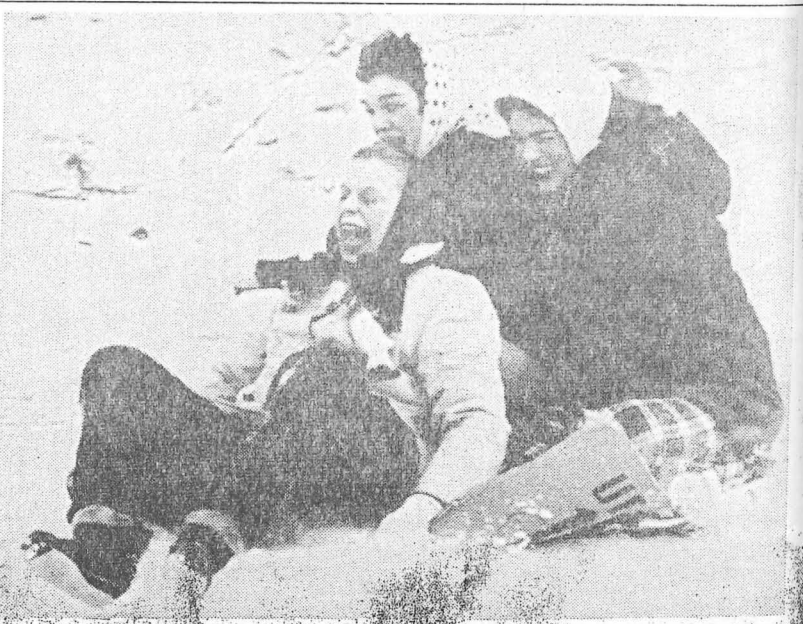

Every rabbit in Dunn county was amazed at the size of the Phi Sig's pet rabbit "Playboy."

Two students look on as Professor Pe Pe La Pue expounds in the merits of deodorants. Prof. La Pue is a product of Alpha Sigma Alpha.

Chi Lambda's ice carving was very appropriate as it put in a plug for the forthcoming Mardi Gras.

"Boy, what fun but my cardboard just tore," exclaim these Stout co-eds.

"Every little squirt thinks he's a fountain of wisdom."

H. L. Mencken

"This is the way a scene should be played," exclaims the enthusiastic Mrs. Pampinelli, a moving spirit in the forthcoming M. A. P. production, "The Torch Bearers," to be presented in Stout auditorium the evenings of March 14-15. Aided by the spirited acting of the society matron, portrayed by Corrine Nelson, are (L-R) Ardala Littlefield, Don Bilse, and Virginia Olsen, who also have prominent parts in the Broadway comedy.

MARCH 13-15 DATES SET FOR MAP PRODUCTION: 'TORCH BEARERS' FEATURES SATIRE ON THEATRE

March 13, 14, and 15 are the dates that The Torch-Bearers will be presented in the Stout state college auditorium. Curtain time is 8:00 p.m.

This former Broadway comedy by George Kelly was first produced in 1922. The Torch-Bearers, a satire on the little theatre movement, will keep you "in stitches" all through the presentation. The six men and six women of the cast are amusing characters. The author knew such people because he himself was a theatre man. With his training in vaudeville he was able to portray the humor and fun of "putting on a play." The student directors, Edith De Smith, Anne Marie Dahl, and Judith Bathke are practicing with the cast, and the stage manager Tony Polino has been hard at work with his crew preparing the settings for the three performances.

Stout students will be admitted free upon the presentation of their S.S.A. cards. Free reserved tickets may be selected when the tickets go on sale in the corridor of Harvey hall. Admission for the public is 75 cents and reserved seats may be bought in advance.

Students who like comedies will want to see the play The Torch-Bearers on March 13, 14, and 15.

BROTHERHOOD SPEECH SERIES GIVEN AT STOUT

National and International Brotherhood will be the subject of speeches given in the Stout auditorium on next Monday and Tuesday evenings, February 24-25. Dr. Hugo Thompson and Dr. Yaha Armajani of the history department at Macalester college will give the second and third speeches of a series on brotherhood.

Dr. Thompson, who spoke of local brotherhood at Wednesday's convocation, will be back on Monday. His speech on national brotherhood begins at 8 p.m. Dr. Armajani will speak about international brotherhood at 8 p.m. on Tuesday. Both speeches will be followed by discussion groups which will be led by Stout students.

The World University Service fund drive begins on February 26. Funds collected will be used for textbooks, student medical centers, cooperative student housing and other types of needed materials in areas where educational supplies are rare and expensive and illness and disease riddle a university. The funds will be solicited through the mailboxes with individual follow-up.

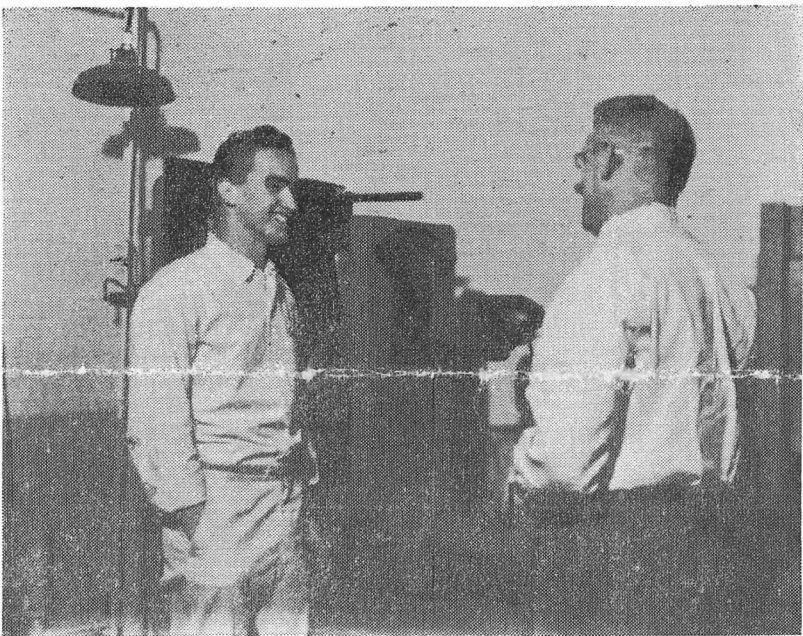

It is hoped that all students will participate in this program so that underprivileged students in other countries may have some of the opportunities freely enjoyed in America.

"Well, let's get to work," says Lloyd Whydowski, left, chairman of the graphic arts department of Stout state college, Menomonie, as he greets Richard Rosenquist, national printing scholarship winner who recently began his career on the Stout campus. Rosenquist's first introduction is to an offset copy camera which gets lots of use in the Stout print shop.

DICK ROSENQUIST CHOSEN TO RECEIVE FOUR YEAR PITMAN PRINTING SCHOLARSHIP

Recipient of one of only six nationwide four-year college scholarships granted by the Harold M. Pitman Company to outstanding young printers who plan to obtain a college education in that field is Richard Rosenquist, now a freshman industrial technology student majoring in graphic arts at Stout state college here.

Rosenquist, a 1957 graduate from William Horlick high school in Racine, was chosen by an impartial national research organization, Educational Testing Service, on the basis of outstanding high school scholastic achievement, character, responsibility and leadership, both in the classroom and in extracurricular projects.

In his high school career, Richard completed three years of graphic arts training, during which he was also print shop forman. "The past two summers I have also been employed as an apprentice by Lakeside Printing Company in Racine," Rosenquist explains enthusiastically, "so I'm beginning to follow the family tradition of photoengraving and lithographing."

Many of Richard's relatives are at present engaged in some aspect of the printing industry. His father, for instance, is president of Local 54 at the Western Printing and Lithographing company's main plant in Racine and is very active in company activities. Branch offices of that company include plants in Beverly Hills, Calif.; Hannibal, Mo.; St. Louis, Mo.; Poughkeepsie, N.Y.; and New York, N.Y.

Making possible the educational grant which, if Rosenquist's college achievement warrants, will underwrite his four years of college education is the Harold M. Pitman Company of Chicago. In a letter to officials of Stout state college, Paul F. Schmidt, president of the Pitman Co., pointed out that Rosenquist's award was made under the Second Annual Harold M. Pitman Scholarship Program for sons and Daughters of Photengravers and Lithographers.

Distributors of a complete line of printing and graphic arts supplies, and specialists in plate making and offset supplies, the Pitman Company is well known in the graphic arts fields, having served printing industries for over fifty years.

When asked what prompted his choosing Stout at which to use his valuable college scholarship, Richard lists two factors. One is Stout's national reputation in graphic arts education. The other is the influence of two Stout alumni, his former high printing instructor, Peter Schellinger, a 1951 bachelor of science graduate, and Al Brown, who earned his bachelor's degree at Stout in 1956. Rosenquist's high school teacher of electricity and machine shop.

In evaluating the significance of the Pitman scholarship, Lloyd Whydowski, chairman of the department of printing at Stout state college, points out, "This award is an honor both for Richard Rosenquist and for Stout. It is regarded nationally as one of the top educational grants in the graphic arts

STUDENTS ARE URGED TO DONATE BLOOD

The Red Cross bloodmobile will visit this community from 1:30 to 7:30 p.m. and 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, setting up to receive donations in the basement of Menomonie's Memorial library. Quota for the collection this year will be 150 pints from Stout students.

The Red Cross blood program covers the entire blood needs of the citizens of Dunn county. It provides all hospitals with whole blood for major surgery and accident victims; plasma for burns and shock; serum albumin and other blood products for treatment of diseases.

Last year 83 students and 3 faculty members gave blood during the bloodmobile visit in this county. Known blood use by citizens in the Menomonie hospital was 304 pints of whole blood. Since blood products are ordered by hospitals in quantity, there is no available record of the number of pints used to manufacture these products. Based on state-wide use, figures indicate that benefits of the blood program far exceed the actual number of pints donated annually in this county.

"You never know when you or someone you love will have to have a blood transfusion in order to live. The life line is your Red Cross blood program."

CONVO TO HAVE FILM-LECTURE ON NEW GUINEA

Colonel Arnold Maahs will present his new color film-lecture on "New Guinea, The Isle of Adventure" in the Stout state college auditorium on Wednesday, Feb. 26, at 9:30 a.m., as an assembly program.

Colonel Maahs spent almost three years in New Guinea during World War II and returned there later to film the glamour and grandeur of the tropics. His film includes the pageantry of primitive society. Stone-age men, dressed in shelles, feathers, and painted in brilliant colors perform their ritualistic dances in the Moka festival.

The picture also records the work of the Christian missions in the far-off country, showing the work of the white man in evangelism, education, and medicine.

At great risk Colonel Maahs filmed a trip to the cannibal country where natives wear human bones as part of their costume. The film is climaxed by the exciting "Festival of the Pig" for which the natives spend two years in preparation. They dress in Bird of Paradise Pumes, paint themselves with brilliant colors, beat their kundas or

STUDENTS ARE URGED TO DONATE CORPUSCLES

The Red Cross Bloodmobile is coming to Menomonie on February 27-28. It will be at the Memorial Library basement from 1:30-7:30 on the 27th and from 9:00-13:00 on the 28th.

Various organizations on the Stout campus are donating both time and effort to the success of the 1958 Bloodmobile drive. The Phi Sigs are donating as a group and have offered free transportation to those wishing to donate. The Tri Sigmas will have a free baby sitting service. Donating in a group will be the Sig Taus and the A.P.O.'s. By next week it is hoped that even more of the organizations will promote this worthwhile cause.

Freshmen here is your opportunity to start working towards membership in the Gallon Club.

To all members of Stout state college, this is the time to fulfill your civic duty and perform an act of charity toward your fellow man.

SSA TO SPONSOR ALL SCHOOL DANCE FRIDAY

The SSA is doing it again. Friday, February 28, our Stout student association is sponsoring a dance. It should be quite a gala affair with dancing, free refreshments, and as a special attraction, the talented Pookie Albrecht will furnish us with intermission entertainment.

Betty Schomberg, Dorothy Bauer, Patty Jo Hovde, and Tony Pollino are busy with decorations. Food combinations are running through Bernadette Stehr's mind as she tries to decide what to serve the party-goers. The SSA board is looking for a band, but if they can't find one, they're sure to pick the best and latest hit records to play for their dancing friends.

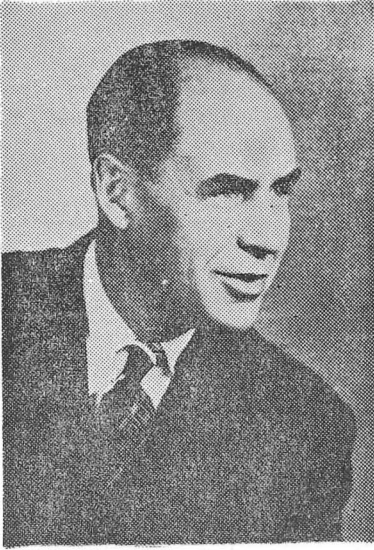

Everything should be well taken care of with Tony Pollino in charge of publicity, Ralph Stevens as chaperone, and Pat Wenner and her able crew at Tainter hall to take care of the cleanup.

This dance sounds like lots of fun, so what do you say we all back the SSA and join in the festivity. See you at Tainter hall the 28th.

ATTENTION

The Assembly and Lyceum Committee is very sorry to announce that the LORDS PUPPETS can not be here on Friday, Feb. 21, Mr. Llord is ill and hospitalized in North Carolina.

The next evening program will be Jimmy Featherstone and "His Hill-toppers" on March 25.

This program has been arranged for the students by the Assembly and Lyceum committee and is intended to offer enrichment to the students — views of far places and other peoples.

Our school is growing! Yes, believe it or not, our school IS growing by leaps and bounds. Not only is this happening now, but it has happened so rapidly that the seams of our campus are ready to burst at any time.

Steps are already being taken by the administrators to give us new buildings and larger class rooms. In this department, our growth has been precisely calculated and accounted for. However, there is another field that has failed to keep step with our growth; that of outmoded rules and regulations governing social events.

Item eleven on page seven of "the Student Handbook for Stout State College" states that: "No college function may be scheduled off campus unless special permission is granted by the Dean of Men, the Dean of Women, or both. (This regulation must be observed by fraternities and sororities for all functions, including dinner dances.)"

A move is presently underway on our campus whereby this ruling will be brought brought before the Student Welfare Board for investigation. It will be up to this board to seek out the already obvious answers that the facilities available within the city limits of Menomonie are inadequate, and then act upon it.

With the on-rushing tide of spring, comes many social events such as banquets, dinner dances, and dinner meetings. Under the present ruling, two establishments receive all of the rights to cater to these affairs. This means that there can never be more than two events held on any one night.

It is our hope that when this board meets, a new rule will be adopted; one that will highly correlate with our growing enrollment and active student body.

This ruling should be one that remains fair to all organizations, giving them the right to make use of the many other fine facilities outside of the city limits of Menomonie.

CLUB NEWS

At the last weekly meeting of the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, plans were laid for the taking in of new members. Pledging starts next Thursday. Members took a popularity vote and discussed the proposed pledging schedule for this spring. Working on this matter are Don Hoffman, Pookie Albright, Don Stoddard, and Bill Erpenbach.

Biggest event of the night was the serenading of Tom Rosenthal who lost his head and gave away his fraternity pin. Lucky girl is Jean Sprain, a Pallas Athene.

Last Sunday evening, all of the members and their guests went toboggoning for a few hours at the fairgrounds. After that, everyone gathered at "the house" for refreshments and card games. This enjoyable evening was handled by Bill McKinnon.

Last Thursday evening the Delta Zeta sorority held its annual Valentine supper. The pot luck supper was attended by members and the new pledges.

Informal initiation was held Wednesday, February 12, in Harvey memorial. They welcomed Alice Cramer, Shirley Schulenburg, and Donna Witkopf as pledges.

Congratulations are also extended to Patty Jo Hovde and Ruth Stratman on being invited to join Phi Upsilon Omicron, a professional honorary home economics fraternity.

The annual Mother-Daughter banquet sponsored by the YWCA will be held at Peace Lutheran church on March 15. A St. Patrick's theme is planned. The dinner, which begins at 5:30, will be over early enough so that you can take your mother to the M.A.P. spring play that evening.

Tickets for the banquet are $1.75 each, and will be sold in Harvey hall beginning February 26. All seats are reserved, so be sure to get your tickets early before they are all sold out.

Sunday afternoon, February 9, was the initiation of Phi Upsilon Omicron. Those initiated into Phi U were: D'ann Mattson, Nancy Fuerstien, Alice Schweitzer, Sharon Athorp, Ardelle Dregne, Louise Grant, Ruth Ann Stratman, Loretta Sletten, Patty Jo Hovde, and Gloria Walstad.

Following the initiation, a lovely banquet was served in the tearoom to the active, alumnae members and the new initiates. Place cards were made by Mrs. Ann Rudiger. A skit recalling the history was presented by several of the girls: Helen Froehlich, Mary Hitesman, Rita Casey, and Opal Burton. The quartet composed of Barbara Hartig, Ann Kofoed, Betty Havlik and Joan Wonoski sang "Sentimental Journey" and "Angry".

February 10th found all Phi U members wearing yellow roses and celebrating the 49th birthday of Phi Upsilon Omicron.

Thursday evening, February 13, the members of the Delta Kappa fraternity elected their new officers for the coming year.

These new officers are president, Bruce Eland; vice president, Jim Lambert; secretary, Richard Schendel; treasurer, Hans Hatopp; corresponding secretary, Jim Blasczyk; sergeant at arms, Ken Carlson; historian, Pete Fulcer; alumni secretary, Harley Peterson; chaplain, Gene Quilling.

All of the Delta Kappa members wish to thank at this time the officers of the past year, who did an outstanding job.

MRS. HENRY TO SPEAK ON THE UNITED NATIONS

The student body and faculty of Stout state college are invited to attend a lecture entitled "The UN, Its Structure and Function," to be given by Mrs. A. R. Henry on Wednesday evening, February 26, at 8 p.m. in the Audio-Visual room in the college library.

Mrs. A. R. Henry, who is an official United Nations observer, has attended the UN over 25 times and has conducted tours explaining its function and actions to many people. At the UN Mrs. A. R. Henry has also been in charge of seminars for persons who expressed special interest in various phases of the UN.

In addition to her work at the UN, Mrs. Henry has also directed classes on the UN throughout the Midwest. She is regarded as one of the best qualified persons in this area to talk on this subject.

People who have previously heard Mrs. A. R. Henry know that her lecture will not be a dull or a cut and dried affair. She is a dynamic speaker and includes many interesting and humorous anecdotes in her talks.

CLUB NEWS

A pledging ceremony was held by the Tri Sigma sorority last Wednesday evening for nine new pledges: Iloa Lou, Mary Gunderson, Mary Ann Halada, Fran Ginter, Marilyn Rothwell, Kathryn Thuli, Lois Jacobsen, Carol Kinnee, and Ann Nelson. Following pledging a party was held at the home of Mrs. Dick Kasel.

The Sigma's are beginning plans for the panhellenic "Sock Hop," and for SSA officer campaign. They are also making plans again for their annual corsage sale for the mother-daughter banquet.

Joan Wonoski, chairman for the Tri Sigma skit for Stunt Night, reported on the progress of their skit.

There will be a Home Ec. Club meeting Monday night February 24 at 7:15 p.m. in the auditorium.

Ruba Stoggs will be with us and will speak to us on Introduction to Home Ec. and Research.

Election of officers will also take place.

Phi Sig members were both surprised and pleased to learn that their snow carving, "figure of reclining rabbit," was pictured in the February 9th edition of the Minneapolis Sunday Tribune.

By unanimous vote at last week's meeting, Phi Sig members volunteered their automobiles as transportation to the Red Cross Bloodmobile, February 27th and 28th. Phi Sig members plan to donate blood as a group, for this great cause.

MAG. ARTICLES WRITTEN BY SSC STUDENTS

Three students at Stout state college have recently had published in national professional publications the articles which they completed in the Feature Writing course at the college.

"Press as You Sew," an article in the January issue of "Forecast for Home Economics," was written, with the collaboration of Miss Lillian Jeter by Kathleen Ritzman, senior student from Port Washington. Miss Jeter is head of the department of clothing and textiles at Stout.

Mrs. Neva Porath, a teacher in the Black River Falls schools and a summer session student at Stout, is the author of an article in the same magazine. Mrs. Porath's material is titled, "Is Your Clothing Construction Modern?"

Lawrence Themmes, also a summer session student and a teacher in North St. Paul, Minnesota, has recently had three features published. They include two project articles in "Industrial Arts and Vocational Education," professional publication in industrial education, and another in "Mechanic Illustrated," national hobbyist magazine.

SSA

Reporting

A report on the education conference in Minneapolis last week end was given Tuesday night at the governing board meeting. Twelve representatives of Stout were sponsored by SSA funds. Representatives from numerous Minnesota colleges, a South Dakota college, and one Wisconsin college attended the conference. Some of the topics discussed were, exceptional children, teacher's aids, and teacher's unions. Jermaine Folkman, the reporter, recommended that representatives be sent again in the future.

A committee report was given by Bill McKinnon concerning the free hours that are scheduled for convocation time on Wednesdays. There is a possibility of arranging convocations so that there will be scheduled class meetings at 9:30 on free Wednesdays at certain designated intervals. A suggestion was made that convocation time be rotated from hour to hour so that certain shop courses would not suffer continually as they have been under the present system.

A discussion concerning fraternity and sorority dinner dances took place. In the past it has been difficult to arrange dates that are satisfactory to everyone. This problem has arisen because, according to the present regulations, organizations cannot hold functions outside of Menomonie. Because of the lack of facilities in the city, only two banquets can be held on one night. A recommendation will be made to Student Welfare that restrictions on dinner dances and banquets to Menomonie city limits be reconsidered.

A correction of a statement in a previous article must be made. Instead of contacting the high school principal when an organization wishes to use the gym, they should secure such permission through Dr. Iverson's office.

A reminder to those students who will not be on campus during SSA elections: An absentee ballot will be sent to you by Dr. Nitz, president of Student Welfare, upon request. This is true for any all-school election. Your ballot should also be returned to Dr. Nitz.

NOTICE!

So you can't see well?
Perhaps you're the owner (or ex-owner) of the attractive pair of eyeglasses which have been languishing in the college union for quite a lengthy spell. The glasses have plastic rims and dark brown bows. They are encased in a light brown leather sheath. So, if you haven't been able to see well enough to look for your glasses, have a friend lead you over to the APO's office. Your glasses are waiting for you there.

"I crown you, Patricia Choitz, queen of the Mardi Gras," says Greg Trzebiatowski. Pat was chosen to reign supreme over the Chi Lambda sponsored dance held last Saturday night in the high school gym.

FIELD TRIPS SCHEDULED FOR SPRING SEMESTER

The office of the Dean of Industrial Education has recently released a list of the planned field trips for the spring semester, 1958.

Twenty-two trips are scheduled by organizations to the several cities and localities around the state. Among them are trips to the Minneapolis Tribune and the KSTP-TV studio, the Metropolitan Opera, and the Redwing, Minnesota, pottery plant.

A complete list of field trips with destinations, sponsoring organizations, dates, and expected costs are listed on the first floor bulletin board in Bowman Hall across from the Dean's office.

field."
At the present time, Rosenquist, who recently registered at Stout to begin the second semester, is studying a variety of subjects while adjusting to college life. He will obtain his first contacts with college graphic arts education in elementary composition the fourth quarter of this college year.

"But right now, in spite of my high school and trade experience in printing," Rosenquist modestly admits, "I'm just a printer's devil. When it's time for me to take real responsibilities at the Stout state college press, then I'll know that I'm really on my way."

College graduates deserve sympathy nowadays because in almost any direction they look, they run the hazard of finding work.

SIDELINE SLANTS

.. With Johnny Bluedevil

Stout's cagers came up with an unexpected victory early this week, when they were awarded a forfeit victory in their recent contest with Superior on February 8.

The Yellowjackets played three ineligible men against Stout in the contest which they won 90-75. Because of the ineligibility of these men in the second semester, Superior was also forced to forfeit recent wins over La Crosse and River Falls, dropping them from any hopes for a title tie.

Ten new bearers of the "S" joined the ranks of the members in Stout's "S" Club last Wednesday evening.

These new proud wearers of this coveted award for participation in varsity sports are: Ken Berndt, Glenn Harke, Dick Johnson, Jim Lubahn, Monte McDonald, Bob McNaughton, Jack O'Reilly, Don Stoddard, Harry

WEEK END PROVES TO BE PITFALL FOR CAGERS

Last week end proved disastrous for Stout's basketball squad, as it dropped two conference games to Stevens Point and Platteville 93-86, and 113-68 respectively.

The Bluedevils put up a valiant effort against Stevens Point, never really trailing to the point of complete defeat, although they never led throughout the entire game.

Brian Howard, Bob Sorenson, Jim Bolm, Jann Peterson and Keith Moessner led the scoring for Stout, counting for 84 of the Bluedevils' 86 points.

The game hurt the Bluedevil's chances in their game the following night with Platteville, however, as Keith Moessner was taken out of the game in the final quarter with an injury, and was unable to play against the Pioneers.

Platteville's control over the back boards, and their uncanny skill at shooting completely overwhelmed Stout, as they ripped the nets for a season's record of 113 points. The league leaders placed ten men in the scoring column.

High men for Stout were Howard with 16, Glenn Harke with 12, and Bolm with 10.

Fred hails from Sheboygan and is a 1951 graduate of Sheboygan North high school. After graduating from high school, Schleg enlisted in the US Navy.

He also sailed the Great Lakes while serving in the Merchant Marines. His favorite hobbies are listening to classical and semi-classical music. Schleg also enjoys hiking through the woods on nice days only.

This is what Schleg had to say when he was asked why he wanted to be the basketball manager. "I was basketball manager for four years in high school." I enjoyed the work and at times it became quite interesting."

Fred also admits that at times the team despises him for what he calls his honest and excellent officiating during the Bluedevil's scrimmages.

HOOPSTERS POST WIN OVER MILWAUKEE 93 - 78

Moessner hits for 29 in Stout's impressive victory over the Red and White of Milwaukee

The Stout Bluedevils brought their conference record to four wins, six losses, with an impressive 93-78 victory over the University of Wisconsin

BASKETBALLERS TO JOURNEY TO LA CROSSE

When the dust had settled, and Pete was sweeping up the last of the programs and gum wrappers, the scoreboard still indicated 'Home 78, Visitors 93.' With this in mind the blue and white travel to La Crosse tomorrow night.

The Indians now boast a 6-3 conference record and have displayed sharp basketball while losing to Platteville by three points and squeaking out a 94-90 overtime win against the Cardinals of Milwaukee.

La Crosse plays a firehouse type of ball, running the game with the fast break and quick plays towards the basket. Ammerman and Winiarski will be the big guns as has been the case most of the season. The last meeting of the two clubs found Howard with 18 and Moessner with 21 leading the futile attack for the Bluedevils.

The display of Harke and Kindschy has given a solid book to the Stout bench the past two games. Kindschy has proven rugged on both the offensive and defensive boards, with Harke maneuvering the ball like a vet from his guard position.

The probable starting assignments will go to Bolm at the keyhole, Howard and Peterson ranging at the forwards, and Sorenson and Moessner at guards. After a well-played, hard-fought game against Milwaukee, and the sweet taste of victory still strong, the Stout state Bluedevils are out for the vengeance of an earlier scalping.

picture of Bill Harycki was available at presstime; however, one will be run in the next issue of the Stoutonia.

Next week this column shall feature Luther Reuter and Don Peth.

FRATERNITIES BEGIN PLEDGE INITIATIONS

During the last few weeks the fraternities selected their pledges who are very busy during "Hell Week" which started yesterday.

CHI LAMBDA

Neatly dressed in their usual school garb will be the pledges for Chi Lambda fraternity. You will be able to distinguish them only by their gold and black pledge pins which they will be wearing.

Duties of these pledges will be making copies of the constitution for the members, making tripods which can be used for posters and advertising material, and the collecting of magazines to be sent to the hospital. They are also responsible for attending as many social functions as possible during "Hell week".

The pledges will present a skit for the formal initiation which will take place March 6.

DELTA KAPPA

The DK's believe in the traditional hazing of pledges. They are required to wear a red fezz and sash during Hell week.

In order for the DK's to get acquainted with the prospective pledges they hold two parties each semester for this purpose. While pledging, the pledges are required to obtain the signature of each member in their pledge book. To get this signature they must buy coffee or coke for each member.

The formal initiation takes place the first night of Hell week. The formal initiation, highlighted with a dinner takes place the last night of Hell week. At this function all members, advisors, and pledges are presented.

PHI OMEGA BETA

Wearing black derbies, tee shirts, black bow ties, carrying shoe shine equipment and wearing a five o'clock shadow you are seeing the FOB pledges. These outfits will distinguish the fellas as a separate group. Their participation and cooperation in this group is a good indication to the fraternity as to how they will take part as members of the fraternity. Hell week, then, is not only a week of fun and foolishness.

Pledges will take part in serenading, will polish shoes, and assist in the preparation of Stunt night. Pledges must also perform any duties assigned them by any member of the fraternity. They will take part in a bonfire in the circle against the Phi Sig pledges.

A dinner on March 6 will mark the close of Hell week and will also be the date of formal initiation.

PHI SIGMA EPSILON

Pledges for the Phi Sigs can be recognized by their straw hats, canes, white shirts, and red bow ties.

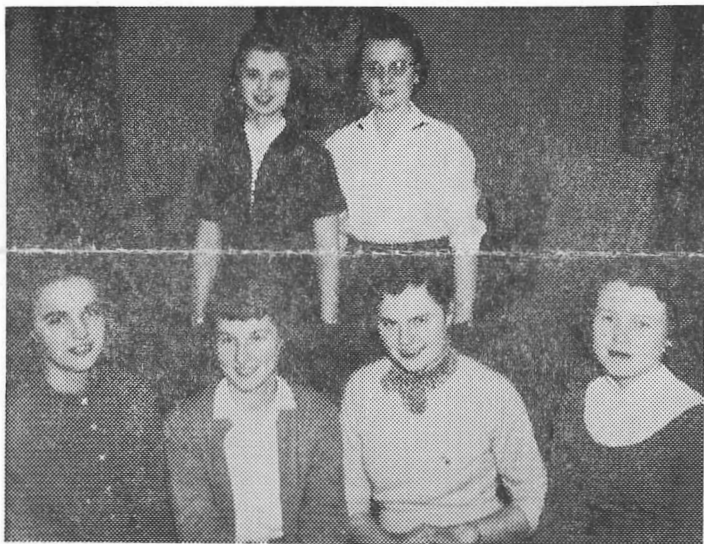

Although every day of Hell week will be a party for the Phi Sig pledges, there were three parties held prior to this season. The pledges are kept busy with many varied activities including serving breakfast to their big brothers, and also a pledge exchange with the Tri Sigmas. On Wednesday the F.O.B. pledges will light the bonfire which the Phi Sig pledges will put out.

MC CLELLAN SCHOLARSHIP AWARD MAY 28

"A fifty dollar scholarship will be offered this year to an outstanding metal major attending Stout state college," announces Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of the school of industrial education at the college. "This scholarship, which is greatly appreciated by Stout state college and the yet unknown recipient, is being donated by Clarence McClellan."

Mr. McClellan is a 1935 graduate of Stout. While attending the college he majored in metals and is now co-owner of a business in Menomonee where he specializes in metal working and welding.

Anyone interested in applying for this scholarship should write a letter describing his scholarship and need and give it to Mr. Floyd Keith, head of the department of metals. In the letter the applicant should state the number of metal working courses already completed.

Also required are the names of the individual metal courses with the course number plus the grade you received in them and the name of the student's advisor. Only freshmen, sophomores, and juniors are eligible. The McClellan scholarship will be awarded on May 28, at the Honor's day assembly.

Although the response has been good, there is still room on the schedule for more donors when the Red Cross bloodmobile visits here, Mrs. Ora Chase, health director at Stout, said this week.

The number of donors registered so far shows that a relatively small number of persons are carrying the responsibility for the health of their fellow citizens. Most of those registered are "repeat" donors.

Mrs. Chase urged all those in good health, 21 years and under 60, to register now. Exceptions are expectant mothers, women who have had babies in the past year and those who have had recent surgical operations. Eighteen year olds are eligible with written parental consent.

"We must have new donors to replace those who are over age or who have moved out of our county since the last visit. For the uninitiated, here is what will happen when you give blood:

"Red Cross nurses, assisted by volunteers, in some communities, take your temperature, pulse, blood pressure and medical history. A Red Cross doctor oversees the entire operation and personally checks your physical condition if there is any doubt of your good health. This protects you.

"You give your pint of blood in about seven minutes. There is no pain, no discomfort. You are then served refreshments while you visit with your neighbors and in less than an hour's time, you are on your way," concluded Mrs. Chase.

Donors are asked to call in the basement of the Menomonie Memorial library from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. today.

Smoothing out their stage dialogue are these important cast members of "The Torch Bearers," spring comedy which the Manual Arts Players of Stout will present in the college auditorium the evenings of March 13-15: (L-R) Wayne Towne, Carole Hoppe, Sandra Maxwell, and Edith DeSmith.

PRESENT CAST HAS PAST PLAY EXPERIENCES

This is your "on the spot" reporter in the Stout state auditorium. The MAP cast of The Torch-Bearers is now rehearsing on the stage for their coming performances of March 13, 14, and 15. The play was written in 1922 and will be produced with the props and costumes of that period. This promises to be one of the most successful productions to date, for the director, Dr. Lengfeld has an excellent cast. Barbara Bender in Ring Around Eliza. Many of the students will remember some of the cast from former plays: Beth, Corrine Nelson in A Murder Has Been Arranged, Virginia Olsen and Walter Diedrich were in A Cup of Tea.

George Kelly wrote this play to enlighten and bring laughter to his audience. The Stout players have proved that they can do just that. The players have two more weeks to prepare their presentations. Take this reporter's advice; be sure to see The Torch-Bearers, on March 13, 14, 15. Curtain time will be at 8:00 p.m. See you at the play!

AMENDMENTS WON BY THREE STUDENT VOTES

Three votes! The SSA announced Monday that the amendments to the constitution which were voted upon last week were accepted by only three votes.

The small positive vote was not the result of dissatisfaction but was due to a spirit of apathy descending upon some Stout students.

There was a total of 590 votes with 573 of them voting "yes," thereby adopting the amendments into our constitution.

A hearty "thank you" can be heard from the SSA office to those who took the time and energy to vote on this important issue.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Last Wednesday evening, a meeting of sorority and fraternity presidents, vice-presidents, and advisors was held with Director of Student Personnel Services, Dr. Ralph Iverson, in the tea room. As Dr. Iverson stated, it was a meeting to "stimulate better student life on the campus." It was "not a gripe session, just a gathering of ladies and gentlemen to make a better college."

Although the meeting lasted but fifty minutes, many various topics were covered. Perhaps the key subject of the night was the proposal to send a recommendation to the Student Welfare Board proposing a revision of the regulation governing off campus social events. This recommendation follows on the heels of that made by the Student Governing Board and last week's STOUTONIA.

Further discussion aired such topics as the increase of the number of fraternities and sororities on our campus. The general feeling seemed to be that more students would be given the opportunity to participate in this field. With the exception of one new fraternity, there are still the same number of social groups on our campus that there were seven years ago, when the enrollment was approximately 700.

Another highly interesting and worthwhile subject covered was that of allowing these groups to take in as many new members each spring as there are graduating seniors in membership. This would allow those groups desiring to fill up their organization to the maximum forty to do so. In other words, if fraternities and sororities had houses or such to run, and large graduating classes each spring, they could fill up to protect themselves financially and keep their houses running strongly.

This topic should also be considered by the Student Welfare Board at its next meeting. A policy must be decided upon, because the number of these groups seeking school support and backing in securing housing or with other problems, is on the increase. This board must decide whether or not to sanction laws beneficial to fraternities, sororities, or any other student organizations.

All in all, the meeting was a highly successful affair as those in participation accomplished a great deal. Dr. Iverson's idea in making this meeting possible is to be highly praised.

CLUB NEWS

Chi Lambda held its dinner meeting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Nitz. The menu consisted of chow mein, rice, and noodles, hot rolls, coffee, milk, and cookies. The meeting was devoted to plans for pledging, the selection of the pledge master, Lloyd Hoeffner, and laying the ground work on a skit for Stunt night.

It has been decided that the fraternity will go as a group to the bloodmobile this week for donations as was done last year.

Gamma Delta will meet Sunday, March 2, at 5:00 p.m. Vespers, a cost supper, a business meeting, and recreation are on the program for the evening. Election of officers will also be held. The food committee consists of Mary Lou Weiking, Rosalind Nuttelman, and Nancy Gabert. Sheldon Satter and Lloyd Hoeffner will be in charge of recreation.

The last meeting was held on Sunday evening, February 16. College sororities and fraternities was the topic for discussion.

Nancy Gabert, Ruth Ann Stratman, and Judy Steiner attended the Lakes Region Winter Camp which was held at Houghton, Michigan, February 14-16. Taking part in the winter sports activities with Gamma Delta members from other colleges helped to make this a very inspiring week end.

Raymond Cornwell's home was the place of the International Relations Club meeting on Lincoln's birthday. Gerardo Frago, of Managua, Nicaragua, gave an illustrated talk on his home country, after which refreshments of tea, coffee, cheeses, cakes, etc. were served to the 26 people present.

The club plans to send a delegation, representing Panama, to the U.N. Mock conference to be held at the University of Wisconsin in April. Next meeting is planned to have a speaker on the U.N. followed by a U.N. movie.

Other coming events are talks on Ethiopia, Korea, and the Dominican Republic to be given by our new members from these countries.

Chinook winds brought spring to Menomonie prematurely over the weekend. The students were seen out strolling. The weather was conducive to light apparel such as bermudas, light jackets, and sweaters. Especially prominent were the three girls who donned their Stout blue blazers and finished the costumes with grey bermudas and white knee socks. Tops were down on the convertibles as they paraded down Main street. Wakanda park was full of Stout celebrants for the raising of the lake. Many showed unusual ambition by going to the backbreaking task of washing and waxing their cars.

A word of congratulations to the new group of male cheerleaders who made their debut at the LaCrosse game. I hear the air was chilly but the water warm. For educational purposes various students toured various enterprises prior to the game. Applying for a new profession?

Valentines Day brought forth more pinnings and engagements on the campus. Among those were Jean Sprain, Barb Williams, Jo Salm, and Nancy Monick. Congratulations also to sophomore Jean Smith for receiving a diamond.

But more numerous are exotic wedding bands that blossomed forth from the Sadie Hawkins dance. The Parson of Stoutpatch proclaimed that business was booming. Yeller gold and blue "Pigeon Rings" united the happy couples. Looked as if quite a few gals caught their guys by the number of couples that sa-shayed round the floor. Even the shmoos took time to come and watch the kiddies dance.

Sadie Hawkins week must really have caught on because tonight down in the lounge at Tainter hall there's a "Leap Year" dance and it isn't even

She is the corresponding secretary for her sorority, Sigma Sigma Sigma; vice president of WRA; and a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron and LSA. While in high school, she held the office of secretary for her class, a literary club, and her church group.

The new treasurer, D'Ann Mattson, is treasurer of her class and was the treasurer of Tainter hall last year. She is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, 4-H club, WRA, and Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority.

leap year. Let's turn out anyway and make this S.S.A. function a big success.

The lounge is getting to be a real popular dance hall these days. Take for instance the Sweetheart Dance where Pat Wenner whirled around the dance floor in her white full length formal. Carol Kinnee also swirled in her toast colored sheath accented by a net overskirt.

During the cold snowy weekend a good time was shared by all who participated in the Winter Carnival. Thrills and chills were had by those who watched the crowning of Queen JoAnn, as she stood upon the platform.

A new winter sport was formally announced when the freshman class won first prize in the snow carvings.

The freshmen did it again as Pat Choitz was chosen and reigned as Princess of the Mardi Gras dance, which was deemed a big success by all who attended.

Now's the time to bet your start in the gallon club. Go today and give your blood away.

See you there.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL MOVES INTO FINALS;
SIG TAU LEADS KEGLERS AFTER FIRST WEEK

Basketball

League play moves into the final sessions. The pattern for the playoffs is beginning to take shape. With three games I hate to go out on the proverbial limb, but for lack of a better way out, here goes. In the National the Grads or the Flunkies are a unanimous choice and in the American the FOB's should come home unmarked. The playoffs should prove to be one of the top attractions on the intramural scale that these old Halls of Ivy have seen for many a season. I will hold back on the outcome until the FOB's opponent has been affirmed.

HOOPSTERS ARE DEFEATED BY LA CROSSE

Blowing a whopping 17 point lead, the Stout Bluedevils went down to a humiliating 85 to 79 defeat at the hands of La Crosse Indians. Scene of the scalping was the Mary Sawyer auditorium in La Crosse last Saturday night. It was the seventh conference setback of the year against but four wins for Stout.

A rapid burst gave the hometowners a 13 to 2 buldge before the game was four minutes old. The Bluedevils were using a zone defense that had La Crosse completely baffled. However, this lead was whittled down when Coach Gerlach pulled the regulars for a resting spell shortly after that. The end of the mythical first quarter found Stout with a slim 23 to 19 lead. However, soon after the starting five returned to action, an immense 17 point spread was fashioned near the end of the first half. This didn't last long, though, as the local quintet seemed to have lost their eyes for that round hoop. Halftime saw a smaller 45 to 34 cushion.

Especially outstanding during the first half was the floor work of Keith Moessner and Jann Peterson. Coupled with their play was the sharp shooting of Brian Howard and Bob Sorenson. At this point, the abundant audience of some 200 Bluedevil backers felt quite secure.

Then the roof fell in! After trading a few baskets, the Indians went on the war path for ten straight points and a tie before Stout called time out to gather their fallen warriors.

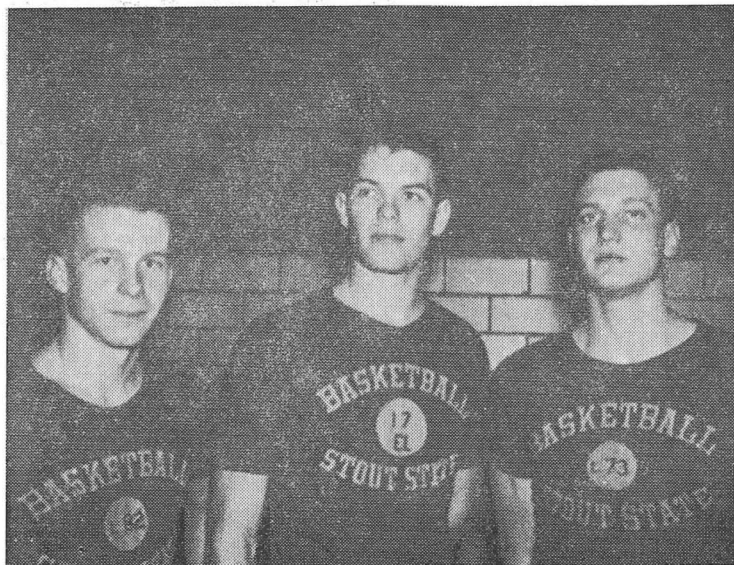

However, the situation was not bright as numerous opportunities to regain the lead after this failed because of personal fouls. During the second half, fifteen of the total 25 fouls assessed against the Bluedevils were called. This gave La Crosse 22

NEXT SEASON'S STARS, PETH AND REUTHER

The last two Bluedevils to appear in this column are Harry Peth and Luther Reuther. The backgrounds of these two players are unknown due to the fact of being unable to contact them, but we will tell you all of the information that this writer has at this time.

Harry Peth is a freshman and hails from Tomah where he played high school ball. He plays forward for Stout and has seen limited action this season.

Luther Reuther is a sophomore and is called Hans by his friends (everyone?) Hans is a transfer from Mankato State. His home town is Red Wing, Pictured from left to right are members of Stouts' basketball squads Bill Harycki, Luther Reuter, and Harry Peth. The story on Harycki appeared in last week's Stoutonia.

STOUT FACES FALCONS FOR SEASON'S FINAL

Minnesota. While in high school he played basketball for Marshall high school.

This season he has played forward for Stout and may develop into one of the better players in the conference next year. "I like to play basketball as I have really enjoyed being on the team this year, but I certainly didn't enjoy some of those tough losses," relates Hans.

Next season may be a different story—let's all keep hoping; remember even the New York Yankees can be beaten—just ask the Braves.

Coach Joe Gerlach and his Stout Bluedevils will play host to the River Falls Falcons here Saturday, March 1.

This will be the final game for two of Stout's stars, as captain Jim Bolm, and Jann Peterson will be graduating this spring. Both Bolm and Peterson have been starters on the Bluedevil five for the past four years. Peterson has been voted the most valuable player on the squad for the past two years.

Stout, with a 4-7 conference record, will try to get back in the winning ways against the Falcons who have a 5-5 record. After an impressive 93-78 victory over the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee here February 21, the Blue and White blew a seventeen point lead to La Crosse and defeat 85-79 last Saturday evening. River Falls has been idle from conference play since February 17, but have played two non-conference games with St. Cloud and the Bethel Royals. All this adds up to the indication of a good basketball game and that is just what it should be.

Stout has played the Red and White earlier in the season and defeated them in a touch and go affair by the score of 76-67. After trailing 40-35 at half-time Stout fought back and overcame the deficit. Bob Sorenson led the scoring for that game with 26 points followed closely by Keith Moessner with 24 and Brian Howard with 18.

The probable starting line-up for the Bluedevils will have Howard and Peterson up front at the forwards, Bolm at the center slot, and Moessner and Sorenson in the backcourt at the guard positions. These plus the capable reserves all add up to a clean sweep of the series.

Students, faculty, and staff of Stout helped make the recent Bloodmobile trip to Menomonie a success. STUDENTS GIVE 27% OF CITY BLOOD QUOTA

"Once again the students and faculty of Stout state college proved their whole hearted support while giving nearly 1/3 the total amount of blood donated by Menomonie during the recent worthwhile Blood drive," states Mrs. Ora Chase, registered nurse for the college.

Stout students and faculty donated 27% of the total amount of blood that was given by Menomonie last Thursday and Friday.

Menomonie gave 370 pints; 101 pints of this total were from Stout students and faculty, Dunn county exceeded their goal of 625 pints by giving 641 pints of blood.

SORORITY PLEDGING IN FULL SWING HERE NOW

Last week, the Stoutonia featured a story on fraternity pledging. This week we switch, and will cover sorority pledging.

The sororities have been pledging for three weeks now, and they will be at it for some time to come.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

Shirley Aitken, Sarah Albrecht, Carol Barber, Kathie Camplin, Sue Ingalls, Nancy Jensen, and Kay McSweeney are pledging Alpha Sig. These girls must earn 150 pledge points. These points may be earned by such activities as writing themes, services to the sorority, holding offices, completing coffee cards, typing and cleaning sorority files. Each pledge is responsible for having coffee with every active. The active then signs the pledge's coffee card.

Informal initiation will take place Wednesday, March 12th. No date has been set for the formal initiation.

Delta Zeta

The Delta Zeta pledges are Alice Cramer, Shirley Schulenberg, and Donna Wittkoph.

Pledging took place on February 12th in Harvey memorial. On February 13th a Valentine party was held for all.

Pallas Athene

Pledging P.A. are Deanne Grzybowski, Cindy Bauer, Barb Berkseth, Barbara Kennedy, and Marilyn Utter.

Pledging followed the Founders' day dinner which took place in the tea-

Decorations are planned around a St. Patrick's Day theme. The program will be in the shape of shamrocks and will consist of musical numbers and short skits. The banquet will adjourn before the M.A.P. play begins.

Tickets are on sale in the Harvey hall corridor from 8:30 to 4:30 each day and are $1.75 per person. Girls who want to attend are urged to get their tickets early as a limited number of seats are available. Tickets were sold out the week before last year.

This year, the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority again is selling courages for the Mothers to wear to the Mother-Daughter Banquet.

The Tri Sigmas will be taking orders in Harvey hall from March 10 to 14. The cost will be only $1.25.

MANUAL ARTS PLAYERS TO PRESENT 'THE TORCH BEARERS' HERE STARTING THURSDAY

SUMMER SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE FOR STOUT

Graphic Arts teachers throughout the nation will have an opportunity to compete for eight special summer school scholarships at Stout state college this summer, according to an announcement just released by the Education Council of the Graphic Arts Industry, Inc.

Made possible by a $2,500 personal contribution of Elmer G. Voigt, chairman of the board of Western Printing and Lithographing company, Racine, the educational awards will finance the attendance of eight printing teachers at Stout from June 23-August 1 for a course entitled, "Technical Problems in Graphic Arts." Aim of the special course, which may be taken for undergraduate or graduate college credit, is to help improve graphic arts educational offerings in America's schools.

In describing the selection of Stout state college and Elmer Voigt's scholarship grant, Howard Massman, president of the International Graphic

At about 9:15 on the evening of August 29th, 1922, six hundred average New Yorkers, two hundred friends of the management, and about fifty sophisticated first nighters attended the first presentation of The Torch-bearers. That was the beginning of the play's prosperous term on Broadway. Since then, it has been presented in many of the little theaters which it satirizes. This record of mishaps and ill-luck encountered by the amateur actors while they are "putting on the show" will be impossible to resist.

The M.A.P. actors are: Barbara Bender, Donald Bilse, Walter Diedrich, Carole Hoppe, Marvin Johnson, Ardal Littlefield, Sandra Maxwell, Corrine Nelson, Virginia Olson, Wayne Towne, and Tom Wright. Don't miss this hilarious comedy by George Kelly which will be presented at the Stout auditorium on March 13, 14, and 15 at 8:00 p.m. Reserve tickets will be available next week across from Harvey memorial. Admission for the general public is $.75, S.S.A. cards free. Be sure to see The Torch-Bearers.

"What are they?" ask cast members of "The Torch Bearers," Broadway comedy which the Manual Arts Players of Stout will present in the college auditorium the evenings of March 13-15. Examining props which have a strong influence on the plot are (L-R) Marvin Johnson, Judith Bathke, Barbara Bender, and Tom Wright.

ATTENTION

The Hilltoppers scheduled for March 25, 1958 are unable to make the engagement.

However, in their place will be the Four Preps. More information on this subject is under the SSA news column on page two.

CARNIVAL DAY SET MARCH 8 BY SKI CLUB

Lovers of snow and frolic! Come to the Carnival Day at Deepwood. The Stout state college Ski Club is sponsoring a Ski Day for Stout and Eau Claire March 8th. Everyone is invited.

The only stipulation is that you come in an unusual costume.

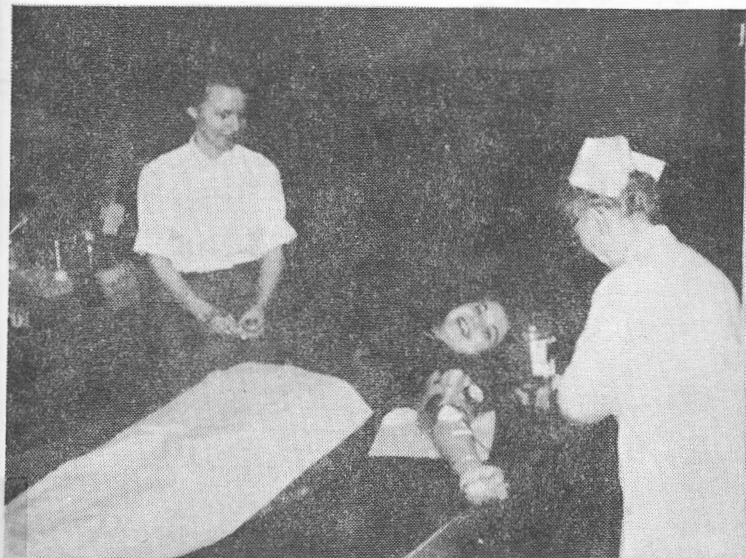

Skiing will get underway in the morning. Some ski events will take place during the day. A lunch will be served at night and dancing will conclude the evening. There will be some pretty sharp entertainment, too.

WEATHERBIRD

"She'll warm up again after tomorrow," the bird commented this morning as he delivered his usual forecast. "Cloudy and cold tonight and tomorrow morning is the weather picture," he said. "Continued cloudiness will prevail Saturday night and Sunday, with a chance of a few, snow flurries."

"It will, however, turn somewhat warmer by Saturday night."

Two other Stout coeds are pictured as they donated blood last Friday. Fern Mathey, senior from Medford, watches Deanna Grzybowski, junior from Weyerhaeuser.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Last Tuesday night, the Student Governing Board passed a recommendation concerning the increase of voting power on that board. Under the present set-up, this board is composed of three voting groups; the four SSA officers, three faculty representatives from the Student Welfare Board, and two members of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Lynwood and Tainter halls each have one non-voting representative. It is also the duty of these two to represent the freshman class.

The revised membership of the board would include, in addition to the above, two representatives of the freshman class. These two would join the non-voting dormitory members for the first semester of each year. However, at the beginning of the second semester, the two freshman class representatives would be given full voting power.

The reasons for increasing the representation on the board are obvious as well as justified. This increased membership will give the board a better representation of all classes as well as an increased capacity to better serve the entire student body.

It is the hope of this newspaper that when the Student Welfare Board meets in the near future, it will find the items both discussed here the past weeks, and those placed before them by the Student Governing Board, in need of approval.

CLUB NEWS

At the last Metal's Guild meeting, Ray Thurston, enrolled in graduate studies, gave an interesting talk on design in the audio-visual room of the library. The new Metal's Guild pin design has been accepted and the pins have been ordered. The work meetings have been devoted to making an extensometer for the Physics department which should be completed early this spring.

New members in the Metal's Guild are Dale Wahl, Robert Pearson, and Tom Thompson. The election of officers will be held at the March 17 meeting.

Nomination of pledging candidates was the highlight of the Feb. 20 meeting of the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity. Nine new members were chosen to join the ranks of the Sig Tau's. Pledging and Hell week started last week on Thursday. Pledgemaster is Don Hoffman.

Sweat shirts with a monogrammed emblem of the fraternity are now being considered by the group. Chosen to uncover the essential details have been Jim Kogler, Joe Jajtner, and Jerry Howard.

The Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity this week voted in new members for the "house committee." Those voted in were: James O'Bryon, president; Fran Lahmer, vice president; John Schleen, secretary; Donald Anderson, treasurer; and Howard Steinhilbur, sergeant-at-arms.

Business this past week included the Red Cross Bloodmobile and the Regional Conclave and basketball tourney. Also discussed was a new television set for the "house" and an appropriate date for the forthcoming dinner dance.

The Regional Conclave promises to be an even greater success than expected as units from Kankakee, Illinois, and Ypsilanti, Michigan and other groups from Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin plan to attend.

On February 24, the Manual Arts Players chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, dramatic honor fraternity, welcomed seven new members. They are Cynthia Bauer, Ellsworth; Donna Paul, Glen Flora; Ardelle Dregne, Viroqua; Myrna Shearer, Cumberland; Mary Tickler, Seymour; Gloria Zitlow, Fond du Lac; and Gloria Walsted, Menomonie.

One hundred points are required for membership. Students may obtain these points by working either in front or behind the scenes of the M.A.P. plays.

Highlighting M.A.P.'s social activities are two major stage productions, one fall and one spring. Other ventures include picnics, parties, initiation ceremonies and banquets.

Lowell Denier, IFYE to Pakistan, highlighted a meeting of the 4-H Club which was held February 19. The meeting was held at the Dunn county courthouse in conjunction with a meeting of other 4-H members from the county. Mr. Denier showed slides and spoke of his experience as an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate during the past summer. He also had set up several exhibits of the things he had brought back from Pakistan. His talk helped members gain a better understanding of Pakistan in particular and the International Farm

Your SSA Reporting

On Tuesday evening, March the 4th, the regular bi-monthly meeting of the governing board was held in room 7 of the library.

Mr. Ziemann, representing the assembly-lyceum committee gave a report on the plans for the lyceum for March twenty-fifth. He has been given word that the "Hilltoppers" cannot be scheduled. Stout students do not have to feel in any way disappointed, however, because they still will be in for a real treat. The "Four Preps" will be entertaining us that evening. They are a comparatively new vocal group who currently hold the number one position on the Minneapolis list of top tunes with their recent recording of "Twenty-Six Miles". Only two evenings before coming to Stout, the "Four Preps" are going to appear on the Ed Sullivan show.

A new amendment to the present constitution was discussed and a motion in its favor was made. It concerns membership on the governing board. There will be two representatives from the freshman class. During the second semester, those representatives will be given the right to vote. There will still be dormitory representatives, but they will not have voting power. This amendment will not be in effect until it goes to the Student Welfare Committee and is voted upon by the student body.

It was reported that the bells and clock for the tower will be coming our way as soon as everything is "okayed" in Madison.

A franchise was granted to Home Ec club for the sale of a cook book containing favorite recipes of Stout students.

A question and answer session will again be conducted this year. It is a chance to get acquainted with the S.S.A. candidates. Watch for further notices.

A discussion concerning the possibility of having more posters for the S.S.A. campaign took place. Since it is the biggest campaign each year on our campus, some people felt that more posters should be allowed. No action was taken, however, because the board felt that the set number at the present time is sufficient.

The senior class was allocated one hundred dollars for the senior banquet. Meeting adjourned.

Youth Exchange program in general. The next meeting of the club is scheduled for Tuesday, March 11. At that time, officers for the coming year will be elected. A panel on junior leadership will be presented. A skit on "How to Conduct a Meeting" is another program feature.

SEEDS GIVES PROGRAM FOR MEN'S FRATERNITY

The Epsilon Pi Tau fraternity had the privilege of having Mr. O. J. Seeds from the Cerro de Paso Sales Corporation of New York City bring to them a program entitled Cerrotechnics.

The program consisted of slides of the different ways of using low melting point alloys which is his company's product, demonstrations of practical uses of the low melting point alloys, and samples of products of industry which use these alloys.

These alloys melt from about 180 degrees Fahrenheit, which is the temperature of hot water, to about 420 degrees Fahrenheit. The mining of the components for the alloys is done on the company's land in Peru at the head waters of the Amazon River.

Products of the Cerro de Paso Sales Corporation are now in use in some of the shops here at Stout.

The meeting was attended by a considerable number of E.P.T. members and Metals Guild members who were guests of E.P.T..

Arts Education Association, the professional association of graphic arts teachers, said:

"Stout state college has one of the finest graphic arts teacher education programs in the country and our Association is pleased with Mr. Voigt's action in helping graphic arts teachers to help themselves. "The relationship of brothers and sisters within a family is an intricate one," explains Mrs. Benita G. Smith, director of Stout state college nursery school, to three interested parents of children who attended that school. Listening to Mrs. Smith (third from left) are (L-R) Mrs. Arthur Medtlie, Mrs. Donald Farley Jr., and Mr. Raymond Cornwell.

PARENT AND TEACHER CONFERENCES ARE OF BENEFIT TO ALL PROCLAIMS MRS. SMITH

"When parents and teachers sit down together to try to understand better the needs and interests of the children under their care and guidance, all profit — teachers, parents, children and students," reports Mrs. Benita G. Smith, director of the Stout state college nursery school.

Mrs. Smith meets with the mothers of the nursery school children one afternoon each month. Just getting to know the parents of their child's nursery school playmates and to hear comments about their children while at nursery school is a pleasure in itself, the parents report.

The meetings, held in the homes of the parents, are purposefully kept informal although the parents select one topic for discussion each month. Upon arrival the mothers are invited to the coffee table but they are soon ready to begin the afternoon topic of discussion.

"The parents' responsiveness is very gratifying," states Mrs. Smith. Eight mothers braved the first blizzard of the late fall on November 8 to view the well known films, "The Terrible Twos," "The Trusting Threes," "The Frustrating Fours," and "The Fascinating Fives." Each mother present offered to serve as a hostess of co-hostess at a future meeting.

"Everyone enjoys talking with others engaged in the same field of work — whether it is farming, plumbing, merchandizing, teaching or doctoring — to share ideas about interests and problems of the moment," Mrs. Smith points out in summarizing the meetings thus far. "Likewise, mothers and teachers enjoy learning together about the 'small fry' who have special interests, needs and problems — just because they are three or four."

With Monday night's round of games bringing to a close the 1957-58 Wisconsin State College Basketball conference, the powerful Pioneers of Platteville reign on top of the heap with an 11 won, one lost record.

Platteville cinched their title championship last Saturday, when they narrowly edged Stevens Point 80-77. Not to end the season with such a scare, however, they bounced back to trample third place Milwaukee 112-83 Monday night.

The Pioneers will now host Milton, the Badger-Gopher conference champion next Thursday to determine who will represent Wisconsin in the NAIA tournament to be held at Kansas City, Missouri.

In other games Monday night, La Crosse downed the Yellowjackets of Superior 106 to 91, to win second position in the conference. River Falls defeated Eau Claire 66-61, and Oshkosh won over last place Whitewater 92-62.

Stout also finished their season as well as might be expected, posting their second conference victory in a row when they downed River Falls 81-73.

The eighth place Bluedevils seemed to try and repeat history, as they once again finished in a fashion which showed the fine team, as they defeated third place Milwaukee, and fifth place River Falls to finish the season.

The River Falls game, brought to an end, the college basketball careers of Captain Jim Bolm, and Jann Peterson. Both Jann and Jim have been playing first string for Stout for the last four years, and their services will surely be greatly missed when next year's squad takes to the court.

WRA

Aerial tennis will be the featured sport in an elimination-consolation tournament sponsored by the WRA for its members. There are approximately 55 girls out for this tournament with six girls on a team.

This tournament will be held on Monday and Tuesday nights from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. Margaret Shattuck is the sports head.

WRA members who are not playing in the tournament are needed as officials and score keepers. They will receive unorganized points for doing this.

Badminton and bowling will be the next featured sports. Members are asked to make their choice as soon as possible.

INTRAMURALS

All campus women and men may partake in the intramural coeducational sports program. The women need to belong to WRA. Many of the individual sports such as table tennis, badminton and bowling are sponsored by the two groups working together.

As of now, they are in the progress of organizing a bowling league composed of mixed teams.

Working with the groups are Miss Irene Erdlitz and athletic Director Ray C. Johnson.

BLUEDEVIL CAGERS WRAP UP SEASON WITH WILD VICTORY OVER THE RIVER FALLS FALCONS 81-73

The Stout Bluedevils finished up their 1957-58 basketball season with a close but decisive victory over the River Falls Falcons here last Saturday. It gave the Bluedevils a clean sweep of the series with River Falls and a 5-7 conference and an 11-9 overall season record.

The win was a well deserved one for the Bluedevils who played a terrific game and finally pulled away from a very close margin with the score being tied seven times. This was the final game of their college careers for Jim Bolm and Jann Peterson, who have played superb basketball for the Stout Bluedevils. Bob Sorenson and Peterson sparked the victory by scoring 21 and 18 points respectively. Mick Collins and Jack Omar led River Falls with 16 points.

The Falcons got the opening tip and scored the first point of the game on a free throw. Stout got the first field goal and their first points when Sorenson sank a shot from the side with 18:20 left on the clock. The game stayed at about this pace and Stout led 20-16 at the 10 minute mark. The Bluedevils pulled ahead by 10 points, 32-22, after Keith Moessner intercepted a pass and raced downcourt for the lay-

HOURS OF HARD WORK TO BE CLIMAXED AT FOB STUNT NIGHT ON SAT. MARCH 22

On next Saturday evening, March 22, will come the climax of many hours of hard work. At 8:00 p.m. in the Stout auditorium, 11 skits will be presented by various groups on campus. Tickets may be purchased from FOB members in Harvey hall, or at the door Saturday evening for fifty cents.

According to co-chairmen, Frank Burdick and Dick Lowry, this year's program promises to be a full one. In addition to the skits, which will be both humorous and serious, special in-between-act entertainment will be provided. The popular Four Fades quartet featuring Jerry Fisher, John Pelt, Roger Nichols and Dale Soderberg will provide a selection in barber shop harmony. Mux Clark, familiar to most upper classmen, will add a humorous touch. In addition to these, will be a vocal solo by Rich Vogtsberger, and a piano solo by Steve Saxton. Of special interest to the boys will be two separate groups of singing and dancing girls. To wind up the entertainment will be Barb Bender with a comedy act.

A short introduction to each skit, giving the theme of the skit and a history of the group will be given by Masters of Ceremonies Steve Butz and Will Foster.

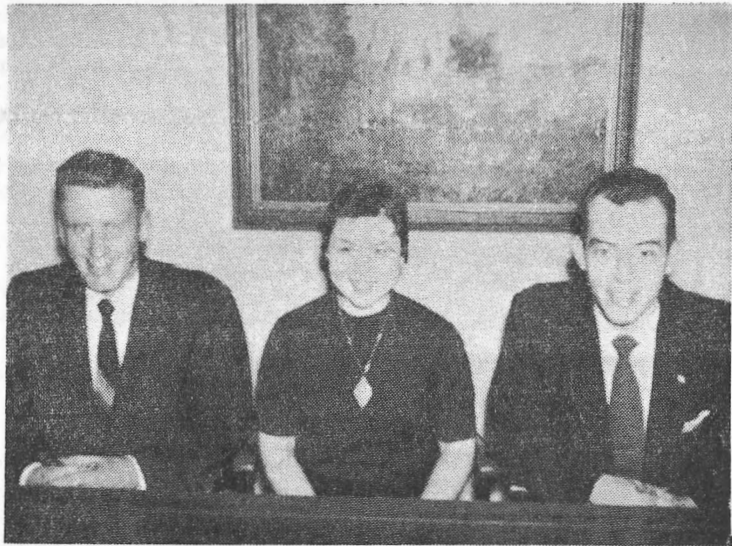

Announcement of the winning skits will be made following the last act. The difficult job of judging will be done by the following Menomonie high school teachers: Mr. Wagner, Mrs. Heggen, and Mr. Cooper.

Skits will be judged in two different classes: Humorous and Serious. A first prize of $15.00 and a second prize of $10.00 will be given to the winners in each class.

Special recognition is due to those in the FOB fraternity who have worked and planned for this event. Committee chairmen are as follows: "Popcorn" McGovern and Bill Neumann, publicity; Pete Jackson and Dick Gundlach, staging; Dick Johnson, in-between-act entertainment; Jack O'Reilly and Bill McGovern, printing; Mike Brennan, programming; Jim Bolm, tickets; and last but not least,

Monte McDonald on clean-up.

The FOB fraternity also wishes to thank all the organizations for their participation in this event. Skit chairmen are as follows: Deanna Howell, Tainter hall; Sandy Sjuggrud, Delta Zeta; John Moore, Sig Tau; Len Wide, Phi Sig; Katchen Kubitz, Alpha Sig; Charles Roeder, Lynwood hall; Bob Gannon, APO; Jim Teske, Chi Lambda; Dick Schendel, Delta Kappa; Joan Wonoski, Tri Sig; and Muriel Erickson, PA.

FIRST MAP PRODUCTION OF 'THE TORCH-BEARERS' WAS DEEMED SUCCESS BY THOSE ATTENDING

The Stout Manual Arts Players have done it again! After working diligently for over a month, they put on an enlightening and entertaining performance of The Torch-Bearers last night. (Tonight and tomorrow night you can still see this hilarious play).

The comedy, written by George Kelly in 1922, was immediately successful. Today, The Torch-Bearers is considered outstanding as a comedy (as well as a satire on the little theatre movement). The author knew, such "show" people, for he himself was a theatre man, and with his training in vaudeville was able to portray the humor and fun of putting on a play." The Torch-Bearers has been produced by all groups: amateur, college, and professional, and has proven its ability to enlighten and bring laughter to all types of audiences.

Ever since this standing hit was first produced on Broadway, it has been the cause of millions of laughs and general good times. Yes, the Stout M.A.P.'s are providing you with the opportunity to see and relive this hilarious comedy. You still have tonight and tomorrow night to see the play; curtain time is at 8:00 p.m.

Tickets at $.75 will be sold at the door for the general public — and remember students, it's free with your S.S.A. cards.

ATTENTION

The meeting of the faculty wives originally scheduled for March 2 has been changed to March 17.

Place of meeting will be the Marion Hotel at 7:45 p.m. Mrs. Wal is the chairwoman.

Gerald Foth, Bob Gussel, and Bill McKinnon seek Student Body Presidency

Gerald Foth, junior from Port Edwards is a candidate for SSA president. He is a member of Phi Omega Beta fraternity and radio club. Jerry states: "After being president and tour manager of Stout Symphonic Singers, I feel that I can co-ordinate social, and more important, the functions and duties of a large organization. While on tour I was solely responsible for the activities of every individual, housing, meals, travel, and general management of the choir on stage."

Bob Gussel, junior from Wisconsin Dells, is running for president. He is a junior class representative on Governing Board, a member of Epsilon Pi Tau, and Phi Sigma Epsilon, president of the junior class, and treasurer of L.S.A.. Bob states: "I feel that I know most of the students and their problems and am free in expressing their feelings to those in a position to do something about them. I feel that I understand the operation and duties of the S.S.A. office as I have been on the Governing Board and worked closely with many of the problems arriving on campus so far."

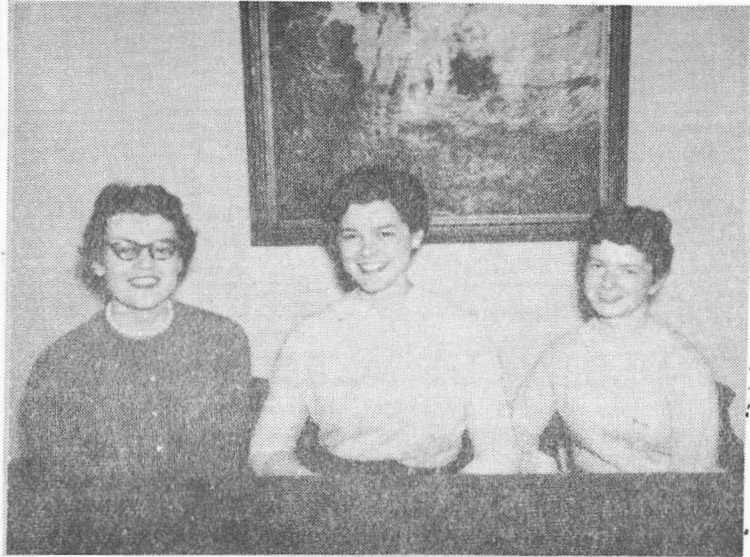

A junior from Neenah, William McKinnon is another candidate for president. He is treasurer of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity and S.S.A., participates in intramural sports and has spent two years in the U.S. Army. He states: "I believe that I have the experience to qualify me for the office of president. I also believe that I have been a part of the Stout campus long enough to be well acquainted with the wants and desires of the student body. I feel that I am old enough to treat this position with the respect and efficiency it needs."

Vice-President

Stoughton is the home town of Philip Felland, sophomore running for vice-president. He is a member of Phi Omega Beta fraternity, Epsilon Pi Tau, and Married L.S.A.. He also has spent two years with the Army. He says: "I feel that I understand the social needs of a large proportion of the student body, both single and married. I am willing to cooperate with the faculty, administration, organizations, individual students and I will try to act in accordance with the wishes and welfare of all people concerned."

Nancy Feuerstein, candidate for vice-president, is a sophomore from Sharon. She is a member of Home Ec. club, Concert band, Symphonic Singers, and Phi Upsilon Omicron. FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

You, as a member of the Stout Student Association (SSA), are entitled to both a voice and a vote in its affairs. However, you, as a part of this organization, have little opportunity throughout the year to exercise either of these factors. One of these rare opportunities is at hand!

The election of new SSA officers will be held next Thursday on our campus. At this time, four new leaders will be chosen to serve you for one year, or one-fourth of your college life.

Are you prepared to cast your unbiased vote for the one person you honestly feel is the most qualified to capably fill the position? Do you really know the abilities and experiences of each candidate seeking an office? Have you ever met any of those seeking to represent you for the next year? If your answer to any of these questions is no, then this next week should be a curious one for you.

Many varied opportunities to meet, question, and discuss the candidates seeking election will be available for you from today through next Thursday. During this time you should make special efforts to conscientiously form your opinions and convictions as to which persons you think are best suited to lead your SSA next year.

Bear in mind that it will be four people you elect that will be making the majority of the policies by which you will be governed next year. The entire social and recreational calendar for the next 36 school weeks will be the product of the work of these new SSA officers.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

SSA officer elections are just around the corner but will posters, banners, and mobiles tell you the true story of what each candidate is going to do for you?

The SSA is trying to do the job you want them to do. Each candidate has his own personal opinions of why they are running for their particular office. The SSA is sponsoring a "Quiz your Candidates" Tuesday night in the auditorium at 7:30 p. m. The student body will be able to ask any candidate what their reason for running is and what they could do for your association, if elected into office. You will hear from your present SSA officers on what the duties of each officer consists of in this very informal gathering. The students will be able to ask any questions they please of the candidates in order to get a better understanding of each person.

A dance after this meeting will highlight the program where the candidates will again be introduced.

BE A PART OF YOUR SSA AND FIND OUT WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW IN VOTING FOR YOUR NEXT SSA OFFICERS. SEE YOU TUESDAY.

. . . Ralph Stevens, SSA Vice-President

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Dunn County chapter of the American Red Cross would like to express their thanks to the student body, the faculty group, and the administrative staff of Stout state college for the wonderful support given to the Red Cross bloodmobile February 27 and 28.

Six hundred and forty-one pints of blood were given to the blood bank in St. Paul. Our asked for quota was 625 pints. We could not have gone over the quota without the fine support of the college.

Thank you all.

CLUB NEWS

The IRC met February 26 in the audio visual room of the Stout library.

idency, and Mary Lou Schleis, candidate for the office of secretary.

Preceding practice for Stunt Night the announcement was made that course orders for the Mother-Daughter Banquet would go on sale in Harvey hall from Friday, March 7 through Friday, March 14. Make up and delivery of the corsages will begin Saturday morning, March 15.

Foods and nutrition with a professional atmosphere! That is the primary purpose of the Stout state college Dietetic club, a professional organization for students majoring in dietetics or institutional management. A student majoring in either of these fields is eligible for membership in the club after she has completed three semesters of satisfactory work. The advisor of the club is Miss Mary Killian, the Director of Food Service at Stout.

The Dietetic club is very active professionally and socially. It is striving to gain recognition as an important club in its professional field, and as a club that has a definite place among Stout's student organizations.

Vocational tours during the 1957-58 school year have included two field trips to Minneapolis, Minnesota. The Betty Crocker kitchens, the University of Minnesota Hospital, and Dayton's Food Service were among the places visited by the club members. These trips help to show the girls the various opportunities in the dietetic and institutional fields.

Through the year, the bi-monthly meetings of the Dietetic club feature interesting guest speakers in the field of dietetics. Well-known personalities in related fields also address the group. Members enjoy planning and serving special dinners, including the pot-luck supper.

The Dietetic club held its annual fruit cake sale early in December. The sale helps to promote the status of the club as a professional organization at Stout, and gives the club members valuable experience in large quantity cookery. The annual Christmas party was held in the Tainter hall classroom complete with Christmas tree and Santa Claus.

In the past, the club has set aside one week as Nutrition Week, during which the club's goal is to raise nutritional standards of the entire school. However, this year the club has decided to devote a week to another of its goals—that of acquainting students with the opportunities in dietetics as a profession. The Dietetic club's week long campaign, named Food for Thought, will be held one week hence.

To culminate the activities of the year, on Honors Day a medical dictionary will be presented to the outstanding senior dietetic major. The entire senior membership will be honored at a recognition dinner held at one of the outstanding restaurants of the area.

Upon graduation unlimited opportunities are open to dietetic and institutional management majors. Training may be continued in a hospital or administrative internship or commercial training program. The approved hospital internship leads to membership in the American Dietetic Association and qualifies the dietitian for work in clinical, experimental, hospital, and many other areas. The restaurant or commercial training program qualifies the graduate as a supervisor in a college, industrial, or commercial food service.

STOUT ENTERS WELL DRESSED COED CONTEST

Hear ye! Hear ye! Are you a well-dressed girl on campus? The editorial board of the Stoutonia is at the present time considering candidates for the best dressed girl at Stout to be submitted in the "Ten Best Dressed Girls in American Colleges" contest in Glamour magazine. This is an opportunity for us as a home economics college to show our stuff. Think seriously, and if any organization or individual would like to enter a candidate, you should submit your suggestion to Mr. Whydtski.

ST. PAT'S DAY HONORS FAMOUS IRISH SAINT

March 17 has long been celebrated as the day of "the wearing of the green." On that date, 493, St. Patrick the patron saint of Ireland, died.

There are many legends about this man who at the age of 16 was carried off by pirates and sold into slavery in Ireland to be a swine herder in the country of Antrim. Here he passed 7 years, during which he learned to speak Gaelic and became acquainted with the manners and customs of the people. Escaping from captivity to Britain, he was successively ordained deacon priest and bishop; then with the authority of Pope Celestine, he returned to Ireland to preach the Gospel to its then heathen inhabitants.

A popular legend relates that the saint and his followers found themselves on a mountain without a fire one very cold morning. Unheeding their complaints, Patrick told them to collect a pile of ice and snow which he breathed on and it instantly became a pleasant fire.

The greatest of St. Patrick's miracles was that of driving the venomous reptiles, snakes, out of Ireland, and rendering the Irish sails, for ever after, so obnoxious to the serpent race, that they instantly die on touching it. Colgarn seriously relates that Saint Patrick accomplished this feat by beating a drum which he struck with such fervor that he knocked a hole in it, thereby endangering the success of the miracle. But an angel appearing, mended the drum, and the patched instrument was long exhibited as a holy relic.

An Irish gentleman decided to see if the climate or soil of Ireland were so naturally destructive to the serpents so he set six loose in his garden. A few weeks later they were found, but everyone believed them to be some kind of an eel. When it was identified everyone was alarmed that a "role living serpent" would be found so close to where St. Patrick was buried.

St. Patrick has been credited for many things but whatever the 17th of March is a day for celebration by Irishmen the world over. So put on your shamrock and "shore and by gore" we'll have a happy St. Patrick's Day.

Fraternity Pledge week, which ended here last Thursday, found many strange scenes on campus. Engaged in a mock game of billiards are Norm Klosterman, Phi Sig; Lehman Larsen, Delta Kappa; Fred Zweifel, Chi Lambda; Mark Segebarth, FOB; and Bob Papas, Sig Tau.

HIKES AND PICNICS FAVORITE PASTIMES OF STOUT STUDENTS SEVERAL YEARS AGO

In the next few weeks, the Stoutonia will be presenting a series of articles describing the social scene on our campus during the last fifty years. This is the first installment.

Have you ever wondered what students did for entertainment at Stout ten or twenty years ago? Mr. Lloyd Whydowski and Mr. Paul Axelson, now instructors at Stout recalled some activities of their college days.

With only a small number of cars on campus and a gas ration besides, activities were limited within hiking distance. Students couldn't go home very often, so activities were usually well attended.

Parties on campus were generally for small groups, and dances were held on week ends in the small gym. School sports activities drew large crowds.

Students enjoyed playing cards; bridge and cribbage tournaments were popular. Though there was no student union years ago, everyone drank barrels of coffee. Memberships in fraternities and sororities were not as numerous.

Literary clubs used to be important organizations. After discussions, lunch would be enjoyed by the group.

The out-of-doors sports gave long hours of recreation. In winter, skating and skiing were the popular sports. Fishing, hiking, and canoeing on Lake Menominee were spring and fall activities. And as it still is today, a Sunday afternoon was a perfect time to have a blanket and picnic basket on one arm and a favorite gal on the other arm. Times really haven't changed at all.

CHOICE OF COLLEGE IS IMPORTANT DECISION

Some of the reasons students give for selecting a college as their Alma Mater are fearfully and wonderfully wild.

"The campus is lovely."
"They have a winning football team."
"I know a girl there."
"It's a small school."
"Uncle George went there."

Few students bother to compare colleges with their own needs in mind. How good are the laboratories if Industrial Education or Home Economics is your field? How good are the studios if art or music are for you? How well trained and helpful will be your major professors? What do the students now enrolled say about the college? Is the school fully accredited and will the courses you plan to take transfer?

No one buys a new car or a home solely on the advice of a salesman or relative. The careful shopper compares values, prices, and performance to his own needs. The answer to a salesman's dream is the boob who can be "taken in" by a stone planter or the curve of an upturned tail fin.

The college purchase operates for four years and must last a lifetime at a cost of $2,500 to $10,000. Careful shopping is wise and rewarding.

Bridegroom: "Promise me, dear, that you will try to make bread like mother made?"

Bride: "I will, dear, if you'll promise me to make dough like my father did."

Son: "Dad, what are the three R's?"
Dad: "My boy, the three R's are met through life. At 20, it's romance; at 40, it's rent; and at 60, it's rheumatism."

SSA SPONSORS STUDENT GROUP AT ED CONFAB

Subject of interest to all education majors were discussed at the Education Conference at Minneapolis on February 14-15. The following is a synopsis of some of these topics.

Extra curricular activities have three main goals: to provide worthy use of leisure time, to develop leadership and fellowship, and to provide for indifference. It is important to think of the quality of the activities one participates in, rather than the quantity and also to consider the benefits one may gain from belonging. At times one may actually be too organized and in too many activities. Will Rogers once said, "One half of the people are at conventions, the other half are at committee meetings. Who is left to do the individual work?"

Extra curricular activities can be helpful for the students of lower I.Q.'s too. These students also need something to excel in.

Exceptional children are of four types: gifted, retarded, speech defective, and physically handicapped. In home economics and industrial arts we are especially interested in the first two. We need to provide something for the retarded children as well as something to keep the gifted children in these classes.

Friday afternoon the speaker for the coffee break was Dr. Gordon Mork, President of the Minnesota Education Association and associate professor of education at the University of Minnesota. He told about "Growing Professional Among Teachers" and gave information about the National Education Association.

Saturday morning during the coffee break a group from the Minneapolis Chapter of the American Federation of Teachers presented a panel on "The value of Teacher Unions". They explained their purposes and goals, and discussed the benefits that had been obtained for members of their organization. They pointed out that members of the teacher union are mostly teachers, and not administrators. A series of questions from the floor concluded the coffee hour.

Prospective teachers in many fields were present at the conference. It was a valuable experience to exchange ideas about education with them.

DEAN KIRK ATTENDS HOME EC CONFERENCE

Representing Stout state college at a recent national conference for the improvement of home economics education programs was Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of the school of home economics at Stout. The week-long meeting, held in Washington, D.C., was arranged by Edna P. Amidon, director of the home economics education branch of the U.S. Office of Education.

Dr. Kirk participated in conference activities and heard such speakers as Lawrence G. Derthick, U.S. Commissioner of education. She also attended sectional meetings which explored such matters as provision of sufficient numbers of adequately-trained high school and college home economics teachers and research workers.

In addition, all conference participants observed projects at five research institutions in the Washington area. These included the Institute of Home Economics, National Institute of Health, National Institute of Dry-cleaning, National Housing Center and National Bureau of Standards.

ARTS, CRAFTS EXHIBITION ON CAMPUS SOON

To be held on the campus of Stout state college March 15-22 will be the eleventh Western Regional Arts and Crafts Exhibition. On March 22, a one-day art school will also be held at Stout.

Cooperating with the college in presenting the exhibit are the Dunn County Agricultural Extension Office, the office of the Dunn County superintendent of schools and the University of Wisconsin School of Agriculture.

Entries will be accepted in six craft categories and must be received at the County Extension office in the Dunn county court house no later than 5 p.m. on March 12. Areas in which craft exhibits will be judged are to include baskets and mats, ceramics, leather, jewelry and metal, textiles and wood. All must be originally-created pieces.

Artistic areas for which materials may be submitted include painting, watercolor, pastel, tempera, pencil graphics, and sculpture. All must be original, stemming from the exhibitor's own environment or experience. No more than two works will be accepted from each exhibitor. These works too must be at the Dunn county court house before 5 p.m. March 12.

At least one picture from each entrant will be hung in the exhibition. A selection of pictures and crafts from the adult division will then be invited for exhibition in the 19th State Rural Art Show in Madison.

The one-day art school on March 22 is being arranged co-operatively with the art department of the General Extension Division. Beginning at 10 a.m., the school will offer discussions of paintings being exhibited, personal criticism of art and craft entries, and a discussion session.

MISS CALLAHAN ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Miss Gertrude L. Callahan, chairman of the department of English at Stout state college, represented that department and the college at a recent conference of chairmen of English departments of state and private colleges in Wisconsin. Presiding at the gathering was Dr. Helen C. White, chairman of the English department at the university of Wisconsin.

Purpose of the conference was to work toward the formulation of a report on the manpower resources for the teaching of English in colleges in Wisconsin. This report has been requested by the Joint Staff of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education in Wisconsin, a group which will have an important role affecting policy decisions for the future of higher education in Wisconsin.

The Coordinating Committee, in turn, will compile a comprehensive report dealing with Wisconsin population trends; school enrollments in the state, with special attention to higher education; the type of students seeking higher education; Wisconsin's needs in research, public service, and adult education; and Wisconsin's manpower resources and needs.

"If you won't marry me," cried the rejected suitor, "I'll throw myself off that three-hundred-foot cliff." "Oh, go on," said the girl. "That's a lot of bluff."

Wife: "Why did you tear the back page out of that new book?"

Absent minded doctor: "I'm sorry, dear. That section was labeled appendix, and I took it out without thinking."

"There it is" says Dr. Ray A. Wigen, director of graduate studies at Stout State College, Menomonie, as he shows to Dr. Robert Swanson, associate professor of industrial education at the college, the report announcing that the men who have won two of five national research awards of the American Technical society. The research projects of the two Stout faculty members were chosen in competition with those of the nations educators in eleven research areas.

AMERICAN TECH SOCIETY RESEARCH AWARDS PRESENTED TO DR. WIGEN AND DR. SWANSON

Two of the five national research awards of the American Technical Society have been made to faculty members of Stout State College here. The men chosen are Dr. Ray A. Wigen, director of graduate studies at Stout, and Dr. Robert S. Swanson, associate professor of industrial education.

Each received a $200 cash award from the American Technical Society, plus national recognition as an "Oscar" winner in the field of industrial education research. Aims of the awards program are improved educational practices, provide new educational knowledge and stimulate other educators to excellent research.

The five men recognized for their achievements were selected from among eligible educators throughout the nation, not only in the field of industrial education but also in 11 such areas as agriculture, business, guidance and similar endeavors.

Both Dr. Wigen and Dr. Swanson completed their Ph.D. research at the University of Minnesota under the direction of that institution's chairman of industrial arts, Dr. William Micheels, himself a Stout graduate. The awards program was also approved by the Research and Executive committees of the American Vocational association.

Dr. Wigen's research was titled "Technical Offerings for Industrial Arts Teachers at the Graduate Level." The author was commended for isolating an important educational area to investigate and for producing an administrator's guide for evaluating and developing technical offerings at the

IT'S SUMMER SCHOOL FOR 6,000 TEACHERS

More than 6,000 Wisconsin teachers will go back to school in June at the nine Wisconsin state college summer sessions.

Classes begin June 10 at La Crosse, June 16 at Eau Claire, Oshkosh, Platteville, River Falls, Stevens Point, and Superior, and June 23 at Stout and Whitewater.

At two summer campuses students will study art and conservation in outdoor studios and laboratories.

In northern Door county "The Clearing," at Ellison Bay will be the campus for two arts-and-crafts workshops, beginning July 27 and August 13. Under the direction of college professors the students will sketch and paint or work with materials from the area, all for college credit.

At Eagle River the course is conservation, beginning June 15 for five weeks. At the Trees for Tomorrow camp teacher-students will live in dormitories and take trips to forest areas, streams, lakes, sawmills, farms, and tree and trout nurseries. At camp they will study the newest and best methods of conserving Wisconsin's natural resources.

ZAKRZEWSKI AND TOOLE ADD FUN TO SSA DANCE

"Silhouettes on Parade" was the theme chosen by the decoration committee for the SSA dance held last Friday at Tainter hall.

Black and white crepe paper and silhouettes were used to carry the theme out. Refreshments consisting of sandwiches, potato chips and punch were served by the pledges of the Sigma Tau Gamma, Chi Lambda, and Phi Omega Beta fraternities.

Intermission featured entertainment by Dave Zakrzewski and a skit by Tim Toole.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB HAD PROVINCE GATHERING IN CHICAGO LAST WEEK

Chicago, Illinois was the city chosen for the seventh annual Province convention, February 21-22. Province is a convention of home economics club members from Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Stout state college was well represented as the Home Economics club sent nine delegates and one advisor, Miss Dorothy Clure. Representatives were Beverly Madsen, Alice Cramer, Karen J. Johnson, Jeanette Kramer, Carole Kirchmeyer, Dorothy Bauer, Opal Burton, Kay McSweeney, and Katchen Kubitz. Opal was the voting delegate for Stout.

Over 170 girls and advisors attended the conference that was centered around the "Forward Look." A get acquainted coffee hour followed registration on Friday.

First on the agenda was a panel, "What Do We Mean by the Forward Look in College Clubs?" Karen J. Johnson, a Stout student, was on the panel. The panel stressed the problems confronting home economics clubs and offered solutions to the problems.

At the noon luncheon, the girls sat at tables decorated with dolls dressed in native costumes. The highlight of the luncheon was the speech given by Miss Hurst, an executive in the International Harvester company. Successful in the business world, Miss Hurst said that success was not governed by geography, choice of religion, kind of business, and that anyone could be successful if he had faith in himself, faith in his work, and willingness to work for a goal.

Always do your best; but remember, you could have done it better," was a philosophy of Lane Bryant, whose life was given as an example of success by Miss Hurst.

The president-elect of the Illinois Home Economics association, Miss Ruth Wheeler, started the afternoon session with her talk on the status of the home economist today.

The U.S. woman today outvotes, outlives, outbuys, and outdrives the American man, Miss Wheeler pointed out. In dollars and cents, it takes eight billion dollars to clothe and one and one-third billion to preserve the American women today.

Other statistics were that nine out of ten women will work outside the home, and three out of ten married women are working today.

Among other things, Miss Wheeler stressed that as a home economist, one must be proud of her profession. Also, one must keep up to date with the news and what the advances are in the profession.

After the speech, the delegates divided into buzz groups. The groups included the modern homemaker; the social role of today's homemaker; the homemaker and the college curriculum; training tomorrow's homemaker; developing leadership in the college club; estimating the value of our college clubs; and push button homemaking for tomorrow.

Friday evening was free time for the delegates. Several of the Stout girls were able to obtain tickets for the musical hit, "My Fair Lady." Best liked parts of the show were the fabulous costumes and the revolving sets. Other free time was taken up by shopping at Marshall Field and Carson, Pirie, and Scott. The vast selection amazed the students. Getting lost on the subways took up some of the remaining leisure time.

Saturday morning the convention closed with the voting of continuing the convention and the election of next year's officers.

Weary delegates returned to school Sunday and Monday, but the enthusiasm gained and new ideas obtained from other clubs inspired the Stout girls to aim for new levels in professional curiosity and status of the home economist.

WISCONSIN COLLEGES IN RAPID GROWTH STAGE

The most astonishing fact in Wisconsin higher education is the rapid growth of the state colleges. Since 1952 the enrollment on the campuses has doubled.

At a meeting of the college Regents, February 18, the presidents reported a total of more than 11,600 students in the 10 colleges for the new semester. Just six years ago the total was 5,750.

"The equivalent of another 10-college system has been added in student population," says college director, Eugene R. McPhee. "Problems of a too and teachers have almost doubled too."

The college Regents are adding 21 million dollars worth of buildings in the most ambitious construction program in the colleges' history. Teachers at the schools numbered 560; today there 800, and more will be added next fall.

Saturday classes have been scheduled at many of the institutions. Class sizes are larger and teachers have more themes to read, papers to grade, and tests to score. Guidance, counseling, and placement of graduates takes an increasing amount off time.

What worries college officials most, though, is that the big wave of students is yet to come. There has been only a small increase in the number of 18-year-olds in the state since 1952. In 1965 thousands more will be ready for higher education and enrollments are expected to double again.

The 100th birthday of the state colleges of Wisconsin in 1966 may be celebrated by 20,000 students singing "Happy Birthday" in very close harmony.

such an office. I feel I fulfill these requirements and will help to make you students proud of Stout."

David Soderberg, sophomore from Menomonie is seeking the vice-presidency. He is historian of Phi Sigma Epsilon, a member of Synchronized Swimmers, and sophomore class representative to Governing Board. Dave states, "During the time that I have been sophomore class representative on the Governing Board, I have done my best to participate in the affairs of the board to the best interest of the students and to the college. I have gained much experience which should help me if I become vice-president."

Secretary

Dorothy Grundmann, a sophomore from Waukesha, is a candidate for secretary. Dotty is sophomore class secretary, sophomore class representative to the Governing Board, Stoutonia reporter for the Governing Board, and a member of the Home Ec. club and Alpha Sigma Alpha. Dotty says, "After serving my class as secretary and after being on the Governing Board during the past year, I feel that I know the problems and needs of our student body. I have also served as Stoutonia reporter. I feel that these experiences have helped me realize the responsibilities of the SSA secretary."

Mary Hitesman is a junior from Winneconne and is running for secretary. She has been Home Ec. club treasurer, Delta Zeta standards chairman, and a member of WRA, Newman club, and Phi Upsilon Omicron. As a freshman, Mary was vice-president of Tainter annex. She states, "The organizations to which I belong have acquainted me with different types of situations and groups of people. I feel I can understand their problems and will be able to represent and help solve some of them on the SSA Governing Board."

Mary Lou Schleis, junior from Escanaba, Michigan, is a secretarial candidate. She is WRA vice-president, and a member of Newman club, Tri Sigma, and Home Ec. club. As a freshman,

Babe was secretary of Tainter annex. In February, she was Tri Sigma candidate for winter carnival queen. 'Babe' says, "Since I am a junior I feel that I am quite aware of many of the functions and activities that are concerned with the college and Governing Board. Being in many organizations has helped to widen my interests and developed a sense of responsibilities for various tasks."

Treasurer

Helmuth Albrecht, candidate for treasurer, is a sophomore from Winthrop Harbor, Illinois. 'Pookie' is vice-president of the sophomore class and a member of Sigma Tau Gamma. He says, "I feel that I can base my qualifications for SSA treasurer on these three points: first, I have the desire to carry out the job efficiently; second, I have the time to spend constructively which this office requires; and third, by being vice-president of the sophomore class and working closely with SSA, I feel I have the knowledge required for this office."

Eddie Birch, junior from Holcombe, is running for treasurer. He has been treasurer and vice-president of LSA, secretary of Phi Sigma Epsilon for two years, and an Alpha Psi Omega understudy. He says, "The main qualification of an SSA treasurer should be interest, time to devote to this job, a desire to serve fellow students, and probably past experience. I believe I have these qualifications."

Gregory Trzebiatowski, a junior from Almond, is a candidate for treasurer. He has been treasurer of Newman club and Chi Lambda and a member of Epsilon Pi Tau and Metals Guild. In high school he was a member of the student council. Greg says, "I feel that I am qualified to represent the student body on the Governing Board because I am keenly aware of the problems to be met here at Stout. I have actively participated in four organizations in my three years at Stout and am well acquainted with student government from my activities in the student council in high school."

Janice Smith is general chairman of the "Green Tea". Peggy Douglas is advising the group because of her experience as chairman of the tea her freshman year.

MEMORIAL TO NEIL BROEREN TO BE ERECTED

One year ago at Easter time, a fellow Stout student was killed in an automobile accident. The student was Neil Broeren, a sophomore, who was very active and gave himself 100 per cent in every activity he participated in.

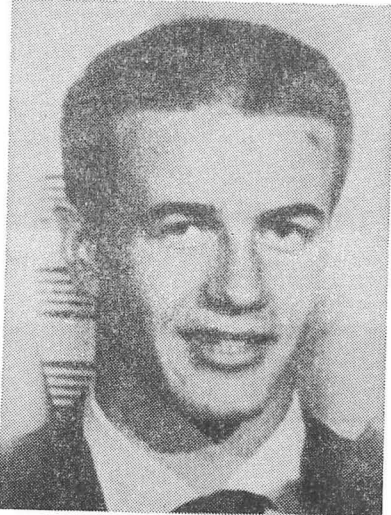

Neil hailed from Thorp and was a member of the Newman club, S club, and played halfback on the football team. This tragic accident was indeed a loss of a real friend to many of his classmates.

A group of students wished to dedicate a bulletin board in honor of Neil Broeren. "This is a memorial erected by the members of Stout for the purpose of remembering someone who played an important and unselfish role here at Stout," relates Jim Schmitzler, a close friend of Neil's. "We urge you to back this drive."

The bulletin board will be placed in the new student union. It will serve as a weekly calendar for student activities and social functions, but not for the listings of organizational meetings.

This board will be controlled by and changed by the SSA. The letters will be of a clip-on type made of plastic, while the bulletin board itself will have a black grooved backboard.

Please place your donations, no matter how small, in a given envelope which will be placed in your mail box.

Neil Broeren

Then simply drop it in the container by the mail boxes.

It is hoped that through student donations for this worthwhile cause, a memorial bulletin board in honor of Neil Broeren will appear in our new union. Remember it's up to you the student. Won't you please donate?

PROGRAM SET FOR ANNUAL YWCA BANQUET

Approximately 150 mothers will be attending YWCA's annual banquet with their daughters tomorrow night. Many guests will have traveled hundreds of miles to visit the Stout campus.

Dinner will begin at Peace Lutheran church at 5:30 p.m. The time was set early so guests may attend MAP's spring play immediately afterwards.

Loretta Sletten, program chairman, has announced a short program consisting of Steve Saxton playing a piano solo, "Pavanne," by Ravel. Beverly Voight and Alice Johnson giving a pantomime, "Clancy Lowered the Boom," freshman girls' quartette singing "Peg of My Heart," and Marilyn Utter giving a declamation, "The Littlest Stork," by Charles Pazewell. Group singing will complete the program.

"And so," said the teacher, finishing an algebra problem, "we find that x equals zero." "Good heavens!" exclaimed one student. "All that work for nothing!"

Recently returned from a rifle match at Sparta, Wisconsin is Bill McNaughton of the Stout state college rifle club. Out of the 21 shooters there, Bill won first standing and second grand aggregate in the marksman division.

John Ong won the same in the sharpshooter class. Most of these matches Bill takes in are registered with the National Rifle Association; the next one, in two weeks, is the inter-collegiate at Minneapolis.

This match is held at several places throughout the U.S. on this same week-end and all the undergrad students get a chance to compete against each other.

1958-1959 CAGER SEASON HAS A SILVER LINING

With the closing of one basketball season, the coming of the next season is always something to look forward. The situation for the Stout Bluedevils seems to appear very bright for the 1958-59 season. The past season was a fairly successful one for the Blue-devils who ended the season with a clean sweep of the River Falls series and an 11-9 overall season record. Although only two players, Jim Bolm and Jann Peterson, will graduate they will be missed very much by coach Joe Gerlach.

The loss of Peterson and Bolm will take a big chunk out of the starting five, leaving the center and a guard position open in next year's squad. Members of the first string that will be returning are Keith Moessner at guard, and Bob Sorenson, at the forward slot with Brian Howard. Fans will probably see a lot of action from Bill Kindschy and Glenn Harke who have both seen a lot of action this season as reserves and gained very valuable experience. Also available for next year's team are Herb Helm, Bill Hills, Harry Peth, Luther Reuther, and Bill Harycki.

Representatives from Alverno, Cardinal Stritch, Eau Claire, Lawrence, Luther, Mount Mary, Oshkosh, Ripon, River Falls, Stevens Point, University of Wisconsin, University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee, and White-water will also participate in the sports events.

Have you heard about the fellow who calls his jalopy "Flattery" because it gets him nowhere?

Action runs high in a recent WRA aerial dart game.

Coach Joe Gerlach reluctantly accepts equipment from his graduating squad members, Jann Peterson and Jim Bolm.

CONVO ON WEDNESDAY FEATURES DISNEY FILMS

The Assembly and Lyceum committee will present two Walt Disney films at the 9:30 a.m. convocation March 26 in the Stout state college auditorium.

These films are authentic technicolor stories of nature filmed in the "natural surroundings," each with a thrilling musical score. Everyone is familiar with the genius of Walt Disney. This is part of a series for which he received many honors. These films have been acclaimed by film critics and educators; they have been appreciated by all who have seen them.

One of the films is "Olympic Elk," which is described as a "spectacular story of the majestic elk who annually complete a thrilling trek through Washington wilderness.

The film "Seal Island" is an "authentic story of drama and humor played against the rugged background of the Pribilof Islands." Those who have seen these films want to see them again. Others will enjoy them for the first time.

Prize-winner! This photo by Tom Murray, Stout state college sophomore, won the highest award in the feature picture division of the Wisconsin college publications association. Shown in the photo are Wisconsin state college students who served as models.

WHYDOTSKI, SOLDNER, AND PAPAS WILL HOLD OFFICES FOR WCPA CONVENTION ON CAMPUS

Representatives of Stout state college had very active roles in the first annual convention of the Wisconsin College Publications association, meeting recently on the campus of Eau Claire state college.

In photographic competition, the first prize for news photographs was won by Stout photographer Tom Murray. In addition, Stout was awarded next year's meeting and several persons from Stout were placed on the governing body of the association.

Named to direct the next convention were Lloyd Whydotski adviser and treasurer, and Patricia Soldner and Robert Papas, student officers for the event. In addition, those three participants, plus Dr. Thomas Fleming of the Stout faculty, were placed on the constitution committee of the new association.

Attending the meeting were students and advisers from six Wisconsin state colleges. They attended morning and afternoon sessions devoted to college newspapers, yearbooks, photography and business methods. At an evening banquet, the group was addressed by D. E. Whelan, managing editor of the Eau Claire Leader-Telegram.

Present from Stout were the following students: Minnie Claseman, Patricia Soldner, Dick Kveton, Norbert Link, Tom Murray, Harry Munn, and Bob Papas. Lloyd Whydotski and Dr. Tom Fleming were faculty representatives. Much credit for success of the meeting goes to Lee O. Hench, public relations director at Eau Claire state college, and to Dave Wood, a student in the journalism sequence there.

MAP PRODUCED PLAY 'TORCH BEARERS' HELD

With the final curtain drawn on the last performance of "The Torch Bearers" the M.A.P.'s relaxed from their weeks of hard work. The auditorium was well filled for each performance setting the best attendance to date. Fun, laughs and good all around entertainment was enjoyed by all; with Corrine Nelson's outlandish antics, Virginia Olsen's lines, "Darling, you're playing with fire!" and all the other comical action the players went through.

Dr. Lengfeld is proud of her fine cast and crew. She commented that every player portrayed his character to a "T", giving the exact replica of what George Kelly meant when he wrote the play.

WEATHERBIRD

The weatherbird cast a critical eye around the campus this week as mother nature took a late stab at being wintry. He shook his feathers, and predicted sunny, windy weather for the week end.

"Good kite flying weather ahead," he said. "It usually is the first few days of spring."

Spring arrived on the Stout campus at 9:06 Thursday evening along with the spring-like weather.

NOTICE!

The "400" will stop at Menomonie Junction on Friday, April 4, at noon for Stout students going home for the Easter vacation. It will also stop on Sunday, April 13 at the Junction for those returning the Menomonie area.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Four new leaders! Four individuals to be forged into one efficient working group. They will be striving, as a team, to coordinate the student-social life at Stout, and to carry on the work of their predecessors. Yes, yesterday you and I helped to choose four new SSA officers. Will we continue to help them, remembering the oft-used phrase that any government is only as good as those who stand behind it and for it?

These new officers will need your support in the future if they are to fill the large gap left by the retiring officers. Peter Jackson, outgoing president, and his group have done an extremely fine job during the past year. His ability to organize and "get the ball rolling" has brought many a change and improvement in our campus social scene.

The outstanding efforts put forth by the SSA and its various committees throughout the past year have brought new highs in student government to our campus. Stout now ranks near the top, if not at the summit, in social life available to those enrolled in Wisconsin state colleges. This reflects upon and illustrates the type of work done by these untiring people.

To the newly elected leaders, the entire staff of The Stoutonia wishes to convey its congratulations and best wishes for a most successful term of office.

Recently a group of Stout coeds went to St. Paul and Minneapolis to come home bubbling over with the new fashions.

The newest trend is white lipstick to cover the old red stuff. (Fellows take note, no more messy hankies!) The new look is pale, making the eyes take the emphasis.

Skirts are coming up until just below the knee. The bare-legged look is in style.

Orange and willow green are going to be what every well-dressed college coed will wear Easter Sunday morning. Also in that Easter parade you will see those new hats that look like they should belong to little girls, but sophomore from Park Falls; Jim Mowers, freshman from Menomonie; Rog Reuther, freshman from Manitowoc; Chuck Roeder, freshman from Oshkosh; Irving Ruff, freshman from Menomonie; and Fred Zweifel, sophomore from Belleville.

In a short business meeting following the dinner, campaign plans and committees were formed to support Greg Trzebiatowski for treasurer in yesterday's SSA elections, March 20. Plans and committees were also formed for FOB Stunt Night. The meeting came to a close after a short round of discussion on the annual Chi Lambda dinner dance to be held Friday, May 16.

The Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority is busy completing plans for Stunt night and campaigning for their SSA candidate. Jane Thompson reported on the Student Welfare committee. Dinner dance favors were discussed. Some of the members are planning to attend a State Day at McComb, Illinois, on April 12th. The senior representative for the spring graduate was chosen.

MENOMONIE RESIDENTS AGAIN KEEP TIME BY RECENTLY REPAIRED TOWER CLOCKS

Residents of this community and students on the campus of Stout state college are again setting their watches according to the four large clocks mounted high on Stout's famous clock tower, which furnished the city with the correct time for nearly 60 years.

Finishing touches are being put on a new electronic mechanism that has already reactivated the time pieces, originally installed in 1897 by direction of State Senator James H. Stout, founder of Stout state college. Aside from the original solid copper hands, however, little of the original clock equipment is left in the 168 foot tower.

The four clocks were first operated by a complex water pressure system. With the advent of electricity, that new power was employed to control the air impulse mechanism releasing a blast of air every 60 seconds to push the hands one minute forward. Gradual deterioration and the unavailability of parts in later years at first made the clocks unreliable timepieces and finally led to a complete breakdown of the whole mechanism about three years ago.

Once the ancient mechanism was officially declared "dead," action was begun to renovate the famous landmark. A crew directed by Rudolph Roen, Stout's superintendent of buildings and grounds, reglazed the faces of the clocks but left untouched the copper hands, turned completely black by the years. Louis Rodey, chief operating engineer at the college, then drew up specifications for an International Business Machines electronic clock mechanism and supervised its installation.

Working with Rodey were Simon Olson, Jim Rhead and Ray Einum, of the maintenance crew at Stout. They lugged the necessary parts up a narrow, vertical steel ladder and wired in the electronic mechanism. The self-correcting ability of the mechanism had the old timepieces telling perfect time shortly after the wiring was completed.

The complex electronic time control of the clocks should give community residents confidence that they are now getting the correct time. The clocks automatically correct themselves once each hour so that they are exactly on time to the hour. In addition, an IBM master clock in the engineer's room compensates twice every 24 hours for any error caused by a major factor such as a temporary shut down of electric current.

PROPORTION OF MALES HIGH AT STATE COLLEGES

Men outnumber women again this semester at the state colleges by almost two to one. At the Institute of Technology it's 299 to one!

The one coed at the Platteville school is a part time student from Dubuque, married, fiftyish, and only on campus long enough on Tuesday and Thursday to hear the lecture on mineralogy. Some of the 299 Institute men have yet to see their only female classmate.

At other state colleges the ratio is less top-heavy, but at each school the men are numerically superior. At the colleges at Platteville, Stevens Point, and Superior they outnumber the coeds two to one. At River Falls the ratio is three to one.

Men and women are most nearly equal at Stout and the college at Whitewater.

Total number of men enrolled at the 10 colleges is 7,577 compared to 4,118 women.

Off campus the extension courses attract mostly women with 2,369 enrolled compared to 280 men.

But on the campuses, where the ratio really counts socially, girls can be most selective. A predominantly man's world is not always advantageous for men, at least on the college campus.

STOUT'S DR. SWANSON WAS MEETING SPEAKER

Speaker at a sectional meeting of the Forty-fifth Annual Convention of the Central Wisconsin Teachers association was Dr. Robert Swanson, associate professor of industrial education at Stout state college. The meeting was held recently in Wausau.

Dr. Swanson addressed the industrial arts sectional on the topic, "Plastics Belong in the Industrial Arts." He then led a discussion of plastics and demonstrated thermoforming techniques to members of the sectional group.

President of the industrial arts roundtable was Warren Thomas, a graduate of Stout state college and now a faculty member at Wausau high school.

JOKES

The gossip reported to the millionaire on the activities of his spouse. "While you were away I saw a tall dark man kissing your wife."

"Did he have glasses and button shoes, and did he have a mustache?" he asked.

"Yes," he replied. "That was my iceman. He'll kiss anybody."

Two bums down in Galveston found a newspaper. One headline said: "MAN WANTED FOR BURGLARY IN CALIFORNIA." "Now if that job was only in Texas," said one bum, "I'd take it."

These signs appeared on a post in front of a lakeside store: "Sleeping cabins, boats for rent, minnows, worms, tackle, No Fishing."

NEW CHEMISE STYLES FEATURE OF FIELD TRIP

The applied dress, millinery, sophomore clothing, and tailoring classes, a total of eighty girls and instructors went on a field trip to Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The first store visited was Amluxens, where Miss Terrill and several of the other sales personnel showed the latest fabrics of the season; many of which were imported from various European countries.

The entire group then went to Day-

ton's Sky Room where the girls were given a bird's eye view of the latest spring fashions. Miss Johnson, the buyer for the Oval Room, had just returned from New York and she said that the key words in the fashion world this season are "chemise and short-short skirts." Mrs. Holstader showed the girls suits and gave them tips about purchasing a suit. Mrs. Hanson concluded the program with various dress styles, but said that, "85% of our sales are the chemise."

In the afternoon the millinery class visited the Hubert Millinery Supply House where the girls bought buckrams, material and decorations for their next hats.

The group concluded their trip in St. Paul. The millinery class went to Dorée where the making of a buckram was demonstrated, while the rest of the group watched a style show and had refreshments at Schuneman's.

CLUB NEWS

The Delta Zeta sorority sponsored a coffee hour for their parents who came to attend the annual Mother-Daughter banquet last week. Kelly Keliher entertained them with a pantomime and Barbara Harms and Sandra Sjoggerud sang a duet. All the girls joined in to sing several sorority songs. In attendance at a recent meeting of the state board of the American Association of University Women was Miss Eleanor Cox of the Stout state college faculty, a member of the state body. During her two-day stay in Milwaukee, Miss Cox also participated in an AAUW workshop on "Mental Health."

Participants also had the opportunity of hearing an excellent address, "Automation: What Does It Mean and Where Will It Take Us," by Dr. Mabel Newcomer, emitus chairman of the economics department of Vassar college. Dr. Newcomer won the 1953 achievement award of AAUW.

Also present for the AAUW board meeting was Miss Mary K. Williams, also of the Stout faculty and president of the Menomonie chapter of AAUW. Miss Williams had the opportunity while in Milwaukee to inspect the excellent "Home Show" in progress there, observing many things of interest to her in her Stout course dealing with home construction.

JARVIS TRAVELS

Participating in a recent conference on technical education in Flint, Michigan, was Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of the school of industrial education at Stout state college. Dean Jarvis, for five years a teacher in the Flint school system, was a guest of the Flint Citizens Golden Milestone committee.

Co-hosts of the event were the Flint Community junior college and General Motors Institute. The Citizens Golden Milestone committee is a group organized to celebrate the birthplace of General Motors 50 years ago.

Only 250 persons from throughout the nation were invited. In addition to visiting General Motors Institute, educational facilities and other points of interests, conference participants had a busy schedule.

They were addressed by such persons as Joseph Anderson, general manager of A. C. Sparkplug; Guy Cowing, president of General Motors Institute; Kenneth Meade, director of educational relations for General Motors Technical Center; and other officials and educators in the city of Flint, Flint Community junior college, and Flint college of the University of Michigan.

SCHOLARSHIPS AWAIT HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS

There is $200,000 awaiting high school seniors who plan to enroll in a Wisconsin state college next fall.

Each of 17,000 high school graduates, from the upper ranking half, is eligible to reach for a $117 handful. Last year 860 Wisconsin seniors took $100,000 from the fund which is replenished and available again this spring.

Most of the money goes automatically to the 1,000 top-ranking graduates of the state's 500 public and private high schools. The valedictorian of a high school with less than 250 enrolled gets a state college scholarship of $117 to pay college fees. Both the valedictorian and salutatorian of high schools from 250 to 750 in size are granted scholarships. And three are available to the top three graduates of schools enrolling more than 750.

When a graduate does not plan to enroll at a state college, the next in line becomes eligible for the scholarship.

Another 683 graduates this spring, not at the top but in the upper half, will get the same $117 scholarship by proving that they need the money to go to college and that they have leadership potential. The college president decides who shall get these scholarships from the applications he receives. He is limited in the number he may grant.

Funds for the scholarships are approved by the legislature in an effort to attract capable young Wisconsin men and women to college.

The $200,000 fund is fenced in by scholarship requirements but the gate swings easily to the touch of the high ranking Wisconsin graduate.

THE STOUTONIA

EDITED AND PRINTED BY THE STUDENTS AT THE STOUT COLLEGE PRESS

Volume XLVII - Number 24

Stout State College, Menomonie, Wisconsin

Friday, March 28, 1958

President-elect of the Stout Student association for the 1958-59 school year is Bill McKinnon, above. Here "Mac" gets ready to take over the SSA reigns from outgoing president Pete Jackson.

NEW SSA OFFICERS TAKE OVER POSTS AS LAST QUARTER OPENS

Voters Place McKinnon At SSA Head; Felland, Hitesman and Albrecht to Assist Quality, rather than quantity, marked the SSA campaign for new officers this year. The limited amount of posters showed the initiative of the sponsoring groups. With stuffing mailboxes being frowned upon, groups found other ways of drawing attention to the candidates. Clever songs during serenading and convo, musical instruments, cheerleading, eye-catching badges, and shiny top hats were ideas used to advantage.

Convocation on Wednesday morning was well attended. Campaign speeches showed the dedication and earnestness of each of the candidates. The SSA officers of 1957-58 were frequently complimented for their outstanding work and received an ovation from the entire student body for a job well done. Voting on Thursday showed 70 per cent of the student body at the polls. The newy SSA officers, Bill McKinnon, Philip Lelland, Mary Hitesman,

Mary Hitesman

Helmuth Albrecht

and Helmuth Albrecht will receive training from the present officers before and after officially taking over their positions on March 31.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR EASTER RECESS LISTED

Classes will be dismissed at noon Friday for the one week Easter vacation, and will convene again at 7:30 a.m., Monday. The "400" will stop at the North Menomonie junction at 1:32 Friday afternoon. The streamliner will stop again Sunday evening.

One and two day reserve books may be checked out at the library between 7:15 and 11:45 a.m. Friday and returned Monday prior to 8:30 a.m.

'APRIL SHOWERS' TEA GIVEN BY WRA APRIL 2

Next Wednesday, the WRA will sponsor their annual tea entitled "April Showers" from 3:30 until 5:30 p.m. in Harvey Memorial. Pear yellow, mint green, and light orange umbrellas will comprise the decorations.

Cindy Breidenbach is decorations chairman. Other chairman for the tea are Pat Wenner, entertainment; Bev Spry, publicity; Sylvia Felland, work committee; Kathy Anderson, food; and Sandy Wegert, clean up.

Sandy Sjuggend accepts the first place award in behalf of the Delta Zeta sorority from Frank Burdick, Stunt Night chairman.

JOURNALISTS TO VISIT CITIES ON ANNUAL TRIP

"Minneapolis, here we come," exclaimed some twenty-odd members of this year's Stoutonia staff. At the break of dawn the journalists of Stout state college will leave on their annual field trip to the Twin Cities.

The date is April 1 at 7 a.m. The bus will be waiting to depart from the circle. Those Stoutonia staff members who have not already signed up are urged to do so at once.

The Minneapolis Star-Tribune and WCCO are the points of interest which the staff will see. "Last year's trip was really worthwhile and we had a tremendous time," recalls Bill Erpenbach, this year's editor.

The group will be accompanied by the Stoutonia's advisor, Mr. Lloyd Whydowski.

Margaret Massey, Alice Schweizer, Marilyn Utter, and Lillian Holst, left to right, make up the harem in the Pallas Athene skit.

PREPS PRESENT FUN AND MUSIC FOR STUDENTS

The Four Preps, newest singing sensation, along with Jimmy Featherstone and his orchestra appeared here on the Stout campus last Tuesday evening. Two individual concerts were held in the auditorium followed by a dance from 9:30 p.m. until 11:30 p.m. This event was sponsored by the SSA and Lyceum committee. A large crowd attended both concerts and the dance afterwards.

The program presented by the Four Preps consisted of a combination of jump tunes, ballads, novelty songs, impersonations and frequent sprinklings of comedy. They also sang their latest top Capitol recording "26 Miles". The fellows only sang for the two shows in the auditorium.

Accompanying the Preps was Jimmy Featherstone and his orchestra. Prior to the concert by the Four Preps, the orchestra played a few selections featuring vocals by Jimmy and Francine Pryor. Miss Pryor is the featured vocalist with the Featherstone orchestra.

Following the concert which consisted mainly of the Four Preps, the band moved over to the high school gym for the dancing part of the evening. Light, smooth, sophisticated rhythms comprised the rest of the evening's entertainment.

As an extra highlight to the dance, the Four Fades, Stout's version of the Four Preps, presented a few of their favorites, including their own rendition of "26 Miles."

PAT WENNER TO REIGN AT FROSH FORMAL

Pat Wenner has been chosen to reign as queen of the freshman formal "Blues in the Night." It will be held tomorrow night, March 29, in the high school gym. Music will be furnished by Johnnie Roberts' Orchestra. Dancing will be from 8 to 12. Dorm hours have been extended until one o'clock for this event.

Members of the court for the event: Cynthia Breidenbach, Bonnie Conrad, Sharon Horch, Mary Price and Sandy Wilcox. Coronation of the queen will take place before the intermission at 10 o'clock.

Remember, it's tomorrow night for an evening of enjoyment, "Blues in the Night". Tickets are still on sale in front of Harvey Memorial, so be sure and get yours before it's too late.

Playing to a full house, 11 skits and various between act entertainment were very well received as the Stunt Night, planned and organized by the Phi Omega Beta fraternity, came to a climax on Saturday evening, March 22. The much coveted first place awards went to the Alpha Phi Omega in the humorous division and the Delta Zeta sorority for their skit entered in the dramatic division.

Receiving second place awards were the girls of Tainter hall for their humorous presentation of "Hernando's Hideaway" and the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority for their dramatic skit of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" adapted from the popular stage and motion picture version of the "The King and I".

Giving the show sparkle and continuity were two of Stout's own masters of ceremony, "Willy" Foster and Steve Butz. Such in-between act entertainment as the "Four Coeds", "The Four Fades", Mark Saxton on the piano, the "Dancing Girls", and Rich Vogtsberger's vocal selections of various popular songs received much applause.

Again this year the judges had a difficult time deciding upon the winners, especially in the dramatic division as their were only a few points between each participant. The winners have their name inscribed upon an attractive plaque which is placed in the student union.

EASTER CONVO WILL FEATURE PLAY OF PEACE

The presentation of the Easter convocation on Wednesday, April 2, will be a play, "The Terrible Meek," by Charles Rann Kennedy. This play was written for Passion Week, 1911. It gives the Christian's outlook on bringing about peace in this war-hungry world of ours. During Lent, 1912, the play's premiere was at the Little Theatre in New York City under the management of Mr. Winthrop Ames. Since that time, it has been performed by church groups, colleges, and little theatre groups all over the United States and other countries. The Stout players are: Alice Phe'an portraying Mary, Tom Rosenthal as the captain, Scott Evenson as the soldier, with the help of William Catlett at the organ, and the cooperation of the Stagecraft class. Remember! See "The Terrible Meek" in the auditorium, 9:30 a.m., Wednesday, April 2.

WEATHERBIRD

The bird didn't have much to say this morning. He was getting ready for fishing. He did, however, pause long enough to forecast some cloudiness and rain for this weekend.

"Temperatures will stay in the forty degree range," he stated cheerfully. "Winter has left us again for another year, it seems."

ENGLISH LANGUAGE IS COMPLEX, CONFUSING

When the English tongue we speak
 Why is "break" not rhymed with "freak"?
 Will you tell me why it's true
 We say "sew", but likewise "few"?
 And the maker of a verse
 Cannot rhyme his "horse" with "worse"?
 "Beard" not the same as "heard";
 "Cord" is different from "word";
 "Cow" is cow, but "low" s low;
 "shoe" is never rhymed with "foe".
 Thinn of "hose" and "dose" and "lose";
 And think of "goose" and yet of "choose";
 Think of "comb" and "tomb" and "bomb";
 "Doll" and "roll" and "home" and "some".
 And since "pay" is rhymed with "say"
 Why not "paid" with "said", I pray?
 Think of "blood" and "food" and "good";
 "Mould" is not pronounced like "could".
 Wherefore "done", but "gone" and "lone"
 Is there any reason known?
 To sum up all, it seems to me
 Sounds and letters don't agree.

QUARTER ENDS IN A FLURRY OF ACTIVITIES

BROEREN MEMORIAL DRIVE GAINS BACKING

The committee of the Neil Broeren Memoria Fund Drive wish to take this opportunity to thank the students, faculty friends, and organizations of Stout state college for their whole-hearted contributions.

Although the committee's goal was not quite reached, a bulletin board in honor of Neil Broeren will be erected in the new student union.

It is still hoped that the few dollars yet needed to reach the goal for this memorial will be donated. These donations may be placed in either Jim Schnitzler or Ken Dickie's mail box. Thanks once again.

LYNWOOD HAS TV REPLACING STOLEN SET

The TV is back in Lynwood again. As the fellows in Lynwood well know, it was stolen during Christmas vacation.

The first set lasted only two months, and was kept in the large lounge. The new set purchased by the college is kept in the small lounge and is locked up at night.

Mr. Face, resident head remarks, "It is a good form of filling in any idle time of the fellows." TV can be very educational if used properly. The set is available until eleven on weekdays and midnight otherwise. No girls are allowed for viewing in the dorm except for regular supervised parties.

The fellows are still looking for the party responsible for the disappearance of the first set.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS QUESTION COLLEGE LIFE

Should a girl go to college? Yes. Should a girl waste her time going to college? No. Waste money, talent, or energy, but not time. It can never be recovered.

Should I live in the dormitory? Yes, if you can get in. The chances of success in college are best for you if you live in the dorm. Apply early for a room.

Even though I haven't decided on a career, should I go to college? Yes. One of the best places to decide your future is on a college campus.

Will I get a job after I graduate? Yes, in teaching and engineering. Maybe as an airlines hostess or pilot. Probably not as a corporation president or TV star.

Will I meet my future mate there? Probably yes. And you may marry before you graduate (one in seven do). Once married you'll be more likely to stay married than your non-college chum.

How much does it cost? $750 to $1,000 a year.

Can I pass the courses? Yes, if you want to. Probably yes, if you're in the upper half of your high school graduating class. Probably no, if you're in the lower quarter of your class.

Will I be a campus "wheel"? Yes, if you're a high school "wheel."

What high school courses will I find most useful? English and typing.

What high school activity will prove most valuable? Music, publications, dramatics, debate, and athletics--in that order.

What physical skills will be most useful? Swimming, basketball, and tennis.

These are the questions most often asked by high school students about the state colleges. The answers come from studies by the Regent's office.

Dr. Ray A. Wigen, director of the graduate studies program at Stout, indicates to three foreign students attending Stout the location of Cebu School of Arts and Trade, in the Philippine Islands. With Dr. Wigen are, left to right, Ali Kemal Kerpici, director of Thecnicale Training college, Ankara, Turkey; Dr. Wigen; Soon Yeul Park, Pusan, Korea, Technical high school; and Genaro Frago, secretary of the National Technical Vocational institute, Managua, Nicaragua.

Stout state college is one of 10 colleges and universities in the nation named to the Interinstitutional Affiliation Project of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education. As such, Stout has been awarded a $1000 grant to carry on a cooperative educational project with Cebu School of arts and Trade in the Philippine Islands.

Aim of the overall AACTE project, being carried on simultaneously in a number of parts of the world, is to achieve better international relationships and understanding by providing current American instructional materials to countries engaged in improving their educational programs. Such nations will, in return, furnish American educators with descriptions of specific educational techniques prevalent in these nations and with useful cultural data.

The instructional materials in technical education which Stout could furnish were especially in demand by nations which are attempting to increase their industrialization by providing to their citizens vocational education, not only the classical earning offered almost exclusively in schools of European origin. This is the first year that such an AACTEinterinstitutional project has been attempted.

Project coordinator at the Cebu school is to be Ricardo P. Trinidad, superintendent of that educational institution. Serving in the same capacity for Stout State college will be Dr. Ray A. Wigen, director of the graduate studies program there. He recently attended a special workshop in Chicago at which coordinators of participating colleges conferred with special representatives of the foreign nations having a part in the project.

Also working with Dr. Wigen at Stout, under the direction of President Verne C. Fryklund, are Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of industrial education, Dr. G. S. Wall, who is serving as committee secretary, and Dr. D. P. Barnard, Dwight D. Chinnock, Floyd Kieth, Dr. J. E. Ray, Philip W. Ruehl,

PAT WENNER REIGNS OVER FRESHMAN FORMAL; COUPLES DANCE TO MUSIC OF JOHNNY ROBERTS

Approximately ninety couples danced to the music of Johnnie Roberts' orchestra last Saturday night at the Freshman formal. Blue and white streamers, and silver musical instruments, notes, and stars carried out the theme of "Blues in the Night."

The crowd grew tense as the highlight of the evening was drawing near. It was now coronation time, and Queen Pat appeared with her five attendants, Cynthia Breidenbach, Bonnie Conrad, Sharon Horch, Mary Price, and Sandy Wilcox. The attendants, along with their escorts, took their places beside the throne. Bob McNaughton, freshman class president, then crowned Pat Wenner Queen of the 1958 Freshman formal. Following this, the Grand March took place. It was lead by Pat, her attendants, and their escorts.

At intermission, entertainment was provided by the Four Fads who sang their arrangements of several songs.

Bob Papas Named Editor; Anne Thiel New Associate

NEW STAFF TAKES OVER PRODUCTION OF PAPER

Norbert Link, John Hammill, Keith Koch, and Gary Fontaine Take Other Positions

Chosen to head next year's Stoutonia staff as editor and associate editor have been Bob Papas, freshman from Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Ann Thiel, freshman from Manitowoc. Bob has an impressive background in editorial work. While attending Roosevelt high school in Minneapolis, he served as sports editor of the high school paper. This paper was awarded the Columbia Press medalist award in Bob's junior year. Bob served as sports editor of the Stoutonia last semester.

Bob is also chairman of the Wisconsin College Publications Associations Convention to be held at Stout next year.

Other campus organizations that Bob belongs to are: Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, Stout Typographical Society, and Gamma Delta.

Anne, too, has newspaper experience to help her in her job as associate editor. She served as associate news editor for her high school paper. Anne also was ad solicitor and reporter while in high school.

Besides serving as reporter and head writer for the Stoutonia last semester, Anne also is active in Home Economics club and Wesley.

Named to the job of production manager on the new staff was John Hammill, freshman from Neenah. John served as a joke writer on the staff last semester, and is very active in the Stout Typographical Society.

The job of sports editor will be taken over by a sophomore, Keith Koch, of Rochester, Minnesota, who has worked hard on the sports staff this year, specializing in intramural and basketball coverage.

The business end of things will be handled by Norbert Link, junior from Columbus, in his position of business manager.

Gary Fontaine, sophomore from Brussels, will assume the duties of circulation manager.

COLLEGE YEARS PROVE TO BE LIFE EQUALIZER

College is a great equalizer. Onto a state college campus in the fall pour farm kids and city kids, poor kids and rich kids, and awkward or graceful immature or mature, shy or overbearing kids. From Wisconsin they come, but also from Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan, and 20 other states and a dozen territories and foreign countries.

Students sit in similar seats, hear the same concerts, and back the same team. The same dean hears their problems, the same professor lectures, and the same advisor makes suggestions. There are no reserved test tubes in the laboratory and library books yield information to the first student to reach for them.

Student parking regulations apply to all, dormitory hours are strictly impersonal, and academic probation threatens any student who falls below a minimum standard. The incidental fee is $58.50 for all.

During the four-year-mix-and-grind some students drop out or transfer. But more than half of them stay, study, and achieve collegiate success. They captain varsity teams, make the Dean's honor list, are named to Who's Who, are elected officers of clubs and societies, edit publications, sing solos with the choir, or take lead parts in dramatic productions.

One spring day they graduate, garbed in black caps and gowns rented for the occasion. The degree is the bachelors for all and each student stands for a second before the same proud president who hands him the diploma. The "thank you" is uniformly sighed.

Commencement time is the beginning of life from a level college auditorium stage.

TOWER MEETS DEADLINES AND '59 PLANS MADE

Work on the 1958 Tower, official college yearbook of Stout state college, is progressing according to schedule. Many times during the past month, staff officers have journeyed to New Richmond to the Dairyland Press, the company which prints the yearbook.

Actual preparations for the publication of this year's yearbook are nearly completed. All pictures have been taken, and all copy has been written. Through the cooperative efforts of staff members, the Tower met its printing deadlines on March 1, March 15, and April 1. The Dairyland Press now is setting type and composing pages for the book. As soon as complete pages are set, page proofs are sent to the Tower staff. After correction and revisions of these proofs are made, the book is ready to be printed.

Preparations for the 1959 Tower are now beginning. Staff officers are being selected, and preliminary plans for the book are being drawn up. As one edition nears completion, another edition is begun.

TRI SIGMAS INITIATE VANEK INTO SORORITY

Alice D. Vanek, Tri Sigma's former Patroness, was pledged to the Beta Pi chapter of the Tri Sigma Sorority on Thursday, March 27. She will become a faculty sponsor as a member of the alumnae group. A party was held after the pledge ceremony at which Mrs. Guy Salyer, Teaa Lentz, and Kay Kassel served punch and cookies with the Tri Sigma Theme. The Alumnae group, this time, decided they would "do the dishes".

Mrs. Vanek has been a clothing and millinery instructor here at Stout for five years. Other than her teaching career, she is married to a Menomonie dentist, and has four sons, and three grand daughters. Mrs. Vanek is active in community service and has previously directed many style shows in Menomonie. She loves the outdoors; being a skilled horse-woman for many years.

EICH HALL RESIDENTS SERENADE AT HOSPITAL

Once again, Monday evening, March 31, Eichelberger hall sang seasonal songs to the patients of Dunn County Hospital. This time several fellows from each of the Sig Tau, FOB, Phi Sig, and Chi Lambda fraternities supported the girls. Ten cars made up the caravan. The patients heard popular Easter and spring songs and Easter hymns. After that there was a party back at the dorm.

TWIN CITIES TOUR ENJOYED BY STOUTONIA

Tired, wet, but cheerful were the journalists of the Stoutonia staff as they returned from their annual field trip to the Minneapolis-Star and WCCO-TV.

Two very interesting tours were conducted through the Star and WCCO land. Many phases of television and newspaper publication were seen, first hand, for the first time by the staff members.

Before catching the bus back many chose to take side tours. This resulted in new shirts, socks, and hats for that long awaited Easter parade.

Everyone of the staff members wish to thank Mr. Whydowski, Stoutonia advisor, for his patience and trouble in planning this tour. We also wish to extend a sincere thank you to Mr. Raleigh Johnson, WCCO-TV; and the publicity department of the Minneapolis-Star.

ATTENTION

There will be no school on Friday, April 18, due to teachers convention. Classes will be excused at 5:20 on Thursday.

WEATHERBIRD

The bird has been watching the clouds in the western skies all week and this morning decided we might get some of the rain that has been plaguing the west coast.

"Cloudy, somewhat cooler, and rainy weather is in store for the week-end," he said. "Nothing serious; just some April showers."

"Drive carefully."

Shown looking over a press copy of last week's Stoutonia are the paper's next two leaders. From left to right are Bob Papas, editor, and Anne Thiel, associate editor.

Classes will be dismissed at noon today for the one week Easter vacation, and will convene again at 7:30 a.m., on Monday, April 14. The "400" will stop at the North Menomonie junction at 1:30 this afternoon. The streamliner will stop again Sunday evening, April 13.

One and two day reserve books may be checked out at the library between 7:15 and 11:45 a.m. today and returned on April 14, prior to 8:30 a.m.

If you are driving home today, remember—the life you save may be yours!

PALLAS ATHENE PLEDGES ALPHA PHI FRATERNITY

Last night, the members of the former Pallas Athene local sorority were pledged to Alpha Phi international fraternity. Initiation and installation of the Gamma Sigma chapter will take place late in May.

The evening featured a dinner served in the tea room at Bertha Tainter hall, followed by the pledging service. Members of Epsilon chapter at the University of Minnesota conducted the ceremony. They were assisted by Mrs. Jean Mug of Highland Park, Illinois, district governor, Mrs. Grace Waker of La Grange, Illinois, district alumnae chairman, Mrs. Carol Cobert of Evanston, Illinois, alumnae secretary of Alpha Phi, and Dr. Anne Marshall of Menomonie.

New officers of Gamma Sigma colony are president, Bo Brown; first vice-president, Mary Ann Parkel; second vice-president, Diane Davis; recording secretary, Cynthia Bauer; corresponding secretary, Sandra Sorenson; treasurer, Alice Schweizer; and Panhellenic representative, Rita Casey.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

For each of us, the four years of college life pass rapidly. Before we realize it, registration as freshmen has given way to graduation as seniors. During these years that have sped so quickly by, a time comes when we can actively participate no longer in the campus life. Ahead lies graduation with a college degree, one that has often been called, "the goal of all youth and the doorway to a world of opportunity." There will be fond nostalgia as we think back to the many, many activities and events of the past four years. However, we will probably remember as the most outstanding the last times we took part in campus life—the mad rushes for the elevator, the dinner dances, the basketball games, the club meetings, the woes of registration, the final exams, shops, labs, to mention a very few.

With this issue of THE STOUTONIA, one of these last times takes place. A new staff will take over the publication reigns. They have been chosen on the basis of their outstanding accomplishments and interests in the paper. We feel that we have chosen people who will conscientiously strive to make the college paper a useful service to the student body.

We, the retiring staff, would like to thank all those who have assisted us in carrying out our duties. We would also like to express our appreciation to Mr. Lloyd Whydowski, our advisor, and to Mr. Paul Axelsen, of the printing department, for their time and advice in making our service possible.

To the new staff—good luck! You are assuming positions we are reluctant to leave, but we depart knowing that you will work with the same conscientiousness and enthusiasm that we have.

CLUB NEWS

The new officers for the coming year were elected by the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity at their meeting held last Thursday evening, March 27, at 7 p.m. in the Sig Tau house. Those officers elected were: Donald Hoffman, president; Gerald Porter, vice-president; Kenneth Held, treasurer; Donald Stoddard, secretary; Hardy Iida, corresponding secretary; Dick Anderson, chaplain; Dave Meilahn, historian; and Bruce Olander, publicity director. The new officers were officially installed Thursday, April 3.

Officers for the coming school year were elected at Wesley Fellowship Sunday evening. The results of the elections are: Tom Wright, president; Roger Reuther, vice-president; Irma Thompson, secretary; Don Gibbons, treasurer; Deanna Howell and Katchen Kubitz, co-chairmen of food; Martha Bromley, worship; Jean Smith, motive; Louise Grant, state representative; Janice Smith, recreation; Ruth Brill, membership; Avalene Drake, missions; Charles Christianson, inter-religious council; Mavis Leonard and Myron Tubbs, co-chairmen of publicity; and Anne Thiel, World Christian Community chairman.

The cost supper was prepared by Jean Hintz, Ruth Brile, Jean Bogust, and Darlene Ling. Avalene Drake and Martha Bromley conducted the worship service.

Louise Grant and Tom Wright explained the coming conference in Milwaukee, the meeting at Whispering Pines, and the mock United Nations session of the Iowa Methodist students which they attended.

The regular MAP members went to the Cities last Tuesday, April 1, to see the musical The Most Happy Fella. They left Menomonie in individual cars at 5:30 p.m. and arrived in time to see the 8:30 performance at the Lyceum Theatre. All enjoyed the trip and are looking forward to more MAP adventures.

At the last ceremonial business meeting of Tri Sigma, the following newly-elected officers were installed: president, Ardelle Dregne; vice president, Mikki Ruhland; secretary, Mary Lou Strutzel; treasurer, Laura Kiel; corresponding secretary, Nancy Feuerstein; and keeper of the grades, Joan Hobbick.

Discussion of dates for pledge initiation, officers training in school, and the spring lawn party at Miss William's were the main order of business.

After the March 27 meeting, members dressed in their traditional white attended the pledging of our former patroness, Mrs. Alyce D. Vanek, who upon her initiation on April 16 will become one of the sorority advisors. After pledging, refreshments were served in Harvey memorial.

Fellowship, worship service, and cost supper were the highlights of the joint L.S.A. meeting with Eau Claire state. Ardala Littlefield was in charge of the worship service. A panel, "The Christian's Place in Society," was conducted by Ron Bergmann, Carol Bibby, Janet Crook, and Barb Wallen.

A number of the Stout students first attended the afternoon concert of the Viking men's chorus from St. Olaf college.

L.S.A. members are looking forward to the spring retreat to be held May 2, 3, and 4 with L.S.A. members from Eau Claire and River Falls.

Browsing about Stout

... with Joannie Bluedevil

I'm really getting to be quite a roamer with all my contacts around Stout, but this week I've traveled farther to tell you a few tidbits from other campuses.

Mid-term tests are known the U.S. over. In North Carolina, to the question "Were you scared before the exam?" you'd receive a casual "Is Kim Novak a girl?"

Scorching letters may arrive to girls on any campus by burning them with an iron or match signifying "Hot News" inside.

Along with the singe, is a new endearing twist. . . on letters to girls, boys add a phrase above the address so that it reads like this:

Oh, How I
Miss Sue Jones
64 Middlefield Rd. etc., etc.

R.L.H.T.I.C.M. on the envelope of school stationery means that letter to your folks is long overdue—the initials mean: "Rush Like Heck This Is College Mail."

"That takes the plaid rabbit!" is a Maryland phrase for the ridiculous or totally absurd. . . In Nebraska "Marvin" means Romeo—no one knows why. "The rare disease" means you haven't had a date for ages.

"Draped" Bermudas are a copy from boys' fashions in North Carolina—girls "Drape" or "peg" regular shorts by taking them in so they fit tight to the leg.

If a thing leaves you cold in Connecticut it "locks hair". . . you're "bald" if you're out of money on Long Island

...while a really good party in Michigan is a "hairy blast."

"Germ warfare" is Indianaese for a kiss. . . on Southwest campuses big wheels are called "stones."

One of the latest insults around Stout is "Your mother must have bought you with green stamps!"

Those new necklaces with a single pearl that threaten to replace long-favorite multi-pearl ropes are known as "lazy oysters" in St. Louis, Mo.

The Colorado way to say a couple going steady is "They're piled!" If you're extremely Ivy League, they'll say you've "joined the Vine Squad." You feel "Fringed" when you're left out of something. . . If he's trying too hard to win friends and influence people, Texans say that he's "in PR"—you know, public relation.

No matter what is said or how it is said, you can "dig" some people some of the time, but you can't "dig" everyone all the time.

TEACHING JOBS AVAILABLE FOR 50 COLLEGES

Wisconsin young people have a choice of 50 institutions within the state if they wish to become teachers. All 50 prepare teachers who are recognized by the State Department of Public Instruction.

In rural education the 22 county teachers colleges offer a two-year course. Similar two-year programs are offered at eight of the state colleges and at Marian college in Fond du lac.

Kindergarten teachers are trained at all of the state institutions (except Stout and the Platteville Institute) and at Alverno, Cardinal Stritch, Carroll, Marquette University, Milwaukee-Downer, and Edgewood.

Elementary teachers may receive training at eight of the state colleges, the university, and at the following private schools: Alverno, Beloit, Cardinal Stritch, Carroll, Lakeland, Law-Edgewood, Marian, Marquette, Milwaukee-Downer, Mount Mary, St. Norbert, and Viterbo.

High school teachers may choose any one of the state colleges (excluding the Platteville Institute), the university, or one of the following private institutions: Alverno, Beloit, Cardinal Stritch, Carroll, Lakeand, Lawrence, Marquette, Milton, Milwaukee-Downer, Mount Mary, Northland, Ripon, St. Norbert, or Viterbo.

All colleges do not offer all courses for teachers. For instance, home economics is offered as a major at only eight institutions, the university, Stout, Stevens Point, Alverno, Cardinal Stritch, Milwaukee-Downer, Mount Mary, and Viterbo.

NORTHERN WIS. TOUR TAKEN BY STOUT SINGERS

The Stout Symphonic Singers will appear on tour again this season. The group, directed by Dr. Edfield Odegard, consists of a choir, a band, and a choir with band accompaniment. The tour will cover most of northern Wisconsin, and the group will return to Stout for an evening concert on Wednesday, April 23. The students, all of Stout, are busily preparing numbers for the varied program and making arrangements for the trip.

Your SSA Reporting

The new SSA president, Bill McKinnon, opened the governing board meeting last Tuesday evening.

The Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity sent a representative to ask the board for a franchise for a talent night to be held sometime before the Christmas vacation of each year. The board asked for a more detailed plan to be presented before considering the request.

Wednesday, May 8, will be the date for the senior frolic this year.

The record committee plans to investigate our need for a new record player. The one that is presently in use has proved unsatisfactory lately.

The board's most important work of the evening was to narrow down the list of candidates for governing board representatives. Four candidates from each class were chosen. They are as follows:

Juniors: Dick Anderson, John Kasten, Marlys Pettis, Gregory Trezbiatowski.

Sophomores: Rita Anderson, Dorothy Grundmann, Carol Hoppe, Dave McNaughton.

GRAPPLERS END SEASON WITH A.A.U. TOURNEY

Last week end brought to a close the first season of varsity wrestling on the Stout campus, with two men winning state honors.

The Bluedevils' grapplers entered 6 men in the state AAU tournament at Marquette; they were: Dick Anderson in the 128 pound division, Ken Berndt and Al Finnel, 167 pound division, Dick Tepp 177 pound, and Roy Kickey and Bob Raczek in the 191 pound division.

Dick Anderson and Bib Raczek won the honors for Stout, placing 2nd and 4th respectively in their divisions.

In the grapplers first season, they only wrestled in three dual meets, winning one. Their season scores were, Winona 33, Stout 3; Winona 23, Stout 13; and River Falls 0, Stout 39.

In addition to this, the squad entered four tournaments: The Stevens Point invitational, Wisconsin Collegiate at Madison, The National Intercollegiate at Mankato, and the AAU tournament held last week end.

A tentative wrestling schedule has already been set up for the 1958-59 season. It will include approximately 13 matches with Winona, River Falls, Stevens Point, Loras, Wisconsin, and St. Cloud.

"I was very much satisfied with the competitive spirit shown by the men this year," commented grappler coach Dick Tepp. "Next year with 9 out of 10 coming back, and our expanded schedule, Stout will have the potential and experience it lacked, thus we are looking forward to a very good 1958-59 season."

Members of this year's squad and their weight division are:

120 Gerald Kellam
126 Dick Neverdahl*
128 Bill Anderson
145 Jack O'Reilly

165 Ken Berndt and Al Finnel

KIETH MOESSNER WINS ALL STATE BASKETBALL HONORS; WSCC VOTES TO ACCEPT NEW RULINGS

Keith Moessner, forward on Stout's basketball squad, was recently named to the Northern division of the all conference team of the Wisconsin state college conference.

Moessner is a sophomore on the squad, and is looking forward to two more years of competition.

Members chosen to the all star team included: Dale Schroeder, junior from Platteville; Ralph Smedena, senior, Platteville; Gerald Krischke, senior, Platteville; Keith Moessner, sophomore, Stout; Tom Kneusel, junior, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee; La Verne Luebster, junior, Stevens Point; Ed Winiarski, senior, La Crosse; Jack Evens, junior, Superior; Leon Etten, junior, Eau Claire, and Robert Morgan, senior, also of Eau Claire.

At the same meeting of the Wisconsin state college coaches and athletic directors, it was voted to follow the recent NCAA rule for changes affecting points after touchdowns. With this new rule, a team can earn two points from the two yard line, and one point by kicking as has previously been done. The group also took action to stop misconduct by coaches, players, and students at intercollegiate basketball and football games.

This action came as a result of a walk out of one of the Wisconsin State College conference teams in a basketball game this past season.

DEANNA GRZYBOWSKI AND BOB GUSSEL TO REIGN AT STOUT'S 'MAGIC MOMENTS' FROM APRIL 26

Deanna Grzybowski, a pert, vivacious junior coed, will reign as queen of the 1958 junior prom. This pretty young miss, who also was freshman formal queen in 1956, hails from Weyerhaeuser, Wisconsin. The king, Bob Gussel, who is junior class president, will crown her at the dance on the evening of April 26. The other junior class officers and their dates will form the court.

"Magic Moments" is the theme of the junior prom which will be held in the high school gymnasium on April 26. This year's prom will feature two orchestras--Larry Woodbury and his orchestra and The Rhythmaires. They will furnish music for continuous dancing from 8 p.m. to 12 p.m.

Many junior class members have been working hard to make arrangements for this event. Chairman of the committees are: decorations, Ken Pickie and Bo Brown; programs, Richard Popp and Opal Burton; lighting, Roger Brennan; tickets, Don Gibbons; lunch, Deanna Grzybowski; clean-up, John Kasten; and publicity, Jim Schnitzler.

Tickets can be purchased in Harvey Hall for $2.00 per couple.

TOWERS TO BE DISTRIBUTED NEAR MAY 26

The Tower staff announced early this week that Stout students may expect to receive their copies of this year's yearbook during the week of May 26.

No definite date has yet been set, but students will receive notices in their mail boxes as to when and where they may be picked up.

The staff also chose a new managing crew for next year's book. Pat Soldner will move up from her associate editor position to relieve Rich Vogtsberger as editor, and "Minnie" Claseman will take over Pat's old position. Jean Owen will replace Ellwyn Hendrickson as literary editor, Tom Murray relieves Jim Kogler as production editor, and Dick Kveton will assume Loren Johnson's responsibilities as business manager. Tom Pagel and Tom Munro will hold their same positions as assistant literary editors.

COMMENDING RETIRING STAFF ...

This week's Stoutonia represents a new venture for its staff, as the retiring editors have stepped aside and let a new managing crew take over.

Assuming the task of editor is a new one for me. As this issue went to press, even though it was only two pages due to the short week, I could see the work which the retiring editor, Bill Erpenbach, has gone through in the past year to bring you a fine newspaper.

The Stoutonia staff, particularly the editor, receives quite a bit of complaining, and kidding as to how the paper is being managed, and yet, let one Friday go by without a paper, and listen to the howling. Bill has gone through two long years of this, one as associate editor, and one as editor. As the one honored to be chosen to attempt to fill his shoes, I wish to commend him, and will do my utmost to carry on his fine traditions as to what the Stoutonia should do for the school.

Special commendation is also due to Harry Munn for his fine work as Associate editor. Harry took over the position at the turn of the first quarter, and has given it up only because he is undecided as to his future plans.

As your new editor, I wish to request your help in making the Stoutonia the type of paper you want to read. If you have any complaints, suggestions, or commendations, please feel free to come and see me, or drop a note in the Stoutonia mail box.

Here's hoping that this coming year will prove as successful for your newspaper as it has the past year, and that I may carry on in as fine a manner as has been set for me.

MOVIE AND HYPNOTIST END YEAR'S PROGRAMS

Both of the programs remaining for this school year have had good national publicity.

The movie, "Robinson Crusoe," which is to be shown on April 25, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium, stars the handsome young Irishman, Dan O'Herlihy. He won an Oscar nomination for the "best acting award of 1954" for his performance in this movie. He has recently made news. By waiting for a suitable movie in which he might appear without his beard. . . and he is playing a lead in "Home Before Dark." He is mentioned as "Handsome Dan" in a recent review entitled "Actor Feels Sharp Over Shedding Beard" by Erskine Johnson.

The movie "Robinson Crusoe" is one of the film classics, based on Daniel Defoe's immortal story. It tells of Crusoe as he is cast up on a deserted island, after a shipwreck. His efforts to provide shelter, to plant crops, his meeting with the cannibals, his rescue on Friday, and his eventual return to England provide an excellent adventure tale.

Mr. (not "Doctor"!) as he points out, Edwin L. Baron has received a good deal of publicity for some of his hypnotic acts. He appeared here several years ago. This appearance will be for a convocation on Wednesday, April 23, at 9:30 a.m. It will provide a lecture-demonstration type of audience participation show, in which he will demonstrate the hypnosis of volunteers from the audience. He points out the "subjects" sometimes proceed very seriously to do a series of stunts, such as watching imaginary movies or brushing ants off their clothes. He prefaces his demonstration with a statement that no one can be hypnotized against his will and that while under the influences of hypnosis they cannot be forced to do anything that would offend their religious or moral characters.

With these two very interesting programs, the Assembly-Lyceum committee brings to a close a year of activity which has included for convocations, The American Male Quartet, Carl Mose, an artist with his excellent lecture-demonstration on sculpture, Mario Braggiotti, a humorous pianist, an illustrated lecture on a South Pacific island by Colonel Maahs, two Disney films, the "Olympic Elk" and "Seal Island," and for lyceums the gay "Tamburitzans," to the more serious music of Edmond Karlsrud, the University of Minnesota Touring Theatre in "Taming of the Shrew," the Mitchell-Ruff instrumental duo and the "Four Preps" and the Jimmy Featherstone band in a concert and dance program.

The Committee which is composed of students and faculty, is busy now with plans for the coming year. It will attempt to bring to the student body another combination of programs for their education and pleasure.

The attention of all dieticians in this area is called to the forthcoming 1958 spring conference of the Wisconsin Dietetic association, to be held in Madison April 18-19. Participating in the conference from Stout State College will be Miss Frieda Kube, assistant professor of home economics, and Miss Dorothy Knutson, instructor of home economics, both specializing in food and nutrition.

A variety of talks and discussions is planned, including emphasis on the role of the dietician in such matters as allergy and also civil defense. A number of noted speakers will address conference participants.

When Jean Smith, Wisconsin's outstanding 4-H girl was named as a National Achievement Award winner, she was congratulated by D. F. Barich, formerly assistant manager of Educational affairs for Ford Motor Co. and newly-named president of the Detroit Institute of Technology. The award was made at the 36th annual National 4-H Club Congress. President Barich is a Stout graduate.

Spring Has Sprung

What is Wisconsin's outstanding 4-H girl doing now?

Well, that young lady is Miss Jean Smith of Manitowoc. And she's attending Stout state college here, majoring in home economics to prepare herself to contribute in the future to 4-H work and to rural home life.

Jean's goals may sound a bit serious for a vivacious college freshman. However, she is doing very well for herself—both scholastically and socially.

"I missed being named to Stout's first semester honor roll by only one half a grade point," Jean frets. "But I'll make it sooner or later," she says determinedly.

It didn't take long for Jean to get in the swing of college life. Early in the year the girls elected her secretary of their residence hall. Since then she has become a member of the Home Economics club, Wesley Student Fellowship, and college 4-H club.

Whenever she's talking about the Stout 4-H club, Jean is really enthusiastic. "It's a very good way for me to keep in contact with my 4-H work while I'm away from my local club," she claims.

Jean came to Stout with little worry about the clothing classes in the curriculum because she has always been interested in all phases of clothing. However, her foods classes were another matter.

"I never did claim to be an expert cook," she laughs, "but now after a semester of food training here, even my brothers wouldn't complain about my cooking."

Then there is the social side of college life to provide a change of pace from Jean's studies. "I seem to have my share of escorts," she admits shyly. "And there's still a lot of potential in the college stag line."

Jean's leadership qualities which won her this year's state 4-H award and also the National Achievement Award for girls are not being lost. Throughout her busy days at college, she never forgets the Wisconsin 4-H organization which provided her with the opportunity for youthful leadership:

"It was in 4-H work and with rural people that I got my start," Jean Smith says seriously. "And it is to that field of work that I someday plan to return."

SYNCHRONIZED SWIM SHOW IS RE-SCHEDULED

According to the school calendar, the annual Synchronized Swimming Show is scheduled for April 17-19. Because of the long weekend coming up, this date has been changed to May 1st and 2nd.

"Moonlight Swim" is the theme of the show this year. For those who have never attended a synchronized swimming show before, there is enough swimming, diving, humor and good music to interest everyone.

FALL COLLEGE ENROLLMENTS TO INCREASE

It's not too early to enroll for college next fall. In a few cases it may already be too late.

Restricted admissions at some private schools and a shortage of dormitory space were being felt in April, five months before the fall term begins. The state colleges report freshman admissions for the fall are running 12 to 40 per cent higher than last year at this time. At La Crosse 258 freshmen had enrolled by April 1, compared to a total freshman class last fall of 590.

No more reservations for a room in the girls' dormitory are being accepted at the college at Whitewater. The dorm is full with a waiting list of girls ready to take any room not occupied at the last minute. College officials report an 18 per cent increase in freshman admissions over last year.

At Oshkosh, freshman admissions are running more than 40 % higher than a year ago. The college registrar expects a freshman class of close to 600 students in the fall and 221 "early birds" were enrolled on April 1.

A monthly report of early admissions is being requested by College Director Eugene R. McPhee. "We don't like to be surprised by a huge enrollment in September," McPhee said. "It is extremely helpful to anticipate a big increase a few months in advance so that classroom and laboratory space, class schedules, teachers, and housing arrangements can be prepared for the wave."

Early indications are that another increase is coming for the state colleges in the fall. Present enrollment predictions are for a total student body at the 10 schools of approximately 13,000.

ANNUAL JUNIOR PROM TO BE HELD IN THE HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM TOMORROW NIGHT

Menomonie high school gym will be transformed into Cinderellaland for Stout's 1958 junior prom on Saturday evening, April 26. Continuous dancing will be from 8 to midnight to the music of the Larry Woodbury and Rhythm-aire orchestras.

The "Magic Moments" fairyland theme will be carried out with pink and white predominating the color scheme. One end of the gym will feature a castle surrounded by an aluminum foil moat. King Bob Gussel will crown his charming queen, Deanna Grzybowski, in the doorway of the royal castle.

Pastel rainbow colored cheesecloth will drape the walls and will also be background for glittery magic wands. A cascading waterfall will also be part of the decorations.

A pumpkin coach drawn by horses will be featured in the decorations. Punch is to be served from this fairyland coach.

Co-chairmen of the decorations committee are Bo Brown and Ken Dickie. Other committee chairmen for the prom are Richard Popp and Opal Burton, programs; Roger Brennan, lighting; Don Gibbons, tickets; Deanna Grzybowski, punch; Jim Schnitzler, publicity; and John Kasten, clean-up.

GRAPHIC ARTS CONFERENCE ON AUGUST 3 TO 8

Plans are now underway for the International Graphic Arts Convention to be held on the Stout campus, August 3-8. Mr. Whydowski, chairman of the event, announces that the program this year will stress offset lithography.

Leaders in the fields of presses, camera and plate making will lead the sectional meetings being planned. Ample time is being allowed for an active participation on equipment by those attending.

Members will be housed in the Bertha Tainter dormitory with meals being served in the cafeteria. The Stout administration has set up special rates for those staying in the dorm. Adults double room and meals will cost $20.00 a piece. Single rooms and meals $22.50. Children are also included in the special rates. For two in one room or one child on cot in parent's room, the cost will be $15.00. The meals will be served starting Sunday night and through the conference. Rooms in the dormitory will be assigned on first come, first served basis, so Mr. Whydowski recommends getting the advanced registration in as soon as possible.

Accommodations for additional housing will be provided in the trailer camp for those bringing house trailers. Camping facilities with bath facilities will also be offered for those wishing to camp out.

The conference will start Sunday evening, August 3, with a worship service followed by a reception with coffee and snacks for President Howard Massman. Late afternoons and evenings are to be times of fun and relaxation. Family and adult parties are being planned every evening in the lounge of Bertha Tainter hall.

For further information on registration, etc., interested persons should write Samuel M. Burt, IGAA; 5728 Connecticut Avenue; Washington 15, D.C. or Lloyd Whydowski, Stout state college, Menomonie, Wisconsin.

MARY SPANGLER NAMED AS H.E.C. LAMPLIGHTER

Mary Ann Spangler was named a Lamplighter at a recent Home Economics club council meeting. This recognition award is for Home Ec. club members who have taken an active part in club activities.

Mary Ann, a senior majoring in home economics education, has worked on both publicity and program committees. She has served as chairman of decorations for the Green Tea and Senior Breakfast. Working at Home Ec. club sponsored teas has kept Mary Ann busy, too.

Around the campus, Mary Ann participates in WRA and Newman club. Last year, she won the girl's ski sweater for winning events at Winter Carnival.

When asked about future plans, Mary Ann stated that she'd like to teach in a school system that has an active FHA chapter.

Any member of the club with a "C" average may be nominated for the award. The title of Lamplighter came from the symbol of the club, the Betty Lamp. The Betty Lamp stands for high courage, spiritual resourcefulness, living faith, and action.

DELEGATES ATTEND WHEA CONVENTION

Six delegates: Opal Burton, Joanne Hanson, Jeanine Larson, Beverly Madson, and Eileen Sievert, will attend the spring meeting of the Wisconsin Home Economics Association at Green Lake, Wisconsin, this week end, April 25-26.

Featured speakers will be Nyla Bock (B.S. 195, Stout), and presently Outagamie County Home Agent, who was an IFYE to Finland; Julie Brogan, who is home economist "Jean Allen" for the Kroger Food Foundation; and Dr. Robert Zack of Monroe Clinic, Monroe, Wisconsin.

BILL GEISERT CATCHES RARE FISH IN FLORIDA

What started out as an Easter vacation in Florida ended with a little excitement for Bill Geisert along with his traveling companions Jim Bolm, Dick Brehm, Dick Johnson and Rich Vogtsberger.

Like all the other Stout vacationers who headed for Florida, the fellows planned to take in fishing while enjoying the Florida sunshine. Deep sea fishing in a chartered deep sea fishing boat highlighted the whole trip.

The hero of it all was Bill Geisert. Bill caught a sixty-one pound, seven foot one inch white marlin. This is very rare because it was only the third one caught from Ft. Lauderdale since October. It took him approximately thirty to thirty-five minutes to land it. There are fifty blue marlin caught for every white one.

Following the great catch the publicity began. Papers in Ft. Lauderdale and the Miami Herald featured articles about the catch. The fellows and the captain of the ship were also interviewed on the Ft. Lauderdale radio station.

CHURCH GROUPS PARTICIPATE IN SPRING MEETS

Last week end found two Stout religious organizations, Gamma Delta and Wesley foundation, participating in state conventions at Milwaukee.

The Gamma Delta workshop began with registration on Friday. A number of discussions and lectures based on the theme "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" highlighted the week end.

Dr. A. R. Kretzmann, pastor of St. Luke Lutheran church, Chicago, Illinois and Prof. H. G. Mayer from Concordia college, Milwaukee, were the guest speakers on Saturday.

One of the main discussion in the interest groups was on reaching the unchurched student. A banquet was held Saturday night followed by Bible study and church on Sunday morning.

Wesley representatives partook in the spring conference of the Wisconsin Methodist Student Movement held at Kenwood church.

The conference was centered around the question "What In the World?" Rev. Claude Singleton, student secretary of the Methodist Board of Missions and director of MSM work camps, was the main speaker. Other speakers were Rev. Rodney Shaw, Congressman Henry S. Reuss, Lawrence Giest and McClure McCombs. The students held interest groups with these speakers and others.

Louise Grant, junior at Stout, was elected vice president of the state MSM. Free time was spent sightseeing in Milwaukee.

CHOITZ, GRUNDMANN, WENNER, McNAUGHTON, TRZEBIATOWSKI, AND PETTIS WIN IN ELECTION

With only 385 out of 1130, or 34% of the student body voting, six new members were elected to the governing board last Wednesday.

Also voted on and passed at the same time was the change in the constitution allowing second semester freshmen to have a voting seat on governing board. Actual vote was 373 for, and 5 against.

Chosen to represent next year's sophomore class on the governing board were Pat Choitz from River Forest, Illinois, and Pat Wenner from Rice Lake.

The future junior class selected Dorothy Grundmann, Waukesha, and Dave McNaughton from Eau Galle.

The senior class of 1959 selected Marlys Pettis, Hector, Minnesota, and Gregory Trzebiatowski of Almond to do their bidding on the board.

"PICNIC TIME" THEME OF 1958 WATER PAGEANT

"Picnic Time" will be the theme of the 1958 water pageant next Thursday and Friday nights, May 1 and 2. This event is being sponsored by the Synchronized Swimmers.

The performances will start at 8:00 p.m. in the Stout swimming pool. Admission will be 50¢ per person. Tickets may be purchased from any member beginning next Monday and continuing through Friday.

Jane Clapp wrote the show and is directing it along with Betty Shultz.

Publicity is being handled by Avis Cahill and Skippy Williams. Don Test and Frank Zaboij will have supervision of the properties and the supplies. Tickets are being taken care of by Al Finnell and Joe Jajtner will be in charge of the lighting.

MELROSE JOINS FACULTY TO ASSIST GERLACH

Robert Melrose, former Menomonie high school football coach, resigned to become an instructor and assistant grid coach at Stout last week.

Melrose, 33, joined the Menomonie high faculty in 1954, and served as assistant basketball and football coach and history teacher. He was named head football coach when Warren Bowlus resigned to accept a position in West Bend.

After completion of summer school, Melrose will have his master's degree from the University of Minnesota. He is a graduate of Menomonie high and Eau Claire state college. Before coming to teach at Menomonie, he served with the Air Force and taught at Bruce for four years.

Melrose will become assistant to Coach Joe Gerlach and in all probability he will work with the line, the same function he had at Menomonie high school where he compiled an outstanding record.

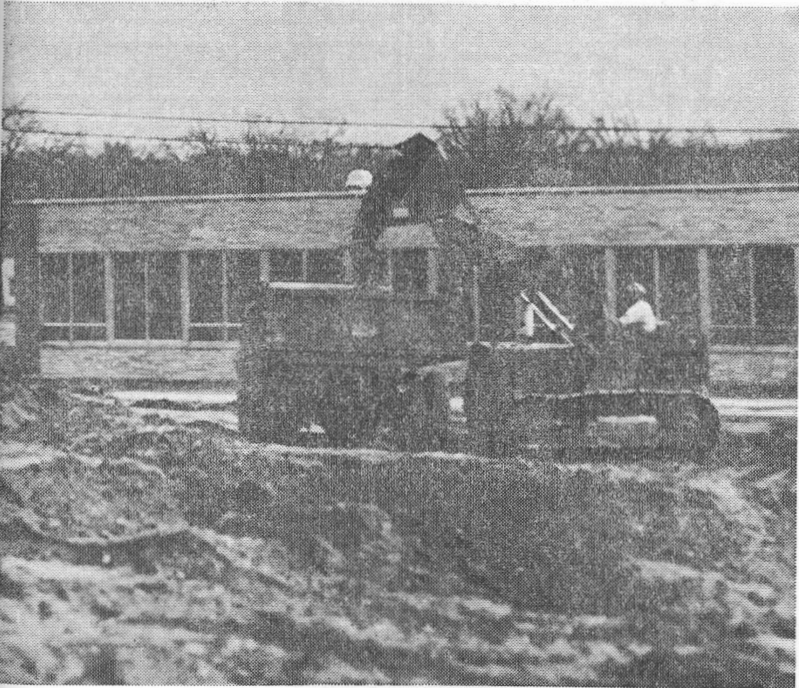

ATTENTION

Due to a technicality, there will be no Stoutonia published next week. It seems there will be no printers available to print the paper.

The Stout typographical society is taking its annual three day field trip, and the production staff of the paper will be gone.

Turning the first spade of dirt for the new student union at Stout state college is William McKis on Neenab, president of the Stout student association. Watching, left to right, are Dr. Ralph Iverson, M. M. Price, Kenneth Antrim, and President Verne C. Fryklund, all of the college administration, together with Stephen Playter, the architect, and R. L. Pierce of the Board of Regents of State Colleges. The two-story $525,000 structure should be ready next spring.

Workmen began clearing ground for the new student union late last week. Along with the clearing of land, came the tearing down of the old "Aggie" school.

Members of the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity go through their clothes testing for smoke after the recent fire in their house. Residents were forced to find living accommodations in private homes elsewhere in Menomonie.

FIRE DESTROYS PHI SIG HOUSE LAST THURSDAY

Fire of undetermined origin broke out and destroyed the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity house late last Thursday evening. Nineteen of the twenty-one resident members of the fraternity were not at home when the fire was discovered. Rick Steckel, Phi Sigma Epsilon president, discovered the blaze and summoned the Menomonie fire department to the scene. He also awakened Rich Dirschel, a Phi Sig member, who was asleep upstairs.
The Menomonie fire department arrived shortly after they were called and confined fire damage to the top story of the house. Forty-four thousand gallons of water were pumped on the blaze. The lower floors were soaked by the water and were rendered untenable because of loose and falling plaster.

Temporary quarters for the men of Omega Chapter, Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity, were set up in the "old" National Tea Company building on Main Street until more adequate facilities could be provided. At present, the men have secured new rooms and are busily setting about the ask of sorting and reclaiming personal property.

Most of the fire in the Phi Sig house was confined to this upper portion of the house.

NEWS OF OUR ALUMNI

A Stout state college alumnus, Orville W. Neson, has been granted his master of arts degree by the University of Minnesota during commencement exercises in Minneapolis at the end of the spring quarter.

Nelson, an outstanding student at Stout and letter winner for several years in football, completed his bachelor of science here in June, 1956.

Mrs. William S. Taylor (nee Elizabeth Christopherson, B.S. 1935), is teaching home economics at Onalaska high school in Onalaska, Wisconsin. Her address is Galesville, Wisconsin.

Director of standards and quality control for the Continental Machine Inc. is Harley F. Wehrwein. Harley, (B.S. 1941), lives at 311 E. Shakopee Ave., Shakopee, Minnesota.

It's a son for Mr. and Mrs. Alan Voigt (nee Janie West, B.S. 1956.) Tim Alan was born April 12, 1958. Janice taught at Lincoln high school, Alma Center, Wisconsin, before her marriage on June 7, 1957.

Bert O. Boetcher, who lives at 1465 Cleveland Avenue, Waukesha, Wisconsin, is supervising teacher at the Wisconsin School for Boys at Waukesha. He graduated from Stout in 1950.

MIXED IDEAS PREVAIL ON HIGHER EDUCATION

Most of the young men who could make a success of college are in the upper half of their high school graduating class. Of these upper-half men, 64 per cent plan to go to college and 36 per cent plan to get a job.

The figures come from a study of a representative sampling of Wisconsin high school graduates last spring, reported in April to the Co-ordinating Committee for Higher Education.

Fathers of the upper-half graduates who were going to college were most often professional men, executives, businessmen, or office workers, of whom 86 per cent had graduated from high school; 27 per cent from college. The young men who were job hunting in preference to registering for college had fathers who were most often farmers or factory workers. The fathers had not attended high school (57%) and only four per cent were college graduates.

Parents wanted their sons to go to college 95 per cent of the time among the college-aimed group. Among the job hunters 55 per cent of the parents didn't care whether junior went to college and another nine per cent were actively opposed.

Family income was reported "above average" twice as often among the college goers as among the job-seekers. Eight out of 10 of the men heading for college said that their parents could afford to send them. Only half of the parents of sons looking for jobs could afford to pay for college.

Said the college going men, "We wouldn't be satisfied to stay at our present level of knowledge."

Said the job hunting men, "Success in life depends more on ability and effort than on education."

The luggage-laden husband stared miserably down the platform at the departing train. "If you hadn't taken so long getting ready," he admonished his wife, "we would have caught it."

"Yes," the little woman rejoined, "and if you hadn't hurried me so, we wouldn't have so long to wait for the next one."

K. L. Rue, Stout state college, has been selected as a participant in the second annual Summer Institute for Teachers of Science and Mathematics at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, June 30 to August 9, 1958.

The institute will be attended by 63 teachers, which have been selected from all parts of the United States.

This institute will be one of 99 summer institutions for teachers sponsored by the National Science Foundation in 1958.

The major objective of the institute is to bring to teachers of physics, chemistry and mathematics a better understanding of old and new concepts in the subjects which they teach.

The expenses of each participant are provided through the approximately $60,000 grant to Ohio university by the National Science foundation.

BLUEDEVILS LOSE OPENING THREE GAMES

On April 16, the Stout Bluedevils traveled to St. Paul to play the Pipers from Hamline in a single contest. Final score was Hamline 3, Stout 1.

The Pipers crossed the plate in the 4th, 5th, and 6th innings. Their first mark came on a base hit, a walk, a fielder's choice, and two errors. The fifth frame found two bases on balls, followed by two errors and a sacrifice fly. Their last score in the sixth stanza came on two bases on balls, an error and a fielder's choice.

Stout gained their only mark in the sixth when an error, a fielder's choice and a single by Stan Hilgendorf put Lundmark across the plate.

Ron Nelson pitched the first six frames and was charged with the loss. Webb finished the contest, striking out four of the six men he faced.

Final statistics were: Hamline, 3 runs on 1 hit and 1 error, and Stout, 1 run on 3 hits and 4 errors.

April 22nd, the Bluedevils played the Peds from Winona, Minnesota, in a double header at Spring Valley. The first game found Winona overwhelming Stout, running up totals of 12 runs, 10 hits and two errors, as compared to one run, five hits and four errors for Stout. In the second game, the baseballers came back slightly, being outscored 15-7.

The first game found the Peds gaining two runs in the 1st, three more in the 3rd, five in the 5th and clinching the contest with three more in the 6th. Nelson went the first six innings and was charged with his second loss of the season; Kelton relieved in the last frame. Hejny was safe on an error, went to second on a wild pitch, advanced on an infield out and scored Stout's only marker on an error. Winona had four extra base hits.

The second contest found Palbriek picking-up the win for Winona and Webb given credit for the loss. Stout countered with two in the 3rd, one in the 5th, three in the 6th and one in the last frame. Bright spots found Webb with three for three and Helgendorf two for five with three RBI's.

RIFLE CLUB

The Stout Rifle club will sponsor an intramural shoot again this year. There will be two areas open: 22-calibre and trap shooting.

In the 22 calibre-area ammunition and targets will be furnished by the athletic department, rifles by the members wishing to participate. In trap shooting, entrants will furnish own shotgun, own ammunition, and the clay pigeons will be furnished by the athletic department.

Awards will be given to the top three men and the top three women in each area. All interested personnel sign up on the bulletin board outside the athletic office.

STOUT BASEBALLERS TO FACE EAU CLAIRE AND RIVER FALLS; OPEN CONFERENCE SEASON MONDAY

EAU CLAIRE

Monday, May 5th, the Stout diamondmen journey to Eau Claire for a two game series with the Bugolds. Last year Eau Claire was the Northern division champion with one of the better combinations seen for many years in this league.

Monday's encounter will be the first for the Bugolds this season. With their ace moundsman, Jordan, and the league's outstanding catcher, Alexander, back for the number one battery, plus the outstanding crop of yearlings pushing last year's varsity, Eau Claire is expected to retain its crown.

Coach Joe Gerlach will go with the tentative lineup of Hilgendorf in RF, Feyereisen in center, Bredesen at 3rd, Sands opening in LF, Harke at the keystone, Kazluskus and Hejny filling out the infield. Battery for the first contest will have Ron Nelson (0-2) on the mound and Hills behind the plate; for the second encounter Webb will fire and Hickey or Smith will receive.

RIVER FALLS

May 3rd, the Stout Bluedevils will travel to River Falls for their 3rd and 4th conference games of the 1958 season. Last year the Bluedevils dropped both ends of a double header to the Falcons, 5 to 1 and 3 to 0. River Falls coach Don Page has 11 lettermen, five of which are regulars from last year's team, upon which to build. Last year the Falcons mustered a .727 season.

Last year River Falls fielded one of the sharpest infields in the league, and with only the first basemen lost through graduation, it is expected to be a strong defensive unit.

Macalester dropped four straight games to the Falcons and the first seven starts were victories. This leaves the Bluedevils with a hard day's work cut out for them.

Starting lineup for Stout:

RF, Stan Hilgendorf; CF, Feyereisen; LF, Jim Sands; 3rd, Arnold Bredesen; SS, Glenn Harke; 2nd, Fritz Kazluskus; 1st, Wayne Hejny; Battery for first game: Ron Nelson and Bill Hills. (Nelson 0-2). Second game, Webb and Hickey or Smith, (Webb 0-1).

On May 6th, Stout will play host to St. Cloud.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR WINS SCHOLARSHIP AT STOUT'S CRAFTSMAN FAIR ON THIS CAMPUS

Winning project among 47 industrial arts entries, representing 13 Wisconsin high schools competing in the Stout Craftsman's Fair just completed here on the campus of Stout state college, was that of Jerry Holubets, senior from Marshfield high school. Stout faculty members and students had an active part in arranging and judging the event.

Jerry was awarded a Stout scholarship for his detailed wood-carving rendition of two ducks, a project judged best entry by a high school senior. In best entry by a high school senior. In Jerry's absence at another school function, his instructor, M. L. Schutts, accepted the award from Dr. John A. Jarvis, dean of the school of Industrial Education at Stout, who presented the award for Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, Stout president. In addition to this award, Jerry also won first place in the 10-12 grade crafts division.

Judges and their respective project areas were as follows—crafts: Jack Sampson, general shop instructor at Stout, and Brian Kirby and Herman Potthast, both of Menomonie.

Woodworking division: K. T. Olson, associate professor of woodworking and carpentry at Stout, and Richard Beckman and Allen Johnson, Menomonie.

Drawing division: J. E. Ray, head of the department of drafting and professor of industrial education at Stout, and Ronald Holman and Walter Diedrick, Menomonie.

Metalworking division: Marvin M. Kufahl, instructor of sheet metal and foundry at Stout, Raymond Thurston, Dover, New Hampshire, and Bill Richter, Fond du Lac.

Should They Stay
Or Should They Go?

A pert, Stout state college coed from Baldwin, Wisconsin, is the secretary of the College club section of the Wisconsin Home Economics Association for next year. JoAnn Hanson was installed in this office at the WHEA convention which she, Opal Burton, Stout Home Economics club president, and Joanne Salm, Stout Home Economics club president-elect, attended April 26-27.

Being a state officer is not entirely new to JoAnn because she was state FHA public relations chairman while in high school. During her high school years, JoAnn also held several offices in her local FHA chapter, and was a representative on the student council.

At Stout, where she is an education major, JoAnn is a member of Home Economics club, choir, LSA and is assistant vice president of her sorority, Alpha Phi.

JoAnn has many other interests including sports, outdoor activities and 4-H. "I think 4-H is a good organization to start many kids out on the right foot from the beginning," she says. She knows too, because this is her tenth year of active 4-H club work.

JoAnn sums up her new job by saying, "I'm pleased with the secretary job, and I'm sure it will keep me plenty busy."

PUBLIC RELATIONS TAUGHT IN SUMMER

The attention of undergraduate students enrolled at Stout State college for a journalism minor, and of graduate students preparing themselves to accept additional responsibilities in the field of education, is being directed by Dr. Ray A. Wigen to the course, "Public Relations for Schools," to be offered this summer in order to meet the needs of persons in the aforementioned groups.

According to Dr. Wigen, the class has been placed in the 400 category and thus carries either undergraduate or graduate credit. The course is not scheduled at any set interval and is available only to meet specific student needs, as is the case this summer.

The content of "Public Relations for Schools" is based upon explanation of necessary journalistic and public relations techniques. Students then have opportunity for practical experience in the planning and carrying through of a public relations campaign.

The course, Dr. Wigen points out, is required for completion of Stout's sixteen hour journalism minor. Credit is equally applicable in the graduate program and is of value when master's degree graduates accept certain administrative responsibilities or seek to interpret the work of a school to its public.

NOTICE!

There will be a "Dutch Treats" demonstration by Carol Hawksworth in room 205, Harvey hall on Tuesday, May 13, at 3:30.

King Bob Gussel places the crown on Queen Deanna Grzybowski as crown bearer Andy Axelsen and flower girl Margaret Melrose look on. Ceremonies took place at the Junior Prom held April 26.

ON CHEMISE DRESSES. . .

Since the time of Eve, it has been the utmost goal of women to please men. Through the ages, history has proven that the female would do her best to bring a gleam into the eye of a member of the opposite sex. This is evident in such things as lipstick, rouge, eye make-up and other means of making her beautiful.

Trends seem to have changed, however, as women no longer have men in mind when they think of their fashions. On what fact do I base this opinion? It's simple—it is the new fashion that has men grimacing at the sight of CHEMISES.

Not only is this a nation-wide opinion of men, but even of the men at Stout. In a small scale poll, taken by me recently, I found that better than 80% of the students in Lynwood hall detested this new fashion.

The question asked was simply, "Do you like or dislike chemise dresses?" The answers received were fairly strong such as, "ugh," "horrible," "Hides the true beauty of women," and numerous others.

What do the women think of these? Well, men, I'm afraid its hopeless, they like them, and don't care what we think. Not all women share this opinion however, as Abigail Van Buren, syndicated columnist, recently said: "Women should dress to please men."

What can we, the poor men do? Friends, the answer is nothing. The women are set in their ways. No matter what we do or say they are going to wear what they feel like wearing.

So the next time you see a coed walking down the street with a Bemis bag on, an inverted flower pot over her head, and blue legs, (another new fad of colored nylons), simply grit your teeth and pray that this fashion will be a short-lived one.

ORGANIZATION NEWS

Dick Popp, former Stout state college Newman club president, was elected treasurer of the North Central Province of the National Newman club federation at its tenth annual convention. Four hundred and ten delegates from North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Upper Michigan and Wisconsin attended the convention which was held at the Radisson hotel in Minneapolis and at Newman hall on the campus of the University of Minnesota, also in Minneapolis.

Stout's Newman club was represented by thirteen members including Father O'Lenny and Brother Joseph O.S.A. Jim Jinsky and Sue Harycki attended the convention as the club's candidates for Mr. and Miss Newmanite.

On Saturday the group was broken up to attend smaller sessions. Speakers at these sessions spoke on such subjects as the role of literature in Newman clubs, the philosophy of the Newman club, labor unions and race relations. In the afternoon the groups met together for the election of officers. Fargo, North Dakota, was chosen for next year's convention. The day was closed with a banquet.

Highlighting the day were addresses by the Archbishop of St. Paul, Auxiliary Bishop of St. Paul and the Auxiliary Bishop of Fargo, North Dakota. On Sunday morning the delegates attended mass in a body at Newman hall.

At a house meeting held last week, the girls who will stay at Tainter hall next year elected their new officers. They are: Jean Smith, president; Judy Gordon, vice-president; Joann Schoemer, secretary; Carol Bishop, treasurer; and Avis Dutton, SSA representative. The girls also made plans for a tea on May 18. It will be held in honor of their big sisters.

The next meeting of the Married Lutheran Student Association will be a pot luck picnic. It will be at Riverside park (in case of rain or cold weather at Peace Luther church), on May 10, at 6:30 p.m.

The beverage and dessert will be furnished, bring a dish to pass and your own utensils. Bring the family. The Lutheran Married Students from Eau Claire state college have been invited.

A meeting of the Stout Young Republicans club was called to order by chairman, Wally Klosterman, on April 22.

Warren Barberg, vice chairman of the Wisconsin Federation of Young Republicans gave a speech along with colored slides on the dangers of Social Security in the way it has been administered since its conception.

A spring picnic with all the trimmings has been planned before school closes.

The April 24 meeting of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority was held in the tea-room of the dorm. Final arrangements were made for the annual ASA and FOB spring picnic. Members voted on a dinner dance theme, and dinner dance committees were named. Arrangements were made for the ASA booth at the S Club carnival, May 3. Following the business meeting, the sorority met with the ASA Menomonie alumni chapter. The alumni chapter served refreshments.

The formal initiation of the Sigma Sigma Sigma pledges took place Sunday evening, April 27, at 4:30 o'clock in Harvey memorial. Following the initiation, the sorority held a coffee hour at Dan's Cafe.

The happy pledges were Katherine Thuli, Mary Ann Halada, Frances Ginter, Ann Nelson, Mary Gunderson, Iloa Leu, Lois Jacobson, Marilyn Rothwell and Carol Kinnee.

Each new member was presented a pair of Tri Sigma violet earrings after the ceremony.

Time has drawn near when chips and hot dogs are everyone's favorite foods. Picnics are really in style these days, and no one's out of style.

Some take advantage of these picnics to show off their talents in the baseball line. Baseball enthusiasts can be seen in almost any corner playing for all they're worth. Even a ball in the river can't dim their spirits.

Those who don't play baseball may be seen out casting for those trout. It's not an unfamiliar sight to see someone with that look of utter dedication most fishermen wear. Quoting a paraphrase, "In the spring a young, middle-aged, or old man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of depleting the fish population."

Of course, other things can be done in water besides fishing. Many prefer the sport of boating or even canoeing—nothing is as thrilling as a fast trip down Tainter or Lake Menomine.

But there are those few who are brave enough to forego low temperatures and try their hand at water skiing. Everything's fine until they take a "dip."

Another current sport is tennis. The courts these days are seldom vacant, and if they are it's only for a few minutes. Whish—bang—boom—the set is over and somebody won another match.

These days cupid isn't the only one

BLUEDEVILS TO HOST MANKATO HERE MAY 16

1:00 p.m. on May 14 is kick off time for a full afternoon of sports in Menomonie. The Mankato Teachers will invade the home lair for baseball, tennis and golf.

On the diamond, the Bluedevils will be seeking their 2nd and 3rd wins of the season. "The Minnesota visitors have a strong team on paper, but," says coach Bill Morris, "I'll wait and see positions." The Mankato team boasts a very impressive pitching staff lead by Jerry Cashill, Don Cunningham and Bob Galvin. All positions are filled or have strong contenders, and if the infield holds up, Mankato should be a threat in the Minnesota state college conference.

The Bluedevil lineup will find Nelson on the mound, Hills receiving, on first Wayne Hejny, second will have Fritz Kazlusky, Harke holding down shortstop, Bredesen at the hot corner, and Hilgendorf, Feyereisen and Sands roaming the gardens.

The second half of the double header will find Webb throwing and either Hickey or Smith behind the plate. The infield combination will most likely remain intact but shifts in outfield positions are probable.

Tennis and golf lineups had not been secured by press time.

MISS KAM PIE NIO TELLS OF TEACHING PROBLEMS IN HER NATIVE INDONESIA

A continuing program in which Indonesian educators participate and observe the functions of the school of home economics at Stout state college here, will carry much of the spirit and philosophy of this American college back to their far-off island nation.

This year, Miss Kam Pie Nio, teacher in the Home Economics college of Indonesia, has been assigned to study at Stout by the Indonesian Ministry of Education. Earlier two other Indonesian home economics educators, Miss Roestint and Miss Latifah, completed a similar arrangement. Two years ago Miss Soekantintah, principal of the Home Economics senior high school in Djakarta, spent a full year absorbing Stout's educational philosophy and learning its educational techniques.

"Indonesia's educational goal is to meet the needs of its citizens with teachers and a curriculum of our nation," reports Miss Kam. "Few persons in the United States realize that the last Dutch teachers left Indonesia in 1953-54. Suddenly—after 350 years of Dutch government and Dutch education—we now find ourselves on our own."

The problem of Indonesian education is also complicated by a number of other factors. The Dutch home economics curriculum was based upon teaching the preparation of European foods rather than those native to the islands. Thus even teachers of Indonesian nationality still possess training not applicable to the customary diet or available foods of the country's inhabitants. In addition, most of these teachers are city-born and do not have the same basic diet, namely fish and rice, as do persons in outlying areas.

"Add to this the fact that Indonesia is composed of 3,000 islands and you can realize some of the problems facing education in our country," Miss Kam points out gravely. "Just transporting and supervising the instructors for such widely scattered schools create tremendous problems."

Indonesian teachers must also be aware of changing trends in the clothing worn by citizens of that country. Where for centuries the "Kebaja" blouse and "Kain" skirt sufficed, younger people are demanding modern garb and so lessons in clothing construction must be in accord with the new trend.

Miss Kam is pursuing intensive study at Stout State college in general chemistry, bacteriology, audio-visual instruction, family nutrition, and the techniques of teaching home economics. A major reason that visiting Indonesians are concentrating to such a great extent upon Stout and American home economics is the desire of the Indonesian Ministry of Education to change its traditional educational arrangement in that field.

At present, all Indonesians six to twelve years of age have general education available. Those interested in home economics attend Home Economics junior high school four additional years and later a Home Economics senior high school until they are nineteen. They are then eligible to teach in the Home Economics junior high school or, after two years of practical experience and attendance at Home Economics college, to teach at the Home Economics senior high school.

Irritating element in the present arrangement is the fact that students attending the Indonesian General high school, which prepares scholars for University attendance, have the option of entering the Home Economics senior high school after three years or of being accepted into the University after six years. However, students in the home economics curriculum cannot transfer into the general curriculum or attend the University and therefore Indonesian home economics are attending Stout to upgrade their schools so two-way transfer will be possible.

"In addition," Miss Kam predicts, "we shall improve our present limited Home Economics college until it becomes the equivalent of an American college. That's why knowledge of splendid home economics philosophy and techniques such as exist at Stout is so important to us."

The petite Indonesian home economist is, of course, impressed by the better technical and educational equipment available to students on the Stout campus compared to that provided in Indonesia. However, she is unfamiliar with the freedom of American students to elect certain courses and with a system of academic semesters or quarters.

"And, I suppose, like many visiting students I take note of the friendly cooperation which exists here between teachers and pupils," Miss Kim reflects. "In the Orient, both groups tend to remain quite a wide distance apart."

Miss Kam will be enrolled at Stout state college until the end of the current semester. She is on the campus through a cooperative arrangement between the U.S. International Cooperative Administration and the Indonesian Ministry of Education. While in America and on an American college campus, the smiling Indonesian educator has found her fellow students friendly and very helpful.

"But," she says with perplexity, "Americans are all the same. They invite us to visit them. They show us their wonderful schools. They're as nice as can be. Yet they never come to visit us. That we must correct."

WED., MAY 28 ANNOUNCED FOR SCHOOL PICNIC

The date for the annual all school spring picnic was set early this week for Wednesday, May 28. It will follow immediately after the awards day convocation.

No definite place has yet been chosen, but the tentative location has been set for Riverside park.

A program has also been set up for the afternoon starting at 1 p.m. Events will include baseball games, tug-of-wars, four-legged races, an egg throwing contest and volley ball. Prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Complete plans have not yet been made, and further information will follow in next week's Stoutonia.

TEA TO BE HELD FOR GIRLS IN RACINE AREA

A tea for all girls in the Racine-Kenosha area who plan to enroll next fall in the school of home economics at Stout state college is to be held on Saturday afternoon, May 17, at the home of Mrs. Arthur L. Olson, 1833 Main street, Racine. Mrs. Olson is herself an alumna of Stout.

Present to welcome personally the new freshmen and their mothers will be Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of Stout's school of home economics. Alumnae living in the vicinity of Racine and Kenosha will also be present to visit with the girls and talk to them about life on the Stout campus.

In addition to greeting the guests, Dean Kirk will answer questions relevant to the school of home economics and will also talk with mothers desiring information about their daughter's college attendance.

Invitations to the tea have been sent to all area girls known to be planning enrollment at Stout this fall. However, any student living in Racine or Kenosha and definitely planning to register at Stout this autumn is welcome to participate in the social event.

Newly-appointed dean of women at Stout State College is Miss Mary Frances Cutnaw, now an instructor in the English and speech departments of the college. She will assume her new duties in September when the present dean of women, Miss Keturah Antrim, relinquishes that position at her own request to devote her time entirely to Stout's expanding physical education program for women.

Miss Antrim, a member of the Stout faculty since 1936, has held the deanship since 1945. In acknowledging her many achievements in meeting the needs of the women of the college, Dr. Vern C. Fryklund, president of Stout, paid her the following tribute.

"Miss Keturah Antrim has at all times worked diligently and capably for the well being of the young women of Stout State College. Although she desires to withdraw from the deanship, all of us are pleased that she will continue as a member of the faculty. Miss Antrim will now be able to devote her full attention to our very important physical education program for women which, of course, is her major interest."

Miss Mary Frances Cutnaw joined the Stout faculty last autumn after having taught in the speech department of the University of Wisconsin. Prior to that appointment she had been for two years a member of the faculty of Milwaukee's Pulaski high school. Her success as a teacher this year at Stout, together with her interest in the progress of her students, eminently qualifies her for this new assignment.

Stout's new dean of women holds both her master's and her bachelor's degrees from the University of Wisconsin and is completing work toward her doctorate in speech and guidance. Miss Cutnaw has been active in English and speech organizations, having also had acting and staging experience in summer theater.

Other chairmen for this affair are Cherry Nicholls, food; Karen J. Johnson, publicity; and Rosalind Nuttelmann, clean-up. Pat Wenner, dorm president, and Bunny Stehr, vice-president, are assisting the chairmen.

Each year the freshman girls sponsor this spring event as a thank you to their big sisters.

Your weatherbird is going to be busy this week end—with spring in the air, sunny skies and moderate temperatures—boy, oh boy, oh boy. Picnics, hikes, tennis and golf can be planned for the week end. Sunburn, poison ivy and stiff muscles can be planned for Monday.

FINALS ARE NEAR - - -

Spring has arrived at last. The time when thoughts wander to picnics, the evening walk to the Dairy Queen, and just plain sprawling out in the sun. Spring fever is the name given to it, and it is a common illness that hits almost every one of us. Take heed, however, as this illness, pleasant as it may seem, can bring you a great amount of grief.

"To heck with homework" you might say, "I can do this tomorrow night." This is the commonly heard line, and yet, the next night just seems to be a repeat performance of the same thing.

Let's wake up, it is also that time of year for the final exams. Sure, you all undoubtedly realize that they are near, but just how near? Do you fellows realize, for instance, that you only have a little over a week to complete your shop notebooks, and that your finals are right on the heels of these? Certain academic subjects also have their finals only a little over a week away.

Your big finals are also close at hand. Once again you may rationalize in saying, "Oh well, there's a long week-end before them, I can study then." Fine and dandy, but even you must realize that spring will also be here then, and you will undoubtedly be just as badly effected at that time.

Let's wake up, and get over the spring daze. The time for swimming and loafing in the sun is near, but the final exams are even nearer.

ORGANIZATION NEWS

The Metal's Guild members went to the twin cities for their spring field trip. On the agenda for the trip were Ford motor assembly and glass plant, American Hoist and Derrick company, and Hamm's Brewery. The trip was discussed at the meeting on May 5 and it was suggested that perhaps instead of two field trips, one longer field trip may be taken instead next year.

On Saturday, May 10, the Metal's Guild enjoyed a banquet held at the Stage Coach for the members and their guests. Present were Dr. and Mrs. Wiehe, Mr. and Mrs. Halfin, and Mr. and Mrs. Benson, advisors and guests respectively. Master of ceremonies, Sheldon Satter, presented the program after the dinner which consisted of steak and chicken served family style.

Delta Zeta initiated three new members on Sunday afternoon, May 4, 1958. They were Donna Wittkopf, Alice Cramer and Shirley Schulenburg. After the ceremony a banquet for the newly initiated members was held at Dan's Steak room. In the evening, all the members went serenading in formals.

On Saturday, May 10, 1958, forty-two Delta Zeta members and alumnae held their annual dinner dance at the Marion hotel. Music was furnished by the Rhythmairs to the theme of Sayonara. An enjoyable evening was had by all.

Chuck Roeder was elected alumni correspondent at a recent Chi Lambda meeting. Gene Kirscht was appointed Stoutonia reporter at an earlier meeting.

The following chairmen were elected to head next year's social events: homecoming, Fred Zweifel; stunt night, Irving Ruff; winter carnival, Rog Uhl; non; and general campaign chairman, non; and general campaign chairman, Jim Teske. Campaign committee includes Bill Bird, Vern Draxler, Bruce Rabe and Rog Reuther.

Color slides depicting the fabulous U. of Mexico campus, ultra modern buildings, huge stadium, elaborate campus ground were presented by Al Mattson.

Well, Mother's Day is past for another year. I hope all of you remembered to put that card in the mail. Fact is, I heard about one girl who was concentrating so hard on sending her mother a Mother's Day card that she completely forgot her birthday which was the day before. Oh well, if it isn't one thing it's another.

For a couple of weeks now, students could be seen running through the halls of Harvey with those little white cards in their hands. Yes, the time for pre-registration is here again. The big debate is upon you—whether to take that 7:30 class and hope you get up or that 2:30 one and miss the picnics. The choice has to be made and we all admit it's a hard one.

Funny things have been happening around Menomonie and Stout especially. Saturday, the 3rd of May, all the hobos within miles around met at Riverside for their annual spring conference. The secret society elected their officers and held their private initiation.

The Indians also came out in full force. Last Saturday, May 10, a pow-wow was held at Riverside. The first official duty of this group was a war dance and the smoking of the peace pipe. The most remarkable 'Injun' there was "Barber" Carol Bishop. She may not polish her shoes for a week, but she certainly was brown.

Riverside became a vast areage on Wednesday, May 7, when a ranch party was staged there. Most of the girls will long remember the "3" legged race—for that matter so will their legs.

Popcorn popped loud and long the other evening during a popcorn party. Laughter was the point of the evening and everyone certainly hit the mark. Two parties coming up that sound pretty good are a pizza party and a record hop. You can tell by the titles what is probably going to happen there.

May 4 was the date of a May day party. The weather man, however, would not go along with such foolishness so he blew cold winds that forced the girls from a decorated lawn up into a warm apartment.

Saturday, Tainter hall will be the location of a tea. All the girls are bringing out their fresh dresses for this occasion.

May 7 the Alpha Phi sorority put on the last tea in Harvey memorial. Teas are one of the nicer things we have to remember from Stout. If you haven't attended too many this year, be sure to make up your mind to do better next year.

Dinner dances are now in full swing. The dinner dance is the sign of the end of the school year and climaxes the sorority and fraternity activities.

The picnic season is still on and getting better every day. However, don't let those picnics interfere with your studies. Remember—only a couple of weeks before finals!

Among the many opportunities open to a graduate dietitian is that as manager of a tea room. Here Eleanor Weltzin, who this year is graduating with a major in dietetics from Stout State college, gains experience in the Stout tearoom as she welcomes Janet O'Grady, coed from Valders.

DIETETICS OFFERS A WIDE OPENED FIELD TO ANYONE INTERESTED IN A SECURE FUTURE

A highly-regarded profession which offers the opportunity to render important public service—together with splendid advantages in salary, travel and interesting work—is dietetics. The public has become increasingly aware that dietetics have important responsibilities in hospitals, schools, restaurants and research laboratories. However, few people actually know what the profession of dietetics includes or of the great opportunities available to women in this field. Dietitians are in acute demand in five specific areas: hospitals, food administration work, community nutrition, research and teaching. Within these five categories further division occurs. For instance, hospital dietitians are employed in private, city, state, and army and air force hospitals, as well as by the U.S. Public Health service. Food administration divides itself into work with universities, school lunch programs, industry, clubs, hotels, restaurants, tea rooms, such as those of Marshall Field's or Stouffer's. In the field of community nutrition are dietetic opportunities in city, county and state health departments, government agencies, magazines, newspapers, radio, television and such large commercial organizations as General Mills and The National Dairy Council. Finally—and equally important and fascinating to a girl with interest in science—is research and teaching on the staff of foundations, commercial firms, medical schools, universities and experiment stations. Qualifications of a dietitian are similar to those of women in other leading professions. The training for a career in dietetics is based upon the regular four years of study in an accredited college or university, where the student earns a bachelor's degree with a major in foods and nutrition or in institutional management. During those years, the future dietitian completes courses which furnish her with a background for understanding food nutrients and their uses. Also, she becomes familiar with purchasing, storing, and handling food; with the equipment in large quantity cooking; and with planning and serving attractive meals. Included in her curriculum are many liberal arts courses, such as sociology and literature, designed to provide her with a broad general background. After these four years, most graduates then spend one additional year as dietetic intern. Such an internship is one approved by the American Dietetic Association or the American Restaurant Association and may be in hospital dietetics, food administration, or a nutrition clinic. In hospital dietetics the intern has experience in administrative, therapeutic, and community nutrition work. Under the direction of a staff of qualified dietitians, each intern spends a busy year applying her knowledge of food and nutrition. She directs normal nutrition in food production and food service for patients; she plans normal and modified diets for individual needs of patients who come to the hospital clinic for treatment. During her internship she will also attend

DIETETICS AT STOUT RECEIVE PLACEMENTS

It's dietetics internship time again at Stout state college. Miss Eleanor Weltzin of Menomonie has accepted an appointment at the University of California, where she will complete a hospital dietetic internship and also work toward her master's degree. Miss Barbara Hartig, Milwaukee, and Miss Bonnie Bauman, Markesan, will both intern at Milwaukee County hospital. Miss Maryellen Pfeiffer, Racine, hasn't as yet made her final decision. Dietetic Internship day is a momentous time for all graduating dietitians. Throughout the nation, girls are notified simultaneously of appointments available to them. And it's a big occasion at Stout state college because Stout is one of only two educational institutions in the entire state specializing in the preparation of accredited dietitians.

lectures and seminars, do practical work in planning and preparation of members of the food service staff. Hospital and clinic dietetic interns foods, and instruct non-professional also attend medical conferences and hold discussion with patients. Most hospitals offering internships provide the dietetic intern with room, board, laundry service and, in addition, may pay a stipend, usually $20 to $50 per month. However, at Walter Reed Army Hospital, the dietetic intern is commissioned a second lieutenant and receives monthly pay and allowances totaling $270.18. In addition, she receives a uniform allowance of $300, travel pay to and from assignments, quarters, medical and dental care, and hospitalization. Many organizations also award scholarships to outstanding dietetic interns. The American Dietetic Association annually offers scholarships to college seniors who have been accepted for a dietetic internship approved by the Association. It also makes loan funds available and grants three fellowships for graduate study. Many state dietetic associations provide additional scholarships. After completing her four years of college training and her internship, the dietitian is prepared to accept a position. Ready to help her make her choice are the placement bureau of her college, the director of her internship, personnel sections of hospitals and of other organizations employing dietitians, and the Credentials Service of the American Dietetic Association, whose facilities are available to all members. Dietetic positions are open in all the forty-eight states, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and other areas of the world. The Armed Forces offer the dietitian a chance to go abroad as a commissioned officer if she so desires. The dietetic graduate who decides not to intern also has an opportunity to obtain full professional status. Necessary, however, are three years of practical experience. During one of these three years the graduate must be under the supervision of a member of the American Dietetic Association. The demand for qualified dietitians is great and shows no sign of decreasing. Each year increasing public awareness of public health improvement has resulted in rapid growth of the number of hospitals, sanatoria and homes for the aged, thus creating a need for more dietitians. Besides, dietetics is almost exclusively a woman's field, over 99 per cent of its personnel being women. Salaries are excellent in the profession. Midwest salaries are especially good, topping the list with a range of $325-446 monthly for dietitians who have just completed internships to $370-500 a month for those with a few year's experience. Salaries of $10,000 or more may be earned by dietitians with an outstanding performance record and considerable experience. Dietetics work is usually based upon the standard eight-hour day and forty to forty-four hour week, with a trend toward shorter working hours. Dietetics has shown to be a field of unlimited opportunity for a career-minded girl. Of course, the knowledge of nutrition and of food service which a dietitian possesses will be of great value to her in marriage. In addition, many modern women are combining the two careers and have a wide choice of positions when they return to the profession full or part time.

STOUT TYPOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY TAKES TRIP TO WESTERN PART OF WISCONSIN

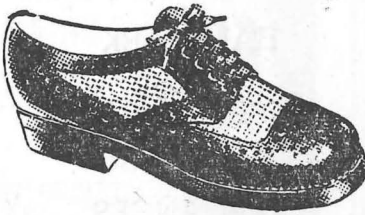

Paper, the fifth largest industry in the world, was made the center of interest in a recent tour taken by the Stout Typographical Society. The annual three day trek took them to various paper mills, printing plants and high school print shops throughout the Fox River Valley of Wisconsin. Twenty-two eager S.T.S. members and their advisor, Mr. Whydowski, boarded their chartered bus at 6 a.m. Wednesday, April 30. The first important stop was made in Elk Mound where an important cog was added to the group who shall remain nameless. (He prefers anonymity rather than fame.) After a short pep talk, or rather a warning, by Mr. Whydowski, the group settled down to sleep, read or play cards until the first point of interest was reached, which was Port Edwards. Here the group toured the Nekoosa-Edwards paper mill and became familiarized with the process which brings about much of the very same paper used in Stout's own print shop. After lunch in the company-owned restaurant, we journeyed to Wisconsin Rapids and the Consolidated Water Power Company. Here a different process of pulp making was observed along with paper making and a huge generating plant. This completed the first day of the tour as we made our way to Appleton and set up official headquarters at the Hotel Conway. Private rooms were enjoyed by those who kept their transoms closed. Thursday a.m., May 1, found the S.T.S. headed for Menasha high school. Mr. Griffith, head of the printing department, summarized the operation of the print shop and the group observed for themselves first-hand. Menasha is one of the very few high schools in the state which prints their own annual, winning some twenty-two All-American awards. Next stop was the Gilbert Paper Company in Neenah. Here the group observed the production of high quality papers. Gilberts produce a paper used for currency in a number of foreign lands. At the end of the trip through Gilbert Paper, Mr. Nick Gilbert, vice-president and sales manager, was introduced to the S.T.S. in the office lounge. A very interesting and enlightening question and answer session was held in which Mr. Gilbert elaborated on a variety of processes and developments in paper making. Here, also, we were treated to a very tasty chicken dinner with all the trimmings. On the house, mind you. Needless to say, a few of the more greedy could barely crawl back to the bus. Marathon Corporation, now consolidated with American Can Company, took up the major portion of the afternoon. Here we were shown the process of printing cartons and cellophane along with the waxing of the cartons and the addition of foil to cellophane for the prolonged preservation of perishable goods. Extremely intricate die-cutting was also a highlight of their printing operations. Marathon also makes their own inks so, in order to make it a thorough tour, we were shown the operation of the ink plant from the first stages of research to the final mixing of the inks. At the Marathon ink plant, Mr. Matthews gave a very thorough demonstration and talk on the mixing process along with a discussion of the various problems encountered in mixing inks for printing containers for various products. Mr. Matthews answered many ink problems posed by various S.T.S. members. This completed our second day on tour as the tired, foot-weary group returned to their hotel for refreshments and "the sack". Friday a.m. found the STS making their way to the Institute of paper chemistry. Here research was being carried on in all phases of paper making. Only graduate chemical engineers and chemists are accepted here for study toward the masters and doctors degrees. Here one of the outstanding highlights of the trip was seen in the famous Dard Hunter Museum of Paper. A very rare collection of paper and books dating from the papyrus of 150 A.D. to comparatively recent watermarks were included in the exhibit. After lunch the group observed the operation of the Appleton high school print shop which was being taught by Armin Gerhardt. He explained his methods of instruction and course content and answered various questions placed before him by various STS members. The final stop on the tour found them in the Aid Association for Lutherans in Appleton. Located in the newest and tallest building in Appleton, the Association contains a degree of the very latest in construction and architecture. Inside they found carpets imported from India, imported wood paneling and many original paintings by Appleton's own Walt Diedrich. Since much of the paper work is done by IBM machines which require very carefully printed cards, the Association maintains its own print shop. Three multigraph machines are kept busy most of the time producing the needed printed materials. The inspection of the Association's print shop completed the three day STS tour. All that was left was the weary homeward journey. Of course, some were not so weary and managed to keep up a constant jabber all the way home. Anyone know if Keith Koch has run down yet? All in all, it was an all encompassing, well-planned and very enlightening tour. A real "Thanx" is in order to those who worked to make it possible. Also to Mr. Whydowski, who showed unlimited patience in the face of sometimes utter chaos. And perhaps most of all, to those people in the various places they toured who made them feel welcome and who so splendidly guided them on the tours of their respective places of operation.

Removing a completed plastics soldering gun handle from the plastics press which he has developed to revolutionize the teaching of plastics in high school industrial arts shops is its inventor, Dr. Robert Swanson, faculty member of Stout. The new press permits students to duplicate to a high degree the methods and quality achieved by the plastics industry.

DR. SWANSON'S PLASTICS MACHINE INVENTION IS REVOLUTIONIZING PLASTICS INSTRUCTION

An inventor whose plastics press is revolutionizing plastics instruction in American schools is Dr. Robert Swanson, associate professor of industrial education. His invention now makes it possible for students in any small high school shop to produce plastic articles with a technique and quality comparable to that of industry.

Proof of the ability of Swanson's invention to meet industrial standards is its use by the Missile Operations Plant of the Chrysler Corporation to create prototype models of guided missiles.

Swanson took his experimental equipment and advanced ideas to the O'Neill-Irwin Company of Lake City, Minnesota. Inventor and company combined forces in January of 1955 on experiments which ultimately resulted in the revolutionary Di-Acro Plastics press. This machine proved to be capable of performing efficiently and well the operations of the plastics forming industry — mechanical stretch forming, blow forming and vacuum forming.

Introduction of Dr. Swanson's plastics press into high school and college industrial arts departments has decreased the cost of teaching plastics, largely because the press can form many materials which cost only one-third the price of the acrylic plastic formerly used exclusively. Merely the addition of the press to an industrial arts department, plus the use of some basic tools already present in the woodworking shop, provides any high school with a new, adequately-equipped area for plastics instruction.

To explain the potentialities of plastics for a high school industrial arts shop, Dr. Swanson has written several articles. He is also the author of a text and two projects-idea files, all of which have been published by O'Neill-Irwin.

The O'Neill-Irwin Company also has 21 prints of a 14 minute sound-colored film "Forming Plastic Sheet Material" available for purchase or free showing.

LSA HOLDS ANNUAL SPRING RETREAT

"Know Thyself" was the theme of the spring retreat of LSA members from Eau Claire and River Falls state colleges held at Bundy hall last week end. The time was divided among lectures, meditation and recreation. Rev. Swanson, chaplain and instructor at St. Olaf college, gave lectures and led discussions on religion and psychology and how they were related to the theme.

Meditation followed by discussion periods on First John, concluded two sessions of Bible study which were led by Rev. Blum, pastor at Grace Lutheran church at Eau Claire. Saturday afternoon was occupied with volleyball, soft ball, badminton and hiking around the grounds of Bundy hall. The friendly rivalry between the schools was forgotten as all united to beat the other team in the sports played.

Each evening was climaxed by group singing led by Paul Christianson, intern at Our Saviors in Menomonie, and discussion groups around the fireplace in the main house.

The week end was concluded with Matins and Holy Communion on Sunday morning.

All who attended found the retreat inspiring and relaxing. New friends were made, and old acquaintances were renewed. Plans are being made to hold another retreat next year.

CLUB NEWS

Monday April 28, the Arts and Crafts club exercised formal initiation rites for 10 new members. They were Don Fell, Jess Will, Brian Kirby, Mik Bachler, Rex Yamasake, Russel Nelson, John Gilsdorf, Pat Iannone, Art Culver and Otto Klaus, jr. A short meeting followed the ceremonies and then the old and new members became better acquainted at a social luncheon.

Plans for the annual spring picnic are now underway and a committee for key awards distribution will commence proceedings immediately. Members are urged to co-operate with this committee so that information on awards for seniors can be compiled and judged before graduation.

The honorary industrial arts fraternity, Epsilon Pi Tau, is now being served by new officers. With the selection of Kenneth Yeager as assistant secretary-treasurer the list of officers has been filled.

Ken Dickie has moved up from his old position of vice president to succeed retiring chairman, Erry Wolf. Elected to fill the vacancy created by Dickie's promotion was Vern Draxler. Maynard Bjork was advanced to secretary-treasurer when Curt Phillips' term expired and Yeager, of course, became Bjork's assistant.

The members of this organization would like to express their appreciation and give thanks to the retiring officers for the many jobs well done, and to congratulate the new officers and wish them success.

Phi Sigma Epsilon has adopted new homes since the recent fraternity house fire. The greater number of the resident of the house now reside at 1220 Wilson Ave.

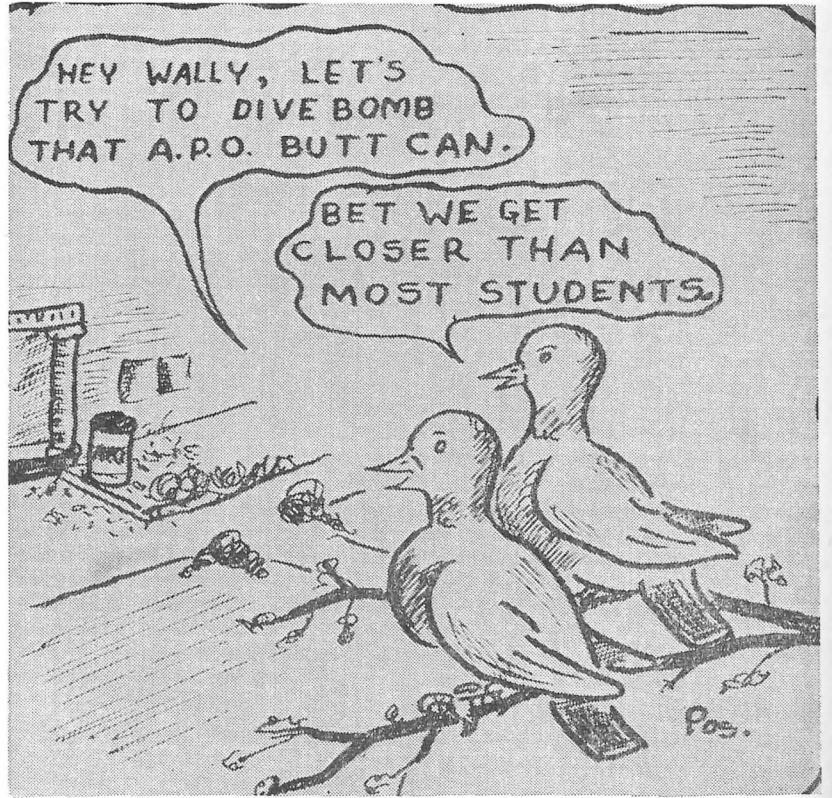

At arecent meeting, delegates were chosen to attend the National Conclave of Phi Sigma Epsilon which is being held in St. Louis, Missouri, next August. The delegates are Rick Steckle and Don Anderson. Alternates are Chuck Bartel and Webb Hart.

Saturday, May 10, the fraternity will be attending a softball tournament at Stevens Point where approximately 10 chapters will be represented.

Members of Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic honorary fraternity, held their spring initiation on the stage April 28. New members initiated at this time were Virginia Olsen, Tom Rosenthal, Tony Pollino, Paul Paulson, Sarah Williams, Barb Bender and Ed Birch. A business meeting was held; then the group adjourned to Mr. Ziemann's home for a party. The Spring banquet will be held on May 12th.

FIREMAN'S BUSINESS PROVES DANGEROUS

"Firemen don't have a chance!"

When the fire trucks are delayed 40 seconds in traffic, people say, "It took them 20 minutes to get here!"

When the truck races 40 miles per hour, it's "Look at those reckless fools!"

When four men struggle with an 8-man ladder, "They don't even know how to raise a ladder."

When firemen open windows for ventilation to reduce heat in fighting a fire, "Look at the wrecking crew!"

When they open the floor to get at the blaze, "There goes the axe squad!"

If the chief stands back where he can see and direct his men, people say, "He's afraid to go where he sends his men."

If they lose a building, "It's a lousy department."

If they make a good "stop," folks say, "That fire didn't amount to much."

If lots of water is necessary, "They're doing more damage with water than the flames."

If a fireman is hurt, "It's a crazy department."

If a fireman inspects a citizen's property, "He's meddling in somebody's business."

If he wants a fire hazard corrected, "I'll see the mayor."

If he gets killed and leaves a family destitute, "That's the chance he took when he joined the department!"

Many Stout dietetic graduates now fill outstanding positions in the profession and their opportunities have proved just as varied as the individual personalities of the girls. For instance, Barbara Rushing is now an Army dietitian at Fort Sam Houston. Beverly Hedlund, who is combining marriage and a career in restaurant food service, is employed by the Fred Harvey Company of Chicago. Geraldine Reisler's career was with the National Livestock and Meat Board before she became a full time homemaker.

Yes, it is readily apparent that the opportunities in the profession of dietetics are unlimited, the need is acute; the salaries are excellent and the services performed are indeed worthwhile to the dietitian and to her clientele. Every girl should certainly investigate the great potentialities which the field of dietetics offers to her—both for a career and for life.

PRES. FRYKLUND TAKES PART IN REVIEW VISIT

Member of a North Central association accreditation team which recently completed a review visit to Indiana State Teachers college in Terre Haute, Indiana, was Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout state college. Others of the three-man group were Dr. M. J. Nelson, dean of instruction at Iowa State Teachers college, and Dr. Peter Masiko, dean of the Chicago Teachers college.

The team conducted its review visit under the auspices of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools. Team members operation of both the undergraduate and graduate programs at the Indiana college.

President Fryklund is the North Central association's commissioner for master's degree program in District B of that organization. The district includes Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana. Aims of the North Central association in carrying on such review visits are to learn at first-hand something of the nature of the institution being visited and to serve as a stimulation both for members of the visiting team and for the staff of the institution itself in the exchange of ideas and the discussion of problems.

Mr. and Mrs. H. James Rokusek (nee Maryann Smith) and their daughter Cheryl Ann live at 1000 Belle Forte Ave., Oak Park, Illinois. Jim (B.S. 1953, M.S. 1956) teaches graduates and undergraduates at Chicago Teachers college. Maryann graduated from Stout in 1954.

Clem Bogaard (B.S. 1940) is a bus maintenance supervisor in an auto shop in Algonquin, Illinois. The Bogaards and their four children reside at 1024 Pioneer Road, Algonquin, Illinois.

GIRLS POLLED TO SEE DORM ADVANTAGES

Wisconsin parents want to know if there are advantages which will come to their daughters from college life in the dorm. The state college Regents questioned 984 dormitory coeds to find out. Here are the answers.

It costs a girl $800 a year to attend a state college and live in the dormitory. Some girls spend more, up to $2,000 and some spend as little as $500.

The girls from dormitories are a select group. They did better in high school than their classmates who live at rooming houses, in fact 99 out of 100 were in the upper half of their high school classes.

They study 20 hours a week and their grades are good although not outstanding. Most of them get B's and C's with only forty-four out of every 100 getting mostly A's.

Four out of five girls list companionship as the most agreeable part of dormitory living. And yet this is not an unmixed blessing.

Said one honest young lady, 'You meet too many girls; too few boys.'

The dormitory girls are joiners. They belong to every college organization except the varsity athletic team and the boy's glee club. Three out of four are members of campus religious clubs. Other girls belong to social athletic associations, choirs, bands, orchestras, dramatic clubs, newspaper staffs and debate groups.

ADDITIONS EXPECTED BY STATE COLLEGES

In addition to the obvious growth in size and campus buildings, the state colleges of Wisconsin are expanding their curriculums. According to Eugene R. McPhee, director of the colleges, 20 new majors have been added in the past two years.

In every case the new major is an expansion of courses from a minor area offered previously. Five of the new majors are in science and five are in economics. Others are in mathematics, music sociology, psychology, political science, speech and social science.

Other changes in curriculum are being considered by the college regents at the request of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education. The training of commercial teachers, for 44 years the sole specialty of White-water, may soon be expanded to another college in the northern area of the state. A center for training teachers of handicapped children is proposed for the college at Eau Claire. And the training of teachers of physical education for women may soon be carried on by one or two colleges, in addition to the major specialty now at La Crosse.

Graduate work at the master's level in education may soon be given at several more state colleges. As proposed, the program would begin as a cooperative venture with the University of Wisconsin, the degree to be granted at first by the University. As the program grows the responsibility will gradually shift to the state colleges.

'Top priority in curriculum changes must be given to strengthening our existing programs,' says Director McPhee. 'We are reviewing our seven-year-old liberal arts program now and we will make whatever improvements seem necessary.'

Building, growth and improvement are adding stature to Wisconsin's ten state colleges.

STUDENTS ATTEND CHICAGO MEETING

Miss Mary Killian and six Stout dietetics majors attended a restaurant convention in Chicago May 5-8. The girls on the trip were Ann Kofoed, Ann Janda, Barbara Hatopp, Mary Suk, Mary Ellen Pfeiffer and Bonnie Baumann.

The convention was held on the Navy pier where a spectacular show was presented. The guests were also entertained at a luncheon and a style show at Marshall Field's. They also toured the kitchens, bake shops and candy shops of this famous store.

Dinner at the new Stouffer restaurant in the Prudential building was another feature of the trip. A former Stout graduate is an assistant manager of the restaurant. A climax to the Chicago trip was the opportunity to see "South Pacific" in new Todd-A-O.

Among those who date (39 per cent don't) the average is two dates a week. One in four of the coeds is going steady and one in a dozen is engaged.

Home is within a 200-mile radius of the campus for four out of five of the girls and they go home at least once a month. On the week ends they stay on campus, they attend college events regularly—only three girls "never go."

About one girl in seven is paying her own way entirely through college. Half of them work in the summer to help their parents with college expenses.

TO BE PRODUCED SOON MAP OF WOLF RIVER

A completely new map of the lower Wolf river, covering the entire area from Lake Winnebago to Fremont is being prepared by the Clarkson Map company of Kaukauna in cooperation with the state conservation commission, local agencies and other sources.

Basic data, including navigation channels, contours, depths and other geographical characteristics have been completed by the conservation commission and all access highways and roads have been plotted. Waterways defined in detail include, the Wolf river, and lakes Butte des Morts, Winneconne and Poygan. The map will be printed at a scale of two inches to the foot for easy readability and to give adequate space for indicating all facilities such as boat landings and launching sites, public and private camping and picnic sites, boat service stations, boat and bait suppliers, eating establishment and similar information. It will be approximately 22 inches by 28 inches in size, lithographed in four colors.

The publishers emphasize the fact that it will not be released as an "advertising" map to define only the facilities offered by advertisers, as is usual for maps of this kind. Its primary purpose is to provide for the first time, a complete boating, fishing and recreational guide to this popular vacation area.

Surveys among local government officials, villages, conservation clubs and private sources are presently being conducted by the Clarkson company to accumulate data on every recreational facility available adjacent to the lower Wolf. They are also soliciting such information on a voluntary basis from local citizens in the area, and every other available source.

Several months have been devoted to the preparation of the basic data and sometime will still be required to compile the supplementary recreational information. According to the publishers, the maps will not be released "until every inch of the Wolf's banks from Fremont to Lake Winnebago have been covered."

An invitation has been extended by the publishers to submit any pertinent information which would improve the usefulness of the map to sportsmen, vacationers or boating enthusiast to the Clarkson company at Kaukauna, Wisconsin.

MISS COX CHOSEN FOR GRAD. SCIENCE AWARD

Selected for a National Science Foundation award to the Fifth Chemistry Institute, to be held from July 21-August 22 in Bozeman, Montana, has been Miss Eleanor Cox, associate professor of chemistry at Stout state college.

The grant is a graduate award for teachers of college chemistry and is one of very few throughout the nation available at the college level. During the institute, participants will hear addresses and observe demonstrations by national authorities in the field of the teaching of college chemistry.

Miss Cox's award fits well into the increased emphasis which Stout state college and its school of home economics are placing on the teaching of science. The award makes it possible for Miss Cox to observe firsthand latest scientific discoveries and teaching techniques for application to her chemistry classes at Stout next fall.

ATTENDANCE AT CONVOCATIONS TO BE REQUIRED: STUDENTS MAY CHOOSE FOUR CONVOS PER YEAR

The Assembly-Lyceum committee, consisting of students and faculty have recently completed selecting the programs for the 1958-59 season. The programs are selected for their educational, cultural and entertainment value. Through the convocation and lyceum programs, students are given experiences not gained in the classroom but are an integral part of a college education.

Attendance at convocations is described in the student handbook on page 22. It reads as follows: Convocations attendance by all students is required. A committee, whose membership includes student representatives, carefully chooses the convocation program and these events are as much a part of the classroom attendance. Each student, therefore, should attend convocations with the aim of obtaining maximum knowledge or enjoyment from each program.

Attendance regulations are further clarified on page 19, which reads as follows: Scheduled all-college convocations are governed by similar regulations.

That is, a negative grade point will be recorded for each unexcused absence in excess of two a semester.

The policy of required attendance was followed for many years. Three years ago a voluntary plan was tried when seating facilities became inadequate with the increased enrollment. The voluntary attendance plan has proven unsuccessful. The purposes of the convocations are not being realized. Therefore, starting next year, a modified attendance plan will be in effect. Eight convocations will be scheduled for the year. Each student will be required to attend a minimum of two per semester or four per year. This will permit the student to attend all of the programs or to select the minimum number which appeal to his interests.

Lyceum programs in the evening will continue under the voluntary attendance plan. It is hoped that this total plan will result in that students at Stout once again will be gaining awareness and insight into the world of the educated person.

STOUT MEDALLIONS, NEW AWARDS, TO BE PRESENTED AT HONORS DAY CONVOCATION

The Honors Day program at the Senior Recognition convocation to be held in the auditorium Wednesday, May 28, will be highlighted by the presentation of a new award, the Stout Medallion for outstanding service, sponsored by the Student Governing Board and presented by President Verne C. Fryklund. The award will consist of a bronze medallion engraved on the back with the student's name and the nature of the award's purpose.

Medallions will be presented to nine students for their outstanding participation in one or more college extra-curricular activities.

These medallions will recognize service in Alpha Phi Omega, the athletic department, Manual Arts Players, the Stoutonia, the Stout Student Association, and four additional awards will be made for all-college service.

The establishment of this award is the result of two years' planning by several committees composed of representatives from the Student Governing Board, extra-curricular groups, administration and faculty of the school.

Nominations were presented to the committee from six areas. The final selection of recipients was made by an awards committee selected for that purpose and representing nine extra curricular areas.

The award itself, a bronze medallion about three inches in diameter, was designed by Ken Dickie from suggestions given him by one of the early planning committees. The front of the medallion has a relief of the Tower, the name of the college and the motto from above the east door of Bowman hall. The reverse side of the medallion will be engraved with the recipient's name and nature of the service rendered to the school through some specific activity.

From 1953-56 he was U. S. commissioner of education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

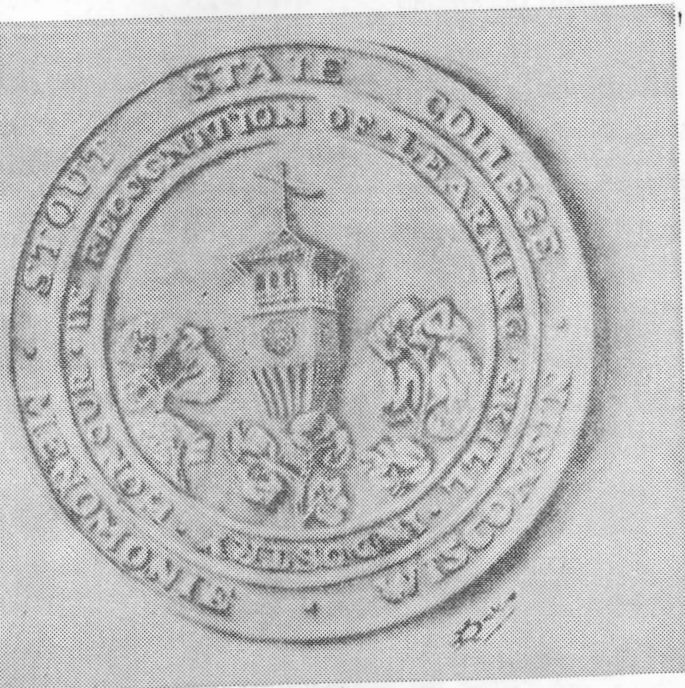

Dr. Brownell has been granted a number of honorary degrees for his educational accomplishments and is a member of many learned societies. He has taught at university summer sessions throughout the nation and has been active in such activities as Rotary club, YMCA, and the Boy Scouts of America.

SENIOR FAREWELL . . .

And so comes to a close another year of college.

For many of us it means a long waited rest from the toil of homework and books, for others just a short stopover before the beginning of summer school.

For the seniors, however, it means much more. Instead of spending a summer working to earn enough money to put themselves through another year of college, they will be preparing themselves to enter into the professions they have so long awaited to enter.

With them they take the fine tradition set up by previous Stout students, which is highly regarded in every state in the United States.

No more will these students be enjoying the simple school life as a student but as a teacher, or planning food as a dietitian, or entering into the trade, or, for many girls, the life of a homemaker.

With these graduating seniors go the best wishes of every student in the school. We all hope to see you soon. Don't hesitate to come back in the years to come and visit your old friends and the school that has grown to be so much a part of you.

CLUB NEWS

A picnic at Riverside park was enjoyed by members of the LSA May 18. The picnic supper consisting of hot dogs and potato chips was followed by singing and a panel on the meaning of the purpose of prayer led by Ron Bergmann, Ruth Olson and Bob Danielson. Discussion of the subject was then led by the counselor, Bernie Owen.

This coming Sunday, May 25, is the annual banquet honoring all seniors belonging to LSA. Rev. Blum, pastor from Grace Lutheran church in Eau Claire will present a challenging message to the graduating members. All LSA members are invited to come.

The formal conclusion of the activities of the Gamma Pi chapter of Gamma Delta was held Wednesday night at Bertha Tainter hall with a banquet. The highlight of the evening was a talk by Pastor Edward Hessling, who is head of Calvary Lutheran Student Center at Madison. He spoke on the problems which youth face on the campus. According to Pastor Ed, the majority of the student's problems came under these three headings: adequacy, religion and mixed marriages. The entertainment for the evening was a girls' quartet from Tainter hall and an accordionist.

On Tuesday, May 27 at 8 p.m., Stout Christian fellowship will have as their guest speaker Mrs. Vivian Hazel. Mrs. Hazel, a missionary from Ghana, Africa, will also be showing slides of her missionary work. The high school Christian Fellowship group and the Eau Claire college group have been invited. Everyone is invited to attend this meeting. Remember the date!

PHI U MEMBERS HOLD A FAREWELL DINNER

Fifty advisors, alumnae and members of Tau chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron attended their annual senior farewell dinner on Monday evening, May 19, at the Marion hotel. The event also commemorated the 25th anniversary of Phi U, national professional home economics fraternity, here on Stout's campus. The decorations were carried out in the anniversary theme with a three-tiered, decorated cake which was later enjoyed with ice cream for dessert.

Mrs. Vivian Hazel, a charter member of Tau chapter, was the guest speaker. She spoke on the necessity of using the "shining light" of home economists in meeting the challenge of a changing world. She pointed out the fact that we are rapidly approaching an era in which the use of love may be more important than the use of logic.

The program was concluded by having the fourteen graduating seniors comment on their plans for the future. Immediately following the dinner they were initiated into the local alumnae chapter of Phi U.

At the May 15 meeting of Tri Sigma, the girls discussed the Tri Sigma, Alpha Sigma Alpha picnic held May 12 at Riverside park. All thought it was a success. The group enjoyed hot dogs, potato chips, ice cream sandwiches and Upper 10. Advisors Miss Williams and Miss Killian were also present for the fun.

Tri Sigma's Senior Farewell this year will be a social hour on Monday, May 26, at Mrs. Vanek's home. Plans are under way.

The favors for the May 3 dinner dance were well liked by members and some of the girls reordered so they too would have a glass as a souvenir.
